The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their aim to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Versal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ground and good croppings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

den's, and used not to be opened, at least, when I was here as a child."

Mrs. Ruthven looked down thoughtfully. "These rooms are over the library are they not?" she asked. "On the same side as the conservatory? I would rather look out in any other direction. I shall not soon get over the impression of last night's terror."

"None of them will tell me any particulars about how I was found, or what happened," resumed Mrs. Ruthven. "I fancy that gruff old doctor ordered me to be kept from speaking of it. But you will not be so unkind! Besides, I am not to be kept from thinking of my misadventure by his dictum. Tell me, dear Miss L'Estrange, were you there when Mr. Marsden first found me?"

"Yes! I was in the breakfast-room when he was trying to break away from an old gentleman who would keep talking to him, and I heard him say he wanted to take you an ice."

"And then?"

"Oh! then Mr. Winton proposed we should go and look at the tent; but when we came to the conservatory, the door was shut and locked. Mr. Marsden was looking angry and bewildered. Then he suddenly remembered the way by the corridor, and we saw him go past and return immediately to call for help. So Helen, Mrs. L'Estrange, and I went in. She raised your arm, you were lying like a dead creature, and began to fan you."

"No one; at least, not while I was there."

"Not Mr. Marsden?"

"Oh, no! He looked so white, so dreadfully distressed. He stood behind Helen, and kept begging her to see if you were hurt. Then the doctor came and sent every one away except the squire and Lady Dorrington."

"Yes! Here was the first face I recognized, and then Lady Dorrington and the doctor helped me upstairs? It is strange I can not quite account for it."

"For what, Mrs. Ruthven?"

"Oh, nothing; only a curious impression that some one had lifted me up—some effect of returning consciousness, I suppose!"

She fell into a fit of musing.

From this she roused herself to ask a good many questions about Winton and his old friendship with Mrs. L'Estrange, giving Nora a sensation of being gently but thoroughly sifted. Moreover, one or two significant looks and words conveyed the alarming idea that the clear-sighted widow suspected Winton of admiring Nora, or Nora of admiring Winton, which made that saucy young lady vexed and uneasy.

"Well, I suppose I must let you go," said Mrs. Ruthven, as Nora rose to escape further cross-examination. "It is so good of you to come and sit with me. In truth, I was glad to get rid even of dear Lady Dorrington, as no one would talk naturally, or let me speak of what is uppermost in my mind."

"I shall come and say good-bye to you to-morrow," returned Nora. "I earnestly hope you will soon shake off your nervousness, though you are wonderfully brave and composed."

Mrs. Ruthven went with her to the door, and then again sunk into the fauteuil, where she remained for some time in deepest thought.

Nora L'Estrange attracted her curiously, her evident admiration and liking soothed the little lady's inordinate vanity, while it overpassed her comprehension; she was too keen an observer to believe it was altogether put on, still she occasionally doubted her sincerity, so contrary was a woman's honest appreciation of another woman, to all her previous experience.

Nora's pleasant, varying voice and frank looks had a certain charm for her, even while she feared their effect on Marsden. They gave the hard, selfish, fiery, material creature glimpses of possible sweetness that would never clay, of restful affection free from all dross of passion or self-interest. But, perhaps, the strangest sensation excited by Nora, was resentful envy, not of the girl's fresh, youthful good looks, but of her free, untrammeled spirit; every word, every attitude, was unstudied, spontaneous; she wanted so little, her simple, poverty-stricken life, as Mrs. Ruthven considered it, seemed so joyous and satisfying, she appeared to have no craving for rank or riches or jewels. Life, pure, healthy existence was enough; she had nothing to strive after, or scheme for, or want from others, at least, so she seemed—ay, seemed—but who could tell what lurked under the seeming? She must have her cravings, her hidden passions, what she dared not show the world. What was she? what difference was there between her human flesh and that of other women? No, she was as yet but half developed, and how often childish simplicity was but the outer garb of cunning?

There was something in Nora L'Estrange that puzzled and disturbed Mrs. Ruthven. If she could have found her guilty of any vicious folly, she might have liked her better than she ever liked anything except a lover. As it was, the balance trembled between liking and hatred.

"She does not care for Marsden," thought Mrs. Ruthven, her supple form crouched together, her chin resting in one palm, her elbow on her knee, "she has some unaccountable fancy for that cold, scornful, insolent Winton. But Marsden, himself? I am not so sure about him. He has not often encountered indifference. It may be attractive. However, if she cares for Winton—ah! my difficulties are growing complicated. I must think. If the faint, vile suspicions that have come to me prove correct, how shall I act? Oh, I will punish, punish bitterly! But I will secure my object, too!"

Then she sprung up and rang for her maid.

"Take away the tea things. Ask if Captain Shirley is in the house; if so, ask him to come to me."

"Captain Shirley has not returned, madame, Mr. Marsden had just asked to see you, but Miss L'Estrange was going out and he went out with her."

"Mr. Marsden asked for me?"

"Yes, madame; he said he would be back directly."

"Take away those things, then," returned her mistress in a sharp voice. "And I will dress, I shall go down to dinner. It does me no good to be shut up in here."

Half an hour after the lamps in the boudoir were lighted, and Mrs. Ruthven, in black silk and jet, wrapped in a soft Indian mantle of blue and gold, beneath which she shivered occasionally, was sitting by the fire. She had scarce taken her place, when Virginie ushered in Captain Shirley.

"Excuse my dusty boots," he said, coming quickly to her. "Hearing you wished to see me, I came at once. I am glad to see you are looking better than I expected."

"Yes; I am nearly myself," she returned, smiling graciously, and motioning him to sit down. "When do you return to town?"

"By an early train to-morrow."

"And I, in the afternoon. Shall I see you on my arrival?"

"If you need my services, yes; but I had intended running over to Ostend to see my sister, who has been seriously ill. I ought to have gone before."

"To Ostend?" repeated Mrs. Ruthven, as if to herself.

"But if I can be of any use——"

"Yes, you can," she interrupted abruptly. "Do you remember a wonderful detective, who was employed by Lady Dartrey to obtain evidence against her husband in that famous case?"

"I do, at least I recollect hearing

Diseases of Women
OFTEN DUE TO
Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Women to be Happy or Healthy.

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do active work. Their gentle but certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. H. Colwell, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience:

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. A Handsome Front.

Peterboro has long been noted for its handsome stores and business shops. Improvements are constantly being made by our business people, the latest being the restaurant of Mr. W. J. McCallum, a few doors below The Times building. Mr. McCallum has improved the front of his fine restaurant, which has been newly decorated, and a handsome carved letter gold leaf sign adorns the entire space across the top, while at the side of the doorway is a neat gilt sign, "Ladies' and Gentlemen's Restaurant." Another fine sign reads, "McCallum's," which adds greatly to the appearance of the whole.

John Dixon Nominated.

At a convention representative of every part of Maple Creek electoral district, Mr. John Dixon, one of the oldest and most prosperous business men and ranchers of the district, received the unanimous nomination as candidate and standard-bearer of the Liberal party in the forthcoming Provincial election. Yesterday's Fair Better Than Ever finger on the public pulse. They know what is wanted and keep it always in stock.

Lang & Maher's store is appropriately called "The Daylight Clothing Store." Their motto is promptness, thoroughness, efficiency, honesty, and giving their customers only what is of best material and of latest fashion. Their daily motto has been, "If we have done well to-day, do better to-morrow."

Their new fall clothing and furnishings have been selected with the care of expert buyers and a knowledge of the requirements of Peterboro's particular trade. There is no need to charge exorbitant prices to make up for bad purchases. Another good thing is that their store is always under clear skies of good daylight—and that means that Lang & Maher's premises have no dark corners, as it is the only store in town that extends from one street to the other, having full glass windows rear and front. It is simply impossible for anyone to attend the Fair without learning that Lang & Maher are the live "Daylight Clothiers," who are determined not to hide their light under a bushel.

It is quite easy to get acquainted with Lang & Maher's store—their handsome tile entrance to their front door and their name plate in blue tile lettering should suffice. During the exhibition and every business day in the year, Lang & Maher's customers, or visitors, will find themselves "Welcome as the Flowers in May," and we do not hesitate in saying, that all clothes, ties, underwear, socks, or whatever our readers buy of Lang & Maher will make each and every customer, not only pleased with their purchase, but thankful to The Times for recommending them.

WHITE & GILLESPIE.

In addition to the space devoted in yesterday's issue, to the display of Messrs. White & Gillespie, the George street grocers, we might add that they also exhibited a line of International Stock Food preparations. These goods are so well known that they need no introduction. The travelling representative, Mr. J. R. Bewster of Cobourg, was on the Fair grounds and made a number of large sales.

THE FAIR IN GENERAL.

The Fair, this year, was by all odds the best in local records, as far as exhibits of poultry, horses, cattle, swine and manufactured articles are concerned. The attendance, while good, is a reproach to the directors and to the City of Peterboro. Of course coming so late in the year, partly on account of the Toronto Exhibition, the weather prevents many people, who would be present if it were warmer at night, coming, but still this fall's show ensures a large attendance next year owing to the Fair's success. On Tuesday, there were 3,682 paid admissions during the day, with 439 for the evening exhibition; yesterday there were about as many present.

The Royal Canadian Dragoons gave another splendid exhibition. Capt. Young, in charge of the Dragoons, a splendid rider, either in polo or in his military saddle, rode the horses for the jumping competition. This drew rounds of applause from the thousands of spectators. The entries for this branch were the horses, Barabas, Alon and Kildare, and Capt. Young on Barabas won in a splendid and clean jump of his horse over the barrier some 5 ft. 2in.

Miss Paisley	1	1	1
Joe. Allen...	2	3	3

One feature of the Fair that deserves notice, as being the chief drawing card, was the successful way in which the races were put on and carried out. In this, the committee in charge, Messrs. Brooks, Elliott and Munroe, did their work to the satisfaction of every one. These gentlemen, thoroughly posted as former racers, has proved, showed that they understand not only how to put on good races, but how to carry them out to a successful completion. Mr. W. Leahy as starter, and Mr. Fred Peake as judge, did their difficult duties in a way that never called forth any adverse criticism.

Mr. W. Irwin, of the East Side, after the judging of the poultry was finished, purchased, at a high figure, the pair of Pekin, white ducks, that got first prize at the Toronto Exhibition. Mr. H. Winch also captured a splendid Pekin cock and pullet from a leading exhibitor. Taken altogether, this makes Fair a credit to the County and City of Peterboro, and to the executive who had charge.

GET POWER

The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

"From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed. All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 98 to 116 lbs., my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. The Grape-Nuts food did it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"A ten days' trial will show anyone some facts about food.

"There's a reason."

Colds. Their Proper Treatment and Cure.

Commonly, the first symptom of a "cold" is a chilly feeling, accompanied by sneezing, or a tickling in the throat. The most frequent of external causes are draughts, wet or cold feet, or going from hot rooms suddenly into cold ones. More frequently there is an inner cause—namely the stagnation of the blood caused by constipation or biliousness. Almost the first symptom is the feeling of cold in the feet and increased discharge from the nose.

No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, and having what we call mal-nutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. Tonics consisting of large portions of alcohol, iron or cod liver oil do not bring the desired changes in the blood, because they do not enter the system and are not absorbed into the blood, with the exception of the alcohol, which shrivels up the red blood corpuscles when it does come in contact with them. We recommend the botanical extract of Dr. Pierce because it contains no alcohol, and offers a reasonable and scientific method of treating the blood, by improving the nutritive functions of the patient. The "Golden Medical Discovery" accomplishes this, by first restoring the enfeebled digestive organs, so that food, the natural tissue builder, will be digested and assimilated.

WEDDED AT ST. ANDREWS

Mr. V. W. Lancaster, of Bobcaygeon, Captures Peterboro Young Lady.

St. Andrew's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at two o'clock when Miss Annie Jane Lancaster, only daughter of the late George Lancaster, of 20 Gilmour street, was united in marriage to Mr. Vivian W. Lancaster, of Bobcaygeon.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. John H. Cameron, city, to the strains of a wedding march played by Mrs. Peter Kerr. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate friends and relatives of the bride, and was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church.

The bride was handsomely attired in [illegible] ribbon trimming and wore the proverbial veil, with lily-of-the-valley. She also carried a bouquet of white asters.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ella Cameron, Otonabee, was attired in cream cashmere, trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. George Lancaster, brother of the groom, filled the duties of best man.

After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the residence of the bride's mother, where a reception was held until three o'clock, when the wedding dejeuner was served to the invited guests of which the following is a partial list:—Mr. and Mrs. John Lancaster, Miss Lydia Lancaster, Howard Lancaster, Bobcaygeon; Mrs. A. Armstrong, 165 Church St. Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lancaster, Hastings; Miss Flo and Mr. John Lancaster, city; Mrs. John Lancaster, Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harris, Otonabee; Mr. Wm. Cosh, of Bobcaygeon; Miss Beatrice Seward, Kinmount; Misses Margaret, Mabel and Mr. William Thompson, of Lakehurst; Miss H. Bathgate and Mrs. H. Brown, city; Mrs. Jos. Humphries, Otonabee; Miss Louise Telford and Miss Jessie Lowes, city; Miss Flora Harcroft, Rockcroft; Mrs. Albert Brown and Mrs. D. Cameron, city; Miss Annie Humphries, Otonabee.

The bride was the recipient of a beautiful array of wedding presents and the groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to the bridesmaid a pearl pin.

The happy couple left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will be the guests of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Wm. Armstrong, after which they will visit Toronto, Niagara, Hamilton and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster will reside in the city.

A Pretty Wedding.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Christ church, Tamworth, on Thursday last, when Miss Adelaine Coxall became the bride of Mr. G. A. Reid, the Rev. J. R. Nerson, of Gananoque, officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a gown of cream crepe de chine, and wore a veil caught with bridal roses. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Fannie Coxall, in white silk, carrying pink roses. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. G. S. Reid, of Centerville. Miss Lucy Wheeler presided at the organ. The groom's gift to the bride was a brooch, maple leaves, set with pearls; to the bridesmaid, an initial brooch, set with pearls.

Japanese Power Menaces America

Pre-eminence of Island Empire's Naval Strength in Far East Constantly Threatens America.

New York, September 29. — President Roosevelt is following with keen attention the developments that have occurred in Japan since the signature of the treaty of Portsmouth. The strong opposition to the convention has demonstrated to him and other officials of the government that the failure of Russia to accord indemnity to her enemy was directly in the interest of the United States and the world generality.

It is beyond question, from the point of view of the authorities who are particularly concerned in the far eastern situation, that had Japan received a considerable sum of money from Russia, she would have employed it, first in reorganizing her finance, and secondly to strengthen herself on the sea.

Already Japan is a military nation, and as a result of the withdrawal of the British battle fleet from Chinese waters some months ago she has become the first naval power in the Pacific. The destruction of Russia's sea power in the extreme Orient has enabled Japan practically to double her fighting strength upon the ocean.

OUTCLASSES ALL IN FAR EAST.

Admiral Togo captured one first-class battleship in the fight with Rojestvensky's fleet and two others and a first-class armored cruiser which was sunk by the Russians at Port Arthur have been floated. Japan has in the Pacific today a battleship fleet equal to that the United States has in the Atlantic.

In the fareast the United States has only three battleships and their presence in that part of the world is looked upon with disfavor by many American naval officers. These ships could be destroyed as easily by an overwhelmingly superior force as was the Vlaorostok squadron which fought with the command of Vice Admiral Kamimura in the sea of Japan in August of last year.

There is no disposition on the part of the president, or any member of his administration, to retard the progress of either Japan or Russia. For both nations there is a hearty wish that they should advance in the paths of peace and civilization.

FEAR UNDUE GROWTH OF POWER.

But has never been desired that one should emerge from the war so powerful that it would be able to dominate the political situation in the extreme Orient. The fact that Russia will continue to face Japan is of the highest importance to the rest of the world. These nations will be in the future what they have been in the past—a strong check upon each other. Japan has recognized, to all intents and purposes, that Russia has a certain interest in northern Manchuria, but she would go to war again to prevent the Slav empire from gaining possession of an inch of Manchurian soil. Russia has accorded to Japan certain interests in southern Manchuria, but she vigorously would oppose Japanese absorption of that territory.

Russia proposes to continue a far eastern power, in spite of the humiliating disasters she has experienced, and, according to representatives here, will assert herself with considerable vigor in future questions of importance

AUSTRIAN RULER WILL ABDICATE

So Declares Dr. Emil Reich, Famous Hungarian Scholar.

SUCCESSOR MUST YIELD

Dr. Reich Confident Hungary Will Wrest Demands From Archduke Franz Ferdinand.

London, September 29.—"Emperor Franz Josef's amazing and most uncharacteristic outburst of firmness toward Hungary is a certain forerunner of his abdication," said D. Emil Reich, the famous Hungarian scholar, now a lecturer at the University of London, a nobregarded as one of the first authorities on the history and politics of his country, to a press correspondent. "Franz Josef intends to end his inglorious career with a show of bravado and desperate confession of his failure. His affront to the Hungarian leaders can have no other meaning.

VICTORY FOR HUNGARY.

"The decrepit monarch's abdication will seal with victory Hungary's cause, and for this reason his nephew, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir presumptive, will never be crowned king of Hungary without agreeing to that unrestricted control of the army which the Hungarian nation is now so tenaciously determined to acquire and to retain. Hungary has chosen this year to assert its rights because the victories of Japan have altered the face of European politics to Hungary's advantage and have left Austria helpless. We no longer fear the intervention of bankrupt Russia nor the interference of her impotent army, while his jealousies of England and France will keep the German Emperor from exploiting the distress of Austria to place himself astride Murope from the Baltic to the Adriatic.

NO LIFE AT VIENNA.

"In the conflict between the living and the decaying organism at Buda Pesth," the Hungarian envoy concluded, "there is the life at Vienna, there is only stagnation. Austria is rapidly becoming one of the dead spots on the map of Europe, like naturalized Belgium, the buffer state of Holland and inconsequential Denmark and Switzerland. We are tired of partnership with a corpse. We want to assume the imperial rule in south-western Europe to which our traditions and our capacities entitle us—namely, the construction of a union of the Hungarian realm with the Balkan state under Magyar hegemony. We cannot do this without visible physical authority, which full command of our army alone can confer."

WILL MEET WITH COMMON INTENT

All Possibility of Trouble Over Morocco Now Said to Be Past.

Paris, September 29.— "All's well that ends well" is written on the faces of the French officials today as they read the closing details of the Moroccan negotiations. According to today's information, France and Germany "will meet with common intentions on the occasion of the international conference, all possibility of hostile action being gone forever.' Although this optimistic view is not shared by all persons connected with the affair, Premier Rouvier himself is quite content.

PREMIER ROUVIER CONTENT.

There is excellent authority for stating that the "impatience" of the Premier, which was mentioned recently in these despatches, culminated a few days afterwards in his communicating directly with the Berlin Government over the head of Dr. Rosen, the Kaiser's special agent in Paris. That communication was to the effect that the Kaiser's agent did not show the expedition which the French Government thought necessary after months of dragging negotiations. M. Rouvier, therefore, instructed Ambassador Bihoud to see the German Imperial Chancellor and inform him directly of the French disposition regarding the final entente.

This meeting was held last Monday. M. Bihoud first had a long conference with M. Witte, who had just arrived in the city from Paris, where he had talked over the Moroccan situation with the German Ambassador, Prince von Radolin.

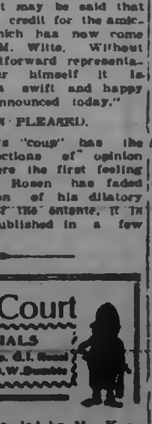
WITTE PLAYED LARGE PART.

"In fact," said the press correspondent's informant, "it may be said that a large part of the credit for the amicable agreement which has now come about accrues to M. Witte. Without his clear, straightforward representations to the Kaiser himself it is doubtful if such a swift and happy ending could be announced today."

PARIS IS PLEASED.

Premier Rouvier's "coup" has the approval of all sections of opinion here in Paris, where the first feeling of regard for Dr. Rosen has faded with the recognition of his dilatory tactics. The text of the entente, it is expected, will be published in a few days.

Police Court



OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Reed
Magistrate, G.W. Dundas

W. Bowman, defended by Mr. Kerr, was charged with having obtained from a customer at the fair grounds on Wednesday, the sum of ten cents, for an envelope in a game of chance.

William Edmondson, the first witness, saw Bowman at the fair, when the latter had a display of jewellery and a box of envelopes containing tickets, which when drawn settled prize of jewellery was mentioned in the card enclosed in each envelopw. The envelopes cost 10 cents each.

Mr. Kerr objected to the Crown's witness. Provincial Constable Jarvis, being present, but Mr. Wood argued that the prosecutor was necessary to his case, and that had Mr. Kerr asked this before the first witness started to give evidence his objection would have been all right. Mr. Edmondson was sent out of the room until Mr. Jarvis, a Provincial Constable gave his evidence. Mr. Jarvis said Bowman had a table 2x3 with a display of jewellery watches and a silver service, all of which goods were in the court. Bowman had a cigar box full of envelopes. In each envelopes, a card having the name of an article inscribed; for 10 cents any one could take an envelope and what ever articles was named on the cards in the envelope, the purchaser would get. Jarvis stepping to Bowman's table at the fair, said, "If I get an envelope, do I get a chance of drawing that tea set. "Yes," Bowman replied, "You have a chance of getting that tea set." Paid him ten cents, and took an envelope; the card was for a ladies' brooch, and Bowman said, "You don't want this!" "Not particularly," Jarvis replied. Bowman gave him his choice of various articles; he took a pencil. Then Edmondson took a draw, and paid ten cents. When Edmondson walked away he went up and spoke to him. Edmondson saw Bowman working next day at same business. He seized the envelopes, and placing his hand on Bowman's shoulder, arrested him. Gave Bowman an opportunity of packing his goods, leaving him in charge of another constable. As soon as the trial of the day before yesterday was over, examined the envelopes, which had been in his possession all the time.

Every envelope had a card enclosed but none had a card for the silver service. As soon as an envelope was paid for and opened, the card was replaced and put back for another customer. Cards were for collar buttons, brooches, cigars and pieces of jewellery, but no cards for watches or silver service.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr said when he arrested Bowman, he placed his hand on Bowman's shoulder and said "Consider yours if under arrest." Bowman asked "What for," when he explained Mr. Kerr, then took up a mechanical doll, that walked on the table of Bowman's stand at the fair. Bowman had peanuts for sale, displayed conspicuously; Every purchaser of an envelope got some little trinket. About 3 p.m. Tuesday, Mr. Kerr showed, by Jarvis' evidence, that the crowds buying were good natured. Mr. Kerr showed that Mr. Jarvis had sworn to three different replies made by Bowman as to his chance of getting the silver service, although they might perhaps have meant the same. The box of tickets was left in P. C. Adam's possession. Examined them Tuesday afternoon in the court house before court adjourned. Between when Jarvis took the draw, and when he arrested Bowman, some 23 hours had elapsed. Did not know whether the card for the tea service was in when he took the draw on Tuesday.

Edmondson recalled, said that Bowman told Jarvis he had a chance to get anything shown on his table. Witness paid ten cents for a draw and got a set of collar buttons. He did not take the draw to get anything in particular.

His Worship said the evidence in this case was not very strong, wherewith, Mr. Wood said he would try him on another charge.

As no further witnesses were to be called, his Worship simply transcribed the evidence give in the preceding trial for use in the second charge. He reserved judgment until next Thursday.

A CLEVER ARREST.

Two men were arrested on the strength of a description given in a post card from the Cobourg police, dated Sept. 11th. They are charged with having canvassed for advertisements for hotel bills of fare and taking money under false pretences. The two young men are seemingly respected.

P. C. Adams deserves credit for his vigilance in securing these two prisoners from a very meagre description given by the Cobourg Chief of Police's card.

In our account of the arrest of the medicine faker, who was fined $60, we committed to include the name of Constable A. Hall, who along with Constable Dundas brought the prisoners to the station.

A case comes up at this morning's court that will cause considerable interest. The man who occupied a tab at the fair grounds, on Wednesday along with Gagnon, the medicine man fined $60 for carrying on a game of chance, is to be tried for assisting him in the game.

Helping Mr. Hawtain.

Montreal, September 29.—The reports received from the West by prominent local Liberals is that the Canadian Pacific Railway is becoming very active in the Conservative interests in the Province of Saskatchewan, in view of the approaching Provincial elections. The president of one of the largest local Liberal clubs, who has done considerable work in the Western Province, speaking to The Toronto Star today, stated that the C.P.R., with its main line through the southern portion of Saskatchewan, would be able to lend considerable assistance to Haultain in the approaching elections. The big railway would be able to render this assistance more readily in the fall of the year, as it was just at the time of the crop movement, and concessions could easily be made the farmers in the way of rates and in assuring quick shipment of their wheat. Against such power Premier Scott would certainly have to put up a very big fight.

The same conditions did not exist in Alberta, and there was every indication the Liberal Government would be returned by a substantial majority.

C. P. R. Has Entered a Protest.

Ottawa, September 29. — The Canadian Pacific Railway, through the Canadian Government, has entered a protest against the action of the Australian Government in deciding that in future, computing the duty on goods imported from Canada the freight charges from the point of shipment to the Canadian border must be added to the value of the goods. This ruling hampers Canadian trade with Australia via Vancouver, and strikes a blow at the Canadian-Australian Steamship Line, which has been subsidized by both governments. The protest of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be drawn to the attention of the Australian Government.

OPENS DOOR TO CANADIAN TRADE

Japanese Government is Anxious to Secure Capital of Empire.

BRITAIN MAY INVESTIGATE

Suggestion is Made That Canadian Government Should Follow British Example

London, September 29.—The Anglo-Japanese treaty is likely to have an important bearing on the trade relations of Great Britain and Canada with Japan. When negotiating the treaty the Japanese Ministers accepted the policy of the oper door for all nations in the Far East, but expressed anxiety to see British capital and enterprise take the first place in Manchuria, Corea, and Japan itself.

Some concern is expressed at the rapid strides of Germany and the United States in these markets, largely at the expense of the trade of the British Empire. Informal assurances have been given that if Canada cooperates cordially in the new Anglo-Japanese compact an immense impetus will be given Canadian trade relations with the Far East in the new industrial expansion arising there.

COMMISION ENQUIRY.

It is not improbable that a British commission of enquiry will proceed to Japan to promote extended commerce. It is suggested that Canada do likewise, following up Hon. Sydney Fisher's recent visit to the Japanese, especially seeing the advantages of the geographical position, in which the direct steamship connection places Canadian traders.

THE FAIR OVER

A Splendid Show, Not Patronized By Townsmen as it Should.

And now Peterboro's great show is over, and every one attending it, have a kind word for the good results rewarding the intelligent and hard work of the executive. The only weak spot in the whole show, and unfortunately its most vital requisite when winding up, was the comparatively slim attendance. On Tuesday there were, in round numbers, 4,000 paid admissions, and on Wednesday 2,000. Peterboro noted always as a "Good show town," with her thousands of factory hands and skilled mechanics, should have been there for the city alone, double the whole paid entrance. Of course, the night performances were somewhat handicapped by counter attractions in the opera house and elsewheres. Lindsay, a far smaller town, with fewer industries and a cheaper class of fall fair, attracted more visitors. Let us hope however, that the record of this year's Peterboro fair, will next year, by increased attendances, encourage the directors who did their share of the work well.

To the following gentlemen are due the thanks of the whole community for their splendid work done in making the show a success. They of course are not responsible for the non-appreciation or attendance of the townspeople when they had the show all right.

KINDERGARTEN.

A large tent on the grounds contained a unique and most interesting exhibition that drew the attention of many hundreds of our local ladies and children. This exhibition was a collection from the various kindergarten schools of the city, and, for completeness and artistic display, well worthy the attention given it. The display, under the management of Miss Warner, was of especial interest to those personally interested in training and developing the growing minds of our city's children. There was a good exhibit of weaving, drawing and all other work done by this little ones. The decorations were in admirable taste, and, were, in themselves an education.

FISH THREE FEET HIGH

Piles of Them Along Shore of a New Brunswick Bay.

St. John, N. B., September 29.—Scattered along the shores and flats of Courtney bay, which extends to the eastward of St. John, are thousands of sardine, herring, hake and haddock. At one place the fish are piled to a height of more than three feet, covering an area of fully 50,000 square yards, while for a mile in either direction the shore is hidden by these fish.

The herring were chased in this direction by the hake and the latter were chased by the dogfish. They are all in confused heaps and since Saturday, when they came in, scores of teams have been at work hauling them away, some to be used by farmers as manure, some to the fertilizer factory, and the remainder to fish dealers to be sold as bait. Many poor people have packed enough to last them for the whole season.

Committed Suicide at Police Station.

London, Sept. 29.—A Bombay news paper of September 6, says John A. Booth, a Canadian, sensationally ended his life in the Calcutta police station by taking a dose of poison which he had secreted on his person. Booth had been arrested for collecting subscriptions purporting to be for the Japanese Red Cross Society. Letters written by Booth and addressed to the Commissioner of Police contained a confession of murder committed in Manila.

Will Raise Russian Cruiser.

Tokio, September 29.—It is expected that the Russian cruiser Novik, sunk by the Japanese near Kreuskovek, Island of Sakhalin, in August, 1904, will be raised about the middle of next month.

Bank of Montreal Makes a Big Deal

Bank of New Brunswick has been absorbed By a Larger Concern.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 28.—It is understood here that an agreement, contingent on the approval of the shareholders of the Bank of New Brunswick, has been made by directors of that bank for amalgamtion with the Bank of Montreal. Negotiations have been going on for some time, and culminated when Mr. Stavert, manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, resigned to join the Bank of Montreal.

Down to the time when Manager Stavert became manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, the institution pursued a most conservative policy, and had no branches. During the last two or three years five or six branches had been opened, and it was felt the time had come for the bank either to join a larger concern or increase its capital and get out in the world to look for business.

For many years the bank has paid 12 per cent. to its shareholders, and the stock has been quoted around $300 per share. But at present it is worth $285, or about the same as Bank of Montreal stock.

The reserve is $800,000, and net earnings last year were equal to 19 per cent. of the paid-up capital. Some fifteen years ago the bank reduced its capital from $1,000,000 to $500,000, the management at that time having in view the fact that city taxes were levied on the par value of the capital stock.

Particulars of the proposed agreement are not given out, but it is understood that the shareholders of the Bank of New Brunswick will have the option of taking cash on the basis of the current market prices of the stock, or Bank of Montreal shares, which are quoted at nearly the same price, though they pay only 10 per cent.

DAMAGES FOR GUN'S FAILURE TO KILL HIM

Would-be Suicide Sues Firm that Sold Defective Revolver.

San Barnardino, Cal., Sept. 29. — Because a revolver which he had just purchased to commit suicide misfired fire twice, Paul Schlardum has begun suit against a hardware firm for the price of the weapon and damages for its failure to kill him. Schlardum is 60 years old, and lives in the aristocratic Smiley Heights district. Becoming despondent, he decided to kill himself, wrote a pathetic note of farewell to his family, and retired to a lonely spot. Frantic members of his family found him sitting, disgusted, under a tree, with the defective pistol in his hand. He says he will postpone further attempts on his life until his damage suit is tried.

A HOLY WAR IN BASUTOLAND

Young Chiefs Traversing the Country Stirring up Strife.

New York, Sept. 29. — A special cablegram from London to the Sun says that it is stated there that a flying force left Pretoria on September 26 for the border of Basutoland. Since the death of Lerothodi the paramount, and the representative of the last German defiant in south west Africa, the Basutos has been restless, and a warlike feeling has been simmering ready to burst out at any moment.

Young chiefs are traversing the country stirring up a sort of holy war, that is aimed more at the Boers than the British. It is alleged that the British resident at Masaru has urgently appealed to the High Commissioner to arm the farmers living on the border.

The Boers there are pressingly asking permission to carry rifles. The Pondos are also reported to be restless and anxious to join the Basutos. The story includes a statement that Great Britain is being urged to send more troops. Nothing official on the subject is given out.

Pencil in the Appendix.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Robert Hannera, a young baker, walked into the County Hospital last evening, and announced to the physician in charge "Doctor, two years ago I swallowed a lead pencil and it's bothering me a bit." The doctor laughed at him, but Hanners stuck to his story and complained of a severe pain in his right side. His case was diagnosed as appendicitis, and as a case that required immediate operation. The pencil, five inches in length, and sharpened at one end, was found imbedded in the appendix as Hanners had predicted. He will recover.

Accused of Robbing Mails.

Montreal, September 29. — Ernest Rochet is the name of the man charged with stealing letters from the mail car of the South Shore Railway, between Montreal and Pierreville. It is alleged that he got $168 from a letter addressed to the National Bank at St. Francois de Lac; $38 from a letter addressed to Hon. J. Allard, president of the Legislative Assembly, and a sum of money from a letter addressed to Miss Durand. Rochet was brought before Judge Lafontaine yesterday and sent to the Court of Special Sessions.

To Study Tuberculosis.

Montreal, September 29.—Dr. E. Pelletier sailed for Paris a few days ago to attend the International Congress on Tuberculosis. Dr. Pelletier was sent as a delegate of the Board of Health, and to represent the Province of Quebec. He will be absent from Montreal for about three months, and will visit different places in Europe with a view to studying the methods of these countries, so that any new ideas that he may pick up will benefit not only the city of Montreal, but the province of Quebec as well.

STARTLING SEQUEL TO A MYSTERY

Suicide of a Very Prominent Boston Physician.

THE CRIME OF MURDER

May Have Caused the Doctor to Kill Himself--A Remarkable Case.

Boston Mass., September 29. — A startling sequel to the finding of the body of the young woman in a suit case floating in the waters of the harbor, is the suicide of a prominent Black Bay physician. The physician hurriedly left his home after the publication of the finding of the body, and went to New Hampshire, where he killed himself, or was the victim of foul play.

The police accept the suicide theory. Persistent rumors make this doctor the central figure around which the police have been working for the last two days. The blonde hair found in the bundle of clothing washed ashore is an important clew. It corresponds with the blonde hair found in the suit case. The presence of surgeon's gauze in the bundle is also regarded as an important piece of evidence, as a similar piece was found on the victim.

SOLDIER'S SUICIDE

Gunner James King, of R. C. A., Halifax, Cut His Throat.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 29.—Gunner J. King, Royal Garrison Artillery, committed suicide on the Citadel ramparts last night by cutting his throat with a razor. The body was found this morning.

About twenty members of the Royal Garrison Regiment Band will take their discharges here and join the Royal Canadian Regiment Band.

LORD DUNDONALD ON HOME DEFENCE

Citizen Army the Basis of Home Guard--Conscription Opposed.

London, Sept. 29.—In the October number of the Fortnightly Review there is a twelve-page article, entitled "Notes on a Citizen Army," by Lord Dundonald.

"That such an organization as a citizen army for home defence is possible, I have always believed, and my recent experience with the citizen militia of Canada has given me practical proof of the soundness of my belief."

Lord Dundonald entirely disproves of compulsory military service for adults in time of peace. "The basis and starting point of any scheme for a large voluntary citizen army must be the military training of boys."

Lord Dundonald, after a lengthy review of his own work in Canada, says; "In the past all efforts put forward by colonial Governments to maintain forces in readiness for Imperial purposes, have been doomed to failure, and there is nothing in the history of the last five years to lead us to expect a change of attitude. But all the advantages sought for might be obtained without any accompanying objections by applying the home system to colonial forces.

DOUKS TO WORK

Russian Quakers to Help Build The Grand Trunk Pacific.

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Mahaster McMillan, of the McDonald-McMillan Company, has just returned from a business trip to the Doukhobor settlements, where he made a contract with the community to do some of the heaviest work in building the line of the G.T.P. between Portage la Prairie and Touchwood Hills. The McDonald-McMillan Company has for some years employed members of Doukhobors, and has a high opinion of their capacity for such work as that.

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Wake—Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Snap All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

Thousands—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Lund, of Arthurlee, Ont., proves this:

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

BOUNDARY OF LABRADOR

Canada and Newfoundland are now engaged in a dispute regarding the boundary lines of Labrador and the exact sections of the country geographically known by that name which are under the administrative control of the Dominion or the island colony. Prior to 1809 this section of North America between the jurisdiction of Quebec and Newfoundland, but since 1809 the coast at least has been recognized as coming under the authority of the Newfoundland government. The frontier is, however, ill-defined. Newfoundland claiming a far greater area than the Canadian authorities are ready to admit. Even at the present time the interior of Labrador is little known, nor should we suppose that the territory comprised in that section was of any particular value to either Newfoundland or Canada. The coast and fisheries undisputedly come under the rule of Newfoundland, though just where in the interior the line of separation runs appears to be a matter on which there are wide differences of opinion.

Blanc Sablon, on the strait of Belle Isle, opposite the north-western shores of Newfoundland, is one point definitely accepted. From there the boundary line runs due north to the fifty-second parallel of north latitude. From that point to Hudson strait Newfoundland controls "all the coast of Labrador," but just how far inland "all the coast" extends is a question. The strait of Belle Isle is only about as far north as the city of London, while the most northerly point of Labrador is about on the same parallel as the extreme southern point of Greenland or the city of St. Petersburg in Russia. Owing, however, to the difference in climate in the two continents, the winters are as severe in Labrador as those encountered in Europe ten degrees farther north. Newfoundland and Canada have a boundary dispute not unlike that which existed between Canada and the United States concerning the line of demarcation between Alaska and Canada. While there is considerable jealousy between these two colonies, no such dispute will arise and no such hard feelings will exist as was the case in the settlement of the eastern boundary of our greatest territory.

THE JAPO-BRITISH ALLIANCE

The publication of the treaty with Japan bears out the previous forecast. Japan and Britain are to be one power so far as Eastern Asia and India are concerned. This removes them both from the possibility of attack in that region. Corea is safe, and the Indian nightmare is dispelled. It is doubtful whether any other power could make a serious fight against either of them in that area, but it is absolutely certain that no coalition of powers could make an effective fight against them both. The alliance will never have its authority challenged in Eastern Asia or India until China becomes a fighting power; and China will probably be introduced into the council of the nations by Japan and Britain.

This will not relieve Britain of the necessity of preparing to guard the rest of her "far-flung boundary line." She will still be vulnerable in Egypt in Africa and possibly in Australia. In this hemisphere she has nothing to fear, for any power attacking British possessions in America must reckon with the Monroe Doctrine as well as with the British fleet. It will be noted in passing that both the Japo-British alliance and the British acceptance of the Monroe Doctrine make for peace and not for war. Neither of them would be available for a war of aggression, but both are available for a war of defence.

There is something singular in the linking together of Britain and Japan. Neither of them are continental powers. Both are groups of islands close to the coast of the continents with which they are associated. Both are dependent upon sea power, and both are safe so long as they command the "blue strip." Isolation seems to be the secret of modern power. Japan, Britain and the United States being examples.

HUNGARY CRISIS IS THE WORK OF KAISER

So Says the Germanophobes in Dominion of the Czar.

St. Petersburg, September 28.—Russian-Germanophobes think they see the hand of the German Emperor in the present Hungarian crisis. A leading representative of this element said to a press correspondent today:

"The Hapsburg authority does not grant universal suffrage to Hungary because in Austria sixteen million Slavs, who are governed by eight million Germans, would at once demand the same benefit, and Emperor William, who already considers Austria the heritage of the Hohenzollerns, through his ambassador to Vienna, Count Wedell, will not permit concessions to be made to the Hungarians. He also advised the Novibazaar diversion, relying upon Russia's supposed inability to interfere.

"But Russia, having liquidted its Manchurian adventure, will resume vigorous action in the Balkans. Interior reforms have reconciled to us the Western and Southern Slavs, who would welcome a Slav federation from the Black Sea to the Adriatic and northward to the Baltic, rather than submit to German despotism."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. UNDERWENT OPERATION

Duchess of Marlborough Under The Knife in New York.

New York, September 28.—The Duchess of Marlborough, who was Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, was operated on yesterday for an affection of the throat by Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis at a private hospital. The Duchess withstood the operation in a most satisfactory manner, and Dr. Curtis believes that it will prove successful.

The exact nature of the trouble could not be learned, but the Duchess has suffered for some time. Dr. Curtis administered ether, and in a few moments cut out the growth which caused the trouble. The patient rallied

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share. Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and while the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West, it is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found [illegible] all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered, running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

of him," Shirley rose as he spoke, and rested his arm on the mantelpiece, his face deep in shadow, as the lamp was behind him.

"If you will get me this man's address, I should be glad."

"Lady Dartrey's solicitors would tell you. He is a private detective, you know, and I do not want any creature to know that I am employing one of my own account. You must undertake this for me, Shirley."

"I will, if you are anxious for it. But I must warn you that he will be a costly machine, and, unfortunately, you have not the faintest clue to guide him; wait until—"

"Until all chance of discovery has passed by? No, Captain Shirley, I have too much common sense. Find me this man, or I shall do it myself."

"I will look for him and bring him to you, Mrs. Ruthven."

"You will hear what the police detective Marsden has sent for has to say?"

"I shall follow my own line. No matter! But hush, I will speak to you later." The door opened to admit Lady Dorrington and her brother.

"I have sent for one of the best detectives in their employment to Scotland Yard," said Marsden to Mrs. Ruthven, after they had exchanged a few words. "And I must beg you not to leave, until you have given him your own version of the story and show him the position in which the thief surprised you. The tent remains as it is until he comes; we will keep his coming dark, as the thief, or thieves, will be less on their guard, if they think the local Dogberries only are concerned."

"But, Mr. Marsden, I really do not think I could bear to enter that horrible tent again! You do not know—"

"I can well imagine your condition of mind. Yet, my dear Mrs. Ruthven, you must not shrink from anything which may tend to discover the scoundrel who not only robbed you, but endangered your life. Let me entreat you to stay a couple of days longer. I expect the detective officer to-night. I ought to tell you, that in the road outside the Oldbridge gate—you know it?"—to Lady Dorrington — "there was a slight mark, as if a two-wheeled conveyance had turned sharply round; but on such a night, when vehicles of all kinds were coming and going, it proves nothing."

"You really must not go, Mrs. Ruthven!" said Lady Dorrington.

"I will not oppose you, then," said the fair widow. "Though I begin to fear it is but lost labor, the search for my jewels."

"No, no. I do not give up hope cried Shirley. "Detectives do wonderful things."

"There goes the gong. I must run away and dress. You will join us at dinner, will you not, Mrs. Ruthven?"

"Thank you, I will."

Lady Dorrington and Shirley went off to their respective rooms, and Marsden, pushing a low ottoman close to Mrs. Ruthven, sat down, almost at her feet.

"You are a shade less pallid than you were," he said, taking her hand. "Let me see if your pulse is steadier," and he proceeded deliberately to manipulate her wrist. "I can not say how awfully cut up I am about this frightful business! If I were a millionaire, and could replace the gems you have lost!"

"Even if you were, you could not," interrupted Mrs. Ruthven, leaving her hand in his. "There are associations—" she paused.

"I know," said Marsden— "Poor Charlie—"

"Charlie!" she repeated, in a peculiar tone—

"At any rate, you will not leave until I can accompany you," he continued. "I must stay and see this detective myself."

"Very well," and she tried to withdraw her hand, Marsden kissed and let it go.

"Did you see Miss L'Estrange safely home?" she asked.

"Nora? No. Fortunately Winton turned up, and I gave her over to him: it was too dark to let her go alone."

There was a pause, then Mrs. Ruthven asked, dreamily, as if speaking out of her thoughts:

"What did the jeweler in Paris say that man who was collecting rubies for a Russian prince was willing to give for mine?"

"I don't remember," said Marsden. "When? When you were last in Paris?"

"Yes. Don't you remember, the clasp of the necklace did not seem secure, and I gave it to the jeweler that Count Henri de Meudon recommended? Or, was it before you met me there in June?"

"Before, I think. I should not have forgotten, had I heard, though my mind was full of a different matter." An expressive glance gave point to his words.

Mrs. Ruthven looked down with a thoughtful smile.

"Well, I believe this agent, or jewel merchant, offered something like 1,500,000 francs!"

"Pish! was a large sum! I suppose it is worth it?"

"I have always been told so. It is too much to lose!"

"It certainly is! I must bestir myself, and find some good investment for that money of yours, which is lying fallow in the Three Per Cents."

"I shall not invest in jewels, at all events! The sense of insecurity will never leave me." And she shivered.

"You ought never to be alone again," said Marsden, in a low voice. "Well, you will endure this [illegible] home till Monday, at least, then I will escort you to town. Is that understood?"

"So be it," she returned.

"And you will come down to dinner? You must not allow yourself to despair! These detectives do wonders, sometimes."

"No doubt. But I see the difficulty of recovering my rubies is enormous. Once out of their setting (and Mr. Winton says thieves always take them out), how can I swear to them? How can I identify them?"

"Let us hope the best. Now, I have barely left myself ten minutes to dress. I shall find you in the drawing-room, shall I not?"

He took and pressed her hand once more before he went hastily away.

Mrs. Ruthven looked after him with anxious eyes, then she clasped her hands together and walked once to and fro. Finally she went to her toilet-table and touched her lower eyelids with Khol, delicately, artistically; took up a shell containing rose-colored powder; but laid it aside again, divided the thick, curly fringe on her forehead to show her fine eyebrows, and fastening a bouquet of deep red geraniums among the black lace of her corsage, wrapped her cloak closer round her, and descended to the drawing-room.

* * * * *

The well-known astute London detective, however, had no more success than the less experienced rural police.

He made a careful search through the rooms, insisted on Mrs. Ruthven reproducing her position in the tent and minutely describing the circumstances of the robbery, and inquired the length of time Marsden was absent. Finally he hinted darkly that he had an idea as to the guilty party.

"I don't say it's more than a suspicion," he said to Mrs. Ruthven and Marsden; "but it seems to me it's not impossible that some trained hand might have got in among

GOLD WATCH STOLEN

Some excitement was created in police circles yesterday, by the arrest of Frank Langdo, a 13-year-old boy, by P. C. Stewart.

As this boy was taking a trip on the alligator lumber brig, Wednesday, a gold watch belonging to W. Hogg, the engineer aboard, was found missing, shortly after the boat passed through the lift lock, during which time, the engineer had left his watch in his vest pocket. Langdo disappeared about this same time.

The police were at once notified, and P. C. Stewart, yesterday found him on the swing bridge over the canal.

When questioned at the police station he at first denied all knowledge of the watch, but afterward broke down, confessed to the theft and told the police the whereabouts of the watch. It was found in an old coat in the boy's home.

A Belmont Robbery.

Some talk was current in the city yesterday concerning a deliberate theft which took place in Belmont on Sunday, Sept. 24. Mr. Jas. Rannie, treasurer of the Belmont school board, was the victim. He had $145 in the house which belonged to the school board and which he had not yet put in the bank. A friend or acquaintance of Rannie's called on Sunday, and was in the house for some time, but soon after he went out the money was missing. The $145 which Mr. Rannie had in the house, is accounted for by the fact that the school board is erecting a new school house, and this money was on hand to pay the directors.

The Times last night was paid a visit by Provincial Detective Jarvis of Toronto. The cause of his call was an exception taken to the account contained by two of the local papers in connection with the arrest, on Wednesday, of a medicine man at the fair grounds. The Times, and presumably the other paper, on the authority of eye-witnesses of the arrest, gave P.C. Stewart credit for this arrest. Mr. Jarvis seems to consider he has not been treated fairly in this matter, as he claims he, himself arrested Gagnon, and handed him over to P.C. Stewart. Mr. Jarvis, brought with him a declaration signed by himself before a justice of the peace to the effect that he made the arrest and not Setwart. This declaration is backed up by a somewhat similar declaration, duly signed and witnessed, by the man arrested, in which the latter swears Jarvis arrested him. P. C. Stewart declares still that he himself, had placed Gagnon under arrest before Jarvis took a hand in the affair at all. There will be a case possibly in the courts over this matter to see to whom belongs the glory, and, incidentally, the fees in connection with the arrest.

MR. EMMERSON'S TRIP

Minister of Railways and Canals Inspects T. V. C.

When Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals arrived in Lakefield on Wednesday, he was joined by a party of some 50 people. The whole party boarded the Str. Stony Lake.

The trip through the lakes was a most pleasant one, and the Hon. Mr. Emmerson greatly enjoyed the outing. All along the route the different locks were inspected. These are Young's Point, Burleigh, Lovesick, Buckhorn, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls, where the party stayed for the night.

An informal reception was held, when Mr. R. J. McLaughlin introduced a number of Lindsay people who were given an opportunity to address the Minister of Railways and Canals, and they were very strong in their appeal for the immediate completion of the canal.

Among the Peterboro party who returned home yesterday evening were Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Wm. Hamilton, A. A. Hollingshead and A. P. Poussette, and Mr. Kilborn, of Lakefield. They only went as far as Fenelon Falls.

The balance of the party went on to Kirkfield, and arrived home on the 9.30 train yesterday evening.

MR. GEMMEL'S DEATH

One of Peterboro's Oldest Citizens Passes Away at 208 Charlotte St.

One of Peterboro's oldest and most respected citizens, in the person of Mr. Thomas Gemmell, passed away yesterday morning, about 11.30, at his residence 208 Charlotte street. Mr. Gemmel has been failing in health for some years, so his death yesterday, of senility, at the age of 78 years, was not unexpected. Mr. Gemmell was the father of three sons, Thos. H., one of Guelph's aldermen, Robert of Toronto, and Mr. J. M. Gemmell, 200 Charlotte street. Mr. Gemmell had been married twice, his second wife, who survives him, was Miss Christina Morrison, and were married about 35 years ago; Mr. J. M. Gemmell is the issue of this marriage.

The deceased was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada over fifty years ago. He had lived in Peterboro about twenty-five years. He was a member of the Sons of Scotland.

The funeral which is private will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to Little Lake cemetery.

KICKED BY A HORSE

Mr. S. L. May, Gets His Nose Injured By a Delivery Horse.

As Mr. S. L. May, of the Port Hope Knitting Works, was going to dinner yesterday, he took a short cut through the lane behind that store. Mr. May was passing a delivery rig which was standing in the lane, immediately behind Arthur Rountree's grocery store, when, it seems he undertook to take undue liberties with the horse. The animal, a high spirited, but usually gentle animal would not stand these liberties, and reached out its hind feet, one of which, most unfortunately, came in contact with Mr. May's nose. Mr. May's injuries were both painful and severe, several stitches being required. It was thought at first the bridge of his nose was broken.

MANY PROTESTS

Nearly 100 Memorials to the Mikado Against Peace.

Tokio, September 29.—The Emperor is giving personal attention to the memorials presented to the throne against the terms of peace arranged with Russia. These memorials now number nearly 100. The agitators who are trying to interview the privy councillors advocate the refusal to ratify the treaty of peace and the public is almost unanimous in demanding the resignation of the cabinet. Even the moderates do not conceal their grief at the result of the negotiations.

A Successful Festival.

Last night St. Luke's church was crowded with members of the congregation and their friends, the occasion being the annual harvest festival. The church, appropriately decorated, was very pretty and much admired. Rev. Canon Welch, D.C.L., rector of St. James Cathedral, Toronto, gave a most interesting and instructive address. The choir, also helped materially to make the festival a success, by rendition of some specially chosen, and well practised selections.

A BUSY WOMAN OWE THEMSELVES.

"Good actions speak louder than words," so too, does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by a guarantee of some kind. That is the reason why the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are willing to offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured. Such a remarkable offer is founded on the long record of cures of the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women. If there is an invalid woman, suffering from female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of womb, or from leucorrhea who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription without complete success, the proprietors of that medicine would like to hear from such person—and it will be to her advantage to write them as they offer, in perfect good faith, a reward of $500 for any case of the above maladies which they cannot cure. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that world wonmat its makers in making such an offer.

The sisters of the Good Shepherd, at their convent, "Our Lady of the Woods," Carthage, Ohio, use a great deal of Dr. Pierce's medicines; they say in a recent letter to Dr. Pierce: "We beg to assure you of the great benefit these medicines give our ailing ones. We cannot sufficiently recommend their excellence."

When the druggist says he has something that is as good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, just tell him, "There's nothing just as good." He says so because he hopes to make a better profit but his own mixtures have not stood the test of long experience and success that Doctor Pierce's medicines have. Then, too, many patent medicines advertised as tonics, contain large quantities of alcohol. Dr. Pierce guarantees that his "Prescription" does not contain a particle of alcohol.

It is a good thing to keep Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets in the house. One Pellet is a laxative, two a mild cathartic.

A Splendid Head.

Mr. T. C. Westlake, proprietor of the City Meat Market yesterday had set up in his shop, Cor. George and Brock streets, one of the finest moose heads that ever came to Peterboro. The moose was killed in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and stuffed at Rat Portage. It has a grand set of antlers, measuring 3ft. 14in, from tip to tip in breadth and ten tips to each horn. The head is mounted on a heavy ebonized shield, and is a fine sample of the taxedermists art. The color of the hair is unusually dark, the dew lap, hanging below the neck, being an absolute black. Mr. Westlake has hung the head in front of his immense refrigerator, where it commands immediate attention from customers entering the store.

An Enjoyable Concert.

A very enjoyable entertainment was given under the auspices of St. Andrew's Junior Boys' Guild, last night in the lecture room of the church. A charming program of vocal and gramophone music was rendered, interspersed with humorous sketches by Mr. James Fax, the popular elocutionist, of Toronto. The entertainments given under the auspices of this society, are always of a most interesting and enjoyable character, and well worth attending.

Death of Mr. J. B. Young.

The death occurred on Wednesday of John Brunton Young, of North Monaghan, about four miles from the city. The deceased a son of Mr. Geo. Young, of this city, was thirty-eight years of age, and had lived in the county all his life. He was married to Miss Robson, of Otonabee, about nine months ago, and she survives him. He had been ill for some time with a complication of diseases and death was not unexpected.

EXTINCTION OF MINERS UNION NOW PLANNED

Huge Combine of Coal Operators to Fight Union To Finish

Pittsburg, Penn., September 30.—On April 1, 1906, every coal mine in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia and part of Kentucky will shut down for an indefinite period. A meeting of the coal operators of all these states has been called to take place November 22 at Chicago, when plans will be completed for the greatest lockout in the history of the world. It is proposed to shut down the mines and crush the United Mine Workers of America as an organization or else to force them to accept a reduction of from 10 to 15 cents a ton on the present mining rate. This is the program which is to be carried out if the Eastern contingent of the anthracite operators can bring it about. The bituminous coal operators favor advancing the price of coal by closing down the mines to limit the output.

Herman Justi, commissioner for the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, sent out the call. This will be the first time the anthracite coal operators will have entered into an agreement with the bituminous coal operators. The object of this is to stifle the increasing growth of unionism in the Eastern coal mines.

There exists an agreement among the Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois coal operators, known as the interstate agreement, whereby the operators annually meet the united mine workers of the various districts and settle on a mining rate for the year.

IGNORE THE UNIONS.

The anthracite coal operators are unwilling to deal with the miners' union and have about 30,000 miners employed in Eastern Pennsylvania under individual contracts. To kill the miners' union the anthracite employers must have the assistance of the soft coal operators of the West.

All the wage scales in the states named expire April 1—in fact, nearly all the mining scales of the country expire on that date. It is to meet this crisis that the meeting has been called in Chicago in November. The coal miners are getting better wages than ever in the history of the industry, taking working facilities into consideration, and the operators will refuse to discuss any increase. They will refuse to accept the check-off system of collecting dues, and will refuse to accept a reduction of 5 cents per ton for coal mined and run over an inch and one quarter screen. Some of the Western coal operators want this reduced to 7½ cents a ton, and the coal miners will be met with this proposition next January at the wage conference.

The Eastern coal operators will not be represented at this gathering. Of course, the coal miners' representatives will refuse to accept the reduction, and the mines will be closed down until either side is starved out.

START TO PILE UP COAL.

As a result, the anthracite coal operators have begun piling up coal and will do so all winter. The soft coal producers will fill their docks at both ends of the lakes and load every boat, barge and scow obtainable with coal between now and April 1. The operators have reached an understanding whereby no contracts are to be accepted for coal between now and April 1—that is, for delivery after April 1. It is expected that on that date coal will advance at least 50 cents a ton. This is where the coal operators will benefit and will really make more money than by operating their plants.

Several big Pittsburg concerns have been at their wits' end to make contracts for fuel beyond April 1, without being able to place a contract for a ton of coal. Storage facilities cannot be had on short notice and the consumers will be forced to pay the price demanded by the operators, who will hold their surplus coal from now on.

Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburg Coal Company, who is also Chairman of the Interstate Agreement, is probably the best authority on the situation. The company he heads mine and ship more coal than the Philadelphia and Reading, the Erie and the Lackawanna Railroads combined.

SAYS LABOR GETS MOST.

Mr. Robbins points dout that the great feature of the mining industry was the manner in which most of the money went to labor. He said the coal in the ground cost five cents a ton and the other 95 per cent. of cost to mining represented the cost of labor in mining, loading, shipping and transferring, so that labor represented 95 per cent. in the total expenditures.

The output of the mines that will close down, estimated on the tonnage produced in 1904, is 29,136,782, and if the mines close during April and May it means that 46,373,564 tons of coal will be taken out of the market. The total capacity is much larger as 1904 was considered a dull year. Soft coal which should have sold from $1 to $1.05 per ton, has been selling as low as 55 cents a ton for coal run over one and one quarter inch screen, while the run of mine has been selling at 85 to 95 cents a ton. Anticipating the shut-down prices have already advanced and $1.05 is now being paid, and it is expected that the price will advance ten cents a ton by the beginning of winter. But even at advanced prices the coal operators will refuse to dispose of their stock to new buyers, but will merely fill contracts they have already booked.

The officials of the United Mine Workers say they will have a good fighting chance to hold out against a sweeping reduction, as the coal miners have been nworking steadily and have been getting better pay than since 1896, and taking facilities for mining into consideration, they have been making more money.

BRITAIN FASTENS ON FAR EAST

Has New Plan for Imperial Defense

THE DOCKS AT SINGAPORE

Will Be Taken Over By England--An Important Step

London, September 30.—The London Daily Observer declares that it is in a position to announce that the British Government is taking a step of the utmost importance as a result of the recent events in the Far East. A naval base is to be established at Singapore. Within a few weeks great commercial docks at Singapore will pass into the hands of the British Government by compulsory purchase under the authorization of the act of Parliament recently passed.

The Observer understands this step is to form only a part of the new scheme for imperial defense, which latter is to be of the most far-reaching nature.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G. I. Read
Magistrate, D. W. Saunders

Chief J. C. Ruse, of Cobourg, arrived in the city yesterday morning to get the two young men arrested Thursday, by P. C. Adams, in the Queen's Hotel. These two men had been arrested cleverly by the officer on the strength of a postcard from the Cobourg authorities on September 19th.

The warrant brought by Chief Ruse charges the two men with getting money under false pretenses. It seems they went about the town or Cobourg soliciting ads. for bills or fare for the Commercial hotel, Cobourg. When they had gathered in $24 they skipped out, with the bills of fare still in the printer's hands.

There was a hard fought battle fought in yesterday's police court when Horton, the companion of Gagnon, fined $40 on Wednesday for running a game of chance at the fair, was charged with being an accomplice of the latter. Mr. O'Connell appeared for the prisoner, and Mr. E. H. D. Hall for the prosecution.

P. C. Stewart, in the box, recognized Mr. Horton in the court. Saw him in the afternoon of Wednesday last at the fair grounds. There was an agricultural exhibition in progress there, in the township of Monaghan, adjoining the city boundaries. Horton was standing in the hack with a large bunch of one, two and five dollar bills in his hand. These he was putting into envelopes, and would occasionally get a small boy, blindfolded, to help him stuff the bills in. Was handing bills to the other men in the hack. Would put a bill into an envelope and wrap it round the packages of medicine, with a rubber band. The package would then be put into an open bag in his possession. Horton had possession of the money and bag, both handed to Gagnon to fix after getting a certain number of packages, said to contain money into the bag; they then threw in a number of packages which they said did not contain money. The money packages were the larger number. Both Gagnon and Horton both spoke to the crowd, telling them they were fools not to buy such bargains. They told the public they were giving the people a chance to get rich. They were offering the packages at $1 each. He then walked to the hack and ordered the men to close up their business and leave the grounds. Gagnon said he had bought a privilege and was not going to leave the grounds. Before this Gagnon asked him who he was. Told him he was there in charge of the fair. Told prisoners they had to quit business or he would arrest and send them up town. Gagnon told him he would have to arrest. Stewart then sent P. C. Dundas to other side of the hack so they could not get away, and jumping on the hack placed both under arrest. Sent the prisoners up town with P. C. Dundas. Did not see any goods sold.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell (for the defence) said: This arrest was made in the grounds, within 50 yards of the north fence. Had just walked into the grounds. Was only about 20 minutes near the carriage. Both men talked business. Prisoners placed much stress on the money placed with the medicine. Gagnon was on the back part and Horton on front part of the hack. Provincial Constable Jarvis climbed into the hack after he (Stewart) had made the arrest. Dundas a special constable, was with him. Had the men not persisted in having their way he would not have arrested them.

Adam Hall was a constable at the fair. Was employed by Peterboro Industrial exhibition's management. The fair is an agricultural affair, also a manufactured goods and live stock. Horton and Gagnon occupied a hack at the grounds.

Cross examined by Mr. O'Connell. Did not see any sales made. Did not see the arrest made.

John Dundas said he was a special constable at the fair. Horton had bills in his hand of different denominations, and handed the bills from time to Gagnon. Gagnon put the bills in envelopes and handed them to the blindfolded boy, who shoved the money in the envelopes. Horton then sealed the envelopes and placed them round the packages of medicine. Both men told how the medicine would cure indigestion, rheumatism and other ailments, and a certain number of the packages contained money and a certain number without. They were selling the package at 50c. or $1, saying the purchaser had a chance to get a package with money in it. Witness followed along to the hack and warned the fakers to quit. Gagnon seemed to be the boss. Stewart jumped into the hack and arrested the two men. Mr. Gagnon gave his name as Professor Gagnon. Brought the prisoners up with him. Both men, after the arrest, tore open the envelope and took the money out. He (Dundas) took four of the packages and gave them back to Gagnon after his trial.

Chief Russel said he was in court when Gagnon was tried and fined $40 last Wednesday. Mr. O'Connell objected to Mr. Hall's using the conviction against Gagnon as evidence.

Provincial Constable Jarvis in this box, said he was sent by his department in Toronto to attend the fair to prevent games of chance. When he first saw Gagnon he was speaking of the reliability of the firm he represented from Chicago and Winnipeg. Gagnon and Horton were wrapping packages with bills. Did not see any one buy on Wednesday. Said he himself made the arrest. Was present when Gagnon was tried.

"That is the case," said Mr. Hall.

Mr. O'Connell, "I don't think I will have to argue the case as your Worship, I presume, will dismiss it at once."

"Why?" said his Worship. Mr. O'Connell argued there was no evidence of a sale. His Worship said the case was not for selling, but of carrying on the business.

Mr. O'Connell exemplified his idea of a game of chance, by suggesting a game of poker, $1 limit, with his Worship, if his Worship agreed, and actually drew cards they had been entered a game of chance; but if both of them did not handle the cards there was no game of chance; it takes two contracting parties. He quoted several sections of the act relating to industrial and agricultural fairs. There is no evidence that the Peterboro fair was carried on by an incorporated agricultural society. Claimed again that Gagnon's pleading guilty on Wednesday should not be used against Horton.

His Worship thought that the fair held here was an industrial exhibition. Thinks it not necessary to show a sale. These people put money in their packages and tried for trade; it was a game of chance, no doubt about that. The fines for this offence run from $20 to $100, so imposed a fine of $60 with $6.42 costs, in all $66.42. Mr. Horton went down to his jeans and brought up a roll of bills, from which he peeled off the necessary amount.

Mr. O'Connell notified his Worship he would appeal the case, whereupon his Worship placed the amount necessary to ensure expenses at the appeal at $100. Mr. O'Connell objected to this, but his Worship was determined as to the amount. Mr. Horton went to his hotel to procure the necessary change.

Mr. O'Connell made a strong appeal against what he called the "persecution" of Mr. clients, saying that there was much talk about town as to its being persecution.

"It is broadcast in the air," retorted Mr. O'Connell. Mr. Hall remarked that these two men were carrying on business, insinuating that the public got the worst of it in dealing with these people, and asked Mr. O'Connell if he would call it "persecution" to stop their swindling the public.

When other helpers fail and comforts flee,

The last words of the old hymn were uttered in a whisper, the Surgeon-in-Chief leaned over the operating table, looked at the closing eyes of the beautiful girl, pressed his ear to her heart and announced that she was dead. Miss Clara Butler, daughter of a prominent Morgan Park family, leading soprano in the First Baptist church there, thus passed away on the operating table at the hospital in Blue Island today, after she had been cruelly mangled by a Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific train. Attempting to alight after the train had started, her dress caught in the ironwork of the platform, and she was thrown under the wheels. She was hurried to the hospital in the faint hope of saving her life by an operation, but it was a vain hope. Her younger sister, who witnessed the accident, is prostrated and may not recover.

Although she knew death was in the room and fast closing down the span of her life, Miss Butler was cheerful to the end.

"Tell them I am not afraid to die," she whispered to her pastor as a message to be taken to her mourning relatives in an adjoining room. Then her voice rang pure and clear as a bell with her favorite hymn. Over and over again, until the end, and even to a whisper, she sang the words, while the surgeons and nurses turned to the windows and waited for the end. In an adjoining room grief was tugging at the heartstrings of her parents and sisters. Outside all was life and sunshine and action, while on the white iron table the beautiful singer chanted her own requiem and passed beyond with a smile on her face and a song in her heart, despite the fearful agony inflicted by the cruel wheels. At her request a brief service for the dead was held by her pastor immediately after her death, while she lay on the operating table. This is the second tragedy in the family within a year, a brother having drowned in Texas.

TO STOP GAME POACHERS

No Adequate Means at Present To Prevent Violations of Law.

Windsor, Sept. 29.—H. S. Osler presided at a meeting of the Ontario Game Commission here yesterday, at which Hon. Dr. Reaume, Commissioner of Public Works, was also present.

Among those who testified to-day was Dr. R. H. Revell, of Windsor, one of the best known sportsmen in Western Ontario. Messrs. Louis Youngblood, of Essex; John Miner, of Kingsville, and Deputy Warden Prudhomme, of Windsor. Dr. Revell favored an extension of the duck-shooting season from September 15 to December 31, instead of only the middle of December, as at present.

Mr. Youngblood spoke strongly of the difficulties encountered by the Deputy Wardens in attempting to prevent violations of the game laws

RUGBY.

The Charlotte street Young Men's Guild had a good attendance at the organization meeting, held in the Guild room, and prospects, judging by the enthusiasm shown, are very bright for a good rugby team this year.

Most of the boys are in good condition and if they can secure suitable grounds for the necessary training and practice they expect to make a good showing before the season is out. Manager McWilliams and Secretary Thornton have been empowered to secure the necessary grounds. The first practice will be held on Saturday afternoon and it is the boys' intention to enter the city league should one be formed.

Mr. N. E. McWilliams occupied the chair. The following officers were elected for the year:—

Hon. Pres.—Rev. W. J. Jolliffe.
President—N. E. McWilliams.
Sec. Treas.—W. Thornton.
Manager—Ira Motors.

The team will practice this afternoon at the Exhibition grounds.

• • • •

There will be a rugby practice this afternoon at four o'clock. It is probable that a game may be played between the Peterboro and T.A.S. teams. The following T.A.S. players are asked to be on hand:—Crowley, McGrath, Quinlan, Crouch, Desmond, Hurtubise, Dillon, Grady, Meagher, Lesbie, Regan and O'Brien.

HOCKEY.

Toronto will lose one of the best hockey players it has known for some time in the removal of Pete Charlton to Berlin.

Mr. Charlton has played point for the champion Maitlands for the past two seasons, and next winter will throw in his lot with the Berlin team.

He will likely play cover-point for this aggregation, which will, it is said, play under this year.

Charlton will be an acquisition to the team. He is without exception one of the best defence men playing the game at the present time, and his place will be hard to fill on the Marlboro line up.

Charlton was responsible in more than one match for the majority of the goals secured by the champions the rushes from end to end telling against the opposing teams.

He will make his home in Berlin, and will join the staff of the Hagen Shoe Company. He has been a member of the staff of the Standard Silver Plate Company for several years.

Mr. Charlton's many friends will wish him success in his new position.

The Lindsay Post says: — "Fred Whitcroft, well known to Lindsay sports in baseball and hockey, has returned to Peterboro and will likely be seen on Peterboro line-up again this year. Well, well! In Mr. Crowsley there yet, Peter!"

NEAR SCENE OF MURDER

Crown Closes Its Case Against The Indian--Doyle's Sentence.

Brantford, Sept. 29.—The Crown case in the Bennett trial was closed this afternoon. A conclusion of the case is not looked for before Friday. The case of the Crown contained nothing new. It proved Bennett to have been in the vicinity of the Jacobs house at the time of the crime, and sought to identify the hoof prints of his horse near the scene of the murder. In addition there was the letter found beside the body, which it is contended was dropped by him in his struggle with the victim.

Mr. John Burke Severely Injured

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, Mr. John Burke, a sectionman, met with a serious accident near Indian River. It appears that Burke was putting on fish-plates, when a fellow-workman, who was beside him, driving spikes with a heavy hammer, accidentally slipped, and the hammer descended on Burke's head, inflicting a terrible scalp wound and depression in the skull. The injured man was conveyed immediately to Peterboro on a special train, and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in an ambulance where Dr. Gray attended to his injuries. At a late hour last night Mr. Burke was reported to be doing as well as could be expected.

Good Show Poor Audience.

There was a poor attendance at the Brock street rink Thursday night to witness the vaudeville entertainment. A section of the 57th Regiment band provided music. The entertainment was an enjoyable one. The performances of Howard's trick ponies and dogs was clever and original. Mlle. Dair in her trapeze work was good, her acts being applauded. Schimize, the Japanese, did some excellent acts on the slack wire and in balancing. As the members of the company performing had given good proof of their abilities at the recent fair, they should have had a better attendance. It does not pay to be too economical in the purchase of newspaper space. Penny wise and many dollars wiser the wrong way.

Peterboro County Teachers Meet.

The Lakefield News says: The annual convention of the teachers of Peterboro county will be held in Norwood on Thursday and Friday, October 19th and 20th, and the teachers are asked to keep these dates in mind. The County Inspectors, J. C. Brown and Richard Lees, along with President Hill and Secretary Smith, of the Association, held a meeting at the court house Saturday morning and drafted the program for the two days' convention. The program will be published later. The officers of the Association are: President, Sidney W. E. Hill, Lakefield; Vice-President, Miss Brand, Havelock; Secretary-treasurer, S. A. Smithson, Villiers.

Rev. Mr. Potter to Speak.

The fourteenth Alumni Conference of Queen's University will be held in Kingston from October 20th to November 3. On Monday, October 30th the subject will be "The Problem of Non-Church Goers. Why and How to Reach Them." Rev. Alexander MacGillivray, Toronto; Rev. W. A. Mailing, Ottawa, and Rev. J. G. Potter, Peterboro, will be the speakers.

Kitchen Range Exploded.

Tillsonburg, Sept. 28.—Mr. K. E. Freeman and family, of Brownsville, were given a bad scare to-day by the explosion of the water pipes of the range to their residence. The range was wrecked and considerable damage was done to the kitchen, but the occupants of the room escaped injury. No one seems to know what was the cause of the explosion.

THE BENGAL NATIVES IN AN ANGRY MOOD

Fifty Thousand Bengalis Meet in Temple and Swear to Boycott British Goods.

Calcutta, Sept. 30.—Fifty thousand Hindus and Bengalis assembled at the temple of Kalighat have sworn by the Goddess Kali to boycott British goods as a protest against the partition of the Province of Bengal. The administrative work of the province, according to the versions of the Home and Indian Governments, had grown to such unwieldy proportions as to necessitate a division of the labor, hence the partition of the Province into lieutenant-governorships.

The Bengalis are intensely resentful at what they characterize as an attempt to split the population and impair the Bengalis' nationality. At meetings held throughout Bengal the people have pledged themselves to support the boycott, which has now received the sanction of the priests.

This scene at the temple of Kalighat, the greatest in Bengal, was striking when the immense assemblage took the oath in the holy presence of the Goddess Kali "not to use foreign goods, buy articles in foreign shops when available in native shops, or employ foreigners for any work that can be done by our countrymen." The high priest then placed a mystic vermillion symbol on the forehead of each of those who took the oath.

MINISTER'S MOVEMENTS

Hon. H. R. Emmerson's Tour of Trent Valley Canal.

The long spoken of tour of inspection of our great local water way, the Trent Valley Canal, by the Minister of Railways and Canals, is now over. Great enthusiasm, coupled with welcoming addresses, have marked the greatly appreciated trip of Hon. Mr. Emmerson.

He was accompanied by the Deputy Minister, Mr. Butler, the Chief Engineer, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, and his private secretary, besides large deputations from Port Hope, Lindsay, Peterboro, Orillia and other interested towns.

Whilst at Kirkfield, in accordance with an invitation conveyed by some 50 representative citizens of Orillia, the Minister spent Thursday night at the latter named burg, instead of going straight through to Toronto, as intended.

Those who made up the party on board the yacht Wawinet were; — Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Messrs. W. J. Butler, Deputy Minister; Collingwood Schreiber, Payne, Supt. McClellan, Engineer Rogers, R. R. Hall, M.P.; E. S. Clarry, W. H. Muldrum, Peterboro; Geo. Grant, M.P., Orillia; R. J. McLaughlin and Senator McHugh, Lindsay, and others.

The yacht was driven over the route of the canal to Gamebridge, where the connection with Lake Simcoe will probably be made. All the Peterboro delegates returned after reaching Gamebridge and arrived in the city Thursday night on the nine o'clock train while Hon. Mr. Emmerson and his associates, and Supt. McClellan went on to Orillia, where they were the guests of that town. Hon. Mr. Emmerson thoroughly inspected all the points of interest along the entire route.

To all deputations the Minister of Railways and Canals replied in the same strain as he did at the banquet in the Oriental Hotel last Wednesday night. He would make no promises, but said that no human being could do more towards the early completion of the Trent Canal than he was doing and had done since he took office at Ottawa.

Yesterday Hon. Mr. Emmerson, with Messrs. Butler, Schreiber and Payne, left Orillia at four a.m., for Toronto. From Toronto they will cross the lake to Port Dalhousie and make a tour of inspection through the Welland canal.

Mr. McClennan, on his return to the city, yesterday morning, spoke most enthusiastically of the reception they had had during the tour. He said that Orillia is particularly interested in where the canal is connected with Lake Simcoe, and expressed great trust in the future of our great water route to the seaboard.

NOW CHARTERED

Peterboro's Latest Industry, Prepayment Elec. Meter Co. Incorporated.

Mr. A. P. Pousette, solicitor for the Pre-payment Electric Meter Company, Limited, of Peterboro, has received from TToronto the charter of the company. The incorporators of the company, an announcement of which will appear in the Ontario Gazette of to-day's issue, are Messrs. A. A. Hollingshead, Wm. Hamilton, J. H. Lormonth, J. H. McClelland, Alfred Parker and A. J. McClellan.

As noted in yesterday's issue the capital stock is placed at $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares of $100 each. The company will place on the market pre-payment electric meters, which will work on the same principle as the gas meter, where a quarter is slipped in the slot and pays in advance for the consumption of a certain number of feet of gas. The pre-payment electric meters will work on identically the same principle.

As the machine has passed the official test, there is every reason for believing that it will meet with universal adoption and prove a money maker for the company manufacturing it. The local company will also deal in electrical supplies, and is also empowered by the terms of its charter to manufacture motors, transformers, electric fans, etc.

Mr. J. P. Strickland has to Share Cost of Sheep Killed.

Last week a somewhat interesting case was tried before Mr. John Hall, J.P., in the Lakefield town hall. It seems that Mr. Henry C. Garbutt, who recently had three lambs killed by dogs, alleged that Mr. J. P. Strickland's dogs were concerned in this slaughter of the innocents.

The evidence pointed to the dogs of Mr. Chas. Graham and Mr. Strickland as the ones which caused all the trouble, and Mr. Graham having paid his share of the damage, the court held that Mr. Garbutt was entitled to $11 from Mr. Strickland, being half the value of the sheep. The order of the court was made and Mr. Strickland will have to pay $11 and the costs. Mr. O. A. Langley acted for Mr. Garbutt and Mr. Strickland looked after his own interests. The Times is informed that the farmers in Smith township have been bothered with dogs worrying sheep all summer. Active measures should be taken to prevent this. Vandalism, and persons who have dogs which make a practice of killing sheep, should either dispose of or keep them under collar and chain.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Capt. Laing of Peterboro Honored by His Regiment.

It will interest the many friends of both Mr. Robt. Laing, Water st., and of his son, Capt. Laing, to know that the latter was recently made a valuable presentation by his regiment the 19th, in St. Catharines. In referring to this interesting event, the St. Catharines Standard says:

"After the parade of the 19th Regiment had been dismissed Tuesday night, the officers gathered in their quarters at the armories for the purpose of expressing their regret at the retirement of Capt. A. S. Laing, who leaves shortly to accept a very responsible position with a Montreal business firm.

When the officers had been seated Lieut.-Col. Thairs called upon Capt. Laing and on behalf of the officers of the regiment expressed the regret of the whole regiment upon his resignation. The colonel was very brief in his remarks, though his meaning was very clearly expressed. He then presented the captain with two very handsome and costly bronze figures.

Capt. Laing was somewhat astonished, though he was equal to the occasion. He accepted the beautiful tokens, expressing his regret at his retirement from the staff. He had ever been treated with courtesy and had naught to remember but kindness and courtesy. It was safe to say he would never forget the happy days he spent in the 19th Regiment.

Short speeches of regret were then delivered by Major J. S. Campbell, Paymaster Dawson, Captain Piker, Adjutant Dunlop and the other officers.

Capt. Laing, during the time he has spent in the regiment, has been one of the most enthusiastic of its members and certainly he has been one of its most valued officers. From his first arrival in the city he has been a member of the 19th, entering as a private, but soon after winning his promotion to a lieutenancy and from that he was given command of a company. His interest in the organization has been deep. Well versed in drill and the various matters in connection with regimental affairs, he has instructed his non-commissioned officers and men in a highly satisfactory manner. In his departure the 19th is deprived of an efficient and energetic officer."

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the over-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of [illegible] being over-tired like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. [illegible] was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

ASIATIC CHOLERA

Not since 1873 has there been an invasion of Canada and the United States by cholera. In 1832 it made its appearance, brought in an emigrant ship from London to Quebec. It is a hot-weather epidemic, and slight attacks were felt in 1835 and 1836. In 1848 it was brought to New Orleans, [illegible] ley, and across the continent to California. Seen again in 1849, there was a respite until 1854. In that year emigrant ships again carried it to New York, whence its ravages spread widely. In 1884 it attacked several European countries and gave Professor Koch the chance of studying its origin. In that year he announced the discovery of the comma bacillus, as present in every case of Asiatic cholera, and as the well-nigh certain cause of the disease.

That this bacillus was so present was not, and could not be, disputed. But that it was the active and efficient cause of it was doubted for some years, though now generally admitted.

India is the original home of the disease. There it is, and it has been endemic for at least 2,000 years, every year witnessing fresh outbreaks, from miasmatic pools and damp places, and fostered by the ignorant and filthy habits of the people. Never-ending war is waged on it by the British government, whose experts are studying continuously the causes, habits and methods of handling the disease. Professor Koch gives data establishing the handy virtues of the germ, which stands wide extremes of temperature, but does not bear dryness and desiccation. When once the disease has assumed an epidemic form, away from its birthplace, it travels with fearful rapidity, and makes its appearance almost simultaneous at places very many miles apart. It is often described as one of the filth diseases. When London was visited by it in 1848 it was almost deadly in the slums and dirty corners of the city. Active steps for disinfection were taken, temporary hospitals were opened and segregation of those who had been exposed to infection, and isolation of the patients, were insisted on. The virulence of the epidemic lasted but for a few weeks, [illegible] cases were reported in the following year.

Asiatic cholera is not dependent on agencies of mosquitoes, and is taken as easily, perhaps, as smallpox, from contact with clothes or surroundings of a patient, the bacillus finding entrance by the lungs as well as by the mouth.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the strong steps taken by the German government will prevent the spread of the disease, although on former occasions, in its westward course, it has eluded all efforts to stop it. It has been under constant study for many years but so far no method of vaccination or other means of securing immunity have been developed. When once a patient has been attacked, a contest between the toxic cells of the disease and the healthy cells of the normal body begins. Under these conditions the advantage of cleanliness in every sense, the sustaining of the tendencies towards health, are all-important.

Cholera is seen periodically in its most frightful form in the Mohammadan pilgrimages from India to Mecca. Captain Burton gives a full description of the conditions in that most graphic and exciting book of travels in which he tells of his experiences as a pilgrim, in disguise, from India to Mecca and Medina. Hundreds of thousands of excited men, half fed, never washed, crowded night and day into the closest quarters for weeks together, with no pretense of doctors or nurses—feeling safe of future bliss if death overtakes them on their amazing journey. No wonder that, carrying with them the seeds of contagion, cholera should run rampant among them. From one or other of these pilgrimages the disease was conveyed from India to Arabia, thence to Syria and the lands of the Mediterranean, and thence to Europe.

[illegible] disease, danger, [illegible] measures at the ports and the most vigorous isolation of suspected cases are the only safeguards.

JEW-BAITING IN CANADA.

It is said that the Russian Jews who have lately come to Canada are complaining of harsh treatment in this country. Prof. Goldwin Smith, writing in the Weekly Sun, deprecates such a charge, as emanating strangely from a people who hold themselves aloof as a separate and peculiar race from the rest of the community, avoid inter-marriage, avoid eating at the same board, decline intercourse, generally, and observe rules implying that what is not clean for them is clean for the Christian. It cannot be pretended, says Prof. Goldwin Smith, that anybody nowadays shows or feels any dislike to a Jew on account of his race or religion. The bad feeling which the Jew excites is not religious, or one of race, but social, and caused by his attitude and bearing towards the citizens of the countries into which he comes, and in which, while he claims their privileges and grows rich, sometimes by the exercise of unpopular callings, on their wealth, he clings to a nationality apart. It is Semitism, in short, not the Jewish religion, that is the object of dislike.

WHEN "SOMETHING HAPPENS."

Although John D. Rockefeller repudiated the alleged authorship of the prediction that times would harden within two years, the outlook is closely scanned by skilled operators in Wall street, who imagine the present stillness to presage a storm. One of them is thus reported: "I think I have never known a time in Wall street when the sailing just ahead looked so clear," he replied. "and I am getting my people out of stocks. It is my experience that when the horizon is cloudless it is time to get out of your stocks. It is when the sky is clear that something always happens. I haven't the remotest idea what it will be this time, but I'm afraid the outlook is a little too good."

FAINTED ON THE STAGE

Collapsed During a Performance at Winnipeg Theatre

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Miss Rosella Knott, the actress, who, in a courageous effort to keep faith with the public, had risen from a sick bed, utterly collapsed on the stage of the Winnipeg theater last night, and was carried unconscious to her dressing room. Miss Knott was taken ill several days ago in Duluth and has been resting ever since in order that she might be able to play here where she has so many warm friends and admirers. Though feeling very weak when she reached the theater last evening, she pluckily went on and for a time the charming performance of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," moved along smoothly to the delight of a very large audience. It was near the close of the second act when Miss Knott collapsed. She fell to the floor in a faint and the curtain was quickly rung down. Miss Anna Day, her understudy, continued the play.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.

G. E. WRIGHT.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I am delighted with the results. In one week I felt better and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained sixteen pounds in weight."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares — Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable ar Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a [illegible] proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the [illegible] on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

the confectioner's men, and watched his opportunity. You see, if he had the pluck to go straight back to his post, with the jewels in his pocket, and just look at his watch, as cool as cool as a church. There is no trusting the cloak and hat to any one. I have spoken with the men who were here, and they seem all right; but I've known some who I'll find out all about them when I go back to town. If one or other is a stranger taken on a job, I'll have to track him."

"It seems impossible that any man would have the daring to do such a deed and then return to his duties in the supper-room!" cried Mrs. Ruthven.

"You can have no notion, ma'am, what a high-class swell-mobsman would dare and do. It's possible the jewels have gone that way. Anyhow, there is no more to be done here. We must hunt up the thief in London, and specially in the big Dutch towns. There are a lot of Jew precious stone merchants abroad, as would give a long price for such gems and no questions asked. Of course, if they had a clear idea the goods were stolen, they would give notice fast enough, but they would not be too keen to act even on a shrewd suspicion."

"You will give notice to all the principal jewelers at home and abroad, and in the Colonies, in case the lost gems are offered for sale?" cried Marsden.

"Yes, of course; but there comes in the difficulty of identification. Any way, I'll do my best for my own character's sake, and the lady's sake; but we'll say nothing of the handsome reward you mentioned, sir, that is against my principles; but if, when I have done my 'dooty,' you like to make me a compliment, that's another pair of shoes."

"You may trust me," said Marsden.

"And me, too," added Mrs. Ruthven, with a sweet smile, whereupon, after enjoining the strictest secrecy on his hearers regarding his suggestions as to the possible thief, the highly intelligent officer departed.

"I don't think much of your celebrated detective," said Mrs. Ruthven. "He is by no means the monosyllable inscrutable man one reads of in novels. I have no faith in detectives who talk so much."

"I fancy the inscrutable men only exist in fiction," returned Marsden, smiling. "This person has, however, done some remarkable things. I believe he is considered a very valuable officer."

The day after Mrs. Ruthven and her host went up to town the party broke up; the great house was closed, and impenetrable darkness still enveloped the scene of the robbery.

Meantime, the extraordinary story was spread abroad. The newspapers, thankful for such subject matter in the dead season, had paragraphs each day on this exciting topic, and when they had exhausted conjecture, short leading articles, moral, religious, jocose, philosophic, philological, antiquarian, filled up convenient portions of their space.

"The Thunderer" remarked shortly, that the crimes of a period bore the stamp of its intellectual characteristics. Extreme ingenuity and logical precision were essential to project and execute so daring, so original a robbery as that which had lately startled society at Evesleigh Manor; that probably when statistics, mathematics and registration had been perfected and properly applied, we should find that only in the first decade of the last quarter of the nineteenth century—only at this precise epoch—could this special outrage have been committed.

"The Banner" traced this remarkable and heinous act to one fruitful source of evil, moral, social and religious, neglect of due instruction in the Church Catechism and of committing the Ten Commandments to memory—and apropos, drew a pathetic picture of a gray-haired rector standing beneath the east window of the village church, through which the light streamed in many-tinted rays on the rosy, chubby reverent urchins, who repeated in awe-struck tones after their beloved pastor, "Thou shalt not steal!"

"The Daily Instructor" proved incontrovertibly from certain racial indications, that so base and infernal a plot could only be conceived by an American-Irishman, with a dash of Russian blood from, say a great-uncle, or perhaps a strain of Malay on the mother's side; while "The Delirium Tremens" grew hysterical over an appalling list of robberies, with and without bloodshed, battery, torture, and murder, from the earliest date to the present crime, which, from certain characteristics, might be considered the most audaciously wicked of all.

"The Universe," in its usual lively style, hinted that among the better informed of those present at the Evesleigh festivities, whispers were circulated that the overstrained enthusiasm of a ritualistic and self-subduing curate, whose taste for ecclesiastical magnificence was in the inverse ratio to his regard for personal cleanliness, had been so carried away by visions—the result of overfasting and meditation—that he had annexed the lost rubies for the decoration of a favorite image of the Virgin in the new and splendid church of St. Withold the Wool-gatherer Within, and that Mrs. Ruthven, with the generous sympathy and delicate tact which distinguished her, was arranging for the substitution of an admirable imitation, modeled at her own expense, of the lost rubies and diamonds, so as to save the pious young man's taste and feelings; and to this project the delay in the progress of justice was due.

To this dastardly attack the "Churchman's Friend" replied with vigorous indignation, and much fine writing ensued, till a fresh trial pre-empted light, and the public interest was diverted from the Evesleigh robbery.

CHAPTER VI.

The sudden burst of life and gayety [illegible] Darrington House, made its quickly succeeding silence and gloom more marked and depressing. Lady Dorrington tried to persuade Nora to accompany her to Scotland, where Lord Dorrington had shootings, but the young lady said she could not think of leaving Mrs. L'Estrange, and Mrs. L'Estrange would not leave her little girl; so everything returned to the same condition of stillness and tranquility which Marsden's unexpected appearance and outburst of hospitality had broken up.

But this stillness was no longer restful.

The curious circumstances of the robbery had left behind an impression of insecurity, and Mrs. L'Estrange, whose natural timidity had been confirmed by long attendance upon an invalid and irritable husband, immediately made arrangements with the gardener to sleep in the house instead of in the lodge, and Waldman the pet Dachshund was allowed to lie at the foot of the stairs, while Nora herself inspected

$2,000 of Cheese Destroyed.

The Toronto World says that the medical health officers of Northumberland county have destroyed $2,000 worth of new cheese in a factory whose proprietor and a customer had smallpox. Dr. Hyde of the Provincial Health Department made investigations at Hoard's Station and found 12 cases of genuine smallpox, that had been treated as chicken pox. A patron of the factory, who had the rash out on his body delivered milk to this factory, but the place was shut up as soon as the truth was established. The local board of health, despite protests from the owner, forcibly destroyed all the cheese they could find. With strange disregard of both local and general health, the farmers of Seymour county greatly resented this action of the health authorities, claiming still, that the disease was only chicken pox. An action to recover damages for cheese destroyed may follow.

Night School at the Business College every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7:30 to 9:30

Mr. May Improving.

We are pleased to state that the young man, who on Wednesday afternoon, as noted, in yesterday's issue of The Times, was badly kicked in the face by a horse, in the lane back of Mr. A. Rountree's grocery, is doing as well as could be expected. It now looks as though his [illegible] will be permanent. It might be added that the accident, as reported by the local press, did not occur in the lane but in a stable off the lane, where the injured man had no right to enter. The horse, although high spirited, is a very gentle animal, but when interfered with, in its own stall, by a complete stranger, naturally resented this freedom taken, and used the means of offensive given by nature. We trust the young man will quickly improve.

Stony Lake Notes.

The Lakefield News says: It is reported that a company of capitalists are negotiating with Col. E. B. Edwards and G. M. Rogers, the owners of Juniper Island, Stony Lake, to acquire the property for next year in which case the present pavilion would be enlarged and the capacity of the store doubled. Mr. T. W. Robinson, who has been conducting the store all summer on Juniper Island closed it for the season on Saturday.

The Mammoth and the Mosquito

What has come to pass in thousands of years seems hardly credible. Primitive man, a weakling in comparison to modern man, was able to conquer the huge mammoths of thousands of years ago, such as the Mastodon, and to-day they are dead! However, yet the mosquito and fly have never been conquered. It is now time for the scientist to devise methods for killing the mosquito and fly, so that they will go to join the mammoth and the monster lizards. The mosquito-free and flies are also a great cause of pain because they spread contagion. The mosquito often carries the germ of malaria with his bite. The housefly spreads germs of disease over our food. These bacterial germs, once lodging in the weak spot, find a place in our blood, and then we suffer from grip, catarrh, consumption, or malaria.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., says: "There would be no grip epidemics, the germs of consumption or malaria would find no place in the human economy, if the blood were pure, if the lungs, heart and other organs were fed on good blood. Poisons should not be allowed to accumulate in the body; to be safe it is best to take a gentle laxative at least once a week." Such a favorable laxative as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets contains nothing which could harm the system.

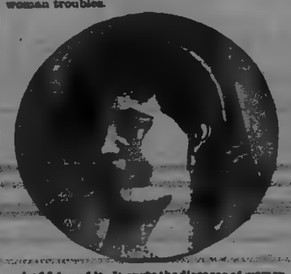
For putting the blood in order, and as a blood-builder and tonic for those weakened by coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, nothing will build one up quicker than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered, or 31 stamps for cloth bound, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Free to You My Sister

Free to You and Every Sister Woman Suffering From Woman's Ailments.

I am a woman.
I know as a woman what other women know.
I know women's diseases.
I have suffered as most women suffer, but I have cured myself. Not immediately, not suddenly but I studied, experimented, investigated, searched the world for a cure for my own woman troubles.



And I found it. It cures the diseases of women. Women's woes yield to its strange power. The suffering, ailing ones of our sex are brought again to the full flush and glow of girlhood days.

What about your daughter—mother? Is it not your part to guard her, shield her from the exposures and humiliations of office treatment?

Is there any real necessity for such an experience? Very seldom indeed. My Home Remedy has saved this dread ordeal to thousands of sensitive girls and young women. Will you not let it save your daughter's pride and modesty?

My free ten day's test treatment will convince you that your care for her was wisely taken—and maybe at the very time of all others most necessary to prevent, or cure beginning troubles of the worst character. Shield your daughter—mother. My treatment is not a man medicine—not a harsh drug or vicious tincture, but a pure, powerful, yet gentle remedial agent which cures and has cured thousands of cases of diseases of women—disturbed parts, displacement, enlarged channels, falling of the womb, heavy menstrual loss and clotting, painful periods, scanty flow and sharp darting pains, dull aches, bearing down feeling, aching groin, whitish discharges and the myriad delicate disorders which bring anguish to our womankind.

These are the afflictions cured in thousands of authenticated cases by Mrs. M. Summer's Remedy for women—cures which are recorded—cures that keep cured, in fact and in truth. And in every one of all these cases I sent the proof test treatment complete and free, absolutely, every penny of the expense was mine, not one single cent was asked for by any one—except by me alone. I will do as much for you, my sister, just as much for you as for any other—no matter who you are, or where you are, or how poor or how rich. That makes no difference to me—my sister. It will not interfere with your work or occupation.

Give yourself (your ailing bodily self) the benefit of your doubt, my sister, not the burden of it. For I will make you all your nature should have been—well—hearty—robust and plump, with all the color, glow and life of healthy womanhood.

One line from your hand to tell me where to send it—just your name and the address—and the cure will come by return mail—all sealed and prepaid—plain wrapper.

Do not hide your woman-need from me and shrink within yourself to suffer and sink down more and more. You must not do that. Only let me have [illegible] will be well—and shall be.

Preparing for the Deer.

Things are already showing that the deer season is at hand. Yesterday Mr. W. Snowden had delivered in his yard a brand new "Klondike" canoe, 18 1-2 feet in length, fitted with four seats, movable leg-boards, mast and lateen sail. This canoe is especially adapted for carrying heavy burdens, being very deep from gunwale to bottom boards, and furnished with a two-inch keel. Mr. Snowden's party will go to their lodge on Gold Lake as soon as deer shooting is allowed by law, and we venture to predict will fill "Admiral Togo," the new canoe, with fat haunches of venison.

Another Murder In Brantford

First Armenian Wedding in City Has Quick and Awful Termination---Doyle and Bennett to Hang on Dec. 15th.

Brantford, Sept. 30.—In less than an hour after the two murderers, Bennett and Doyle, had received their death sentences, and within two blocks of the court house itself, a double tragedy occurred this morning by which a fatherr shot his daughter and then turned the revolver on himself.

Both are shot through the heart, and absolutely no hope exists for recovery, their deaths being only a question of a short time.

The parties concerned were all Armenians.

Last evening a young Armenian girl, Vartamoush Kasparian, married Valser Sefarian. The ceremony was objected to by her father. This morning the couple were walking on Wellington street, near the Goold, Shapley & Muir wind mill works, accompanied by a boy five years old.

When half way up the hill the father of the girl, Kaspar Kasparian, who had been walking on the opposite side of the street, ran across and fired twice at the girl. One bullet pierced her side and the other her lungs. He attempted to fire at the other man, but the revolver only snapped, and this gave Sefarian and the boy time to run around a corner and escape.

The father then turned the revolver on himself, the bullet going through his heart.

"Oh, my God! that was my father," cried the girl in her awful agony, but the terrible injuries soon took away consciousness as she lay on the ground with her life blood staining her white blouse. She was removed to the hospital, but cannot live.

Sefarian, the husband of the murdered girl, was arrested shortly after, as was also a companion of the father named Siamosian, who egged on the father to do the deed.

It is alleged that the father was enraged because the girl married Sefarian against his wishes, Siamosian being the favored suitor in the father's eyes because of Siamosian's money.

The Brantford papers had just this week been commenting upon the fact that this was the first Armenian marriage in Brantford. Siamosian gave his address as 172 Princess street, Hamilton.

Brantford, Sept. 30.—Doyle and Bennett are to be hanged on December 15.

Baird, counsel for Doyle, asked for a reserved case, on the ground that Doyle had not been warned not to talk before his arrest; but Judge Anglin did not grant it. Felix again stated his innocence.

Bennett also said he was not guilty. Judge Anglin held out no hope of mercy for him. Both are to be hanged on the same day.

Doyle wept in court, but Bennett was immovable.

ALIBI WAS DISPROVEN.

Brantford, Sept. 30.—The jury last night returned a verdict of guilty against Joe Bennett, the Indian, for murdering Betsy Jacobs on July 9 last. Mr. Justice Anglin finished his charge at 6.30, while the jury came back after 11 o'clock. At first they reported a disagreement, but wanted an explanation of the evidence of David Garlow, an Indian constable, who was called in rebuttal. Garlow was guarding the Jacobs homestead on the night succeeding the tragedy. Elijah Kick, the man who swore the alibi, was with Garlow at the time, and told Garlow that he had last seen Bennett in Brantford on Saturday afternoon before the crime. The evidence was read to the jury, and after a few minutes' deliberation, they returned their verdict.

Not a muscle of Bennett's face moved. He took the verdict with the greatest of stolidity. No sentence was passed last night.

Mr. Justice Anglin, in commenting upon the verdict, said that, in view of the evidence, he did not see how the jury could do anything else but find the accused man guilty.

PRINTERS' STRIKE IS GROWING HOT

Success Has Not Been With The Union.

WORKMEN ARE PLENTIFUL

In Cities Where Strike is on, and "Open Shop" Principles Will Henceforth Be Maintained

Chicago, Oct., 2.—Success has not been altogether on the side of the union printers in the struggle in which they are engaged with their employers, according to the statement of a member of the press committee of the Master Printers' Association.

Reports which are said to be authentic and accurate have been received from several important cities of the country, and they convey intelligence which seems very favorable to the cause of the employers.

In Detroit the strike is said to be practically at an end with victory perched on the banners of the employers as word comes from that city that they have not yielded to the demands of the strikers and yet have secured all the men they need. In Chicago 712 men in all went out strike and already 555 men have been secured to take their places, while the managers of the paper mills claim that their sales have increased rather than decreased since the strike. In St. Louis matters are said to be pretty evenly balanced, and the situation is a stand-off with both sides claiming the laurel wreath.

It is admitted that the Tyrrel Bros. of Albany yielded to the demands of the employes and granted an eight-hour day, but it is said that this was done because a large part of the business there is state printing which the state law requires should be done on the eight-hour scale, so that the change made very little difference.

There are thirty-five large printing shops in Minneapolis belonging to the Masters Printing Association, and a number of smaller ones where only one or two men are employed are working in conjunction with them at the present time although not members of the association.

That the managers of several of the larger shops are determined to win out is shown by the fact that they have made contracts of a year or more with non-union printers. This is in effect burning the bridges behind them, as it will now be impossible for them to come to an understanding with the union, owing to the fact that no union man will work in a shop where non-union men are employed.

EVERYBODY READS THE TIMES.

St. Petersburg, October 2. — General Trepoff, who as assistant Minister of the Interior, and Governor of St. Petersburg, is practically dictator of Russia, said today to your correspondent:

"While the country is apparently calm, there is a possibility of a serious outbreak at any instant. The only cure for the present condition of unrest is the Douma. Accusations of tyranny made against me are unjustified. I am guarding the state and the public safety. Therefore I am obliged to arrest and deport agitators. The offences of men like Prof. Milyoukov, president of the federal organizations, are the most grave, because they are not Russians. Such elements, however, are powerless without Russian collaboration. We have no habeas corpus act, and no political courts in this country, hence many persons are imprisoned indefinitely.

"The Douma will remedy this evil. There is not the slightest doubt of the Czar's sincerity. He has limited his own power continually and he intends to enlarge the Doumas' prerogatives. His chief desire is to avoid anarchy and give repose to the Empire."

ENORMOUS IMMIGRATION

The Railway Passenger Traffic is Still Immense.

Montreal, Oct. 2.—The present season has been the heaviest in many years from the point of view of immigrant traffic on the railways. The arrival of autumn sees no abatement in the inrush of settlers and the Canadian Pacific Railways is still exceedingly busy transporting the new arrivals. Mr. Millar, the station agent at the Windsor street depot, remarked to a representative of the press this morning that the increase in immigrant traffic in the last year was simply enormous. Owing to the expected arrival of several trans-Atlantic vessels, about a thousand immigrants are looked for this evening or to-morrow morning.

OBITUARY

Death of Mr. Horton Howard.

Referring to the lamented death of Mr. Horton Howard which occurred in this city last week, the Port Hope Guide says: The sincere sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. John Howard, who is much bereaved over the loss of his eldest son, Horton. Deceased had been unwell for some time and his sickness finally resulted in typhoid fever. Dr. Powers was in attendance and about three weeks ago deceased was taken to the Peterboro hospital. He gradually improved and on Monday last his father received a message that he was much better. Yesterday another despatch came that he had taken a turn for the worse and before his fatherr could reach Peterboro word came that he had passed away. Deceased was a bright, quiet young man of 19 years of age and beloved by all who knew him. His untimely death comes as a great shock to his father for whom much sympathy is expressed. Mr. A. George brought the remains from Peterboro to-day and the funeral will take place from the family residence, lot 27, con. 5, on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

NEW TREATY HAS CAUSED ALARM

Fact That Kaiser Must Form Counter Combination.

REGARDED AS DESPERATE

Hungarian Crisis From Point of View of Fatherland Comes at Inopportune Time.

Berlin, October 2.—Until the German combination to the Anglo-Japanese alliance Germany's international position is recognized as little short of desperate. The present developments in Hungary increase the alarm felt in Berlin political circles, where, however, it is hoped that the dissolution of the dual monarchy will not occur before a new political constellation can be created under the German leadership. England's diplomacy has succeeded in isolating the Fatherland, at the very moment when the Kaiser's forces may be required to intervene in Austria-Hungary, in order to keep at least some parts of the Empire under German influence. The Berlin Government considers that even this would be unattainable without Russia's aid, and it is therefore believed that the coming Russo-German conpact will contain some secret clause, dealing with the southern European question. The Berlin press, with the exception of socialistic organs, finds that a Russo-German alliance is necessary. It is hinted in apparently inspired articles that Russia and Germany, shut out from expansion in the Far East, must seek compensation elsewhere, and that no power on earth can stop them so long as they operate together on land. It is held that such language can only mean that the partition of the Austro-Hungarian and the Turkish Empires, is contemplated, as an offset to the mastery of the seas in the Far East arranged by England and Japan.

DARK PERIOD FOR HUNGARY

Great Anxiety in Europe Over The Situation.

Vienna, October 2.—Civil war is liable to break out at any moment in Hungary. It is believed that the court party is preparing carefully for a campaign in Hungary in opposition to the followers of Francis Kossuth and his associates. The Fejervary Cabinet probably will be reinstated and will proceed to operate with suffrage reforms and other bait for the radicals throughout Hungary. The attitude of the coalition party, in their recent conference, has embittered the entire people, however, as it is resented as a national insult.

The anxiety over the critical situation is universal. As the recent riots prove, the Socialist agitation for extension of the sufffrage in opposition to the program of the majority is unceasingly violent.

President Juerth, of the Reichstrath, said today to your correspondent: "Dark days are in store for Hungary, with possibly a repetition of the events of 1861, soldiers dispersing the Parliament and reestablishing absolutism. The nation must support its legal representatives and ignore the insulting actions of the camarilla that is trying to provoke rioting and persuade Europe that anarchy reigns and armed force is indispensable for the restoration of order. But the tyrants will finally learn that Hungary is not an Austrian province."

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

HOCKEY.

Now that the Street Railway Company have decided to start a free rink at Jackson Park, which will, in all probability draw a large crowd of those fond of skating from the Brock street rink, it is up to the latter rink authorities, to make a specialty of good hockey games and retain the attendance of those, and they are many, who love this decidedly Canadian game. With encouragement from the rink management, good ice, and liberal treatment, the local hockey players can put on material that will ensure good play and good games. With the latter assured, Peterboro will do the rest as far as gate money is concerned.

• • • •

After this date, no players coming to this city can play in the O. H. A. without a permit, so that it is a good time to size up the team. It is understood that Fred Whitcroft will remain in town; there is good new material easily to be procured, so that the local clubs can get together enough players of the best class to ensure a warm welcome for all comers.

THE TURF.

A matched race between "White Blaze," owned by Dr. Johnston, and "Little Will," owned by Mr. Arthur Elmhurst for $200, has been arranged. This race, to be run at the Driving Park, will take place one week from the day of the Norwood races, which are on the 10th and 11th of October.

Considerable interest has been awakened among Peterboro sports over this race, as both horses are in good condition, the track is in prime shape, and there is much speculation, backed by the goods, on the result. At Mont. Mitchell's sale Saturday considerable discussion arose as to the comparative merits of these horses. It was thought if Mr. Conners would start his fast horses, Lady Gothard and Hlutcher, and Mr. Ligsett would put in Miss Paisley, and Jackson Reid, start Minnie Bell, a corking good race would result. This combination would make good sport and draw a large gate, as many people would pay well to see this bunch on the track together.

There will be a meeting of the Eastern Ontario Racing Association called in Toronto, at the Iroquois Hotel on Oct. 21st, the day Dufferin runs there, to settle the winter race circuit. Peterboro's success in last summer's races will encourage the association to hold a meeting winter. Mr. W. Carney, secretary of the association, has written Mr. Arthur Rountree, secretary of the local Turf Club, to arrange the organization meeting in Toronto.

• • • •

We understand a protest has been raised against Orillia Bell, the mare who got second money here, in the 2.24 classes, on July 13th last. The parties, we understand, who make the protest, want her to be identified, as it is claimed she was not eligible for the class she started in.

• • • •

Mr. W. H. Geicher, secretary of the National Trotting Association, Hartford, Conn., has written Mr. A. Rountree, secretary of the local Turf Club, asking for copies of the premium lists, for speed classes, showing the published conditions for the Peterboro race meeting of July 12 and 13 last.

• • • •

It might be explained that regular trotting races in both Canada and the United States, send their returns duly certified to the National Trotting Association, at Hartford, on completion of the various meets. In this way a check is had on all attempts at substitution, change of names or records of the horses working; their verdict is final and binds all horses eligible for entry at trotting races for money.

TEACHER COMMITTED

Mr. J. Davidson, Principal of Norwood High School Sent up for Trial.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mr. John Davidson, principal of Nowood High school, who, in an altercation over a fight between his dog, and a canine owned by Ben. B. Baker, Norwood, is alleged to have struck the latter over the head with a pail, inflicting a severe wound, was committed for trial last week, by County Magistrate Edmonson. He appeared before his Honor Judge Walter Saturday morning on a charge of doing various bodily harm to Benj. B. Baker, also of Norwood. Judge Walter committed him for trial, and he elected to be tried before his honor. The trial will take place at the coming Assizes.

WINTER SPORTS

Peterboro Street Railway Co. Will Erect Toboggan Slide and Rink.

Encouraged by the universal popularity and large patronage extended to their attractions placed, during the summer months, at Jackson Park, Mr. Larmonth, the hustling manager of the street railway, has decided to have equally good attractions during the winter's reign of King Boreas. The Street Railway will conduct a skating rink and toboggan slide at Jackson Park this winter, and will spend about a thousand dollars in furnishing the necessary conveniences for the entertainment of the public.

The toboggan slide, Mr. Larmouth assured The Times, will be as goods as that of any city of this size in Canada, and will probably be arranged on the same principle as the slides of Montreal and Ottawa.

It will be located to the west of the entrance to Jackson Park, to the left side, and will have three runways. Some thirty toboggans will be purchased by the company, which will be placed at the disposal of the public for a small fee.

The rink is to be inside the loop at the roads terminus. A very comfortable arrangement, and wise provision, are the dressing, and other rooms, which will be erected. No change will be made for skating privileges to patrons of the road; each person riding to the park, will be furnished with a ticket, gratis, which will enable the holder to skate as long as he, or she, may desire.

It is likely some of our enterprising restaurateurs or confectioners will apply to the park management for privileges of selling hot coffee and other refreshments. This will give good clean healthy amusement to the city's youth, and keep them out of mischief for little expense.

The proposed location of the rink is particularly adapted for the purpose, being sheltered from north and west winds by the surrounding hills; this will also enable the rink employees to keep it clear from driven snow and in good condition for skating.

BREAKS JAIL

Taylor Breaks Havelock Jail and is Re-arrested Here.

Last night a misguided and foolish boy, by name Herbert Taylor, whose mother, a respectable woman, lives on Aylmer, near London street, spent the long weary hours on a plank in the police cells. This boy Taylor, who has the appearance of intelligence, and is neatly attired, is an incorrigible. According to Taylor's own story, as related to a Times' representative, in the police station last night, his mother has finally despaired of keeping him straight, and has finally decided to send him to the Reformatory.

The lad who looks to be 15 to 16 years old, showed no trace of repentance, nor, on the other hand, as is common with depraved youths, did he seem proud of his bad conduct; he was [illegible] and as though having no sense of his position.

The lad said he ran away some two or three weeks ago, since which time he has been loafing about Havelock, until arrested by the constable of that village, on Friday evening. He says, that his arrest was due to a message sent by his mother, and that, when arrested he told some friends in Havelock he would break out of the jail.

Another boy, his pal, by name Lowes was arrested, and locked up with him. In their cell, they found a piece of iron, and reaching the bars of the cell door, smashed the jail lock with the piece of iron. There was no one in the locking except themselves at the time, and so the lads took to their heels. They jumped on a west bound C.P.R. train Saturday, and came on home. The boy's mother communicated with the police, the result of which was Taylor's arrest yesterday morning, at his mother's home.

He will likely be sent to the reformatory and taught a trade. This lad was suspected of complicity in the robbery of a local grocer's house, of a watch and some $30, a few months ago.

NO PLACE LIKE IT

What C. P. R. Officials Have to Say of the West.

Montreal, Oct. 2.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, R. B. Angers, Senator Forget, C. R. Hosmer and James Redmond returned to-day from their seven thousand mile tour of inspection.

British Columbia exported last last year 90,000 cases of salmon, while this year, the quantity will reach 900,000.

Last year the lumber industry was discouraging, while it has never been better than during the present season.

In the Rossland mining camps, while no boom is on, bedrock has been reached, and there is now a chance to make some money.

In Alberta, which has been looked upon as a ranching country, only some 2,000,000 bushels of winter wheat are being gathered, and the story is the same all over the west.

Want to Join Canadian Regulars.

Ottawa, October 2. — Several men of the Royal Garrison Artillery at Esquimalt, whose time expires in the near future, have submitted applications for admission to the Canadian Regulars, although the transfer of the garrison to Canada will not take place until next Dominion Day.

Mr. Selby, of Toronto, is visiting friends in the city.

Murdered Comrade and Burned Remains

Story of Charles King's Crime in Northern Wilds of Canada---Cunning of the Indian and Skill of Northwest Mounted Police.

Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta, Oct. [illegible] Charles King, the wilderness [illegible] who killed Charles Hayward, a young Englishman, and whose execution was delayed a month owing to the celebration attending the birth of the new Province, was hung yesterday in the Mounted Police barracks yard.

The crime was a most cold-blooded one. About Sept. 18 the two men, on a goldhunting expedition, camped on the Sucker Creek Indian Reserve in a heavy willow growth some distance off the main trail. A Sucker Creek Indian took note of the signs of two white men in the vicinity, and notified Sergt. Anderson of the Mounted Police thereof. Another Indian had also run across their trail, and followed them to their camp on Sept. 18, watching all their movements with Indian curiosity. That night he heard the report of a gun but believing that the white men had been attacked by a wild animal he did not go near their camp again until daylight, when he found it deserted. He then found that two men had walked into camp and only one walked out. He also discovered that their fire covered the ground for a space of 11 feet by 6 feet wide. The weather was decidedly warm, and he knew there was no necessity for such. He immediately went to the lake post of police and Sergt. Anderson tracked the one man, Charles King, who left the huge camp-fire burning on the morning of Sept. 19. He arrested him in the house of one George Moran, living on the trail going back to Edmonton.

INDIANS ON THE TRAIL.

Indians then set to work to trace the missing man, turning their attention to the remains of the big camp fire. In which they found the ashes of burned clothing, flesh and bones, and a piece of a mariner's needle. They then traced King's tracks to a nearby slough, which with infinite patience the Indians drained, and found two pairs of boots and other articles identified by Edmonton tradesmen as goods sold by them to Hayward. Most remarkable to relate, the missing piece of the sailmaker's needle, belonging to Hayward, was found by one of the Indians treading the mud of the slough. Splashed on the overhanging willows were blood marks and human brains. On King's person were found other small articles belonging to Hayward. The Mounted Police sent to England and brought out to the Far North Henry Hayward, brother of the missing man, who identified letters, jewelry, and other articles found in the camp and on King as the property of his brother. King had murdered Hayward for his kit.

AN IMPRESSIVE TRIAL.

The scene at the trial in Macab was impressive, nearly eighty witnesses being subpoenaed, the major part of them being Indians in full panoply. It appears from the evidence that the two had lain down to sleep, and that King later arose and deliberately shot his comrade, and immediately built an immense fire and threw the body thereon with all the man's clothing.

A REMARKABLE DREAM.

An incident worthy of note in the case is that it transpired at the trial that on the morning of Sept. 19, following the tragedy, Henry Hayward, living at North Mundham, England, awoke after a restless sleep and told his sister of a hideous dream, in which he had seen their brother Edward shot and flung on a huge bonfire. He had told the story of this dream in England before the Mounted Police had communicated with the family as to Edward's death.

NEW DOCTRINE BY UNCLE SAM

Wants United States to Be Guardian for all Western Republics.

IN THE INTEREST OF PEACE

No European Nation Shall Invade any American State.

Boston, Mass., October 2.—Inside information has been received from a close friend of President Roosevelt to the effect that the latter is preparing a message to congress in which he will declare for a new policy by which the United States can be assured of a permanent peace with Europe. It deals with a proposition to make the United States virtually guardian for all the republics in the Western hemisphere, with no European interference in the affairs of Latin America. The rough draft o fthe message has been read over to Senator Lodge and Ambassador Choate by the president, the general tenor being some definite arrangement by which disputes between the United States and foreign powers are to be settled by arbitration. He has already urged congress to provide for these general treaties. As to the republics south of this country, he wants a policy of benevolent guardianship to be adopted. If they try to repudiate their just obligations or willfully and maliciously involve themselves in disputes with foreign powers, it is to be the duty of the United States to intervene. In such a case the offending states will be forced by the United States to make due reparation either by money payments or other atonement, to satisfy the offending European power. In case foreign nations are aggrieved, they must not invade any American state. If they cannot obtain redress, it will be the duty of the United States (under the new proposed policy) to obtain redress for them and within a reasonable time. The substance of the message is approved by Secretary Root, Senator Lodge and Ambassador Choate, the latter having recently consulted interests which are more or less supported by the British government.

LAWYER'S SUICIDE

New York, Oct. 2.—Considerable mystery surrounds the death of Herbert Valentine, a wealth lawyer, who committed suicide at the St. Andrew Hotel last night. Mr. Valentine was a member of the Barr Association, and of several scientific societies.

In his room was found nearly $200 in cash, while in two trunks, three suit cases and two Valises were packed as if for a journey. His overcoat was neatly folded and piled on the other luggage.

Mr. Valentine had removed his cuffs, and stepping in front of a mirror had apparently fired a bullet from the only loaded chamber of his revolver through his mouth into his brain.

My hands and feet seemed always [illegible] and I was nervous and excited, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. PRETTY GOOD PEOPLE

It is generally known that Germans are pretty good people, but a little more testimony will add a little more to the knowledge. A small party representing the Municipal Authorities of Birmingham, England, recently visited Berlin with the object of comparing the condition of the brass workers in that city with that of similar workmen at home, and the results of their investigations have just been published. The investigators bear emphatic testimony to the superiority of the German home and family life, and, above all, to the moral and physical condition of the children. They say: "We were greatly impressed with the cleanliness and tidiness of the children playing about in the streets, courts and squares. Of all the thousands of children we saw there was not one who was not clean, neat and tidy." And again, on visiting an elementary school in a poor district: "We saw no case of underfed, poorly clad or untidy children, either in the streets or in the school." Of the home of a German workman they say: We were astonished at the well-to-do look of the house and furniture, and could hardly believe it was a workingman's house. The kitchen was a model of cleanliness and good order, and, from what we could see, all the houses or flats are kept clean and in good order. We considered some articles of food decidedly dearer than in England, but that for some reason the working people were unmistakably better nourished. They appear to enjoy their work more and to be able to work more easily and with more satisfaction, and also to have a better time than our brave workers in Birmingham. Nothing is wasted. Cooking is not taught in the board schools, but by the mother. Of a German holiday crowd, they write: "During the whole of this Easter Monday we saw no untidy man, woman or child, every one was well clad and scrupulously clean, and the general physique and deportment of the people were distinctly a grade higher than one sees at home."

Perhaps this will not stir English workmen to imitation, but it ought to.

EDUCATION IN SOUTH AFRICA

Let Peterboro boys who can have the advantages given by our splendid school system thank their stars that they are not South African schoolboys. A paper was read the other day before the members of the British Association now in South Africa by Principal Way, of the Graaf Reinet College, on the disabilities of the South African schoolboy. He arraigned the climate for exerting a malign influence on education, inasmuch as "where all Nature smiled without, a literary was a prison and books were fetters." Another drawback he alleged, was proximity with a conquered race, which involved disregard for human life and personal dignity, and the degradation of manual labor. Another trouble was bilingualism, which involved much friction, waste of time and loss of power. The speaker even ventured to declare that "he would welcome a bloody native insurrection if it would bring home to the younger generation, at any rate, that the school should not be made the battleground of a struggle between the two white races, and that the edged tools of the native vote should not be played with by either party." He further deplored the absence of any good agricultural college, the conversion of the educational question into a political shuttlecock, the conflict of rival systems, the absence of large boarding-schools, and the suspicion and contempt with which the teaching profession was generally regarded. Finally, Mr. Way concluded his pessimistic paper by condemning the parsimony of the Government in the matter of educational endowments. "A residential South African university . . . would be an asset worth a hundred mines or a million miles of railroad. Money might be the root of all evil; it was the want of it which was the curse of education in South Africa at the present moment."

THE EXPANSION OF CANADA

The resolution adopted by the Maritime Board of Trade at its recent meeting in Yarmouth, N. S., in favor of the union of the British West Indies with Canada, has attracted a good deal of attention, not only in the Dominion but in Great Britain. Although any resolution passed by a commercial body of that kind may be assumed to be of a practical character, we are inclined to think that such a proposition cannot but be regarded as at present in a purely academic stage. Of course, nearly every movement of a political or social character has had its birth in a suggestion, which, from its novelty, has come as a surprise to the multitude and been regarded as either impracticable or too far in advance of current opinion to deserve the consideration of men of affairs. Probably the confederation of the British colonies in North America, when first suggested by some far-sighted and thoughtful person, even if it was not ridiculed as the fantastic idea of some dreamer who had better have turned his thoughts to the solutions of some of the many difficult problems which the statesmen of the different individual colonies had to face.

BAD GUN ACCIDENT

Herbert Klotz, a Toronto Student Now in St. Joseph's

Many citizens were shocked yesterday, at seeing a young man, showing every symptom of serious wounding, being taken through the streets stretched out on a plank, resting in a buggy. The cause of this comparatively crude form of ambulance, is explained by emergency, and the facts of the wounding.

It seems that Herbert Klotz, a young man whose home is in Toronto, and who is a student of the Toronto University, was the victim of a most deplorable accident early yesterday morning.

Klotz and Thos. Keyes, another university student, were out duck shooting on Pigeon Lake, early in the morning, in a boat. Kloyz was in the stern and Keyes was handling the oars. Leaning against the seat was a hammerless gun which was not at "safe." Keyes picked up the weapon, and, thinking that they were near some ducks he moved the "set" making the gun ready for use. In some manner the weapon was discharged and the contents entered the right leg of Klotz about the middle of the thigh, grazed the bone and lodged against the skin on the other side of the leg. The shell was a No. 12 guage one filled with No. 6 shot and the wound bled profusely.

Klotz was driven to the city and at once driven to Dr. N. G. McKinnon's office, 338 Water street. The doctor, however happened to be out, attending another patient, so Klotz was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where, three physicians attended to his wound. The Times, late last night, was assured by the St. Joseph Hospital authorities, that Klotz was doing as well as could be expected, and will not likely lose the wounded limb.

Of this number the Grand Trunk Railway handled 120,000, the Canadian Pacific 40,000, the Niagara Navigation Company 25,000, and the other navigation companies 25,000.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal, my appetite returned, I began to gain flesh, the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago, and no signs of any disease have appeared in the years that have since rolled by. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, showing rock that brings [illegible] the ground and good prospects were obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $10 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day. Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

the bolting and barring of doors and windows every night.

"I assure you, you are alarming yourselves unnecessarily," said Winton, who had ridden over, as he often did, to share the evening meal at Brookdale, and was now leaning against the chimney-piece while Nora was playing some of Bea's favorite airs before the little one went off to bed with her German "Kindergartnerin," who was patiently waiting for her. It was a chill, wild night, the wind sighing in sudden gusts through the trees surrounding the cottage, the occasional dash of the rain against the windows making the bright fire of wood and coal peculiarly acceptable. Winton looked round him with a delightful sense of comfort—of being at home.

The refined simplicity of the pretty drawing-room, the soft light of well-trimmed lamps—Mrs. L'Estrange in her demi-toilet of black silk and lace, her work-basket filled with bright-colored wools beside her, her small fingers deftly covering a square of dull green cloth with flowers and foliage—Nora at the piano, her graceful shoulders draped in dainty muslin gathered to her pliant waist by a band of black velvet—all had grown familiar to him. He had had a hard life all through his boyhood; an orphan with barely enough means to supply him education, brought up by an uncle who was cold though just, and bitterly disliked by his uncle's wife, because his strong will and steady application always kept him ahead of her own handsome, clever, agreeable "never-do-well" of a son, with whom he was educated and who bore the same name, of home life he knew nothing; and when his resolute efforts to rise were crowned with success, success banished him to comparative solitude, while the few opportunities afforded him of social experience only showed him how humbly his accomplished cousin was preferred before him, especially by women, of whom indeed he had not the highest opinion. He had found them insincere, shallow, selfish, and though of late rather flatteringly attentive to himself, his grim appreciation of his unattractiveness led him to place it to the credit of his position rather than of himself.

Nevertheless, the familiarity to which by-gone comradeship with Mrs. L'Estrange entitled him, was very delicious. He had never been on such terms of intimacy with women before, and he was quick to perceive that they were perfectly natural and unaffectedly cordial, that his comings and goings caused no disturbance, that he had fallen into the march of their quiet lives, and felt that to part with them would be the greatest trial he had ever known. Them—or one? For awhile he scarcely knew.

"You are alarming yourself unnecessarily," he had been saying, when this digression began. "There is small chance of any professional thief visiting this part of the world for some time to come, but I suppose it is not easy to throw off the impression such a scene as you witnessed must have created."

"Good-night," cried Bea, holding up a rosy mouth to be kissed. "Will you bring me a new spade to-morrow?"

"Not to-morrow—the day after. Good-night, Miss Beatrix—sleep well. Good-night, fraulein."

"There is no use in arguing the matter," she said. "Helen can not resist her nervousness. I myself, though I feel quite brave in the daylight, begin to be a little uncomfortable as night draws in, and I see Helen look up with a startled, restless look at any sudden sound, and really, after seeing what a daring thief can do, one's faith in chains, bars and bolts dies away."

"Our chief safeguard is the absence of valuables," said Mrs. L'Estrange.

"Do you not think," resumed Nora, "that it would be well to go up to town for a couple of months, just in the dead of the winter? We should throw off these disagreeable impressions and be our noble selves again.

"I do believe it would be the best thing you could do," said Winton. "It is a capital idea. Of course, I am speaking selfishly. I must be in London a great part of November, and your nervousness may transfer itself to me if I find myself lonely and friendless in that vast wilderness."

Nora laughed.

"I don't fancy your nerves trouble you much. But it would be rather nice to go to the theatre and concerts, sometimes."

"And you would be a capital escort, said Mrs. L'Estrange, "though, perhaps, you do not care for such things?"

"When I find acting that can make me forget it is acting, I am deeply interested, but a concert bores me, though I am very fond of certain kinds of music."

"If," began Mrs. L'Estrange, going back to the subject uppermost in her mind, "if I had not seen that dreadful knife, I should [illegible] less creepy."

"Don't think about it, dear Helen," cried Nora. "Go, play a game of chess with Mr. Winton, that will effectually divest your thoughts."

"I will, if you would like it, Mark—I mean," smiling and coloring, "Mr. Winton."

"Yes, let us have a trial of strength, by all means."

"My strength is of the broken-reed order," said Mrs. L'Estrange, smiling. "I will go and see Bea tucked up, and then do my best."

"I wonder," began Nora, as Mrs. L'Estrange left the room, "I wonder what they are doing in London. If they have discovered anything!" She clasped her hands on her knee, and sat looking dreamily into the fire. "Mrs. Ruthven promised to write to me, but she had not."

"There has scarcely been time," said Winton, as he brought over the chess-table, and began to set forth the pieces. "And I fear there is small chance of discovery. It is unlucky for Marsden, too, for I suppose the best thing he can do is to marry the charming widow, they would suit each other admirably. Now, I should not be surprised if the notion that he is unlucky to her, should take possession of her mind." Winton watched Nora's face as he spoke.

"Poor squire, I hope not, it would be a shame. He is so nice, and so is she. If he is fond of her, I do hope she will marry him."

"If? Then you do not agree with every one that he is devoted to her?" And while he spoke, Winton thought, "Is this acting or real indifference?"

"I am not sure. I have scarcely seen them together. But I like her, she is very nice to me. Why don't you like her, Mr. Winton?"

"Why do you think I do not?"

"I know it, because—oh! I can hardly tell. By the tone of your voice, by the expression of your eyes."

"Hum! so my eyes can express dislike at any rate?"

"Oh! they can express liking, too. I mean," blushing quickly at the glance he gave her. "I mean they can look kindly; but am I not right, you do not like Mrs. Ruthven?"

"The reason why I can not tell. But I do not like the widow, ma belle," said Winton.

"Oh! bravo!" cried Nora, laughing. "I did not suspect you were capable of improvising."

"I dare say I am capable of more than you imagine. I suppose I ought to assure you that I have no reason for disliking Mrs. Ruthven—it is an instinct."

"I thought these instincts of liking and disliking were characteristic of women, that men built up their preferences on a solid foundation of reason."

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Returned to Town.

Miss E. Regan having returned to town from Atlin, B.C., has re-opened her dressmaking establishment, at her mother's residence, 368 Murray street, when she will be pleased to see all her old customers and friends. Prices reasonable and all work first-class.

Congratulations Mr. V.

The Times offers its respectful congratulations to the bright editor of our esteemed contemporary, the Review. A boy last Saturday evening. The brand new son will now be Mr. VanBlaricom's understudy. May he live to control the destinies of the London Times.

A Central Park Short Cut

Two farmers Saturday evidently considered that the short cut through Central park was quite according to Peterboro's edition of Hoyle. They somewhat surprised the people basking in the sunlight on that breathing spot, by driving a heavy farm wagon diagonally across the park, irrespective of custom or the cinder track reserved for pedestrians.

Champion Canoeist

The illustrated part of Saturday's Globe contains a splendid cut of Mr. Reg. Bloomfield, of Chelsea, in his racing canoe. Bloomfield is the all-round champion canoeist of America, and is well known in Peterboro. The Globe says:—"He was the first to introduce ferry canoeing on Toronto Bay. He holds the record for numerous canoe tricks, his time on the upset and shake-out being five seconds and on the flip, two and one-fifth seconds.

A New Industry For Lindsay.

Lindsay, ever noted for being a bright and progressive little town, has secured another industry. This latest addition is the "Canadian Swenson Ltd." The Lindsay Board of Trade, completed arrangements with the representatives of patentees for U.S. and Canada of the Swenson Malleable Stump Puller and grubber. No special inducements are given by the town, as the new factory will not employ skilled labor to any extent.

Almonte People Touched

The two pseudo "theological students," who "worked" several citizens on a "coon game," and who also got $400 out of Ottawa philanthropists (?) have since done up the good people of Almonte. Such scamps should be captured and dealt with severely. "Sweet charity" to such scoundrels is apt to leave a bitter taste in the memory of otherwise kindly disposed folks, and harden their hearts, as well as tighten the hands of their pocket books against deserving objects of CHARITABLE treatment. It is not sharpness to get into the confidence of a kindly disposed christian man and then do him; it is the rankest kind of mean swindling and should be heavily punished.

The Medicine Men.

Fully 500 people gathered on the market square on Saturday night to witness the pictures shown by Messrs. Gagnon and Harkness, the travelling medicine and soap men. Their exhibition of pictures thrown on a large canvas screen was as good as many a show that the audience had paid good money to see. Mr. Gagnon also gave an amusing display of his hypnotic powers. His smooth conversation and plausible arguments charmed the good long green out of many pockets, when he got down to the business end of the show. One well known Dover farmer, slightly under the influence of sundry libations of tangle leg, created quite a diversion by his protestations of the efficacy of the medicine vendors wares. "She jayers, but its feine," said the farmer, who insisted on shaking hands with both occupants of the hack.

CHILD DROWNED

Little Son of Mr. W. Redmond, Little Britain Falls in Well.

One of the suddest accidents that has of late years occurred in this district, was that which happened last Wednesday morning at Little Britain. The sad affair took place on what is known as the Dunn or Connell farm.

During the forenoon Mr. W. Rodman and his two-year-old son went out to the fields, some distance from the house, where the father proceeded to do his farm work. About ten o'clock Mr. Rodman sent his son back to the house, as he intended remaining in the field until noon hour, when he returned to the house for dinner. On his arrival Mrs. Rodman enquired where her boy was, and, when her husband replied he had sent him back to the house two hours earlier, they became uneasy and anxious.

A search was commenced and the parents went out to a nearby field, where an old well was located. On looking into it the lifeless form of their loved one was seen floating on the surface of the water (see below). The well, which was about 35 feet deep, contained about six feet of water.

It is particularly sad, in that the little fellow, who went to such a premature death, was their only son. Much sympathy was extended the distracted parents by the surrounding neighbors.

NOW AT WORK

Peterboro's University Students now At Their Studies.

Where now are those light-hearted, and free from care students, who, for the past few months, have been making things pleasant for their own, and other fellows' sisters, at picnics, balls, parties and the like? Echo answers "Gone back to work at their respective schools and colleges."

Those who will attend the School of Practical Science in Toronto are Messrs. Frank Burnham and Hamilton Hall.

The local students at the Toronto School of Medicine are Messrs. F. M. Collins, Bert Kelly and Mr. Ross, son of Rev. Jas. Ross.

Pursuing the Arts course in Toronto University are John Davidson, Misses Allison Hamilton, Vieva Hunter, Lexa Denne and Mirtle Hall.

Mr. George Browne is attending Victoria University, Toronto, in Arts, and Messrs. Arthur Wood and Garnet Greer are at Queen's University, Kingston. Mr. Russell Wood goes to McGill, Montreal, where he is taking a course in science.

LOCK WORKS EXTENSION

One of Peterboro's Most Successful Industries Enlarging.

As noted some time ago in The Times, our local lock manufactory, whose goods are now known wherever doors are used, decided, owing to their enormously increased output to enlarge their present factory.

Work has now begun on their extension. The [illegible] is now being torn down preparatory to rebuilding and enlargement. As time is of great object to the company, they have instructed the contractor to rush his work as rapidly as possible.

Yesterday the company installed a new 40 horse power alternating electric motor. The motor the company had in was too large and was a direct current, which, in case of Accident at the power house, would close down the works. An accident of that kind happened on Thursday, and the factory had to stop work, but they were working again yesterday.

Saturday's Fire.

About 10 o'clock Saturday night, a vigorous alarm of fire brought out the brigade in quick time. The seat of danger was located in Mr. Lundy's old clapboard terrace, now completely destitute of human life, opposite the Snowden House, Charlotte street. Little damage was done, a few rails of water sufficing to extinguish the incipient blaze. As this old tenement smack is very old, and inflammable, it is fortunate the fire laddies, with their usual celerity, were promptly on hand, as a very few minutes' delay would have resulted in a hot and quick fire. A bystander remarked that a fire in this terrace would have resulted in great loss of life.

FOUND RIGHT PATH

"In 1899 I began to drink coffee.

"At that time I was healthy and enjoyed life. At first I noticed no bad effects from the indulgence, but in course of time found that various troubles were coming upon me.

"Palpitation of the heart took unto itself sick and nervous headaches, kidney troubles followed and eventually my stomach became so deranged that even a light meal caused me serious distress.

"Our physician's prescriptions failed to help me, and then I dosed myself with patent medicines till I was thoroughly disgusted and hopeless.

"Finally I began to suspect that coffee was the cause of my troubles, I experimented by leaving it off, except for one small cup at breakfast. This helped some, but did not altogether relieve my distress. It satisfied me, however, that I was on the right track.

"So I gave up the old kind of coffee altogether and began to use Postum Food Coffee. In 10 days I found myself greatly improved, my nerves steady, my head clear, my kidneys working better and better, my heart's action rapidly improving, my appetite improved, and the ability to eat a hearty meal without subsequent suffering restored to me. And this condition remains.

"Leaving off coffee and using Postum did this, with no help from drugs, as I abandoned the use of medicines when I began to use the food coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

OTTAWA IS EASY

Two Smooth Fakers who operated Here, Did up the Capital.

The Journal, of Ottawa, referring to two con. men, who recently tried their hand on the innocents of Peterboro, with very poor success, notes that the fishing for their particular class of game is good at the Capital. The paper says;

"The two young men left the city suddenly on Monday night. It was learned from the police to-day that they went to Carleton Place, Ont., and from there all trace of them is lost.

They were neatly dressed in black tibbet suitings, about 5 feet, 7 inches in height and light complexioned.

They arrived in the city a week ago yesterday from the west, and registered at the Brunswick for breakfast.

Their business in Ottawa practically covered all the fashionable streets and it is thought they realized something like found hundred dollars from their dealings.

In taking an order for the Christian Herald and an edition of the Bible, the purchasers were informed that same would be delivered the following week. But in many instances the week has expired, and no book has materialized. The young men claim the names of G. J. Jones and G. B. Munro, from Toronto, according to the register at the Brunswick."

School Board Considers Sites

Last Night's Meeting Discusses Separate School and Proposed Armory Sites---Action Postponed Until Thursday's Joint Meeting

A meeting of the Board of Education was held last night. Those present were Messrs. Ferguson, chairman; Eastwood, Hartley, Fair, Stevenson, Kennedy, Pringle, Crane, Rogers, Hill and Dr. Burnham.

After the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed, the following communications were received.

Chairman of Board,

Dear Sir,—May I suggest to you and your Board, that it is time that the School Board seriously considered the advisability of installing manual training in the various schools in the near future. I don't like to say anything that would discount your educational system, but, as an employer of labor, I am fairly well posted on what makes young men more valuable. I think that our educational system, is far behind the times, as compared with the up-to-date methods and equipments furnished by the U.S. schools. I think I am safe in saying that the Eastern Provinces don't excel to excel in agricultural products, but do expect and fairly well succeed in upbuilding of large industrial establishments, and one thing that will help to do this, will be the proper education given to the youths. I hope I do not presume in offering the suggestion to your Board.

Yours truly,
E. G. PATTERSON,
Gen. Supt. C. G. E. Co.

A communication from Mr. R. H. Hall, M.P., was received, acknowledging receipt of the Board's letter of 12th inst., and expressing his appreciation of the resolution of the Board, in reference to the trouble taken by himself in connection with his interview with Hon. M. Hyman about the Separate school building. Mr. Hall expressed a desire that the matter be settled as soon as possible so that plans and specifications for the new armories can be settled. He wants to get the contracts let this fall if possible.

Wm. Mansell, Toronto	125.00

Mr. Fair noted that the item of Mansell, $125, had been added, but had not been considered by the committee as yet.

The accounts, omitting Mr. Mansell's was ordered paid.

Mr. Eastwood explained that the Property Committee had Mr. Mansell make plans and specifications which were accepted. Adam Hall secured the contract and did the work, according to agreements. Moved that the account be paid.

Mr. Stevenson thinks the gentleman from Toronto, Mr. Mansell, was well paid. Mr. Hartley objected to Mr. Stevenson's throwing out insinuating about a firm paying him. Mr. Stevenson continued, that the heating, which could have been bought cheaper in Port Hope, never did the work and they had to use stoves. Mr. Fair thought if the work did not comply with the agreement that the Board should fight the matter; the public would condemn them if they paid it in full. Mr. Hill thought the Board should be paid a fair amount, but the Property Committee should deal with the matter. It should be settled next week by seeing Mr. Mansell himself. Mr. Eastwood said that he could answer any question they could be asked of Mr. Mansell; it should be paid.

He argued that the account was fair and right. That it ought to be dealt with in an amicable manner. Mr. Crane thought the man should not be compelled to run after his money so long.

Mr. Stevenson said if this vote were taken he wanted the ayes and nays recorded. This resulted in leaving it with the Property Committee with power to act.

A discussion arose as to disposal of the Separate school building.

It seemed to be the general opinion that the Government, whilst giving a lease of the building for one year, might not extend it indefinitely. Mr. Eastwood thought the Government would soon go on with the armory as proposed and the Separate school building would have to go.

Mr. Hartley thought the Board should decide at once as the armory plans would be affected. Did not think much of the school building. It would be a perennial expense. It would have to come down anyway to make way for a parade ground.

Mr. Hill thought that several of the 57th officers were not in favor of that lot. Two years ago the Colonel only gave the Board two or three days to decide. There are six lots in the ground, if the Board can exchange one lot, by giving the Government one, in exchange, the matter could be adjusted.

Mr. Eastwood said the Militia Department wanted to go on with the armory at once the Board should not interfere.

Mr. Rogers thought the Board would have to give up the school building sooner or later. There never was any proposition that the Board should keep the building indefinitely.

Mr. Stevenson was satisfied that the city will never give $100,000 for a collegiate institute. Had often told them this about the institute and events had proved him to be right. The town will never give over $50,000 to $60,000. Peterboro is getting into debt very rapidly. He would get a building to cost from $50,000 to $60,000, and the ratepayers would probably give this Board this.

Mr. Hill thought that every member of the Board, should attend Thursday night's meeting to settle the collegiate institute and armory sites.

Notice of motion was given by Mr. Hill that the regular meeting night each month. The meeting then adjourned.

GLORIOUS VICTORY OF NELSON

Victorian Club of Boston to Duly Honor One Hundredth Anniversary.

NOTABLES TO BE PRESENT

Admiral Mahan, the Hero's Biographer Will Be the Orator of the Occasion

Boston, Mass., October 2.—Lord Nelson's famous defeat of the combined fleets of France and Spain, the battle of Trafalgar, was the principal topic discussed at the monthly dinner of the Victorian Club. The attendance was unusually large, and the reason was that there was a strong desire among members to hear the various reports as to progress in the matter of preparing for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Nelson's great battle, probably for the first time in the United States, on the evening of October 21, in Tremont Temple.

Prof. Desumichrast, of Harvard, presided and made some appropriate reflections after dinner on the battle, afterwards calling on a variety of reports that were listened to with satisfaction by all present.

It was announced that among invited guests who have signified their intention to attend the celebration are Sir Mortimer Durant, the British Ambassador; Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, who commanded the British force in the Boxer trouble in China, and Admiral Alfred Mahan, U.S.N., Nelson's biographer, who will be the orator of the occasion. It is hoped that the Japanese Minister to this country will be present, and it is certain that the naval attache to the Japanese Embassy will be among the guests.

THE "GENERAL" THUMPED

Edward Tighe Gets Injured Over a Game of Pool.

Yesterday, "General" Tighe, whose name given by his godfathers and godmothers at his baptism, is Edward, got on the outside of a most generous jag. Not a little insignificant, talkative and stoop it off jag, but the whole thing. During the early afternoon, under the promptings of his seductive adviser Bacon; he wandered into the billiard parlor of Mr. Payne, George street. If the General had been content to remain a spectator, all, perhaps would have been well; but he got into a game of pool and, owing possibly, to the inspiration aboard, won out. When he had "made pool," he walked up to one of the employes, and in a most exasperating way said: "I guess I don't pay for that game!" This naturally led to enquiries by the young man in charge. An altercation arose, during which the general called the hot-blooded and haughty son of Athens, a name that no man will stand without physical argument in reply. The employe landed his right on the general's solar plexus, and then the fuss grew fast. The general went back into the billiard room and undertook to clean out the place. But alas, he did not stop to consider that descendants of those who won on the field of Marathon, could do a little fighting themselves. An employe settled the matter quickly by hitting the general over the head with the butt of one of the small shooting gallery rifles, inflicting a wound that quickly ended the war.

A telephone message was sent to the police station and P.C. McGinty hurried to the scene, but the row was over and Tighe was being looked after by his friends. A large crowd had gathered on the spot, but soon dispersed.

Up to late last night Tighe had not sworn out an information, but his friends say this matter is likely to be aired before the police magistrate. Perhaps both sides were wrong; Tighe should have behaved himself, and the employee should not have struck a man in his condition.

GREAT INCREASE

Expense of Building Greatly Increased in Peterboro.

The man who has intentions of building in Peterboro at present has a much more expensive proposition before him than a person building a few years ago. Practically everything in the building line has advanced — wages, lumber, stone, nails, in fact almost every building commodity. A Times representative last week interviewed a number of local contractors in regard to the increased cost of building during the past couple of years.

A west side contractor, when asked regarding the matter, said: "Prices for all building materials are steadily increasing. Lumber is getting a little higher year after year, and lime, stone, nails, etc., are considerably higher. Wages are also higher and this is largely responsible for the increased prices of building. Wages being higher the manufacturers of different materials are obliged to sell them at higher prices than formerly in order to have any profit."

A prominent Water street contractor told much the same story. "I believe," said he, "that it costs fully 15 per cent. more to erect and finish a building today that it did two years ago. Everything used in building costs more. Lumber is very high, and sand, stone, lime, nails, locks, hinges and other finishings are much higher and the hours of the men shorter than they were a few years ago. The increase in wages is one of the biggest factors in increasing the cost of building."

The general concensus of opinion was that it costs about 25 to 40 per cent. more to build at present than two years ago.

MANY JAPANESE ARE CHRISTIANS

So Declares Surgeon-General Suzuki Before Convention In Detroit.

A CONVERT FOR 20 YEARS

Dramatic Scene Occurs at the International Gathering of Young Men's Christian Association

Detroit, Mich., October 2.—Intensely dramatic was the moment when Surgeon-General Suzuki, of the Japanese navy, fresh from the battles of the Japan and Yellow Sea, declared with affecting earnestness and sincerity before the Railway Y. M. C. A. International convention that he had been for twenty years a Christian. Proudly he added that his wife and five children shared his belief. Tears dimmed many eyes when the distinguished Japanese surgeon told brokenly of the drowning of another child, his 13-year-old daughter, just two days before he himself had been called into the thick of the recent fighting.

He had not urged the question of religion in his family, he said, having trusted it to the guidance of God. His eldest son had been the first to become a convert, having been interested at first through an accidental visit to a Christian meeting while walking along the streets of Tokio. Next the wife had been converted through the influence of her son, and all the family had followed in the steps of these two.

Struggling to control his emotion, General Suzuki declared his faith in the Christian belief of the future life, saying of his little daughter whom he mourned: "I believe she has gone to our own kingdom."

"Japan is supposed to be a non-Christian country," he said, "but there are many men, women and children in Nippon trying to be faithful to the right and to God. I myself was baptised twenty years ago."

Police Court OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, O. L. Reed
Magistrate, D. W. Dundas

Before the court opened yesterday morning, Sarah Miller, an elderly woman, complained to his Worship that last Wednesday, a girl named Lily Armitage, had called her bad names and had thrown a pail of water at her door. A warrant was issued and the case will be tried Thursday morning.

The young man, 18 years of age, who last week pleaded guilty to having committed an unnatural offence, and whose case was enlarged until yesterday morning, appeared for judgment. His Worship told him his offence was one that the law punishes very severely. "You are incorrigible, you won't work, you are too old to be sent to the Industrial School, and as all other attempts to save you prove futile, this court will deal with you in a way you will remember, You will be confined in the county jail for one month and, 15 days before your sentence expires, you will receive fifteen lashes of the whip, or cat.

Before the next cases those of Herbert Taylor and Frank Randeau were called, the court was cleared of all but the witnesses; the trial being held there what is known as the juvenile court.

Frank Randeau, 12 years old, charged with having stolen a gold watch the property of an engineer on the T.V.C. boat, elected to be tried by his Worship and pleaded guilty.

Mr. Dranistoun, on behalf of the Children's Aid, said to the boy, "We had you at the shelter, and you ran away in five minutes. Explained he had got him there to keep him out of jail. Asked the boy, if the Magistrate allowed him to go to the shelter, would he stay there and go to school. The boy broke down and promised faithfully. The Magistrate allowed him to be sent to the shelter for one week, and on next Monday he would come up for sentence. His Worship told the boy's mother that the home surrounding were enough to make the boy turn out badly. The boy's father knew that the boy had stolen the watch and deliberately lied about it and the watch was found in their house. Sending him to the shelter was only to save him from turning out a criminal. Mrs. Lambert explained she was going to Michigan to see a dying sister, so could not appear on Monday next. His Worship replied, "You better stay home and look after your boy instead of running round the county. The boy was told to go to the shelter and stay there.

A boy named Herbert Taylor, 15 years old on the 30th day of Sept., "Did with force and violence break the lock of the jail at Havelock, with an intent to set himself at liberty." Prisoner elected to be tried summarily, and pleaded guilty.

His Worship said the court had had its eye on him for a year, and his parents could do nothing with him. The boy had run away a year ago from his mother.

His mother, Mrs. Henry Taylor, in the box, said the boy has been beyond her control for years. His step-father does not interfere with him. Had done all she could with him. She fears that unless put under proper control the boy would go to the bad. The boy would not go to school. She wanted him sent to the Toronto Industrial school. She works in the Cereal Co., to support her children.

His Worship committed the boy to the school for an indefinite period, not exceeding three years.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

THE TURF.

Miss Paisley, whose recent record is too brilliant and fresh in memory to require comment, the property of Mr. Geo Liparett, East Side, and Mr. Jackson Reid's fast mare Minnie Belle, left yesterday morning for Markham where they will compete in the Markham Fall Fair races. Miss Paisley stands a good show to capture first money in the free for all, and Minnie Belle, in the 2.30 class. The latter mare has proved herself eligible for the 2.30 class, and will doubtless pick up her share of the long green.

• • • •

Mr. Martin Connors' fast horse Blucher won the free-for-all, and Lady Gothard, another of Mr. Connors' stable, the mare who drew so much favorable attention at Montreal, captured the 2.30 class at the Campbellford Fair last Friday; Mr. R. J. Munro's horse, Little Jay, was in the green race, and Dr. Johnston's White Blaze was in the free for all.

Mr. Connors' horses will race at Millbrook on Friday.

RUGBY.

The T.A.S. and Peterboro Rugby teams had a good work out game on Saturday. T.A.S. won by 18—15. There is every prospect of the city having a strong team for the O.R.F.U. this fall, as several of the T.A.S. players will be included, and with Crowley, Hurtubise, Meagher, Dillon and the rest of this veterans who have decided to play this game once more, Peterboro should get a strong bunch together. Jack Crough will probably play full back, and Regan will also hold up his end well. Dickson is another promising wing man. With a bunch like Saturday's players to choose from, The O.R.F.U. will find a strong aggregation from Peterboro out after the honors this year.

The Charlotte street Guild Rugby team will hold a practice on the Patterson street grounds this evening at six o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

A WEDDING PRESENTATION

Marriage of Mr. Charles Mitchell and Miss Hulda Moore

A very interesting gathering at the Snowden House, following immediately on a pretty, though quiet wedding was held last night. At 7.15 last night, at the residence of Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rubidge street, Mr. Charles Mitchell, the popular porter of the Snowden House, was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, Dr. Dr. Torrance officiating, to Miss Hulda Moore, of Keganville, Ont. The groom was assisted by Mr. Edwin Crow and the bride by Miss Maggie Sullivan.

The wedding was a private ceremonial, only immediate friends of the high contracting parties being present.

The bride, looked charming in a cream silk waist, with brown silk skirt and hat to match, her bridesmaid being similarly attired. The bride's travelling dress was a most becoming tailor made brown silk, with hat to match.

After the ceremony was completed the wedding party drove to the Snowden House, where mine host of that well known hotel, had a most sumptuous wedding feast prepared in honor of the occasion. A very pleasant hour was spent amidst speeches and congratulations to the happy couple.

A pleasing feature of the evening was a presentation made by Mr. Robt. Balderman on behalf of the groom's personal friends of a well filled purse of gold. The presentation was accompanied by the following address:—

C. Mitchell, Esq.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of your Snowden House friends, we ask you to accept this small token to show our friendship towards you and your bride. We all wish you both a happy and prosperous life.

Yours ever,
Snowden House Friends.

Mr. Mitchell replied in a few fitting expressions indicative of his friendly feeling towards all present. The happy couple left on the G.T.R. 9 o'clock train for Port Hope, Toronto and other points. On completion of their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will take up their residence in this city.

Thief Arrested on The Way to Church

Broke Down After Four Hours' Cross-Examination and Confessed to Theft of Securities ---Was a Trusted Clerk.

New York, Oct. 3. — The Herald responsibility and trust. His engagement, the paper says, looked on in no small degree as a young woman well known in society of this city was recently announced, and he was soon to be married. According to the confession which by means of a forged cheque, he signed yesterday the crime was committed from the first Wednesday, when, from the National City Bank securities valued at $350,000. He was arrested at 11 o'clock Sunday morning just as he stepped from his home, and was on his way to church. Four hours later, after he had defeated every effort of Captain McCauley and George S. Dougherty, superintendent of a well-known detective agency, to persuade him to confess, he broke down and in a flood of tears told the complete story of his crime.

Captain McCauley last night had in his possession more than one-half of the stolen securities. The remainder have been located, and will be in his hands this morning.

A MODEL OF PROPRIETY.

The young man is Henry Ambrose, also called Henry Leonard. He lived at 583 West 136th street, this city. Ambrose was employed as a transfer clerk by Halle & Stieglitz, brokers, of 30 Broad street.

He is 24 years of age, and has been regarded by his employers and by his friends as a model of propriety and honesty. His position was one of

CANADA'S GREAT WHEAT CROP

Over Five Times as Big Shipments as this Time Last Year.

200,000 BUSHELS A DAY

Not Likely To Be Any Blockade At Lake Front as Steamers are Offering Freely.

Montreal, October 3.—Advices received in Montreal show that, up to last night 6,236,232 bushels of wheat had been marketed in the North-West, as compared with 1,234,064 during the corresponding period of last year; and that 4,000 cars had been loaded and despatched to the lake front, as against 1,862 in 1904.

Up to yesterday 1,612,841 bushels of wheat has been received at Port William, as compared with 427,276 for the corresponding period of 1904. It is being shipped out almost as fast as it is delivered, 1,463,997 bushels having been forwarded from that point since September 1.

Railway officials state that, in view of the fact that there is storage capacity at Fort William and Port Arthur for more than ten million bushels of grain, and that as there is at the present time less than three-quarters of a million bushels in store at those points, there is very little chance indeed of a blockade occurring at the lake front.

Steamers, they say, are offering freely now, and are carrying away about 200,000 bushels per day.

CONTRACTS LET

Sub-contracts on New Opera House — New Let.

The remaining sub-contracts for completing the new opera house, have now been let. They were, plumbing and steam fitting let to C. A. J. Durnsceau; seating to the Preston School Furnishing Co.; plastering to W. Henry and finishing lumber and doors to A. McDonald & Co.

Mr. Shuttleworth, superintending the work, said the opera house will be ready for the opening night by the middle of November.

Owing to the apparent general use of wood in construction of this building there has been some unfounded talk as to its not being fire proof. Mr. Shuttleworth says:

"There is no possible chance of a fire in the building. The furnace is in a brick room under the stage, and all pipes and wires are carried through an underground tunnel. The place is heated by steam, and every precaution has been taken to prevent fire. "Why," he said, "we have made and supplied all opera houses for years ahead, and we know what we are doing."

FAITH IN PROVINCIAL RIGHTS

Hon. F. W. G. Haultain Discusses the Issues

HE EXPECTS TO WIN OUT

In The Approaching Battle Of The Ballots.

Portage La Prairie, Man., October 3.—Hon. F. W. G. Haultain was in town en route to Saltcoats and Yorkton, where conventions are being held to select supporters for his party. Interviewed on Western issues the ex-Premier said the campaign was progressing satisfactorily, so far as he was concerned. Asked as to the party lines defined, he emphatically stated that his was the the "provincial rights" party. He maintained that he had many Liberals supporting him.

Asked as to the issue the reply was "provincial rights," and when queried as to whether the school question was not the issue, Mr. Haultain said this was one of the main issues.

Regarding the result, Mr. Haultain conceded that the fight would be close but said he expected to win out. He had ten or twelve supporters in the field now. He thought the elections would be over by November 15. He and his party maintained that the rights of the province had been invaded, in the autonomy bills, and if elected he would make a test case of the points at issue, in the highest courts. The ex-Premier had no comment to make on the calling of Hon. Walter Scott to the premiership.

As one acquainted with western affairs, Mr. Haultain was asked his opinion on the points raised by Hon. Robert Rogers about Keewatin and its schools. Mr. Haultain said he had not paid much attention to the matter, but his view was that there would never be any separate schools in Keewatin.

AT PORT HOPE

Hon. Mr. Emmerson Banqueted at our Sleepy Southern Suburb.

Yesterday at noon, Mr. J. H. McClellan left for Port Hope to attend the banquet held there last night in honor of Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals. Mr. Emmerson with Deputy Minister Butler, arrived in Toronto on Sunday in his private car. He had been over the Welland Canal, and left yesterday morning for Port Hope, where the party looked into the matter of a lake port for the Trent Valley Canal and personally inspected the proposed outlet of the canal. The citizens of Port Hope gave the Minister of Railways and Canals a big reception.

The banquet, attended by the most prominent business and professional men of Port Hope, proved very enjoyable. The Minister of Railways and Canals, whilst complimenting Port Hope on its advantages as a possible terminus of the Trent Valley Canal, in no way committed himself to this matter, but promised careful and serious consideration.

SKIPPED AGAIN

Mrs. Davidson Tires of the Re-union With Her Husband.

A despatch received yesterday, by The Times from Port Hope, says:

It is only a month ago since Mrs. Wm. Davidson of Rosemount, ran away with her husband's hired man, but returned again, and has been living with her husband until yesterday, when she again suddenly disappeared. This time while her husband was away she took the horse and buggy, $27, and her four small children, and has disappeared, and her whereabouts are unknown.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton N B., Sends an open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady, in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and [illegible] medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't [illegible] when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST TYPHOID

Typhoid fever is present in Peterboro, as it is prevalent in practically every Canadian city at this time of year, and it is but timely and prudent to caution the public to exercise [illegible] precaution and safeguard possible to check the spread of this dangerous malady.

Doubtless it will surprise many of our readers to be told on responsible medical authority that under unfavorable sanitary conditions in a community an epidemic of typhoid is more deadly that an epidemic of yellow fever or smallpox as treated by modern medical science. Up to the present, the proportion of deaths to the total number of yellow fever cases in New Orleans has been less than 15 per cent. There have been much higher mortality records than that from typhoid epidemics, and yet yellow fever is regarded as a most alarming pestilence, while typhoid fever is regarded as a rather commonplace malady peculiar to the latter half of the summer, and, in the course of their lives, comparatively few people escape it.

Typhoid fever is so prevalent throughout the United States that the health authorities of the country have recently held a national conference in Washington, D. C., where the grave issues involved in the prevalence of this disease were discussed by men who have made it a special study. The meeting seems to have accomplished something, one of the most practical results promised being a proposition put forward by the health commissioner of Chicago, which a strong effort will be made to have supported by legislative enactment, to the effect that since typhoid fever and Asiatic cholera are caused by swallowing food or drink contaminated by the discharges of previous cases, it is the opinion of experts on the disease, confirmed by the opinion of the members of the conference, that if all the discharges of every existing case of typhoid fever and Asiatic cholera were instantly disinfected, these cases would cease to be a menace to the world.

It was stated as the opinion of this conference of health authorities that a very large percentage of cases of the spread of typhoid, especially in times of war and in camps and crowded places, comes from personal contact of one person with another. It is only of recent years that typhoid has been recognized as a communicable disease. A Boston physician who addressed the conference cited an instance where an epidemic arose from the milk from a dairy farm where there were several cases of typhoid, those attending the sick going from this work to the care of the cattle and the milking of the cows. It is now well understood that the common house-fly is a fruitful vehicle for transmitting the germ of typhoid from house to house and from one member of a family to another. The fly is a scavenger and carries on its feet the minute bacilli peculiar to this disease, gathered in the sick chamber or from the places where the discharges from the disease are deposited. It enters the dining room, lighting upon the food and leaving the germ from its feet thereon, the poison is directly transmitted in eating. It will thus be seen how important it is to keep flies out of a typhoid sick chamber and away from the discharges of the patient. The typhoid patient should, in fact, be as completely isolated as possible.

This, however, has nothing to do with the source of the disease. There is generally a local cause, if not about the premises, in the community at large. Bad or contaminated drinking water is frequently at the bottom of the trouble, and frequently it is an unsanitary domestic environment. Dr. Smith, a health officer of Portland, Me., stated to the conference that the lobster industry is a heavy source of typhoid conveyance. The same is true of oysters. The rivers that carry off the sewage of cities carry with it the germs of typhoid, which, it is logical to believe, contaminate sea food.

The plan of disinfectment proposed at the Washington typhoid conference is doubtless a good one, as far as it goes. But it largely devolves upon the householder individually to guard his home from the dangerous scourge by keeping his premises scrupulously clean and observing the ordinary rules of sanitation. If the water supply is questionable, the drinking water should be boiled.

AH ANNIVERSARY NUMBER

The October Canadian Magazine celebrates the completion of its twenty-fifth volume with a special Anniversary Number for October. It is a fairly safe declaration that this is the most representative literary number ever issued by a Canadian publication. Twenty-five writers are represented and nearly all are in the first rank of Canadian litterateurs. Benjamin Suite tells the story of French-Canadian literature in a characteristic manner. Mr. Suite, besides being President of the Royal Society, has been intimately connected with literary work for over forty years. Archibald MacMechan performs the same office for Nova Scotian literature. Mr. MacMechan is Professor of English in Dalhousie University, Halifax, and has given special attention to this subject. Robert Barr, the Canadian who is now editor of the Idler, makes some humorous predictions as to the future of Canada and Great Britain. J. S. Willison, editor of the Toronto News, makes some pungent remarks on "Journalism and Public Life in Canada." Beckles Willson makes an excellent suggestion in a short article, "Migration, not Emigration," to the effect that the movement of the British people should be regulated in some way by the British Government. The stories are contributed by Louis Frechette, William McLennan, Norman Duncan, Eve Brodlique-summers, and W. A. Fraser—five well-known writers. The McLennan story is supposed to be the last written by this gifted writer. The poetry is by William Wilfred Campbell, Mrs. Lefevre, Jean Blewett, Frank Parker Day, and Charles G. D. Roberts. There is an illustrated article on Lord Nelson and his victories, and another on the inauguration of the two provinces, besides the usual [illegible]

POSSIBILITY OF AN OUTBREAK

St. Petersburg, October 2.—General Trepoff, who as assistant Minister of the Interior, and Governor of St. Petersburg, is practically dictator of Russia, said today to your correspondent:

"While the country is apparently calm, there is a possibility of a serious outbreak at any instant. The only cure for the present condition of unrest is the Douma. Accusations of tyranny made against me are unjustified. I am guarding the state and the public safety. Therefore I am obliged to arrest and deport agitators. The offences of men like Prof. Milyoukov president of the federal organizations, are the most grave, because they are not Russians. Such elements, however, are powerless without Russian collaboration. We have no habeas corpus act, and no political courts in this country, hence many persons are imprisoned indefinitely.

"The Douma will remedy this evil. There is not the slightest doubt of the Czar's sincerity. He has limited his own power continually, and he intends to enlarge the Doumas' prerogatives. His chief desire is to avoid anarchy and give repose to the Empire."

ROSEBERY'S SON COMING

London, October 2.—Passengers sailing on the Allan liner Virginian today include Hon. Railway Y.M.C.A. Building.

Barrie, October 2.—Mr. Charles M. Hays, general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, has signified his willingness to contribute from his company $4,500 and a free site for the erection of a Y.M.C.A. building at Allandale, to be used principally by the men working in the Grand Trunk shops there. He also proposes to give $30 per month for the maintenance of the building. Attached to the gifts is the condition that the people of Allandale will contribute a sum equal to that given by the railway company. It is expected that the erection of the building will be commenced within a month.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c. all Failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I was a victim of Blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood ... ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair ... Before Treatment ... Dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, filthy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as weak as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 25 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Gentlemen, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

"We ought, and at least, I try to be just."

"I am afraid you are a little hard."

"I dare say I am, or have been at present, I may, for all I know, be learning to be too soft." He looked down as he spoke these words thoughtfully. "But in the battle of life we can rarely afford to lay aside our armor."

"What a dreadful idea of life," said Nora with a sigh. Winton did not reply, he paused, his hand on a rock, and looked intently at his companion, whose eyes were fixed on the fire.

"Now, Mr. Winton, I shall do my best to conquer," said Mrs. L'Estrange, returning. Winton brought her a chair.

"Do you never care to learn?" he said to Nora as he took his place.

"I have tried. I used to try and play with my father, but I never could learn, I never could be interested; there is some deficiency I suppose in me, for I never care if I win or lose at any game."

"Which shows an unmathematical, unpractical turn of mind," said Winton smiling. "I wait your attack," to Mrs. L'Estrange.

For awhile, Nora read the newspaper; then she rose and leaning on the back of her step-mother's chair looked on at the game, as if watching an opportunity of speaking.

"Check to your king," said Mrs. L'Estrange at last. "You are not playing your best, Mr. Winton; is it negligence or politeness? No, you can not move there, you are still in check, nor there either."

"Then I may speak!" cried Nora. "There is a paragraph in the paper about the robbery. I will read it. 'The mystery which enshrouds the great jewel robbery is still unsolved; but, although we must on no account betray the secrets of the police, it is perhaps permissible to state that a faint clew has at length been found, which in the experienced hands of a certain famous officer may, indeed will, probably, lead to the detection of the villain or villains whose dastardly attack almost cost its object a serious illness. We are happy to state that Mrs. Ruthven has very nearly recovered the effects of the shock to her system, and is about to proceed to Italy for change of air and scene.'"

"Which means," said Winton, rising," that the penny-a-liner knows nothing, and has no chance of knowing anything. When these fellows are most profoundly ignorant, they assume the greatest knowingness. But it is late! If you will allow me, I will say good-night, and make my bow to the stables. I can be my own groom."

"Oh! Roberts is in, I am sure, having a talk in the kitchen. He is our body-guard now; he will bring your horse round." Mrs. L'Estrange rang as she spoke, and ordered Mr. Winton's horse.

"What a dreadfully dark night!" said Nora, going to the open door a few minutes after, while Winton said good-bye to Mrs. L'Estrange. "It is raining, too. I am afraid you will get very wet!"

There was genuine kindly interest in the eyes raised to his.

"If you care whether I am wet or dry, alive or dead, I shall be obliged to lay aside my armor," said Winton, smiling, as his hand closed on hers with a lingering pressure, so close, so warm, that it sent an electric thrill of surprise through her heart. "I shall come to-morrow to report myself, and bring you the 'History of Blankshire' we were speaking of. Good-night!" and the sound of his horse's tread soon died away.

"I have such a headache, Helen. I think I shall go to bed—do you mind?"

"No; by no means. I would rather sleep than listen to that moaning wind. I hope we may have news of some kind from Lady Dorrington or Clifford Maredon to-morrow. The world seems to have left us stranded here."

They bid each other good-night and separated.

From the first hour they had met he had attracted her unaccountably. He was not good-looking, or particularly agreeable or flattering. He was, on the contrary, silent, slightly abrupt, and decidedly uncompromising, yet to Nora there was veiled pathos in his grave eyes, and an utter unconsciousness of himself, that gave dignified simplicity to his manner. She was always wondering what he thought and how this or that would strive him. Then, when he gradually came to talk to her of books, and topics of the dusty beaten track of conventional chatter, the sincerity of his opinions, the tone of calm clear common sense which pervaded his conversation, delighted and refreshed her. Strange to say, despite her recognition of his strength and self-sufficiency, Mrs. L'Estrange's story of his lonely youth — his resolute struggle for fortune—had touched a chord of tender pity in her heart; and in short, before she was aware that he was more than an interesting acquaintance, Nora was in love with him.

His voice—the clinging grasp of his hand that evening—had broken open the flood-gates of her consciousness, and with mingled shame and fear, Nora saw that she loved this grave, self-restrained man, with all the force of her young warm nature. It was suddenly revealed to her how heavenly it would be to know that he loved her, to hear him call her by her name, to feel that she could make him happy, and give him tenderness and sympathy such as his rugged life had never known. But, oh! would he ever know that? Was it not shameful of her to think thus —to long to offer her heart to a man who had never sought it, who had never shown her any lover-like attention, who simply liked to talk with her, probably because she liked to listen? And even that evening, there was nothing worth thinking twice about in his words or hand pressure, only a friendly acknowledgment of her anxiety—perhaps too boldly expressed! How contemptibly weak and ill-regulated she was, to allow the idea of a man, who probably did not care for her, to take possession of her imagination! How was it she had come to love him so dearly? and did she love him! The distress of her conviction seemed to confer a sudden maturity of womanliness on her girlish nature. What sorrow was she storing up for herself, to let any man possess such mastery over her? How was she to regain her self-respect? Only by a steady consistent effort to stamp out the fire that had been smoldering unperceived in her heart, till the flames began to make their painful burning felt: only by assuming a tone of the calmest friendship to the man she loved and dreaded, for he did not care for her, it was not likely. He needed an older, riper, more highly educated companion, than herself! She must be careful to guard her secret—already she had been, must have been, foolishly demonstrative, or Mrs. Ruthven would not have hinted at any understanding between herself and Winton! Oh! the shame of being suspected of loving one who did not love her would be insupportable. Cost what it would, she would so guide herself as to escape such humiliation!

She braided up her long hair, prayed fervently for strength and help, and, with tear-bedewed lashes, fell asleep, Winton's last words echoing

The One True Medicine for Health and Strength

All weakness is turned into strength, new energy and nourishing blood are created, buoyant good health is established in a short time.

DISCOURAGED WOMEN FOUND NEW HOPE.

"I had pretty nearly given myself up as incurable. I was weak and sickly all the time, had headache, poor digestion and sinking feeling. On rising in the morning there was a feeling of awful weariness.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped from the first. They must have strengthened my blood, for I gained in strength as soon as I took them. Steady improvement followed, and I am now completely cured."

Mrs. M. E. Benson, Woodstock.

STRENGTH AND SPIRITS IMPROVED.

"No medicine could possibly be better than Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Mr. Jos. Devine from Ottawa. "I had pains in the back and side, caused by kidney trouble, was bothered considerably with headache, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me quickly. I can recommend them to every man."

You'll become vigorous and strong, enjoy a good appetite, your sleep will be dreamless and sound, after regulating your systems with Dr. Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Prince 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.

A Clever Arrest.

[illegible] night that shows our local officers do not go about sleeping. A few days ago the chief was in receipt of a communication from the Toronto force notifying him to be on the look out for George Fowler, a local boy, and, since then, in receipt of a telegram in connection with the same matter. It seems that during the Toronto Exhibition, young Fowler, was working, as bell boy in the Arlington Hotel in that city. Whilst he was there a lady had her purse containing a considerable sum of money stolen, and suspicion fell upon the boy Fowler. P. C. McGinty, whilst on duty about 5.30 yesterday evening, near the Oriental Hotel, saw a lad answering the description of young Fowler, and promptly locked him up. The case will be heard this morning.

The Times Appreciated.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the attitude of the officials in connection with the abolition of objectionable features on the fair grounds, and your report of the success attending this year's venture is a practical illustration that the public appreciate your position. I was pleased to see that without fear or favor you strongly advocated all reasonable efforts to eliminate all chance of visitors to the fair being victimized by sharps and fakers, and also with your reports of the manner in which good steps in this direction was meted out to the fakers who were fined. You also stood for Peterboro's rights to the $130 paid in fines by those gentry last week. Those fakers operated in other places without being interfered with, but here the Peterboro police sternly put their foot down on such practices, and I am glad to see you give credit to the local officers.

Peterboro should be proud to occupy the place of a leader in the crusade for that which is right, and I think that the whole public owe a debt of gratitude to Peterboro in giving an annual exhibition, bright amusing, educational and clean.

Truly yours,

A SUBSCRIBER.

Peterboro, Sept. 30th.

CHORAL SOCIETY

Mr. Alfred Davies Writes Regarding Formation of One.

Mr. Alfred Davies, Professor of Music, announces in the following letter, the formation of a high-class choral society;—

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—It is my intention to form a Choral Society in Peterboro. I shall be glad to see or hear from any ladies or gentlemen, desirous of joining, at my studio, 106 McDonel street, corner of Harvey, this week.

A preliminary voice test will be made, and none but fair readers of music will be enrolled, as the society will be for the practice and performance of high-class music.

The members of the various church choirs in the city are asked to join, the proposed society, which will be entirely undenominational.

A meeting to arrange for the time of rehearsal, and other business matters, will take place as early as possible.

TOWN TOPIC.

ALFRED DAVIES.

As Mr. Davies so comprehensively and clearly explains his ideas, we might only say that Peterboro has the raw and refined material for such a society, and the writer's well known ability and enterprise would surely meet with the encouragement they deserve.

Excellent Partridge Shooting.

Following is report received from Mountain Grove, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, 161 miles east of Toronto, regarding partridge shooting in that section:—

"Prospects for partridge shooting in this section are decidedly favorable, and if sportsmen take the trouble to go back from three to five miles of the C. P. R. they will find the birds still more numerous. Comfortable board can be obtained with the settlers at a very reasonable price. In November twelve miles further back there is good deer shooting, some very fine specimens having been shot last summer."

Copy of illustrated booklet, "Fishing and Shooting," will be furnished free on application to any agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Bad Boys at Exhibition Grounds.

The local Turf Club, and directors of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, are encountering much trouble from frequent cases of vandalism at both the exhibition grounds and the race track. A number of mischievous boys have recently broken into these extensive grounds and played havoc generally. The boys deliberately broke open doors of the stalls, and rifled the contents of horse boxes and stalls; not only this but boards have been broken off and carried away. The Turf Club, are so exasperated at this destruction, they have engaged the services of a man to watch the place and arrest any man or boy found on the premises without authority. Placards have been posted warning trespassers they will be prosecuted. As any boy caught on these grounds henceforth will be arraigned for breaking open the horse boxes, it would be wise for all boys to keep outof the grounds.

A Bold Dash For Liberty.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 2.—Monk Gibson, a negro arrested yesterday in connection with the murder of Mrs. A. J. Conditt and her children at [illegible], made a bold dash for liberty last night and escaped from the posse having him in charge.

The posse is searching for the negro and he will probably be recaptured.

The people of Jackson county are greatly excited and many avow that they will burn Gibson when he is apprehended.

Ferguson is Improving.

We are pleased to learn from the Nicholls Hospital authorities that Mr. Robt. Ferguson who injured his foot, on Saturday morning, by getting it caught between the rails on the C.P.R. canal bridge, is progressing as favorably as can be expected. He will however be laid up for some weeks yet, as two bones were broken and the tendons snapped.

Mr. James Dolan Home.

Mr. James Dolan, one of Peterboro's oldest merchants returned yesterday from a visit of some weeks with Mrs. Dolan and their children in Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Dolan, who thinks there is no place, outside of the old sod, equal to Peterboro, and whilst regretting leaving behind dear ones in Milwaukee, was very glad to be home again. He saw the sights of the great brewery city, and had the pleasure of thoroughly seeing the [illegible] Pabst Brewery whilst away. This immense [illegible] factory covers four acres, turns out eight brewings of 400 barrels each per day, and has a vast parlor where are visitors are supplied with beer ad lib. and for nothing. The Pabst Co., keep all their export beer 48 months in stock before shipping.

In reply to a question whether he liked the beer Jim sorrowfully admitted it looked good, and smelt good but the peg was in.

G. T. R. Time Changes.

The fall and winter time table on the Grand Trunk Railway went into force yesterday. As a result of the changes made the 10 o'clock a.m. train that arrives from Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham, will arrive at 10.05 a.m. The noon train that formerly left for Lakefield leaves now at 12.20, and the last two Lakefield trains—the one that left at 5.40 p.m. and the one which arrived at 8.50 p.m. have been cancelled.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured.

with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Of Interest To Advertisers.

Messrs. Nelson Chesman & Co., Advertising Agents, St. Louis, Mo., Chicago, Ills., and New York, N.Y., have just issued their Newspaper Rate Book for the current year. It contains a complete list of the newspapers and periodicals throughout the United States and Canada with a circulation of 5,000 copies and over. It gives detailed advertising rates of each, character of the publication, length and width of advertising columns, and in fact every feature pertaining to the publication which is likely to prove of interest to an advertiser. It represents a very heavy expenditure on the part of the publishers, who have had for months a corps of trained experts collecting this information and compiling it in a manner to make it thoroughly intelligible to all advertisers. It is brought out at a timely season, as very many advertisers select the fall of the year as the most suitable time for making their annual advertising appropriations. The work will unquestionably prove a desirable addition to the library of any advertiser—large or small—even though they may be thoroughly conversant with the value of the different publications, and all should avail themselves of the opportunity to secure a copy. Price $5.00.

Weak Case in the Kyle Murder Trial

Magee Was Intoxicated at Time of Shooting, and Grew Abusive Shortly Before Fatal Shot Was Fired--No Eye Witness of Shooting.

Woodstock, Oct. 4.—The trial of Mrs. Evelyne Kyle, of Ingersoll, for the murder of David Magee, at that place, on July 18, of this year, began here yesterday morning at 9.30, before Mr. Justice MacMahon. With Matthew Wilson, K.C., Chatham, representing the Crown, and Messrs. J. P. and J. C. Begley, Ingersoll, and T. C. Robinette, Toronto, defending.

The story of the shooting in brief is that David Magee, who had known Mrs. Kyle years ago, turned up at the Kyle homestead in July last in company with a young woman named Annie Whitman, whom he introduced under an assumed name. Miss Whitman remained at the Kyle house, and Magee continued visiting there from day to day until the row occurred, which resulted in Mrs. Kyle firing the fatal shot.

Mrs. Kyle gave herself up to the police, admitting that she had killed Magee, but claiming that she had fired at random.

The most important evidence yesterday morning was that of Chief Wright, of Ingersoll, the Ingersoll doctors who made the post-mortem examination, and Annie Whitman. It was shown that the spot where Magee fell when shot was a little over eighty-nine feet from the spot where Mrs. Kyle stood in her own house.

ANNIE WHITMAN'S EVIDENCE.

Annie Whitman's evidence was intended to throw light on the relationship existing between Magee and Mrs. Kyle. On the second day before the shooting witness, Magee and prisoner went Beachville. Mrs. Kyle paying the fares for both herself and Magee. It was late at night when they returned. On the Tuesday before the shooting Magee threw Mrs. Kyle down on the floor of her own home, witness being present.

Mrs. Kyle did not scream, but simply told Magee to behave, and asked witness to help her. Magee returned to the Kyle house the next day, and when witness returned from town she found him there lying on a sofa. She said something to Mrs. Kyle, whereupon Magee accused the two women of talking behind his back and began knocking the furniture about. Mrs. Kyle threatened to tell her husband. Magee had been drinking. Witness was unable to give the story of the shooting.

The evidence of the two neighbor women completed the case for the Crown, which it is admitted is not very strong. The defence immediately opened with Robert Kyle, husband of the prisoner, as first witness.

WEDS WAITRESS; MAMMA HORRIFIED

Threatens to Disinherit Only Son

YOUNG BENEDICT CARELESS

Windsor, October 4.—It won't make any difference to Geo. T. Van Epe, young and just married, whether his mother, a wealthy Windsor woman, disinherits him because of his matrimonial venture. When mamma returned to the Crawford house, Windsor, a few days ago, after a vacation in North Carolina, she was met by her son with the announcement that he had married a waitress in the Crawford house, and that there was another Mrs. Van Epe in the family.

Like other mothers she didn't like to have her son marry without consulting her, but her displeasure was turned to positive wrath when she discovered that George had contracted a "mesalliance" with a pretty waitress, Blanche Stewart, formerly of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, who had been employed at the Battle Creek Sanitarium restaurant, where the young man had often eaten his meals.

Tears and reproaches followed each other in quick succession and were concluded with a threat of disinheritance. But this proved useless for the son's romance was too fresh to be even soured by a mother's anger.

Now George is working hard as a clerk in the employ of the Detroit Omnibus Line Company to keep the nest well feathered. He is rather reticent about the family differences and declares that if his mother has decided to disinherit him he isn't aware of it yet. Nor did this terrible possibility appear to be weighing very heavily on the young benedict.

RUGBY.

Secretary Walkey, of the Peterboro team, yesterday received a letter from Mr. F. D. Woodworth, secretary of the O.R.F.U., stating that the locals had been given a bye on account of the withdrawal of the Marlboros. The schedule for the district is as follows:—

Oct. 7th, Argonauts at St. Michael's College.

Oct. 14th St. Michael's College at Argonauts.

Oct. 21st, winners of Argonauts-St. Michael's game, at Peterboro.

Mr. Woodworth added that he would, if the locals wished it, secure an exhibition game for them with the Victoria II. of Toronto, who would play here for the expenses, but want a ladylike game, lest any of their players should get disabled.

THE TURF.

There is much comment among local sports as to why Mr. George Liggett sent Miss Paisley and Minnie Bell with Mr. Cook to Markham. The question asked by those apparently in the know, is: Why did he not send Lady Gothard and Blucher? Many of the opinion that Mr. Martin Connors' Lady Gothard and Blucher are too swift for him?" Mr. Connors' stable will be represented at the Millbrook fair races, about the same date, and surely the difference, it is argued, in freight, would counterbalance any difference in the purses.

Whilst every one admits that Lady Gothard and Blucher are swift ones, Miss Paisley's past record is too good to give up without a tryout. It seems a pity that the bunch mentioned could not be brought together, as Mr. Connors has full confidence in his horses, and it is a sure thing that Mr. Connors' driver is onto his job.

From knowledge of Mr. Connors, no one doubts but what, if the stuff is put up, Lady Gothard and Blucher will be sent after it, every time.

A FALL BRIDE

A very pretty ceremony, enacted in the presence of about fifty guests, beneath a bell of flowers, the room prettily adorned with flowers, ferns and evergreen, was the wedding yesterday afternoon at Mr. J. H. Greer's residence, 701 George street, his second daughter, Miss Ida May Greer, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Rugert J. McClennan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Crotlers, pastor of George street Methodist church.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white voile, trimmed with lace and silk applique, while the bridesmaid, Miss Violet Greer, sister of the bride, wore white crepe de chine, trimmed with lace. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. G. L. McClennan, Peterboro.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding repast. The young couple were the recipients of a large number of costly and beautiful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. McClennan left on the 5.15 train for Toronto, and other western points. The bride's going away gown was of green lady's cloth. The young couple will reside in Peterboro on their return.

Many guests from a distance witnessed this most pretty social event, including Mr. Frank Noble, a cousin of the bride, who came specially from Baltimore, Md., Mr. W. D. McClellan, Ottawa, brother of the groom, Messrs. Elmer and Norman Smith, Lewiston, Idaho, and others from Cobourg, Toronto and other points.

TORONTO DETECTIVE

Yesterday by the noon C.P.R. train, Detective Forrest, of the Toronto police force arrived in the city. This officer came to take back with him a boy named Fowler, charged with stealing a gold watch from the Arlington Hotel, Toronto, where he was employed as bell boy during the exhibition. Young Fowler, yesterday morning, told a Times' representative, that he was innocent of the crime alleged. He says a boy came to him, during the time he was bell boy at the Arlington, and seemed to be anxious to get a similar job there. This interested Fowler, who struck up an acquaintance with him. The boy he met, told Fowler, he had a lady's watch, but wanted to [illegible] afraid of losing his good one. Fowler says he traded his Waterbury for the lady's gold watch, giving $3 "to boot." When he found the boy did not want to get work, as first stated, he wanted to trade back, being suspicious but the boy would not give him his money. He afterwards sold the watch in a pawn broker's for $6.

Detective Forrest, being questioned by The Times, said the only evidence against the boy, Fowler, was the fact that he had sold the watch, which had been stolen by some one. His trial will come off at ten o'clock this morning in Toronto, before Magistrate Denison, as Forrest took him to Toronto on the G.T.R. yesterday evening.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Reed
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

The chief was yesterday in receipt of a letter from Mr. John C. Ruse, chief constable of Cobourg, which reads;

Cobourg, Oct. 22nd.

Dear Sir,—W. Dallas and H. Elliott were committed for trial, and they will get their trial one week from Wednesday, the 11th of October. They had their hearing before Mr. Hallard, P.M. We were four hours in court.

J. C. RUSE, C.C.

This letter refers to two young men whom P.C. Adams arrested here a few days ago on a telegram from the Cobourg police. The charge against them is that of having canvassed that town for advertisements in hotel bills of fare, and having skipped out with the money, but with the goods still undelivered.

A warrant was sworn out yesterday by the Greeks, in whose billiard parlor, Edward Tighe, raised a disturbance, and which ended in the latter being arrested. Tighe is charged with having committed an assault. The case will be tried to-morrow morning.

"RIGO THE PIG"

Ex-Princess Chimay is Now a Philanthropist.

Paris, October 4.—Clara Ward, ex-Princess Chimay, formerly of Detroit, has been seized with a new fancy. It is to appear in the role of philantropist.

The erratic heroine of a hundred naughty love escapades is not going to rival Carnegie and give away a library, or emulate Philpps and endow a social settlement. The beneficience of Clara Ward, who is now known as Senora Guiseppe Ricciardo, is the donation of $4,000 to help the compatriots of her present consort, in Calabria.

Ricciardo, it will be remembered, was a canvasser for a tourist agency for whom she deserted Jancsi Rigo, hunch-backed gypsy violinist.

Rigo is still playing here. He bitterly criticised her action and when she was told of this, the ex-princess curled her lip and merely said:

"Oh, that pig."

Then she sniffed.

When last heard of Senora Ricciardo was making a dicker with Adolph Marks, a Chicago theatrical lawyer, to enter vaudeville for 40 weeks at $1,000 a week.

SHOUTED UP

Little Mary.—"I say up there, won't you please quit sending down such a variety of unnatural things to me.

"Here this morning first came down some sticky, pasty material, all starchy and only partly cooked. It was wheat or oats and was decorated with milk and sugar.

"Between the unchewed mouthfuls came gulps of coffee, finally a good big drenching of it. Then some bread and a lot of grease, perhaps it was butter, then some fried eggs and fried meat and more coffee, and some fried cakes and syrup. You load things on me as if I could stand everything.

"I try faithfully, but there's no use. I can digest part of it and the balance sours and I simply have to push it along to the liver. He says he's badly overworked now and gets so weak he almost collapses, so he sends the sour mass on down to the intestines to raise gas and trouble of all kinds. We can't help it, and you must either select your food with better reason or stand more and more trouble down here. Suppose you try us on some cooked raw fruit, a little Grape-Nuts and cream, 2 soft-boiled (not fried) eggs, some well-browned toast and a cup of Postum. Later and I will guarantee to make you feel the keen joy of a hearty and well man. If you will send those things down to us. There's a reason, but never mind that, try it first and when you find we know what we are talking about, you may be ready to hear the reason."

CROPS EXCEED ESTIMATES

Montreal, October 4.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Hon. L. J. Forget, Messrs. R. B. Angus, W. W. Mathews, E. B. Osler, Charles R. Hosmer and Jas. Redmond, have returned to their homes after making a tour of the Canadian Pacific Railway's lines, west of Montreal.

All were most favorably impressed with the condition of the country west of Winnipeg, and the shape in which the railway in all its departments was found to be.

The president and his guests travelled on a special consisting of the cars Cornwall, York and Manitoba. At Winnipeg they were met by the second vice-president, Mr. William White, who accompanied them over the western lines.

Speaking of the trip, Sir Thomas stated that he was exceedingly pleased with the condition in which he found the road throughout.

He is more firmly of the impression than ever that the C.P.R. comes very near to being the best transcontinental railway in America. The liberal expenditures of moneys upon the road were bringing it up to a high degree of efficiency. The betterments would be an accomplished fact within a year, he thought, though, of course, there must always remain something to be done.

Sir Thomas commented upon the new branch roads now under construction which are making satisfactory progress. In all there are 600 miles of road in course of construction.

The party also visited the Esquimault and Nanaimo Railway on Vancouver Island, which the company has recently acquired and they predict a great future for that section.

Senator L. J. Forget is convinced that there is such a wave of prosperity spreading over the West as has seldom been before experienced. He is sure that this will be of the greatest benefit to Montreal.

Since his last visit west, in 1902, there has been such progress made everywhere that it was absolutely impossible to over estimate it. The extent of the Dominion might be understood when it was remembered that although the party coming and going had traversed 7,000 miles, they had not been over more than a portion of the company's lines.

The road itself has been, under Sir Thomas' direction, almost completely rebuilt, and where formerly a locomotive could only haul 400 tons its hauling powers had been increased to from 1,200 to 1,500 tons. The road's passenger traffic has so increased that nearly all of the trains are run in two sections.

The Senator is convinced that in two years' time, when all the improvements have been completed, that a 72-hour service between Montreal and Vancouver will be possible.

With regard to the season's yield of wheat, Mr. Forget stated that so far from its being overestimated, it had been under-estimated. Whereas at first it had been reported that the crop would not go more than twenty bushels to the acre, it had now been discovered, and the report corrected, that the crop would go from 23 to 25 bushels to the acre. It will total anywhere from 85,000,000 to 100,000,000.

The new settlers have also been doing well, and they show how practical they are by the fact that the great majority of them have expended as much time and money upon building stables than they have on dwellings.

The eastern financial institutions are not being outstripped in the race for business by the newer financial concerns of Winnipeg and the west. Every place of any importance has either its branches of the Banks of Montreal, the Merchants' or the Union, and they are doing very well.

Senator Forget also pointed out the C. P. R.'s policy would be altogether against selling its lands to a company for $70,000,000, as it was reported to have been offered.

It is in their interests to see the country divided into a number of small sections, so that they will have the hauling of such freight as would be supplied by the increased population. This is the tendency in the West. Many of the ranches near McLeod and Calgary are now prosperous farms.

Mr. Charles R. Hosmer also commented on the prosperity which had been everywhere encountered.

The British Columbia salmon catch which last year amounted to 39,000 cases, this year will be 800,000. The lumber industries there had never been as prosperous as they are now. In Alberta, where formerly there was only ranching, today there is 7,000,000 of winter wheat. It is the same in the mining regions. Although there is no boom, they have got down to hard pan and a good deal of money will be made.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mr. Roy Cavanagh Falls From a Ho se His Condition Serious.

At the Keene Fair races yesterday, Mr. Roy Cavanagh, the son of Mr. T. Cavanagh, was riding a horse in the running race, As the horse reached the home stretch, a man ran across the track, causing the horse to shy suddenly. Mr. Cavanagh was thrown heavily, alighting on his head. An ambulance was sent from the city at once, and Mr. Cavanagh was brought to St. Joseph's hospital late last night. His many friends will hope for his speedy recovery.

PETERBORO BOY WRITES

Letter Received From Lieut. Alf. E. Shaw, Late 3rd Dragoons.

Mr. Robt. Hay was yesterday in receipt of a letter from an old Peterboro boy, Lieut. Alf. E. Shaw, lately lieutenant of the P. W. 3rd Dragoons, but now Lieut. in the N. W. Mounted Police. As many of our citizens are personally acquainted with Lieut. Shaw, it may interest them to hear of his present position. The letter, written Sept. 25th, from Fort Saskatchewan, says in part;

"Dear Bob,—You will see from the above address they keep us travelling about. My present location is 16 miles south east of Edmonton, which is a splendid place to live in. (?) They have three men charged with murder in the guard room, and one Charles King, sentenced to be hanged on Saturday, so you see this is quite a busy time. We have the scaffold all ready and I tried it today with a 178 pound sack of oats. Radcliffe is in Edmonton and will inspect the scaffold to-morrow. Capt. Darcy Strickland is in command of this division, and is a splendid fellow and the best sort to soldier under. There are two of my old C.M.R. troopers in Edmonton, Alf. Kemp and Miller. Was in Calgary two months last winter, with lots of good fellows, and the nearby ranchers a splendid class of men. During the inauguration ceremonies, the Mounted Police, 200 strong, with a four-gun battery were at both Edmonton and Regina. We put on a march past and review, also a musical ride; everything went off without a hitch. My troop was chosen to escort the Governor-General. I was naturally very proud of them, having the finest body of men, 16 and one corporal, and not one under 5ft. 11in. With regard to the boys in Peterboro.

Your old friend,

ALF. E. SHAW.

CORRESPONDENCE

A Plea For an Insane Boy--Sentenced to Receive the Lash.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—Knowing that your paper is open, when wanted by those desiring to correct or prevent injustice, I wish you would let me say a few words about the young man, who a few days ago was sentenced by Mr. Dumble, to one month's imprisonment, with 15 lashes of the 'cat.' Now I do not say that the young man was innocent of the crime charged, nor do I presume to dictate to our local magistrate by saying that the punishment meted out, was excessive for the crime proven, or rather acknowledged to have been committed by the prisoner. If the punishment is astray at all, it errs on the side of clemency for such a horrible offence. This opinion is set forth on the basis, that the man committing such crime is sane, and consequently knew the enormity of his offence. In this particular case, however, it is commonly known that this youth, sentenced to [illegible] times, insane.

If I am correct in my belief and what has been told me is true, this young man has twice been before medical men of this town to have his sanity tested. Now I do not wish to seem making any reflection on the judgment of the doctors who declared as to his sanity. It is well known that all insane people have lucid intervals. May not this boy's examinations have been made whilst his brain was temporarily clear, or along a line of questioning, and answers that would seemingly prove him "compos mentis?" The very crime to which the boy pleaded guilty, together with the apparent indifference he exhibited when charged with such an offence, and the stolid manner in which he received so (comparitively) heavy a sentence, assured me, that he is not responsible for his acts.

In my very humble opinion this boy is sufficiently entitled to being considered insane, that it would be a crime to inflict the lash, without his being thoroughly examined by competent men acquainted with brain disorders.

I do not for a moment mean to say that the boy, in his present condition, sane or insane is in a fit condition to be allowed his liberty at present; he would be a menace to the community. But I would suggest, sir, that the proper authorities investigate his case thoroughly, and have him placed in an asylum, where proper skilled treatment, may yet save him both bodily and mentally. I withhold the boy's name out of regard for his parents, and for their sake, as well as his, do not let Peterboro get this name of having lashed a boy who is mentally unbalanced.

Yours truly,

J. U. STICE.

BUSINESS CHANGE

Mr. Jas. Head will Soon Be Mine Host of the Clancy House.

Mr. James Head, who for a very long time was connected with Mr. R. S. Jackson's Hotel, the Downs, but who some weeks ago left that establishment, it is understood soon be engaged in the hotel business on his own account.

Mr. John Clancy, the well known proprietor of the Peterboro House, for nearly a quarter of a century, has, it is understood, decided to retire from business, and take up his residence on his thirty acre farm in North Monaghan.

This old established Hunter street hostelry, The Times was told yesterday, on good authority, will in about two weeks pass under the control of Mr. Head. The new proprietor will start in with a host of friends and likely establish a lucrative business.

Dynamiters Rob The Train From Seattle

Two Boys Without Weapons Go Through Train at the Time and Try to Hold Up Frightened Passengers--Not Much Booty Secured.

Portland, Oregon, Oct. 4.—A despatch to the Oregonian from Seattle, Wash., says that the Great Northern overland train which left Seattle at 8.30 o'clock last night was held up and a baggage and express car dynamited about five miles from Ballard. Three men are known to have done the work, although two boys who had climbed on the blind baggage took advantage of the situation, and when the train was halted went through the passenger coach, es holding up the passengers. The boys were captured. So far as known no one was killed, but it is reported that Charles Anderson, the express messenger, was slightly injured. The robbers secured the contents of the safe in the express car and departed in an easterly direction.

NOT MUCH BOOTY.

Manager Waring of the Great Northern Express Company said later that he did not know what the contents of the safe were, but believed that it contained only a small amount of money. The train was flagged, and as this engineer showed up two men wearing raincoats and slouch hats climbed over the tender and presented revolvers at the engineer's head.

Conductor Grant's report of the holdup is that at least seven men were engaged in the robbery. He believes there were other men further down the track, but they did not take any part, possibly because the train had stopped too soon. Once inside the car, the robbers began dynamiting, the first explosion being of six sticks, the second of 12, and the third of 18.

NERVY YOUNGSTERS.

While the robbers were engaged on the safe the two boys who had been riding on the blind baggage slipped off and went through the train, attempting to hold up the passengers. They had no guns, but took advantage of the timidity of the passengers while the shooting was going on outside. The boys, who gave their names as Frank Alfred and Roland Gibbs, are now in jail at Everett.

NO ONE BADLY HIT.

No one was seriously injured, although a continual fire of revolvers was kept up. Stories differ as to the number of the robbers engaged in the job. There were at least three. There may have been four, or even more. The express messenger says he does not know how much was obtained by the hold-up. The local safe was not molested.

A BRAVE MESSENGER.

When the robbers left the locomotive, they took the engineer and fireman with them, and went to the baggage car, calling up the messenger to open the door. The messenger refused, and a heavy charge of dynamite was placed against the door and exploded. The car was wrecked. The safe was quietly dynamited after which the rest of the train was allowed to proceed.

The two boys who were captured claimed that they had no connection with the other robbers, and that the idea of holding up the passengers only occurred to them after the explosion. They say that two of the bandits were on the blind baggage when they got on, and that the third man boarded the train at Ballard. Sheriff Smith and a posse have started in pursuit of the robbers.

CURIOUS HALLUCINATION

The Lady Smiles Constantly Whilst Describing Repeated Attempts on Her Life.

The Chief of Police yesterday had a call from a poor, simple minded old lady, who, as before noted in The Times, periodically calls at the station to report progress in a perennial attempt made to poison her. The poor old body describes in detail, how both her landlord, with whom she boards, and the other boarders, systematically try to chloroform her as she sleeps. "Yes, indeed chief," the [illegible] tells her troubles, goes on to say, "you know I go to sleep easily, and just as soon as I lie on the bed, they send chloroform over the transom, through the key holes, and under the doors. They also put poison in all the food I eat, but I guess I am so full of poison now, it won't hurt me, I will foil them on that." One boarder has one of them things that talks all the time, and they all gather in his room, to hear it talk, but I know they are conspiring to kill me."

The old lady is harmless and her attempted assassination weighs lightly on her mind, although she firmly believes her story. The chief humours the old lady and patiently listens. She is always comforted at the termination of her tale of woe, by a promise to send an officer at once to warn her would-be slayers they must leave her alone.

TRAFALGAR DAY

Local Sons of England to Hold Concert on Oct. 21st.

Of all nationalities of the world, perhaps none observe quite so enthusiastically all red letter days in national history as the English.

The local Sons of England, with fitting display of commendable patriotism, have decided to celebrate England's glorious victory at Trafalgar, by holding a grand concert on Trafalgar Day, Oct. 21st.

Messrs. H. L. Beal, chairman; A. Kingsmote, secretary; F. J. R. Mitchell, C. F. Kitney, G. G. Pratley, W. Stocker, and W. Taylor have been appointed a committee to take the concert in charge. With such names backed up by the loyal and patriotic Sons of Albion, who are all determined that the concert shall be a success, a success it must be.

All funds remaining after paying expenses incidental to the concert will be devoted to local charities.

The following talent has been secured for the occasion, which is a guarantee in itself that the affair will be of a high class character;—Mr. Beckett Tandy, the great English tenor and singer of patriotic songs, from Crystal Palace, Albert Hall and Alexandra Hall, London; James Fax, Canada's greatest humorist; Miss Helen Davies and Mrs. E. Eardley-Wilmot, city, two popular soprano soloists. An effort will also be made to secure one of the leading officials of the Grand Lodge to deliver an address on the occasion.

Our New Loan.

London, Oct. 4.—Hon. Col. Matheson is here, negotiating a seven million dollar loan for the Ontario Government Railway. He informed the Canadian Associated Press that he expects the matter to be satisfactorily arranged by the end of the week. It will be a 3½ per cent. issue.

WAR IS ON IN AUSTRO-HUNGARY

ARMS BEING GIVEN OUT

The Whole Population in City and Country Prepared To Fight to the Death.

New York, October 4.—Worlds' Buda Pest correspondent says: "I find that Premier Fejervary's hesitation to guarantee the peaceful outcome of the Austro-Hungary crisis, is more than justified by the resolute determination of the coalition leaders to push the matter to the furthest extremes. Every ward in Buda Pest is organized for the defence of the Hungarian constitution. The ward leaders assure me that every member of the party is armed. There are stores of revolvers and knives for distribution and the leaders expected bloodshed tomorrow night, when the vast armed torch light procession, or both coalitionists and socialists, including hundreds from the surrounding country were to march through the town. They certainly would be attacked by the police and hired city hooligans masquerading as socialists, but today the prefect issued an order prohibiting the parades. The leaders of the revolutionists, really the constitutional party, believe the troops to a man are heart and soul with them. A former army officer expressed this belief and added that the whole population in the city and country, professional men, merchants and peasants, are prepared to fight to the death for Hungary.

"Premier Fejervary will certainly be impeached by parliament which meets on October 16. Under the law, it cannot be prorogued for two months, or until the budget is discussed, but prorogation before the budget discussion is very probable. Such an event will mean the instant uprising of the whole nation."

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING

Miss Loretta Clancy Becomes The Bride of Mr. Frank Dwyer.

A pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday morning at St. Peter's cathedral, when Miss Loretta Clancy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clancy, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Dwyer, of Toronto, a former Peterboro boy, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Father McCall. The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk and white velvet picture hat. Her going away dress was navy blue with white ruff. The bridesmaid, Miss May Clancy was beautifully attired in a cream organdie trimmed with Limerick lace.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the residence of the bride's parents, 128 Stewart street, where a dainty and recherche wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer left on the 5.10 o'clock C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will take up residence. Mr. Dwyer occupying the position of storekeeper at the Asylum for the Insane.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time, is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's this abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became nervous and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

POSTAL REFORM

While the United States postal authorities are throwing out evil post cards by the thousands, which seek passage through the mails, Canadian officials are reviewing the list of American publications classed as newspapers and periodicals, entitled to the minimum rate. Some thirty-eight have been found not so entitled, and will have to pay the rate of one cent for two ounces, which is prohibitory.

Sir William Mulock would do a further good turn to Canada by adapting the postal rates now existing between the periodicals and newspapers of Great Britain. The penny postage on letters is a step in facilitating intercourse by correspondence, yet it is chiefly valuable to commercial men. Private communications are not so frequent as to make the saving of a cent of much importance.

The case is different regarding newspapers and magazines, which are to a large extent excluded by the high cost of postage. It is mainly because of this that the high-class British publications coming to Canada are in such small proportion to the flood of trash from the other side of the lines.

It is useless to pretend that imperial sentiment is fostered by a low postage rate on letters, while Canadians are denied the privilege of obtaining the current literature of Great Britain by exorbitant postal rates.

A STRONG POINT

The Christian Guardian remarks: Canadians should know and gratefully remember a piece of almost forgotten history, connected with the year 1817. A seemingly small event has had a large and beneficient result. How many of us know that in 1817, after the war, Great Britain and the United States concluded a short treaty, of about one page, which provided that on the chain of great lakes stretching so far across this continent, neither power should at any time have any vessel of war? Up to the present time nearly ninety years, the treaty has been faithfully observed, and the result is that there are no fortresses, no preparations for war, by land or water over a large, populous, and very important part of North America. The Hon. Robert Treat Paine has said that the United States came very near to the abrogation of that treaty during the civil war, but the notice that had been actually given to Great Britain was withdrawn and rescinded and the treaty remained.

THE FISH POACHERS

Discussing the shooting on American fish poachers, the Canadian Military Gazette says: "The whole thing seems barbarous. We have extradition laws which enable us to bring back from the United States those who have committed crimes in Canada. Now, if taking our fish is so serious a matter as to warrant us in killing those engaged in the act, should they refuse to surrender, surely it is serious enough for an enlargement of our international conventions to give us the right of bringing back for trial here those who are guilty of the offence. Our Government and that of the United States, at the present time so friendly, cannot do better than to get together and put an end to this shooting business, and to the trespassing which, under existing conditions, seems to make it a necessity.

GAVE GOOD SERVICE

Trent Valley Navigation Company's Season About Over.

The thousands of our local citizens, as well as hundreds of visitors from both the United States and Canada, who yearly visit Peterboro, and who patronized boats of the T.V.C.N. Company, on the Kawartha Lakes, all spoke well of the service and accommodation they encountered.

The season of these splendid steamers is about over, and The Times is pleased to learn that the Trent Valley Navigation Company have had the best season on record. Their service is well deserving of high commendation; the universal politeness of the officials and employes, the care taken to avoid dangerous and disagreeable overcrowding, and their universal promptness in making good connection between various points, are important items in the success and extension of next season's trade.

WHEN CHILLED TO THE BONE a dose of Perry Davis' Painkiller in hot, sweetened water will quickly warm you up. It is a thousand times better than drinking whiskey. Wards off and cures Colds and Coughs.

CONTRACTS LET

Sub-contracts on New Opera House Now Let.

The remaining sub-contracts for completing the new opera house, have now been let. They were, plumbing and steam fitting let to C. A. J. Duranceau; seating to the Preston School Furnishing Co.; plastering to W. Henry and finishing lumber and doors to A. McDonald & Co.

Mr. Shuttleworth superintending the work, said the opera house will be ready for the opening night by the middle of November.

Owing to the apparent general use of wood in construction of this building there has been some unfounded talk as to its not being fire proof. Mr. Shuttleworth says:

"There is no possible chance of a fire in the building. The furnace is in a brick room under the stage, and all pipes and wires are carried through an underground tunnel. The place is heated by steam, and every precaution has been taken to prevent a fire. "Why," he said, "we have made a specialty of opera houses for years and we know what we are doing."

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than robbers. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $24 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

sweetly in her ears, despite her stern resolution.

In London, though Mrs. Ruthven neglected to write to her friends at Brookdale, she was by no means idle.

On her arrival at the hotel where she usually put up, she was astonished, and slightly indignant, to find no Shirley awaiting her; nor were these feelings lessened by the receipt of a note late in the evening, informing her that he had called on the detective, whose address he had succeeded in procuring and now inclosed, but the man was away from home, and his wife was not sure when he would return. "I am exceedingly sorry not to see for myself how you have borne your journey," he added, "but a telegram from my sister this afternoon obliges me to start for Ostend to-night. I hope to return speedily, and to be of any use you like to put me to."

Mrs. Ruthven crushed up the note, and thought profoundly for a few minutes, with knotted brows and a look of pain; then she smoothed out the paper, and, having copied the address in her tablets, tore Shirley's missive to pieces, and threw them in the fire.

It was altogether a miserable evening; Marsden promised to look in, if there was time after an interview with the police officials charged with the care of the "Evesleigh case," and a dinner with one of the attaches of the Austrian embassy; but the hours wore on, and he did not come. Mrs. Ruthven was still unhinged and unwell from the result of fright, but she was gathering strength and composure. In truth, though so slender and fragile in appearance, her nervous system was by no means weak; nor did trifles, whether of fact or fancy, produce much effect upon her; still she was glad to ring for her maid, and retire to rest, with a reading-lamp beside her, and a French novel of the strongest description in her hand.

But her own doubts, hopes, fears, were of deeper interest. She did not put implicit fancy in Shirley's assertions; faith was not either her strength or her weakness; after a careful examination of her position on all sides, she made up her mind to inquire personally into the whereabouts of the man she wished to employ. She stretched out her hands for her tablets, which lay on the little table by her bed, and read over the address: "Mr. John Waite, 11 Maryland Villas, Camden Road, N. W." Where was Camden Road? A map would soon tell. She would drive there to-morrow morning.

Mrs. Ruthven had none of the helplessness of a genuine fine lady; no shrinking from unaccustomed roughness, if it suited her purpose to encounter it.

Nor had she any fear of what her servants might say or think. To her they were merely machines, more or less well constructed to do her service, and to be kept in working order they must be properly oiled, i.e., fed and lodged; of their independent existence, she never thought. Yes; she would endeavor to ascertain all about this man herself; she wished Shirley had not gone away so quickly. He surely was not feeling his feet firm enough to try standing alone? Besides, his sudden anxiety about his sister was curious. That he had a sister, Mrs. Ruthven was aware, but that was all; she did not know she was in Europe. "Well, patience and perseverance will discover most things—even my rubies—perhaps," was her last distinct thought.

As soon as Mrs. Ruthven had had her coffee and roll next day, she dressed very plainly and warmly, for it was a chill, misty morning, and informed Virginie, her maid, that she was going to hold a consultation with her dress-maker. To carry out the idea, she directed that certain pieces of lace and Indian embroidery should be made up into a packet, that she might take it to the distinguished artiste she employed.

Then a cab was called, and having given audible direction where to drive, she alighted at the well-known establishment, dismissed her cab, deposited her parcel, with a verbal message that Mrs. Ruthven would call that afternoon or next day, walked to a little distance, and hailing a hansom, drove to the address which she gave the driver.

Maryland Villas was a row of neat, two-storied twin houses, with gardens, gates, high steps, and side entrances; possibly, they had in the first stage of their existence a country view, but now a range of small shops, with a large assortment of the wares dispensed within, hanging about the doors, replaced the green fields of yore.

No 11 was perhaps the most severely accurate in its cleanliness and air of propriety of all the villas. Mrs. Ruthven desired her driver to wait, and rang the bell.

The door was opened by a pretty little dark-eyed woman, well-dressed in black, with a pretty white apron, and a becoming cap, not quite like an English woman, yet scarcely foreign.

"Yes," Mr. Waite was at home, she said in reply to Mrs. Ruthven's inquiries, and would no doubt see the lady, if she could sit down for awhile.

Mrs. Ruthven could; she paid for and dismissed the cab, and followed the dark-eyed little woman into a nice front parlor with a bay-window, well shrouded by lace curtains, and filled with good furniture, a little too big for its dimensions.

"The truth is," said the little woman with a smile, "my husband is asleep. He came home, after a long journey, about six this morning, and I have not yet called him."

"I am sorry to disturb him, but I need his help, and that soon."

"I will bring you the 'Times,' madame, and my husband will come as quickly as he can."

It seemed nevertheless a long weary hour before the door opened to admit Mr. Waite himself.

He was well and carefully dressed, a man of middle height, rather broad, but broad from bone, not flesh, his yellow-pale complexion, thin light hair, wide flat face, and very quiet inexpressive light eyes, were redeemed from ugliness by a pleasant smile and a well-cut chin.

"You wish to speak to me, madame?"

"I do," said Mrs. Ruthven, gazing at him as she thought that Nature had framed him for his work; he was thoroughly unremarkable, not a salient point of any kind on which memory was likely to catch. His voice, too, was even to monotony, yet not unpleasant. "When I tell you," she resumed, after scanning him calmly, "that I am Mrs. Ruthven, whose rubies were stolen at Evesleigh, you will know what I want."

"I understand," he said. "I partly expected to be sent for, and I am glad you came early, for," taking a card from the chimney-piece, "this gentleman expects to hear from me."

"Is the name Shirley?"

"Why do you ask, madame?"

Mrs. Ruthven smiled at his caution.

"Because if it is, the gentleman came on my behalf."

Waite handed her the card.

"I thought so. Well, Captain Shirley has been called away, and I shall explain everything myself."

"Thank you; it is a remarkable case, even as reported in the papers, and there is a good deal generally behind what thy get at. Will you allow me?" he drew a chair to the table and took out a large note-book.

Mrs. Ruthven then gave a brief, but clear, account of the circumstances under which the robbery was Former Peterboro Men's Charity.

In the list of donors towards the contemplated Toronto General Hospital the names of three former citizens of Peterboro appear. Over $250,000 has been subscribed. Hon. Geo. A. Cox gives $100,000, Mr. E. R. Wood $25,000, and Mrs. J. W. Flavelle $25,000. This is a pretty good showing for former residents of this city.

Must Pay Up.

The local Barbers Union, at a meeting held in Mr. S. Baker's shop, with Mr. Baker, president, in the chair, decided to take the Union card from Mitchell's barber shop, until the fine inflicted by the Union for keeping open on July 1st is paid. It will be remembered that Mr. Joseph Mitchell, who operated the business at the time the fine was inflicted, left on a holiday trip to England, and it was thought that he had disposed of the business to his sons. Since his return he has been back in the shop again, hence the withdrawal of the Union card.

Excellent Partridge Shooting.

Following is report received from Mountain Grove, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, 161 miles east of Toronto, regarding partridge shooting in that section:

"Prospects for partridge shooting in this section are decidedly favorable, and if sportsmen take the trouble to go back from three to five miles of the C. P. R. they will find the birds still more numerous. Comfortable board can be obtained with the settlers at a very reasonable price. In November twelve miles further back there is good deer shooting, some very fine specimens having been shot last summer."

Copy of illustrated booklet, "Fishing and Shooting," will be furnished free on application to any agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Noxious Weeds.

The St. Catharines Journal says: "There is on exhibition in the window of J. K. Black's feed store on James street a collection of noxious weeds that comes under the Act relating to weeds passed by the Dominion Parliament, and which comes in force this month." If Mr. Black wants a really truly collection, containing samples of every noxious weed known to science, and some that are not, let him hire a few acres of show grounds, and this city can do the rest, and still leave a good supply to be once more lectured by our city fathers.

Shot Through Folly.

A distressing shooting accident took place Monday night in South Monaghan, in which two young men, Edward McGregor and Thomas Parrette were shot in the arm, and painfully injured. The shooting took place at a charivari, at the farm of Andrew Huggins, about five miles from Baillieboro. A large party were serenading Mr. Huggins and his bride, just that day married. One of the party, a young man named Stephen Jackson, not knowing the cartridges contained shot, fired in fun at the two injured men, who were brought to the Nicholls Hospital. Many shots were removed from their arms, but they will, unless blood poisoning complications set in, recover.

CHARMING RECITAL

Mrs. T. J. Mowat, Assisted By Mr. Van der Water at Murray St. Church

Last night a large and delighted audience gathered at the Murray street Baptist church, and thoroughly enjoyed an exceptional musical treat. The entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was of a character to please the most fastidious, and reflected credit both on the performers and the society who succeeded in getting together such an unique assemblage of both outside and local talent.

The program, after the usual preliminaries had been furnished, opened with an organ solo, "Gavotte," which at once decided the audience their coming evening's enjoyment was assured. A vocal solo by Master Herbert Mowat was pleasingly rendered. The vocal solos respectively by the Misses Helen Davies and Clara Bellegham, were each rendered by these charming Peterboro mistress. Mr. Maurice Vanderwater's two vocal solos, respectively entitled "The Ninety and Nine," and "Come Unto Me," showed that this gentleman's Toronto reputation is well deserved.

Miss Florence Hall in her vocal solo, "Babylon," and Mrs. G. B. Miller, in "The Better Land," with violin obligato, both showed that they have carefully nourished the gifts that nature bestowed upon them. Miss Hope Miller, gave a violin solo, with concerto that proved the player to love and well manipulate her instrument.

Mrs. Mowat, who was organist and accompanist of the evening, showed by her touch and perfect technique, that she is a thorough organist, who plays with feeling and grand expression. Her organ playing throughout held the keen interest of every one in the audience.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW WHAT AILS YOU
the U. S. mail will bring you the best medical advice for only the cost of writing materials and stamps.

Many people owe their present good health to the fact that they consulted Dr. Pierce by letter, giving him all possible information about their condition, symptoms, etc., and received in return good medical advice which cost them nothing. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, President of the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce by no means confines himself to prescribing his well-known medicines. He tells you in the most common-sense way what ails you, what you ought to do, what lines of treatment should be followed out in your particular case, and if your case does not indicate the need for this proprietary medicine, he tells you plainly and frankly what you do need, and the best possible method of improving your health.

Dr. Pierce treats many chronic cases at a distance, through the mail and all you have to do is to write him your symptoms.

"During my two years of married life I have not had good health," writes Mrs. Daisy Studdard, of 625 S. Esplanade Avenue, Leavenworth, Kans. "I was all run-down, and my husband got me to write to Dr. Pierce. I got an early reply telling me what the trouble was. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and now can say that I feel like a new woman. I do all my work and do not feel tired out like I used to. I have taken eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription.' It makes one feel well and strong."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

A WORK OF ART

Messrs. Thos. Barrie & Co., the enterprising fur and hat merchants of George street, have just issued what is perhaps the most complete and artistically gotten up catalogue of fur goods that has ever been issued in this city. The catalogue made throughout of the finest paper that can be procured on the Canadian markets, what is technically known as the "best grade calendar book," twenty pages of the finest illustrations possible for the trade. It is printed from half-tone cuts, of the highest class of workmanship, specially prepared for Messrs. Barrie & Co.

The press work throughout is beyond criticism, and is worthy of The Times Printing Co., by whom it is manufactured and printed.

Every style, appropriately illustrated, by plates, of ladies' fur jackets and garments, muffs, boas and shoulder pieces; mens' fur coats, in Coon, Russian Calf, Lamb, Wallaby, Australian Wombat, etc., etc., fur caps of all descriptions, and winter styles of hats and caps, is included.

It speaks volumes for the enterprise and strenuous progress of a Peterboro concern, that it should issue a catalogue equal in appearance, comprehensiveness, and general make up, equal in every respect, to catalogues sent out by the larger firms in any city in the Dominion.

So satisfactory, in every respect, are Messrs. Barrie & Company's catalogues, that Messrs. Waldron, Drouin Co., of Montreal, are now getting a large consignment, almost identical with Messrs. Barrie & Company's, made by The Times Printing Co.

SOMETHING NEW AND UP-TO-DATE! This is all very well, but what about the old things that have stood the test of time? Now there is "The D & L" Emulsion; everybody knows that you cannot find a better preparation for all Lung troubles.

Miss Dover Goes to Philadelphia.

Miss M. Violet Dover, one of Peterboro's most highly educated and accomplished young ladies, late of McGill College, Montreal, who recently obtained a research scholarship at Bryn Mawr College, has gone to Philadelphia, Pa. Miss Dover will certainly be heard from among the litterateurs of the younger generation.

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTORS

The Western Coal & Chemical Company

at Deadwood, in the Black Hills, South Dakota, offers an opportunity for investment with exceptional prospects of profits, and without the common risk of purely speculative undertakings.

The Western Coal & Chemical Co. is an industrial enterprise that, if classed as "speculative," must be assigned to the same category to which belongs the Welsbach Light Co., whose stock has advanced 1,600 per cent; the Edison Electric Light Co., that has increased 4,000 per cent. in value; the Bell Telephone Co. stock, in which a share originally bought for $1,800 is now worth $200,000.00.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL. XXXIII, NO. 233 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, THURSDAY OCTOBER 5, 1905. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—The announcement of a further issue of $7,500,000 of stock was the most important feature of the annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway, held to-day. The unprecedented large attendance of shareholders at the meeting showed clearly that local interests have, to a very marked extent, sold out all their holdings, and the American and English holders simply send their proxies.

The announcement of further issues in capital was made by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who submitted a special report. In this report, Sir Thomas stated that the additional capital was required to secure additional equipment as locomotives, passenger coaches, and freight cars.

IN THE FRONT RANK.

The 24th annual statement shows that while gross earnings had exceeded $50,000,000, there was every indication that these figures would be generally exceeded during the coming year. He considered that business conditions throughout the country were better than ever before in the history of the country. As a result of the large expenditures made on the entire line he considered that the C.P.R. was now in the front rank of transcontinental lines.

TWO ATLANTIC STEAMERS.

Resolutions were also passed authorizing the issue of consolidated debenture stock to the extent of $30,000 a mile to provide for the completion of Wolseley branch line, and to the extent of $300,000 to provide for the purchase of two new Atlantic steamers. The lease of the Nicolet & Kamloops, the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Ry, was also ratified.

The four directors, Mr. C. R. Hosmer, Hon. Robert Mackay, R. G. Reid, and Mr. D. McNicoll, whose terms had expired, were re-elected. Mr. E. B. Osler and W. D. Matthews, the two directors, were present at the meeting.

IN CANADIAN GAS FIELDS

Clevelanders Organize to Operate Near St. Catharines

Successful Well Now in and Valuable Franchises Secured.

St. Catharines, Oct. 5.—The Ontario Pipe Line Co. is the name of a corporation recently organized at St. Catharines, Canada, for the purpose of operating in the natural gas and oil fields discovered in that vicinity. The company has secured a large tract of land near Beamsville, the producing quality of which was attested last week when the first drilling resulted in bringing in a gas well in large paying quantities at a depth of 2,300 feet. The indications for oil were also found to be very favorable.

At a meeting held last evening in the Hollenden, attended by twenty-five stockholders, Charles F. Roland, through whose efforts the property and franchise for piping gas to several Canadian towns were secured, made a report of the condition of the company's affairs. It was decided at this meeting to proceed at once [illegible] the wells in the fields controlled by the company, and a large number of additional shares were subscribed for by those present to prosecute the work with vigor.

The stockholders were informed that besides having secured a general charter for pipe lines the company has already obtained twenty-five year franchises from the cities of St. Catharines, Grimsby and Beamsville, with other applications pending. In each case prices are fixed at 60 cents per thousand feet for illuminating and 40 cents per thousand feet for fuel purposes. The fields are located within three to four miles from Beamsville and Grimsby and seventeen miles from St. Catharines. The officers of the Ontario Pipe Line Co. are as follows; George G. Mulhern, president; W. J. Jones, first vice-president; J. C. McWatters, second vice-president, Charles F. Roland, secretary and general superintendent; F. W. Tramper, assistant secretary; A. W. Oppman, treasurer; S. E. Schauer, assistant secretary. These officers, with O. E. Kennedy, Dr. Charles O. Beam, and James N. Walker (the last two named residents of St. Catharines), constitute the board of directors. The capital stock of the company is $500,000.

CHEESE BOARD MEETS

A PRACTICAL LESSON

Ladies Learn How to Can Fruit.

About one hundred and fifty of Peterboro's leading society ladies gathered yesterday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. parlors to hear a practical discourse on canning fruit.

The lecturer, Mrs. R. Peckham, gave an eloquent and comprehensive lecture on the things to do, and those not to do, when putting down the various sorts of fruits, for winter use. Those present, showed by their interested attitude and close attention given to the speaker, that her address sank in deep, to be resurrected for future use. Every kind of fruit adapted to canning, and every mode of properly preserving them were fully touched upon, and many valuable suggestions were given and as promptly noted down by many of the ladies present.

The company employing this lady send out a most valuable work in cooking, a copy of which was secured by each lady in the audience.

After the lecture was over, many of the ladies present signed a certificate testifying as to the enjoyment and benefit derived from hearing it.

A few of the ladies who attended this lecture were under a slight misapprehension as to the terms of payment. The company sends out an agent in advance of the lecturer's arrival, soliciting subscriptions to the book above noted. This canvasser takes 50 cents as a guarantee, and the subscriber signs a card promising to pay the balance, $2, on the day of the lecture. Two or three of the ladies present, apparently not having acquainted themselves with the terms of the contract they had signed, considered they had paid their 50 cents as price of the lecture and that the purchase of the book, at the remaining balance of $2 was optional. This contract, as seen by This Times last night is very clear in its meaning; the 50 cents paid in advance being simply a first payment on a total sum of $2.50 for book and lecture.

PETERBORO NOT GUILTY

Yesterday a hearing was given the appeal made by Peterboro against an order made, on Sept. 1st, by Magistrate Jackson of Lindsay, which resulted in invalidating the Lindsay judge's decision.

It seems that, on Sept 1st, a boy named Jeremiah Clay, was sentenced by the Lindsay police magistrate to a term in an industrial school. This official served an order on City Clerk Armstrong, ordering this city to pay expenses of the boy's keep at the school, on the grounds that he had lived here for a year immediately previous to going to live in Lindsay.

Chief Hamel, took the matter under attention and found that the family lived at 199 Chatterton Street for about a month in 1903 and then moved to an old log house in North Monaghan, where they remained for about a month, when they were visited by Chief Hamel and High County Constable Cochrane, of the Children's Aid Society, who told them that if the children were not properly cared for, they would be taken from them. They then removed to Omemee where they lived until October last, when they removed to Lindsay.

The result of the chief's investigations resulted yesterday in City Solicitor, E. H. D. Hall attending a hearing given by the Lindsay magistrate, accompanied by Chief Hamel and another witness. The solicitor appealed against Magistrate Jackson's order, and, after hearing the evidence of Jeremiah Clary, sr., and his daughter, Hannah Clary, the Worship Police Magistrate Jackson, was satisfied and sustained the appeal.

SALVATIONISTS WED

Mrs. Roseanna Wright Changes Her Name to Mrs. John Sherwood.

Yesterday afternoon at 394 Aylmer street, Mrs. Roseanna Wright was joined in the bonds of wedlock to Mr. John Sherwood. Both the high contracting parties being members of the Salvation Army, Staff-Capt. McAmmond, officiated. The bride was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Wright.

The ceremony was witnessed by a number of the friends and relatives of the couple, and after a pleasant afternoon the newly-married couple left for Toronto on the 5.10 C.P.R. train, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will return to the city and take up their residence on Aylmer street.

Much amusement was caused among passers-by, on George street, as the cab containing the happy couple drove to the depot. As the driver's whip adorned by the usual white ribbons to indicate a wedding was augmented in its manifestations of marriage by a huge bundle of old boots, slippers and rubbers trailing by a rope from the hind axle of the back.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often the result of catarrh Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Meeks, of Mattewan, N. Y., says; "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath, which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

A complete outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a life time and there is enough Hyomei for several week's treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write to-day for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

WEIRD GUESS ON C. P. R. IN 1881

London "Truth" had a Remarkable Article on the road 24 Years Ago To-day.

A CELEBRATED PREDICTION

London, October 5. — The celebrated prediction attributed to Mr. Edward Blake that the C. P. R. would never be able to earn the axle grease for its engines, is scarcely in the same class with an article on C. P. R. that appeared in London, Eng., Truth, October 1, 1881.

Today is the 24th anniversary of the article, which warns British investors not to put a penny into the "fraud" perpetrated by a "fraud government."

It was inspired by the efforts to float $10,000,000 worth of land grant bonds in London, and, while too long to reproduce in full, a few choice extracts from Truth's essay on the "bubble" will be found very readable:

"The C. P. R. will run, is over finished, through a country frost-bound for eight months of the year, and one about as forbidding as anything on the face of the earth.

"British Columbia is barren, cold, mountainous—not worth keeping. Fifty railways would not galvanize it into prosperity.

"The Canadians are not such idiots as to part with one dollar of their own for the scheme. They come to England.

"Canadians know that the road will never yield a single red cent of the money sunk into it.

"People cannot stand the cold of Manitoba. Men and cattle are frozen to death in astonishing numbers.

"Manitoba's first experience will kill the people of malaria, or drive them mad with plagues of insects.

'It is through a death-dealing land of this kind that the railway is to run.

"Canada is one of the most overrated colonies we have. Ontario is the only sound Province, and the only one where you can lend money and ever hope to see it back.

"One of these days Ontario is certain to go over to the States; when that day comes the Dominion will disappear.

"The Province and City of Quebec are both notoriously bankrupt.

"Once the country is thoroughly committed to this railway, I see nothing but bankruptcy ahead of it.

"This Dominion, in short, is a fraud, and bound to burst up like any other fraud."

The amusing part of all this is that these same Truth people [illegible] the purchase of "our old favorite," C. P. R.

Scope of Dual Language.

Ottawa, October 4.—It is rumored that legislation will be submitted to Parliament, probably at the coming session, to provide that hereafter all officers of the Government, before appointment to rank in the inside service as Chief Clerk, shall be required to pass an examination this will satisfactorily establish they are possessed of, at least, a fair knowledge of the French language; and that, with respect to officials in the service already holding the rank of Chief Clerk, they shall be required to undergo such examination within twelve months of the passage of the legislation.

English-Speaking People.

London, October 4.—English is now spoken by about 125,000,000 people. A century ago it was spoken by 30,000,000 people only. During that period no other leading European language has the slightest advance. German has held its own, and is now spoken by 80,000,000, but this is no higher percentage of the total number of people of European descent that it had a hundred years ago.

Dismissed Immigration Inspector.

Washington, October 4.—The Department of Commerce and Labor has dismissed from the immigration service, James A. Anderson, an inspector at Buffalo, N. Y. Anderson was charged with participating with Edward Baltz and Charles W. Stevenson, inspectors, in smuggling Chinese across the Canadian border into the United States. Baltz and Stevenson were removed about two weeks ago.

Took Her Own Life.

Detroit, Mich., October 4.—Spending her last cent to buy poison, Blanche Haines, a twenty-one-year-old girl, whose home is at Ridgetown, Ont., committed suicide last night at the home of a friend in this city. Miss Haines came here two weeks ago from Ridgetown, seeking employment. Discouraged by her rebuffs and failure to get work, she ended her life.

FOWLER REMANDED

The Lad Tells Same Story as he Told The Times.

Referring to the trial of young Fowler, whose arrest and alleged crime were fully described in yesterday's Times, the Toronto Star, of last night, says;

"Is George Fowler, aged 15, a martyr, or merely a Munchausen?

"Fowler, who comes from Peterboro, appeared in the police court this morning on a charge of stealing a gold watch and chain from an American woman while the latter was a guest at the Arlington, and Fowler was a bellboy there.

theft until she returned home,' said Crown Attorney Curry. 'Then she discovered that her trunk had been opened, and that a watch and other things were gone. The detectives recovered the watch and chain at a Toronto pawnshop, and the pawnbroker says Fowler pawned it. Fowler told him that he had obtained the watch and chain from a woman who had worked at the Arlington, and that he had given another timepiece and money in exchange. Fowler tells a different story now, saying that he bought the watch from a lad, who had asked to get some [illegible] ment at the Arlington and had failed. Both stories can't be true. Fowler has been working in Peterboro, and his employer thinks well of him.

"Fowler was remanded till the 6th."

A SUCCESSFUL CLUB

The young Conservatives of this city have good reason to feel proud of their club, which in the short space of one year has enrolled 850 members, with fees fully paid up, by 680.

A very interesting meeting was held in the spacious, and well furnished cosy rooms, on Tuesday night, and the greatest enthusiasm was in evidence everywhere.

President Layfield on calling the meeting to order, gave a short review of the club's finances during past year. He said that the finances were in good shape at the present time. The total receipts from membership fees were $633, and from other sources $701, making a total of $1,344. Over $400 had been paid out on the furnishings. One pool table was paid for and another almost paid for. The furniture accounts had been settled. The prospects were that the club would be entirely free from debt at the end of the next year, which will be a remarkable record. The club was in good standing, and it was a good organization to belong to. The fees should encourage men to join.

A large number of applications has been received, some of which were turned down as no risk of traitors gaining admission under false pretenses could be allowed; the club is for Conservatives and Conservatives alone.

Patriotic speeches were given by Messrs. J. H. Burnham, Col. Miller and John Green.

The following committee was appointed to select a Social Committee; Messrs. Primeau, Renton, Williams, Roddy and W. Langford, jr. They will meet probably to-night and report to the managing committee on Saturday night.

RAPID TRANSIT

3 Pigeons Fly From Lakefield to Peterboro in Twenty Minutes.

At exactly 11.30, on the morning of Tuesday last, Mr. William Croft, in front of the Midland Hotel, Lakefield, released three carrier pigeons belonging to Mr. R. Snowden. These pigeons are now in training by Mr. Snowden, preparatory to use during the fall hunt, when daily messages will be sent from Gold Lake to Peterboro by these swift messengers. The pigeons released at 11.30 were seen to enter Mr. Snowden's loft, on Charlotte street at ten minutes of twelve o'clock (11.50). This is quick transportation, nine miles in 20 minutes. Mr. Croft says the three birds, rose at once from the box they were confined in during their journey to Lakefield, and, after flying straight up in the air about a hundred feet, made a straight B. line towards Peterboro.

THE NEW MAIN

12 Inch Fire Main Now Being Laid on Water Street.

Property owners and particularly those along the route of the new 12-inch fire main, will be pleased to know that work on this much needed additional protection against fires, was begun yesterday. The pipe will be laid from the old pump house along Water street to Hilliard and along Hilliard to George street. It will be run down George street to the corner of Smith.

It will take about a month to put down the main, and Chairman Matthews of the Water Commissioners, stated yesterday that when completed, the pressure down town ought to be increased by fifteen pounds with the same pressure registered at the pump house as at the present time.

Twenty People Were Drowned.

Helsingfors, October 4.—The Swedish steamers Njord and Robert collided Saturday near Hvoss Island, in the Sound. The Robert sank. Twenty persons were drowned.

Planned for to Have Himself Kidnapped

Sensational Story of Pat. Crowe, Who Declares that the Proposition to Work the Father Came from Packer's Son, Eddie.

New York, Oct. 5.—A Butte, Mont., [illegible] the World says that the man calling himself Pat. Crowe, who was arrested in Butte on Sunday night by two detectives after he had been about the city for a week, made a statement last night relative to the kidnapping of Eddie Cudahy, declaring that the proposition to "work the boy's father for a ransom," came from the boy himself.

Edward A. Cudahy, jr., was fifteen years of age at the time he was kidnapped on December 18, 1900, but, according to the account given by Crowe, the boy disappeared Nov. 18, 1900.

Crowe gives a story of his life, and says he was a prosperous butcher in South Omaha, when the elder Cudahy came there, built a packing house, and drove him out of business. Later he went to work for Cudahy, and thus became acquainted with the family. On Sept. 6th, 1900, he met young Cudahy on the street, and Crowe says the boy first broached the subject of working on his father's feelings for a big ransom. At first Crowe paid no attention to the proposition, but it was repeated later, he says, and with such detail that he concluded to go into the alleged plot with the boy. A third party was [illegible] believing the scheme was a trap.

The Cudahy boy, it is asserted by Crowe, proposed demanding $50,000 from his father, but Crowe and Calaghan, the second party to the scheme, thought $25,000 enough. The story of Crowe as to how Cudahy drove out into a lonesome spot and left the money agrees with the first published reports of the affair, but Crowe says young Cudahy was the leading spirit in the adventure, and was never a prisoner.

The three divided the $25,000, young Cudahy being given $6,000 as his share. He was then taken to his home, and left a few blocks from the Cudahy home, Crowe says.

An Omaha despatch to the World says that Mrs. Cudahy ridicules the statement made by Crowe that the son Eddie himself was a party to the kidnapping, and that he received $6,000 of the father's money. "Why it is outrageous," said Mrs. Cudahy, "to think of such a thing. What could he do with the money? Why does anyone want to pay any attention to the absurd stories of this man Crowe?"

Both the boy and his father had retired for the night when the news of Crowe's version of the origion of the plot reached Omaha, and Mrs. Cudahy refused to disturb them, declaring the suggestion was so manifestly absurd that it was entirely unworthy of credence.

HAVE ENORMOUS INCOMES

Doctors With Medical Contracts are Making Fortunes.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—Doctors who have medical contracts with railway contractors and lumbermen are this year making incomes that put the ordinary city practice into the shade according to a Montreal physician, who has just returned from Northern Ontario.

They make all the way from 50 cents to $1 per month per man, and he met one doctor in Ontario whose minimum month for the year just had been $3,000 and his best $4,000. He had the contract for the gangs engaged on a certain section of Canadian Pacific Railway construction, being done by Foley Bros. and Larson, and the bulk of the work was done by two assistants who received $75 per month each. With practically no effort this doctor is making $40,000 a year.

A McGill man, who graduated this year in medicine, is now making $600 a month as medical guardian of a [illegible] who pay $1 per month each for attendance. Occasionally complaints reach headquarters from the men on railway construction work that the medical attendance and equipment are not up to the demands, but in the majority of cases good service is given for the large incomes received.

TO ENTERTAIN GEN. LAURIE

Boston Veterans Will Do Honor to Retired British Officer.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 5.—Lieut.-General Laurie, M.P., will be given a reception by the British Naval and Military Veteran's Association, of Massachusetts, when he comes here to visit some of his Boston friends the last of the month. There was a large attendance of members of the association at the monthly meeting in the new headquarters, and various matters were brought up for discussion, among them being the reception for Lieu.-General Laurie, who will be communicated with regarding the proposed event. It is expected that he will accept the hospitality of the British Veterans' Association.

No plans as to the entertainment will be made until General Laurie sends in his acceptance to the invitation. The organization will probably have a banquet with Lieut. General Laurie as the guest of honor.

Mitchell to Call on President.

Scranton, Pa., October 4.—By invitation, President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, will, on Tuesday next, call on President Roosevelt. He does not know particularly what the President wants to see him about, but it is surmised here that it is to look over the possibility of avoiding a strike in the anthracite region next spring.

Colony of Kentish Men.

London, October 5. — Frederick L. Goldsmid, honorary secretary of the Tunbridge Wells Colonizing Association, proposes to start a Kent Thanetonic Colonization Company, with a capital of £25,000, shareholders to nominate subjects for emigration to Canada, there to form a colony of Kentish men.

Want a Slice of Newfoundland.

London, October 5.—The Daily News announces that the Pearson syndicate is now in treaty for a slice of Newfoundland, not far short in dimensions to that of the Harmsworths, a three months' option having been granted Sir Robert Bond says that he knows nothing of such negotiations in which his name was mentioned.

First Steamer Sails for London.

Quebec, October 4.—The steamer Sif, the first vessel in connection with the Quebec Transportation Company's new direct line between Quebec and England, fully loaded with a general cargo, sailed on Saturday afternoon afternoon, for London. The Sif carried nearly 5,000 tons of cargo.

JURY JUSTIFY MRS. KYLE

Woman Charged With Shooting Magee Discharged.

Woodstock, Oct. 5. — Mrs. Robert Kyle, charged with the murder of Robert Magee on July 18, last, was last night charged from custody. The jury, after two hours' deliberation, returned, asked for information up to a certain point. Mr. Justice MacMahon explained the difference between manslaughter and justifiable homicide, marging direct for an acquittal, and without retiring the jury reached their verdict. "We believe the woman was perfectly justifiable," stated the foreman. "I thoroughly concur in the verdict," replied his Lordship. And to the prisoner, "You are discharged."

The crowd in the court room applauded the verdict.

During the afternoon it was shown in evidence that Magee was feared by [illegible] ordered from the premises both by them and by Kyle himself, who was informed of his actions. The doors were locked against him, but he persistently returned. From his foul language and threats he was held in fear, and on Monday, July 17, Kyle secured a revolver for his wife at her request.

The shooting occurred next day.

Mrs. Kyle swore that Magee entered the kitchen and struck her several times on the face and chest. Succeeding in shoving him out of one door, she locked the other ere he could re-enter. Therefore he started in at the window, while she ran to the sitting room and secured the revolver. To frighten him away she fired above his head, the ball lodging in the intervening door sill. But he kept coming, and she ran to the lawn. Making her way to the side of the house, she perceived him down the street, where he had meantime fled. He turned, and with curses upon his life ran towards her. Placing this hand at his hip pocket he threatened to make this last of her. Then, with the idea of frightening him, and to make him stop in his onward rush, she fired two shots. One took effect while the man was 90 feet away, on the sidewalk, splitting as it struck the bone over the left temple, part lodging in the brain, the rest in the muscles covering the skull.

The plea of the accused was self-defence and fear engendered by the man's threats and previous actions.

Yukon the World's Best Gold Camp.

Winnipeg, Oct. 5. Hon. Frank Oliver, who has arrived from the West, said to a press representative;

"The idea that seems to prevail to some extent that the Yukon is a busted mining camp is a mistake a great big mistake. It is in a sense the greatest gold producing mining camp in the world. The importance of the Yukon to Canada is not so much in the amount of gold produced. The importance is in the proportion of that gold that finds its way to the channels of Canadian trade, and the point that I would wish to impress is the urgent advisability of Canadians looking after it. I cannot put the matter too strongly. It rests with Canadians whether they will benefit by an opportunity in trade which has certainly not gone by."

Wright's Death Due to Accident.

Ingersoll, Oct. 5.—Inspector John Murray is here investigating the facts in connection with the death of the negro, Wright, whose body was found in the river on Sept. 26. Foul play was suspected. Geo. Bartsell, Geo. Jennings, Thos. Wilson, George Bowes, Ewart Bell and Geo. Campbell were placed under arrest by the chief of police.

Inspector Murray, however, is inclined to think that Wright's death was purely accidental. The negro, while intoxicated, probably fell off the bridge and was drowned.

An inquest will be held on Friday.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, OCTOBER 5 1905

PROPOSED GIGANTIC LOCKOUT

Evidence is accumulating from many sources that another great struggle is impending between Eastern mine operators and their employees.

For some time John Mitchell, president of the union, has been predicting trouble next spring, when the present contract and wage scale expires. When a labor contract expires it is usual for the union men to demand greater concessions in any further arrangement that is entered upon. Be it said to the credit of John Mitchell that he believes in the sacredness of contract, and when the United Mine Workers entered into agreement at the end of the last great anthracite strike it was John Mitchell who insisted that the contract be kept to the letter.

Word comes from Pittsburg that after April 1, next, when the wage contract terminates, every anthracite and bituminous coal mine in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, and a part of Kentucky will be shut down for an indefinite period. This action, it is said, has been practically decided on, although a meeting of the operators in that district will be held in Chicago, November 21, to make final arrangements.

There is no secret that the purpose of this gigantic shutout is to head off the anticipated demands of the miners and to break the strength of the miners' union. It is proposed to forestall the new demand for a wage scale by informing the 400,000 miners that they can get along without wages for a few months, or until they get tired of remaining idle. But beside these 400,000 miners about 100,000 other workers will be affected, making a total of about half a million workmen who will not be drawing wages. In the meantime, from now until April 1, the operators propose to store vast quantities of coal, which will be sold to the public at a substantial advance. In this way the operators plan to protect themselves from losses incident to the closing of the mines.

This is by far the most drastic measure ever suggested in the struggle between corporate organization and organized labor. If it is carried out it will entail more suffering and possibly more bloodshed than any previous strike or lockout. The operators have taken possession of a powerful weapon, their ability to forego dividends for a few months, if necessary, in order to starve the miners into submission. Between labor unionism and capital the unfortunate and unoffending public is sure to be the victim.

IS RUSSIA REALLY LEARNING?

Russia isn't as blind as it has been, and there is apparently some freedom of expression there now. Thus the Novoe Vreyma, a conservative paper, and semi-official in character, has this to say about what the war has taught Russia: The war has taught Russia three things: Its inability to utilize the times of peace for industrial development, its inability to govern itself, and its inability to protect itself. The greatest of all Christian monarchies has suffered defeat at the hands of a three times smaller heathen power. But this is not all. In the process of the war this heathen power has revealed itself as the bearer of Christian civilization, while Russia is a bearer of an Oriental barbarism. Japan fought like civilized Europe; Russia like an Asiatic country. Japan is the first of the Asiatic countries to have truly acquired the freedom of Europe. Russia is the last of all countries to have maintained the Asiatic regime. Many enlightened persons in Russia look upon the late war as the last struggle of barbarism against the triumphant civilization of the west. It is clear as day that the retarded social order of Russia excludes her from the family of civilized nations.

This is plain talk, and if such talk can come to utterance in Russia there is hope.

COAL CO. NOT RESPONSIBLE

R. & O. Will Lose $50,000 by Decision of Supreme Court

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The Supreme Court yesterday morning reversed the judgment of the Superior Court of Quebec in the suit between the Dominion Coal Company and the R. & O. Navigation Company relative to the collision between the Cape Breton and the Canada. This is the case in connection with which Captain Salmon quarrelled with the Dominion Government. The Superior Court ordered each vessel to pay for the damages sustained by the other, those of the Canada being about $50,000 and those of the Dominion Coal Company's vessel very slight. The Supreme Court relieves the Dominion Coal Company from all responsibility for the damages to the Canada.

A BATTLE ROYAL

Passengers on SS. North King and Belleville Crowd in a Mix Up

Belleville, Ont. 4.—Two hundred people bought tickets for Rochester on the North King, but on the arrival of the boat the officers refused to take on any more passengers, as the boat was already carrying her full complement.

The boat was detained about two hours, owing to a break in the machinery, and during that time a battle royal was waged between those on the dock and on the boat. Stones, sticks and chairs were the weapons used, and nearly all the windows on the port side of the vessel were smashed. A young man named John Haslip was knocked unconscious, being struck in the face with a chair thrown from the boat. His mouth was badly cut.

BYE-ELECTION IN WENTWORTH

Supreme Court Declares the Federal Seat to be Vacant

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The Supreme Court this morning dismissed the North Wentworth election appeal, Justices Sedgwick and Idington dissenting. This leaves the seat vacant.

Mr. W. O. Stanley, Liberal, was elected at the general election by one majority, but a recount was held and the seat was awarded to Mr. E. D. Smith, Conservative. He never, however, took the seat, and the constituency was not represented at the last session. A new election must now be held.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, [illegible] I was a nervous wreck. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and in [illegible] my life. effected. Waite listened with downcast eyes and immovable attention, but did not break silence until she ceased to speak.

"It is a curious case, very," he then said. "There seems no clew whatever. But you," raising his eyes and letting them rest on hers in a peculiar, impressive way, "you have a suspicion?"

"How do you know?"

"I think you have. I hear it in your voice. Now, will you please tell me, have you any notion if the value of your rubies was known outside your immediate friends?"

"I should think not. I really do not know; except that when in Paris last spring, having occasion to send my necklace to a jeweler's, a large offer was made for it by a man who was collecting rubies for some millionaire."

"Do you remember the name of the jeweler?"

"Yes; Sergier et Moppert, Rue de la Paix."

Waite wrote it dowe.

"Have you ever mentioned this before? Your maid, for instance—or any one else?"

"I can not now remember."

"Have you any idea what time elapsed between Mr. Marsden's departure and the appearance of the robber?"

"Not very distinctly. I certainly sat quiet for some minutes, for I was tired; then I thought I would see if my hair was disturbed by the dancing, and I got up to look in the glass—perhaps it was ten minutes. In fact, I can not tell."

"Mr. Marsden was the first to find you insensible? Who came in with him?"

"Some ladies, relatives of his, and a Mr. Winton, a man in the Civil Service, whom I knew slightly in India."

"Did he know anything of your rubies—of the offer for them?"

"I am almost sure he did not. Besides," smiling, "it would be absurd to suspect such a man—a thorough gentleman."

"Very elegant gentlemen do queer things sometimes under the pressure of necessity. You say Captain Shirley was at the ball; was he among those who came to your assistance?"

"No; I did not see him till the next day."

"He was dancing, I suppose?"

"I really do not know. I have an idea he was smoking a cigarette outside."

Waite sat silent for a moment or two.

"Do you know if your maid had a lover?"

"I do not, indeed!"

"It seems to me that some one within the house must have given information to the robber. How did he know of this tent? Knowing of it, he must have lurked in the conservatory till he saw you were alone, locked the conservatory door to secure a few minutes uninterrupted, and then overpowered you with rare promptness. It is the boldest thing I ever heard of. I suppose even a slight cry might have been heard?"

"I am not sure. The tent was thickly draped, and there was no opening into the house, except the door, which was locked. Had any one been in the conservatory—but then, a waltz was going on, and every one was dancing."

"How many doors were there in this conservatory?"

"Two into the house, and two into the grounds, one of which formed the entrance to the tent"

"It might have been some swindler in league with your maid; generally the integrity of young women is about in proportion to that of their lovers. At present I can see no light in this mysterious business, unless, indeed, you can give me a leading idea. I should like to see this conservatory. How far is Eversleigh?"

"About four hours—but I would rather no one at Eversleigh knew you were employed in the matter."

"No one need know, there are plenty of ways to see the place without giving a reason. It will not take me more than a day, and I can make a few inquiries at Oldbridge at the same time. This gentleman," touching the card, "has been called away, you tell me—do you know where he is gone?"

"To Ostend."

"Ostend? Ah! Now, madame, will you so far confide in me as to say what your chief object is, to recover your lost property, to punish the thief, or to get to the bottom of the mystery?"

"I suppose one includes all three. I think I most desire the power to punish."

"I will do my best. In fact, I shall put my whole experience and powers of observation into my work, for it is no common task you have set me."

"I know it," said Mrs. Ruthven, and paused abruptly, as if she arrested the words which were on her lips. "Must you go to Eversleigh?"

"Yes! I shall know my ground better if I do."

Then she asked his terms. He named a fair remuneration for his his time, besides traveling expenses, and all outgoings.

"But should I succeed?" he added and paused expressively.

"I shall reward you as you deserve," said Mrs. Ruthven, with emphasis.

"It may be a long and fruitless undertaking, unless indeed you can give me some help," returned Waite, looking down and softly tapping the table with his large, square-topped fingers.

"If I can I will, most assuredly," she said, in clear resolute tones, "but I can not stay longer now; make your inspection of Eversleigh, then come to me, I am visible to-morrow after one o'clock. Always send up a note—not your name—and you shall be admitted."

"I thank you, madame. I should like also to see this gentleman," touching the card.

"You shall, Mr. Waite, that I promise," returned Mrs. Ruthven, readily. "Now send for a cab, I must not stay longer."

Mr. Waite despatched a neat little servant-girl for a conveyance, and Mrs. Ruthven returned to her hotel, breaking her journey as before.

CHAPTER VII.

Lady Dorrington was exceedingly anxious that both Mrs. Ruthven and her brother should visit her at the shooting lodge which Lord Dorrington rented in Scotland. She feared the effect of her heavy loss on the wealthy widow's mind, and she was anxious that her brother should not lose his chance. She could not understand why Clifford did not strike home and win the prize. The keen worldly woman had a very soft spot in her heart for the brother who so often angered her. To see him and the family estate free from debt would fulfill her heart's desire, and she thought Mrs. Ruthven a charming little woman, well fitted to be lady of the manor. Lady Dorrington's geese were apt to become swan-like in proportion to their utility. "As to her having a dash of the tar-brush—it is all nonsense," she would say to those detractors who urged this objection, "both her father and mother were Europeans; some far-away grandfather was an Indian prince—that is no disadvantage in my opinion."

But no amount of pressing could induce Mrs. Ruthven to quit the murky metropolis. She had heard of a charming villa on the river at Twickenham, and she was anxious to purchase it. This, and her dread of the Northern climate, compelled her to refuse her dear Lady Dorrington

AN AMERICAN DISEASE

Indigestion is Responsible for More Sickness in America Than Any Other Disease.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. Repeated attacks inflame the lining of the stomach and cause the glands to secrete mucous instead of the juice of natural digestion. Consequently the blood is poisoned, nerve force is reduced, the vitality of the entire system is weakened.

There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are being used by thousands with marvellous success.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood, and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases.

Enjoy the vitalizing effects of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Your system will soon rally; once more you'll enjoy the blessings of health. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself. 25c. per box of five boxes for $1; at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

The Times is pleased to state that at a late hour last night, the St. Joseph Hospital authorities reported that Mr. Roy Cavanagh's condition was no worse. He rested somewhat more quietly yesterday, but was insensible the greater part of the time. Dr. Coughlin, who is attending him, has great hopes for Mr. Cavanagh's recovery. LOADED WITH WHISKEY

Free Fight Among Half a Hundred Intoxicated Shanty-men.

About 50 shanty-men arrived yesterday morning on the G.T.R. Belleville train. These hardy toilers of the forest primeval, had been sampling freely, very freely, of that wit-destroying decoction known as 40 rod whiskey. Not well matured, mellow whiskey that defies one headache to the barrel, but the tangle leg variety in its earliest youth. Their several lords caused words, as all too feeble, to give place to good lusty blows in settling an argument, and soon a free-for-all fight was on. The chief undertook to bring order out of chaos, and had his hands full, being one sober man among two score of men full to the brim of "fighting house." Blows were freely dispensed, but fortunately, in most cases, with bad aim. Before any serious consequences arose, their train pulled in and away the men went to the Playfair Lumber shanties near Midland.

FINE GREEN HOUSE

Mr. Frank Mason's Handsome New Emporium Completed.

Mr. Frank Mason's new green house, corner of Water and Brock streets, is completed. This is the most up-to-date structure of its kind, and will present an agreeable sight to Victoria Park visitors. The lower part of the structure, to a height of some five feet is made of cobble stones, imbedded in Portland cement. The large panes of glass forming the roof and upper portion of the front side, are joined end to end, instead of being overlaid like shingles, as is customary with such structures. In the front side is a door in the middle, with windows in the intervening spaces of the cobble-stone design. Mr. Mason will shortly have the flowers and plants on exhibition and for sale, as to-day he begins placing the benches on which they stand.

An attractive feature of the new building is a dark green sign, on which, in raised gilt letters, nearly a foot long, are the words, "Mason's Floral Emporium," whilst the [illegible] tail," the contrasting dark green and bright gilt lettering makes a very pretty contrast.

Messrs J. J. Turner & Sons, were yesterday engaged in completion of the sign, which is some seventy feet long.

THE CITY SUED

Mr. T. Blodgett Sees for $10 Which He Was Fined Over Watering Contract.

There has been considerable talk by residents of the north side this season, over alleged inadequacy of the street watering. Some residents complain that portions of the streets [illegible] er, whilst other portions of the streets were drenched. It is a difficult matter for public officials or employes, and, in fairness, it must be said that the watering of Peterboro, considering the shortage in carts and appliances, is fairly well done.

As noted in The Times of a former issue, Mr. Timri Blodgett, who has the contract for watering streets in the north sides had $10 deducted from his money by the city, for alleged failure to satisfactorily perform his duties in watering the public thoroughfare.

Now Mr. Blodgett is going to try and get back at the city for this $10, as he has entered suit in the local division court to recover the amount in which he was mulcted.

BLOOD CELLS.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal number of red blood cells in adult men is five million; in women four and a half million, to the square millimeter.

The normal cell is not absolutely round in health, but, in disease, becomes extremely irregular in shape. Every one can be in perfect health and possess the millions of rich red blood corpuscles if they only know how to go about it. Dr. R. V. Pierce, consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., advises every man and woman to prepare for a long life by observing nature's laws.

In the first place, if your digestion is faulty, and the food you eat is not taken up by the blood and assimilated properly, you need a tonic and digestive corrector, something that will increase the red blood corpuscles; he believes in going about this in nature's own way. Years ago, in his active practice, he found that an alterative extract of certain herbs and roots put up without the use of alcohol, would put the liver, lungs and heart into fuller and more complete action. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten, it nourishes the blood, and, instead of the ill-shaped corpuscles, the perfect blood takes on a rich red color, and the corpuscles are more nearly round. Nervousness is only the cry of the starved nerves for food, and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and feels refreshed in the morning.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.

If you want to know about your body, read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which can be had for the cost of mailing, 50 cents in one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound book, or 21 stamps for the paper-covered volume. 1008 pages. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A. A. HOLLINGSHEAD, Manager

NEW CHOIR LEADER

Mr. C. C. Forsythe Appointed Leader of St. Andrew's Choir.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mrs. P. A. Kerr, by special request, has, since the resignation of Mr. H. M. Lloyd as organist and choirmaster of St. Andrew's church, filled, most acceptably, that position.

The Music Committee, has now appointed Mr. Cecil C. Forsyth, as choirmaster.

The newly appointed choirmaster has attained a high degree of excellence in his progression as teacher in piano, organ, voice culture, harmony, etc., and will be a decided acquisition to the musical talent of this city. He is a brother of Mr. W. O. Forsyth, Director of the Metropolitan School of Music.

Who Lost a Watch?

The local police still have on hand the case, watch, chain and bottle of whiskey found some three weeks ago on George street, near Alf McDonald's mill. It will be remembered by our readers that some mystery involved this case, when a street car conductor discovered the articles lying near the river's brink. The watch, a heavy silver case, whilst old-fashioned, has once been a good ticker and worth reclaiming. The whiskey, which has the appearance of being of good quality, has certainly improved by the additional age. Any person accurately describing the articles, and proving ownership, can get the same from Chief Reseal.

New Armory Site Under Discussion

Joint Committees From City Council, 57th Regiment and Board of Education End Harmonious Meeting Without Taking Action.

A meeting of the Special Committees of the City Council, composed of Messrs. Tovey, Hall, Scott, Batten, Adams, Mlnch, Leary and Crowe, appointed to confer, with a similar committee of the Board of Education and officers of the 57th Regiment, with Ald. Leary in the chair, met last night in the city clerk's office.

The meeting was called to discuss the lots for the proposed Collegiate Institute and the new armory. Col. Miller, Majors Hayes and Stevenson, Captains Clegg and Bennett of the 57th, and Messrs. Rogers, Stevenson, Hill, Eastwood and Chairman Ferguson of the School Board, composed the other consulting committees.

Ald. Leary explained the meaning of this meeting, viz., to decide what was to be done about the lots, and called upon the genial member to Ottawa, for an address.

Mr. Hall said the Dominion Govt. had a deed of four lots, with right for the city to use two other lots in order to use this to best advantage, it would be necessary to have a new armories erected on lots three and four, i.e., the central lots facing on Murray street, so as to allow the back lots to be used for drill purposes. The rear of the armories would extend to part of lot five. It has been said the Board of Education should arrive at a conclusion, not what would be best for the city for the next few years, but for the city of Peterboro, which shows indications of great development in a short time. It occurred to him, that it was a matter to decide which would be the best place for the city to build. He noted how, everywhere, farmers and others, were tearing down old-fashioned barns and buildings to replace by better ones. We should take the lesson and keep up with new conditions that will soon arrive. The militia, doing such good work are not paid for their services, and citizens should encourage them, by providing adequate quarters. There are at present three branches of the militia here, but we must provide for hospital and engineer corps. Military men everywhere advise that no stint should be placed on size of armories. He advised erecting armory on rear or west end of the ground. He [illegible] this style of an arrangement he proposed, concerning the Board of Education arranging the matter of drill grounds. He said the Government wanted to please the School Board but was engaged in his idea of large drill grounds.

Mr. Hall then referred to the public wanting a location where they could see the military drill and evolutions. By placing the large building well to the west, the stately buildings at the rear would present a more imposing look.

If an armory, costing $125,000 to $150,000 is to be built, adequate grounds must be furnished. It would encourage more young men to join the soldiery, and thus develope the military spirit.

The chairman said from what Mr. Hall remarked he thought the building should be at the back end of lots.

Col. Miller did not come here to kick. What the regiment wants and must have is space. This is what the Government is buying the grounds for. The School Board agreed to take the north lots, and deeds were made out giving the militia the south lots, and one or two lots were to be reserved for drill grounds. They offered the School Board their choice. The regiment is not kicking now. The plans show a steel opening on Murray. Last winter the Government engineer took his measurements, using Murray street as a basis. The only change the regiment asks, is to put the buildings as far back towards the west end as possible. The Government engineer approved the idea of giving great space for drill and horses. It has been said the drill ground would be torn up and made rough. This was not the case with the champs de Mars in Montreal. What the regiment asks is to have its drill grounds in front. The 57th has been handicapped by the crowds rushing in when a drill is held here. This is much better than having two little pieces of ground for drill purposes. The regiment might ask the School Board to move back a little also. Only give us a good drill space in front. Let the School Board have the lots at the north, if they want them, and they are the most valuable.

Mr. Ferguson said, the only chance of difference of opinion is the placing of the building. It was intended to have the school building back as far as possible.

The changing of lots did not come from the School Board, but through the local papers. The Board is still of the same opinion of taking the north lots, and as to moving back a little, he approves of it.

Capt. Bennett endorsed what the last three speakers said, he quite agreed with Mr. Hall, that, we are not providing for the present militia of Peterboro, but of the future possibilities. He did not agree with putting the buildings back to the lane, as a place will be wanted to form up a squadron of cavalry. He wanted to hear the green intact, as people want to see the soldiers drill.

Major Hayes, agreed with both Mr. Ferguson and Col. Miller. Was glad to see such unanimity of sentiment.

Mr. Eastwood, as a member of the School Board, endorsed the ideas already expressed as his own.

The institute would face the park and be 163 feet from the west of the armory. He suggested that the institute be carried a little to the west of the armory, say 30 or 40feet, this would give more room in front. Anticipates no difficulty for either building.

Mr. Rogers was glad to see the unanimity of opinion. The trouble, if any, rests with using the Separate school building; is the Government given the Separate school building to the Board, there would be no troubles. Does not think the Government have any idea of giving it back.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson's opinion was, that if it was his own, he would not pull down the present Separate school building, and thus save $8,000 or $9,000 to the ratepayers. The colonel had told him he was willing to take the north lots. A drill shed is generally caused up and would not be as much armament as claimed.

On the north side fully a thousand people were buried, and their relatives might object to have their bones dug up for cellar of the institute. We must give up the Separate school building and we must have another building. The Government would probably not be arbitrary but try to please all parties. Thought if the Government would consent to change, it would be well to do so. The proposed building would not be filled for several years. Does not think the ratepayers will give the money asked for a collegiate institute.

Major Hayes discussed [illegible] from opinions expressed at recent meeting of officers of the 57th, it was wanted by this regiment to have them south side, even if two lots were given to the School Board. Approved of a large drill ground.

Capt. Clegg said, if the school is put on the second lot to the rear, it would leave a good drill ground in front.

Ald. McIntyre said he agreed with the officers and School Board members on keeping the buildings to the rear. Agreed with Mr. Stevenson in the Separate school building matter; to tear it down would be to lose $8,000 to $10,000.

Mayor Beat thought there was nothing to discuss. If the S.S. building was to be torn down, leave the Government the south, and the School Board the north side lots. He doubted whether, in presence of numerous kicks are present taxation, the ratepayers would vote any more money. Agreed with Mr. Stevenson as to difficulty of getting another suitable lot when the Menzies school is given up. Agreed with having a large drill ground in front. Military men have the best idea as to locating of such buildings.

Ald. Adams said the responsibility of the location was with the military men, and the educationalists. Thought they should face on the same line, between lots two and three. Ald. the drill ground should either be at the back or front. It depends altogether upon what the School Board does; if they tear down the S.S. building they will be censured by the public. If the two parties could agree, put the drill hall where wanted, and then consider the institute.

Mr. Eastwood seemed to think that the argument used by most of the speakers, pre-supposed no possibility of the institute being built, this he thought is a mistake. Ald. Adams suggested that the Government pay $10,000 for the school lots and take the whole ground.

Mr. Hill, said he spoke not as a member of either the Board, or as a member of the 57th, but as a citizen at large. It was union between the 57th Regt. and the Board that caused the town to buy the lots. Had always favored the north side for the school building, giving for his reason, that Hutchison street, as the best street. When the purchase was made, all concerned agreed that the frontage of both buildings should be on the same line. Has heard, the two buildings were both at the west, there would be a larger drill ground, but does not think so. It would only leave 181 feet of a play ground.

The Board cannot build to the west, as the understanding at time of purchase, was to build to the east. The walls of the S.S. building are 14 inches thick, and, by spending $1,000, it would do for a manual training school, as the latter is too noisy for a school building. Instead of tearing down the S.S. building, would favor changing location of armory and institute. He defied any man to point out where an institute in Canada has fronting on it, the back grounds of an armory. Condemns putting the institute to the west. Present S.S. building would hold 300 pupils. Thinks the people would object to having it torn down, and renting another; this is equal to a capital charge of $60,000.

After a thorough comparison of the locations suggested by both the officers and the Board, from plans present, the meeting adjourned at a late hour without making any decision. It is likely another meeting between the officers and the Board of Education will be held to decide the matter.

SURVEYORS RETURN

Local Men Get Back From Survey in New Ontario.

Messrs. Wm. Stevens, Jas. Judd and Wm. McAuliffe are now once more home, having arrived in the city on Wednesday night.

These gentlemen have been for three months with a surveying party in New Ontario under the command of Mr. T. B. Speight, of Toronto. They left on June 22d, and went from here to Hrisco, from which place they made the first Hudson Bay post, a distance of nearly 170 miles, in five days. The party, which was composed of twenty-three men, were surveying meridian and base lines in the northern part of New Ontario, and were just 30 miles from the southern point of James Bay. They travelled over 700 miles on foot, and started their work at the northern limit of the district surveyed by the Fitzgerald party.

The party were eighteen days making the trip from the wilds to civilization. They probably were the farthest north of any surveying party in Ontario.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, (L.I. Hunt)

Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

The police court yesterday morning was attended by a large audience, including ladies, and among the assembly seats to takers, a world's championship wrestler, doctors, lawyers, boys of all ages, and ladies, from brief skirted girls, to an age that requires tact to ascertain.

The first case called was one against three boys, Stanley Green, who is now in the North-west, Stanley Wade and Thos. Fallon, who, five months ago, had a serious charge made against them, and which was proved. They had been allowed to go on suspended sentence. His Worship said, as they had been under surveillance, and had behaved themselves, he would allow them to go. The Magistrate gave the boys a few kindly words of advice as to their future behavior.

In the case of Mr. Pappas who charged Ed. Tighe with having committed an assault, Paul, an employe of Mr. Pappas in the billiard room, 1st witness, said on Monday he was in the billiard room of Mr. Pappas, George street. "Mr. General Tighe came into the billiard room with another man. They played a game of pool and did not pay for it. Tighe called him a ——— ——— ———. Told Tighe he would get a policeman, but the general said he did not care for this. Tighe took his coat off to scrap. Tighe then went into the shoe shine parlor. When Tighe tried to hit him, he hit Tighe. Witness took hold of Tighe and put him out. Followed Tighe into the shoe shine parlor, when Tighe had one of the boys by the neck.

Mr. La Plante had Mr. Pappas' case and examined the witness for the prosecution.

Mr. Kerr, then cross-examined Paul for his client, Tighe, when witness said the game was over before he asked for his money from Tighe. Got pretty mad when Tighe called him a ———. "You get mad wouldn't you if called a ———" witness asked Mr. Kerr. "Oh we are too good natured," Mr. Kerr replied. Tighe tried to hit him but he, witness landed first on the general. Does not know anything about Tighe being hit with a gun. Does not think he is accountable for all Tighe's injuries.

Geo. Pappas, a small boy, was the next witness. Saw Tighe come into the cigar store to play pool. Tighe played a game and did not pay for it. Under cross-examination by Mr. Kerr, the boy said he was the one that tried to hit Tighe with a rifle. Can't explain how Tighe was hit such a heavy blow.

The next witness, a man named W. J. McGregor, said he was playing pool with Tighe. Tighe said he would not pay for the game. Then Paul, an employe of the billiard room, came up to Tighe, clinched and gave him several short arm jolts.

His Worship said Tighe's behavior was not good, but the proprietor of the billiard room got the worth of his money out of the general. Case dismissed.

BOWMAN'S CASE.

Mr. Wood said in Bowman's case he had no further argument, nor had Mr. Kerr for the defendant, but Mr. Kerr called attention to the difference between Dominion and Provincial Acts, and that whilst Bowman might have been convicted for selling goods by a game of chance, under the Dominion Act, his case came under the Provincial Act. Mr. Kerr argued that each of Bowman's envelopes were for an article of merchandise. His Worship said he had decided to make a conviction, and that the appeal of the recent case against the two medical men fixed last week, could be taken to determine Bowman's case. Mr. Kerr asked him to reserve judgment as his client could not afford the expense of an appeal should he be fined. Mr. Wood wanted to know if Mr. Kerr was looking for sympathy for his client.

Then Mr. Kerr played his trump card, by calling his Worship's attention to the fact, that Bowman, who had been discharged on his first trial under one act, was tried for practically the same offence, and on the same evidence, under another act. His Worship took note of the objection and enlarged the case for one week.

The next case called was that of a little girl named Lily Armitage, charged by a Mrs. Miller with having called her most foul names.

The little girl admitted calling her a crazy fool, and similar pet names, but denied using the foul names as alleged by Mr. Miller. His Worship gave the new-born and weeping youngster a lecture on using such names as she had admitted using, and, after telling her she would be watched henceforth, unless she wanted to go to jail to behave herself.

THE GREATEST YEAR IN RAILWAY'S HISTORY

The Twenty-Fourth Annual Meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway

REVENUE OVER $50,000,000

Company Will Spend $7,500,000 On New Rolling Stock---A Remarkable Period of Progress

Montreal, October 6. — The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway was held in the head offices of that corporation. Sir William Van Horne, chairman of the Board of Directors, presided. All the directors, with the exception of Mr. R. G. Reed and Mr. Clarence MacKay, were present. The stockholders had the pleasure of hearing a few words from Mr. Thomas Skinner, of London, who is a director, and who for the past twenty-three years has been intimately associated with the company. The only new point brought out in the address of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was the fact that the company will begin the expenditure of a large amount of money for new rolling stock, the stockholders being asked to authorize the expenditure of not more than $7,500,000 for cars and locomotives.

Mr. Skinner, who stated that he had not been over the entire line for five years previous to the trip which he just terminated, said that he had been greatly impressed with the pace at which the improvements, extensions, etc., to the system had been made, but at the same time he very much doubted if they would be able to keep up to the demands upon them so fast was the Canadian North-West growing. He said that he, as an Englishman, felt that the success of the North-West was assured. Of course, they might have years of bad crops, every country did, but taken as a whole, he saw nothing but prosperity ahead for the C. P. R. and for Canadians.

INCREASED EARNINGS.

After the meeting was formally called to order by Sir William Van Horne, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who sat on Sir William's right, made the following address:

"The twenty-fourth annual report now submitted for your consideration and approval gives evidence of the strong and satisfactory position of the company. Your gross revenue from traffic during the fiscal year was over fifty million dollars, and even this large sum should be exceeded by a considerable amount in the current year.

"The business conditions throughout Canada are at the moment more favorable than at any other time in the history of the company, and there would appear to be no reason for apprehending a change for the worse in future.

"Results in all the agricultural territory served by your lines the crops have been excellent, those of Manitoba and the two new Provinces were most striking, ensuring a handsome return to the farmers, continued activity in every branch of trade and manufacture, and a large traffic to your lines.

ROAD'S PHYSICAL CONDITION.

"As the result of the expenditure made during the past three or four years for the elimination of curvature, reduction of gradients and general improvements, I think that it may now be fairly claimed that in physical condition and capacity for the movement of traffic your railway between Montreal and the Pacific Coast is at least in the front rank of transcontinental lines.

"With an eye to the future it will be necessary to provide additional cars and locomotives, and for this purpose a resolution will be submitted authorizing the directors to make further capital expenditure to an amount not exceeding $7,500,000.

"The success attending the company's operations is in no small degree due to the excellent staff of officers and men in all offices from the Vice-President down, whose intelligence in the performance of their respective duties and whose loyalty and devotion to the company could not be excelled."

All resolutions pertaining to extensions, leases and additions to rolling stock, and the building of the two new steamships, were presented to the stockholders and passed without discussion.

A resolution of respect on the death of Charles R. Harris, a director of the company, who passed away some months ago, was presented by Mr. R. B. Angus, who spoke feelingly of the service which this director had been to the company. Sir Sandford Fleming, in seconding the resolution, referred to the fact that the deceased was one of the old original board, who saw the last rail laid twenty years ago.

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY,

President Of The Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Local Customs House Reports Increase of Over $3000 Last Month.

By courtesy of the local custom house officers, we are pleased to assure our readers that Peterboro's trade, as evidenced by the customs statistics, is greatly on the increase. A comparison between the figures for September, 1905, and those for the same month last year is interesting evidence of the progress the city is making.

The receipts for September, 1905, were $25,689.04 and for 1904, $22,549.83, an increase of $3,139.21 for the month.

Tragic Occurrences At Fire in New York

New York, Oct. 6—Three children were burned to death, their parents rescued and taken in a dying condition to St. Mary's Hospital; five other tenants went to hospitals suffering from burns, and two firemen were hurt in a fire in a four storey flat house in Reid avenue, Brooklyn, late last night. The dead are; Chas. Donnelly, aged 9; Robert Donnelly, 5; Katherine Donnelly, 12.

Other incidents of the fire were the birth of a child while the mother was being removed from the burning building, and an accident which wrecked Fire Chief Croker's automobile, and in which the Chief narrowly escaped serious accident. The fire is believed to be incendiary.

FELL ON FIREMAN.

The hallways of the buildings were filled with flames and smoke and every occupant of the building was asleep when the flames were discovered by Wm. Teaz and James Nugent, firemen, who were off duty. They found a ladder in the back yard, and, climbing up the fire escapes, awoke the tenants by breaking into their apartments. At the top floor the fire had spread most rapidly, and the two rescuers were compelled to carry Mrs. Joseph Hanlain, one of the tenants of that floor, down the entire escape. In doing so, the ladder at the bottom broke, and the women fell on top of Teaz, injuring him severely.

BURNED IN THEIR BEDS.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Donnelly, [illegible] were found in the rear of the upper floor, were found lying unconscious on the floor of their rooms. They were brought out, but the firemen did not know that their three children were asleep in their beds until their burned bodies were found later. Other occupants of the building were swung from the windows across to those of an adjoining building, or were dropped into the arms of men below, and when the fire department arrived, the building was afire from top to bottom. Mrs. Rose Morris was carried on a mattress across the street, where she gave birth to a boy. Fireman Christopher Levy was knocked from a ladder by a stream of water, and suffering concussion of the brain.

While hurrying to the fire, Chief Croker's automobile was upset, and the Chief was thrown out and badly shaken up.

Donnelly and his wife are in a hospital, suffering from having inhaled flame or smoke, and are not likely to recover.

LAKEFIELD FAIR

Largest Attendance on Record--Splendid Exhibits.

This year's Lakefield Fair, which was the fiftieth anniversary of the Smith and Ennismore Townships and Lakefield show surpassed all previous records, both in attendance and quality of exhibits.

The Lakefield fair, organized in 1855, but held first at Bridgenorth, and subsequently to its present location, has steadily increased for its first small nucleus, to the present great gathering of citizens and exhibits from far and near.

This year shows a marked improvement in all branches. Live stock is being bred to a higher state of perfection, garden and orchard produce is larger and more varied while the ladies' departments have advanced with the times. Some of the largest exhibitors for some reason did not put in their usual budget of entries. The falling off, however, was not noticeable to the average observer.

A great feature of this popular show and one that our local exhibitions authorities might well emulate is that there are fences all round both sides of the track. No one is allowed on the course and comparatively few cross over to the judging ring except the directors and officials. Thus all the horses and carriages are confined to the inside ring. This does away with practically all chances of such regrettable accidents as befell Mr. Cavanagh at the Keene fair, when a man, rashly and foolishly tried to cross the track in the faces of galloping horses nearing the home stretch.

Next year the association will be established at the new grounds across the river and will be in a position to branch out and add new features. A fine exhibition hall will be built. The new park is very much larger and there will be ample room for greater exhibits of live stock, and for the bumper crowds that always visit this fair.

Secretary Sherrin, reports that gate receipts were $316, an increase over last year. There were about 690 entries this year.

In live stock there was a particularly good exhibit, as is usual at this fair. The Durham strain was conspicuous both in number and quality of animals shown, both the townships of Smith and Ennismore raising Durhams of good quality.

The races were of fair quality, Hewett winning the green race in two straight heats. Happy King won out in the free for all, coming in second in the first heat, and then winning the next two.

INDIANS RETURN TO NORTHWEST

Chief Little Bear and His Tribe Now Assembling In Montana.

THEY HAVE BEEN FORGIVEN

Will Settle on Their Reserve on Onion Lake and There End Their Days.

Winnipeg, Man., October 6. — Appalled at the mortality among their children and horses, unable to secure food because of continued drought in Northern Montana, Chief Little Bear and his band of Cree Indians who fled from Canada at the close of the Riel rebellion, and who have practically defied the Canadian Government for twenty years, are returning to this country to end their days among the scenes of their childhood.

Little Bear is the son of Big Bear, the famous chief, who was one of the ringleaders in the rebellion, and he himself, with many of the band which is now returning to Canada, took part in the fight at Fort Pitt. When the rebellion was over and the insurgents crushed, Little Bear fled to Montana, with the more reckless members of the tribe, and there they have eked out a miserable existence since. It is said that there are three hundred members in the band, which is assembling at Havre, Montana, in preparation to undertake the long march across country to their native reserve at Onion Lake.

In August they wrote to Hon. David Laird, the Indian Commissioner here, asking permission to return to Canada. The Government has forgiven the acts of violence which they committed, and they were informed that they could return to their reserve provided they did so at their own expense and did not molest settlers on their march through the country. They will be extended the same treatment that is accorded other Indians who live on reserves once they reach their destination. They have been homeless wanderers for twenty years.

BACK FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH

Pierre Le Royer Returns from the Frozen North

ONE OF THE ZIEGLER PARTY

His Awful Experiences in the Arctic Circle.

Montreal, October 6.—Pierre John LeRoyer, an old Canadian trapper, and one of the members of the Ziegler party which penetrated so near the north pole and endured such terrible privations, is at present in Montreal, accompanied by his Indian wife. He spent some days in New York, where he went with a number of young polar bears and other animals which he had captured in the Arctic regions for different zoological collections. Especially rare was a blue fox which went to the zoo in Bronx Park.

"How we managed to survive it all, the awful cold, the storms and the rest, God alone knows, because He was the only one that brought us through it. I will never go again, and I could give an earnest warning to any one who would think of risking these terrible dangers and sufferings."

When asked what his intentions were, the old man said: "I will take up my old calling, that of trapping. How I used to long for the familiar Canadian forests, when I was living amongst the ice-fields of the north! It seemed to me that I would never get back to them soon enough. I intend to put up my cabin in the woods somewhere and take up my old work."

It is said that Mr. Ziegler has mentioned LeRoyer in his will, leaving him a competence as a testimonial of his services. The old trapper and his wife leave today for Mattawa, Becancour, and other points to visit friends.

Crushed to Death.

Hamilton, Oct. 5.—Arthur J. Heath, a fireman at the Central Station, was crushed to death under a street car on York street yesterday morning. He was riding a bicycle, going home to breakfast, going the same way as the car. He swung from the devil strip into the left track right in front of the car. The fender went over him and the motor box crushed him.

Deceased was about 35 years of age and had been on the fire department only two months. Prior to that he was patrol driver. He leaves a wife and several children. Heath was Past Chancellor of Bismarck Lodge of K. of P., and years ago was prominent in athletic circles.

NOTICED IT

A Young Lady From New Jersey Put Her Wits to Work.

"Coffee gave me terrible spells of indigestion which, coming on every week or so, made my life wretched until some one told me that the coffee I drank was to blame. That seemed nonsense but I noticed these attacks used to come on shortly after eating and were accompanied by such excruciating pains in the pit of the stomach that I could only find relief by loosening my clothing and lying down.

"If circumstances made it impossible for me to lie down I spent hours in great misery.

"I refused to really believe it was the coffee until finally I thought a trial would at least do no harm, so I quit coffee in 1901 and began on Postum. My troubles left entirely and convinced me of the cause.

"Postum brought no discomfort, nor did indigestion follow its use. I have had no return of the trouble since I began to drink Postum. It has built me up, restored my health and given me a new interest in life. It certainly is a joy to be well again." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak Isn't Natural—But It's Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

This result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

This enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, OCTOBER 6 1905

COMMON SENSE

The charge that Methodists are not adequately "represented" on the University Commission gives Mr. Whitney an opportunity to say that he had not the slightest intention that any religious body should be represented. "I desire it to be distinctly understood "that no Church has any representative on this Commission, and that "the members of it were chosen without any reference whatever to their "Church connections." This is surely a sound position, says The News. No denominational interest is threatened by the appointment of the Commission, and consequently no denominational interest needs to be protected. The University is a non-sectarian institution, and no worse blow to its usefulness could be delivered than to introduce the principle of denominational representation. We have enough of this nonsense in politics, and we trust that it will be strictly excluded from the University.

CANADA AND JAPAN

A cable to the Montreal Star says that the Anglo-Japanese treaty should make for improvement in the trade relations between Canada and Japan. In the negotiation of the treaty the Japanese ministers while accepting the "open-door" principle expressed a desire that the investment of British capital should take first place in Manchuria, Korea and Japan itself. In the arrangement between Japan and Britain, Canada is included. Canada is advantageously placed for the establishment of a great Trans-Pacific trade. By developing such a trade Canada would do not only herself but the Empire a service.

GAYNOR AND GREENE

One of the American officers who have come to Canada to take Gaynor and Greene back to Georgia, says that the charge on which the two men are to be tried will not get them more than two years' imprisonment even if they are found guilty, and that if they had not got into the hands of the Quebec lawyers they would have gone back two years ago. But now at the worst they would have served their time, and would have a spot of money which they paid to the lawyers.

PLEASE BEAR IN MIND that what is called a skin disease may be but a symptom of bad blood. In that case, Weaver's Cerate, externally applied, should be supplemented with Weaver's Syrup, taken daily.

A GOOD PROPOSITION

Mr. W. K. Hall Secures Some Valuable Stock

The United States is enjoying an era of prosperity that has not been equalled in the history of the world. Millionaires are more numerous than were men with but a hundred thousand dollars a few decades ago. The dominant question of the day is "How are fortunes made so rapidly?" Obviously, it cannot be done by working for others; and yet, among the hordes of reckless spenders who are now incessantly scattering wealth broadcast in all the centers of pleasure and luxury, throughout the world, one finds an astonishing proportion of persons who, until but a short time ago, lived on a moderate salary or wages. It is not accomplished by small traders because the enormous competition by the greater establishments with their unlimited resources precludes the possibility of small dealers accumulating any large wealth. And yet, here again, are found many who suddenly change their mode of living from the most economical simplicity and application to business to luxurious indulgence in comfort and pleasure.

Evidently there are means for a man of moderate means to get rich before the capacity to enjoy life is lost, and all there is to the problem —"How"—is to recognize and seize an opportunity when it presents itself.

Such an opportunity is now within reach of whoever is ready therefor. The Western Coal & Chemical Company at Deadwood, in the famous Black Hills of South Dakota, indubitably offers just such a chance. The enterprise is a purely industrial one; one of the kind that contains prospects of profit as large as can be made out of a successful mining venture, but without any such risk as is inseparable from every search for treasure under ground.

While all methods for making money rapidly are obviously more or less speculative in character, the greater industrial undertakings are free from the stock-jobbing and other objectionable features that have brought purely speculative propositions into disrepute.

Examples of this order of business changes, in which so many have found their golden opportunity, are, for instance: the Welsbach Light Company, whose stock has advanced 1840 per cent., the Edison Electric Light Company, the value of shares in which have increased 1000 per cent., then there is the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, whose stock, rated by the principal stock exchanges at 196 on January 1 of this year, has since sold at 260. The phenomenal rise of Bell Telephone stock is another conspicuous illustration of grand results obtained by early investors with keen foresight. Stock in that company, secured by the pioneer investors for $1,000, is now worth $200,000!

The Western Coal & Chemical Company belongs to this order of enterprises. Mr. Paul Danckwardt, the active head of the concern, is in his field, what Welsbach, Edison, Mergenthaler and Bell are in their respective lines. It does not require a very high order of intelligence to recognize the fact that an opportunity to become associated in business with a man of that calibre is a very unusual one—is indeed extremely rare—hence all who are seeking a sound and highly remunerative investment will not allow the chance to pass without a thorough investigation.

Mr. W. Maisey Hall, the Fiscal Agent, 279 Water street, represents the Western Coal & Chemical Company in this part of Ontario.

Scope of Dual Language.

Ottawa, October 4.—It is rumored that legislation will be submitted to Parliament, probably at the ensuing session, to provide that hereafter all officers of the Government, before appointment to rank in the inside service as Chief Clerk, shall be required to pass an examination that will satisfactorily establish they are possessed of, at least, a fair knowledge of the French language; and that, with respect to officials in the service already holding the rank of Chief Clerk, they shall be required to undergo such examination within twelve months of the passage of the legislation.

English-Speaking People.

London, October 4.—English is now spoken by about 125,000,000 people. A century ago it was spoken by 30,000,000 people only. During that period no other leading European language has the slightest advance. German has held its own, and is now spoken by 70,000,000, but this is no higher percentage of the total number of people of European descent that it had a hundred years ago.

Dismissed Immigration Inspector

Washington, October 4.—The Department of Commerce and Labor has dismissed from the immigration service, James A. Anderson, an inspector at Buffalo, N. Y. Anderson was charged with participating with Edward Baltz and Charles W. Stevenson, inspectors, in smuggling Chinese across the Canadian border into the United States. Baltz and Stevenson were removed about two weeks ago.

First Steamer Sails for Leadelly.

Quebec, October 4.—The steamer Hif, the first vessel in connection with the Quebec Transportation Company's new direct line between Quebec and England, fully loaded with a general cargo, sailed on Saturday afternoon afternoon, for London. The Hif carried nearly 5,000 tons of cargo.

VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of semen through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

C. W. Rowe, of Jackson, Mich., says: I had varicocele in the secondary stage and two strictures of 3 years' standing. I was operated on twice, undergoing great suffering, but only got temporary relief. I was finally advised to try the NEW METHOD TREATMENT of Drs. K. & K. The enlarged veins disappeared in six weeks, the stricture tissue was removed in eight weeks and my sexual energy and vitality returned so I was a man in every respect. I recommend you doctors with my whole heart."

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Marsden, having called twice without having been admitted, had not again presented himself, yet Mrs. Ruthven did not find time hang heavily on her hands. She went more than once to see her man of business respecting the purchase she wished to make, for she was keenly interested in financial matters and eager to get the full worth of her money, and she had a long and exceedingly confidential interview with Waite after his return from Evesleigh.

At the end of a fortnight from the date of the robbery Shirley announced his return, after, he said, having seen his sister start for the Riviera, for Mrs. Ruthven had really been out when he called.

It was a dull but dry morning, and Mrs Ruthven was sitting in a low chair beside the fire, talking to Waite who had been reading over some memoranda to her.

"I think I have formed a distinct plan now," he said, after a pause, "by which I hope at least to unravel the plot. I must dog the suspected culprit by day and by night."

"You must," she returned.

"It will be costly, madame."

There was another pause.

"You are not an Englishman?" said Mrs. Ruthven, suddenly.

"A naturalized Englishman. My mother was English."

"And your father?"

"A Pole. I resided both in Germany and France in my youth, and am able to speak several languages, which I find very useful."

"I expect Captain Shirley here immediately. We must deal cautiously with him," Mrs. Ruthven resumed. "He is very shrewd and suspicious, and will, I know, disapprove of my applying to you without his interposition."

"Then he should not have run off to Ostend when he might have been wanted," said Waite, grimly. "Time in such matters is valuable, as I dare say he knows, and we have lost a great deal."

"Now, Mr. Waite, after you and Captain Shirely have seen each other, I should like to test your power of disguising yourself."

"I am ready to submit to any test you choose, madame."

"Good. I shall arrange for Captain Shirley to call upon me to-morrow, and you shall appear in a different character. Will you venture so much?"

"Certainly."

"It might answer another purpose also," she resumed, thoughtfully. "At all events you must appear to go abroad."

"That might answer, though there are enough hiding-places in London to shelter most rogues, and the less a secret is fenced with precautions the safer it often is."

"Oh! Captain Shirley. Yes, I will see him. Be with me here at seven this evening," she said, low and hurriedly. "I will give you some important directions."

Waite bowed as "Captain Shirley" was announced.

"So you really have come back? I thought you had deserted me," said Mrs. Ruthven, with languid graciousness, as she stretched out her hand.

"My absence was, you may be sure, unavoidable," he returned, with a quick inquisitive glance at the detective.

"This," said Mrs. Ruthven, "is the celebrated Mr. Waite."

"Oh, indeed." His brows knit themselves for a moment. "Then you have found him for yourself."

"I have. When in doubt, play a trump, and my trump has always been self-help."

"No one can help themselves better. And what have you done?"

"As yet but very little. Eh? Mr. Waite?"

"It is a difficult case, very. I have, however, formed some idea."

"Indeed!" cried Shirley, eagerly. "And that is——"

"Not to be talked about at present. I shall only say that my suspicions point to a foreigner, whom I shall have to follow. Perhaps, sir, you would be so good as to tell me what you remember of the ball—I mean the night Mrs. Ruthven's rubies were stolen?"

"Oh, my recollections are of little use. I was not dancing, but finding the heat oppressive, I went outside, and, seeing one of the servants, asked him to bring me a case of cigarettes from the smoking-room, which were remarkably good. So I missed being of any use at the first discovery of the outrage."

"Pray, was this servant one who waited on you?"

"No, he was a sort of under-butler."

"Was he English?"

"I think not."

"There were various strange servants engaged for a short time," put in Mrs. Ruthven, "as the party was got up suddenly."

"Have you any idea if this man was French or Dutch?"

"Not the least."

"Or if he were in any way connected with Mrs. Ruthven's maid?"

"How the devil should I know?" cried Shirley, angrily. "I never spoke to Mrs. Ruthven's maid in my life."

"Of course not, of course not," said the detective, soothingly. "Pray who told you of the robbery?"

"Lord Dorrington. No! I now remember, he only said Mrs. Ruthven was faint. It was Mr. Marsden himself who told me, and I assisted in the search he made in the shrubbery."

"What was your impression?"

"Oh, it was and is that the jewels are irreparably lost. I fear there is no chance of their recovery."

"Have you any idea of their value?"

"No; that is I am of course aware they are very valuable, but their exact worth I do not think I have ever heard."

"I thought you must have known, because they were so much talked about when I was married, and you were in the regiment," said Mrs. Ruthven, with an air of unconscious simplicity.

"Well, I do not remember if I did," he returned.

"I have trespassed too long on your time," said Waite, bowing deferentially. "If nothing fresh turns up I shall start for the Continent to-morrow, and your address, madame, will be——"

"Oh, I am not sure. I think of staying awhile at Folkestone; it would be easy to see you there if you want to consult me, and London is too intolerable. Meantime address to the care of my solicitors."

Waite bowed again and retired.

"He does not strike me as anything very wonderful!" said Shirley, changing his place to one nearer hers, "and I had hoped to have spoken to him first myself. You are hardly fit to deal with such gentry. I had hoped you had confidence in me."

"My dear Shirley, this is nonsense," she interrupted, coolly. "Time was too valuable to be wasted, waiting while you were running after your sister! As to confidence," looking straight into his eyes, "you ought to know me by this time! I give my full confidence to no one; we can be useful to each other, but sentimental nonsense would neutralize all that. Now I am resolved, in this matter of the rubies, to have nothing to do with any one but Waite. When I have anything of importance to tell and choose to tell it to you I will. You may be offended with me or not, as you like, I am ready to remain your friend, but I in no way fear you as an enemy. I will spare nothing and no one to get to the bottom of this mysterious affair."

"You are an extraordinary woman, you always were," said Shirley, looking at her earnestly, distrustfully. "You wound me in every way, yet I can not break with you."

RHEUMATISM

Lives in the Blood

Consequently it requires an internal treatment one that will restore the blood, and thereby relieve the cause of the pain.

After years of experiment Dr Hamilton succeeded in producing a remedy that quickly cures rheumatism, gout and all uric acid disorders.

By toning the kidneys and liver, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure a clean healthy body. The blood is restored to a normal healthy condition, renewed vigor is imparted to overworked organs, and thus the general health is built up, and no room is left for rheumatism to creep in.

A Cripple's Story of Cure

"This is a glad day for me," writes James E. Brownell, from Milford, Ont., "because I can speak of my perfect cure of rheumatism. I have been all through the aching days and sleepless nights, have spent my money on worthless remedies, all consequently in vain—remember Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I feel sure of their merit. No remedy gave such relief or did me so much good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My rheumatism they cured, and ever since my health has been perfect."

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to be had in any drug store, it's foolish to live on in misery and ill-health. You ought to get this medicine today and cure yourself. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT

Rumor Says That Mr. A. Stevenson is Crown Timber Agent.

There was a rumor very prevalent yesterday, on the streets and in the principal hotels, that Mr. Arthur Stevenson, had been appointed the Crown timber agent for Peterboro district and would succeed Mr. D. H. Moore, who has been acting agent since 1900.

The Times last night ascertained that Mr. Stevenson has not as yet received any official notification of such appointment; but judging by the general tone of conversation yesterday, the nomination would be a popular one should a change be made, and that the office would be very ably filled by Mr. Stevenson, as it has been by Mr. Moore.

It is also reported that Mr. Wm. Manicee, who has for years been employed as scaler for the Dickson Company, has been appointed assistant, and would be connected with the local office.

Mr. Moore when seen said that he had received no notification as to his services being dispensed with.

Mr. Flavelle Chairman.

The Toronto Globe says: that Mr. J. W. Flavelle was selected at Wednesday's Cabinet meeting as chairman of the University Commission. Mr. Flavelle is well known outside of his large business connections for his active work in the General Hospital. He is the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of that institution and one of the most agressive workers in the larger hospital project now under way.

Mr. P. Carroll Buys an Hotel.

The many friends in Peterboro of Mr. P. Carroll, for many years connected with the Oriental Hotel, will be interested to learn, that he has in conjunction with his brother-in-law, Mr. Jas. McIndoo purchased a prominent hotel in Brighton, and will probably leave for that town on Monday. His many friends here will wish him every success in his enterprise.

Port Hope Gets New Industry.

An important new factory has been secured for Port Hope, and will be opened in the near future. The company will manufacture building paper; paper for boxes, and similar goods. Fifty men will be employed and $60,000 will be spent in machinery and building. An agreement between the town an the company was signed to-day.

BIRTH.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

The professor who announced that "love and romance die out with the sound of the wedding-bells," was the first to start the ball rolling. It would seem a brave woman who marries with this echo in her ears, yet we have not heard that there were fewer marriages during the year. There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter.

During a long period of practice, Doctor Pierce found that a prescription made up entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, cured ninety-eight per cent. of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly disease. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Drunken Man Hit by Street Car.

An accident occurred last night about 9.30 at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, when a man named Hampton was run into by a street car. It seems that Hampton, who was drunk, despite repeated clanging of the motorman's bell, determined to cross in front of the car, and before it could be stopped was knocked senseless, as a by-stander remarked, the man ran into the car, not the car into the man. He was carried by bystanders to W. H. Hamilton's grocery.

An ambulance was at once summoned, and Hampton, in care of John Dundas, was taken to the Nicholls hospital.

At a late hour last night, The Times was assured by the hospital authorities that the injured man was doing well, only having sustained a severe brushing.

Seould, Oct. 7.—A Japanese staff officer today said that after three meetings the terms of an armistic in North Korea are still unarranged although no further fighting has occurred. The Russians insist that the Japanese give up their present position, but the latter refuse to create a neutral zone by evacuating places they occupied after hard fighting.

OPPOSING THE GOVERNMENT.

Tokio, Oct. 6.—The constitutional party, which hitherto has not taken up a decided attitude towards the peace treaty is beginning to show signs of taking a stand in opposition to the Government during the coming sessions of the Diet.

AN EXTENSIVE PROGRAM.

Tokio, Oct. 7.—The sessions of the Associated Chamber of Commerce were closed to-day, after the delegates had passed a resolution to memorialize the Government on numerous points calculated to advance and develop national trade, industry and finance. The following are the most prominent features:

The creation of Government commercial agents.

The establishment or fostering of exhibition of samples and museums in foreign ports.

A customs tariff union between Korea and Japan.

The opening of a universal exposition.

The improvement of existing railways and the rapid construction of new railways.

Retrenchment in the expenses of the Administration.

The establishment of a Japanese-Chinese bank.

The adoption of measures against the expansion of the currency.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC CONTRACT

BRANCH TO BE 210 MILES

The Work Will Be Well Under Way By the Latter Part of October.

Montreal, October 7.—An announcement was made today at the head offices of the Grand Tunk Pacific Railway of the awarding of the contracts in connection with the Lake Superior branch of the new transcontinental line.

Foley Brothers, Larson & Company, of Winnipeg, received the contract for the construction of the roadbed on this branch from Fort William to Lake Superior Junction, a distance of two hundred and ten miles.

"Contract for the construction of the roadbed, complete, ready for the ties and rails, on the Lake Superior branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, from Fort William to Lake Superior Junction, about two hundred and ten miles, was awarded this morning, at the office of Mr. Frank W. Morse, vice-president and general manager, to Foley Brothers, Larson & Company, of Winnipeg, Man. This firm is considered one of the most successful and experienced in railway construction work on this continent.

"The awarding of this contract means that about five hundred miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific will be under actual construction by the latter part of October, and it is hoped that at least one thousand miles will be under contract by November 30th.

"It is stipulated that the work shall be completed so that this branch will be a factor in moving the grain crop of 1907."

MR. STEVENSON IS IT

Change in Crown Timber Agency Now Assured.

The many friends of Mr. Arthur Stevenson will congratulate him on the confirmation of his appointment rumored yesterday, but now sure, as Ontario Government Crown Timber Agent at Peterboro.

That Mr. Stevenson has been definitely appointed to this office is proven by the following letter received yesterday by Mr. D. H. Moore, the retiring incumbent.

Toronto, Oct. 4th, 1905.

Sir,—I have to inform you that by Order-in-Council of the 3rd inst. Mr. Arthur Stevenson, of Peterboro, has been appointed Crown Timber Agent at Peterboro. Mr. Stevenson will have charge of the work which you have been doing as Supervising Ranger. You will therefore be good enough to hand over to Mr. Stevenson all the books, papers, etc., connected with the office there.

Your obedient servant,
AUBREY WHITE,
Deputy Minister.

D. H. Moore, Peterboro, Ont.

We have no hesitation in saying that under Mr. Stevenson's administration, the duties of the office, which are many and arduous, will be performed impartially and honestly. From his long and successful management of the several branches of the position he recently held with the Peterboro Light and Power Co., Mr. Stevenson has a business and administrative training that, in addition to a legal and university education, will doubtless ensure an intelligent and satisfactory management of his new duties. Mr. Stevenson has been a life long supporter of the Conservative party, and last election devoted much time and trouble towards holding up Peterboro's end in the political upheaval.

The recent occupant of this office, Mr. D. H. Moore, has been 25 years in the Government service; and as far as the work of his office was concerned, had the reputation of an earnest and conscientious worker.

Mr. Moore, along with his notice of being superseded, received two letters from the Deputy Minister, asking him to perform certain duties in connection with his office.

24 HOURS NOTICE

Barnardo Home Must Abate Nuisance of Their Sewer.

The following gentlemen, members of the local Board of Health, Mr. R. Neil, Drs. Burnham and McNulty, Acting Health Officer Dr. Young and Inspector Chief Rossel, met yesterday morning, and although no quorum was found present, those in attendance decided to take action, as matters of vital importance were to be considered.

Dr. Young reported that he and the Chief had inspected the Barnardo Home property and the surrounding territory. He said that the hill was simply saturated with the overflow from the Barnardo cesspools. The refuse has soaked through the ground and is down along the G.T.R. tracks. It is in a most disgraceful condition, he said. They also inspected the different well in the neighborhood and found several that were below the cesspool and might possibly be contaminated.

As such an extraordinary state of affairs could not be allowed to menace the city's health, the members present decided to act promptly. The Barnardo Home was instructed to either clean out their cesspools and spread lime over the ground that had been affected or to vacate the premises until the sewer was built. The time allowed for the fulfillment of these orders was twenty-four hours.

It was further decided to ask owners of wells in the neighborhood to not only send samples of the waters therein for analysis by the Toronto health authorities but to stop using such waters for some time.

ONE-SIDED VIEW

Canadian Sportsman Yesterday Roasted Directorate of Peterboro's Fair.

The Canadian Sportsman says: "We are in receipt of a letter from a reliable correspondent in Peterboro, complaining that at the late Agricultural Exhibition held there, the trotting and pacing races were conducted in a manner not conducive to good sport. He states that the time was suppressed in all the races, and asks us what penalty, if any attaches to such performances. We have answered our correspondent in another column, but the matter is of such vital importance to the welfare of the Canadian trotting turf, that we desire to allude to it editorially for the purpose of impressing upon those in authority the absolute necessity of strictly obeying the law laid down for their guidance.

The Peterboro track is an Association one. We do not know whether the Agricultural Society or the Turf Club are owners of the property or not. If the latter, then it is their bounden duty to see, before renting their grounds that they lend the gate system of the association to conduct their races strictly according to rule, but if the fair association themselves own the property, they are equally responsible for the conduct of their meeting according to the law laid down, for the guidance and control of such contests of speed. They, however appear to have signally failed in the discharge of their duty, if our correspondent is correct. And, if it be that no time was announced in any of said races, then the horses that competed therein, and either won a heat, or made a dead heat, are guilty of having taken part in an illegal contest, and are therefore disqualified and subject to a fine of $100 for each such irregularity.

"This is a serious offence and rather a costly mistake for the owners, as said fine follows the horses notwithstanding that it may change ownership. We certainly are surprised that such an important organization, as the Peterboro Fair should be guilty of such irregularity, and we are equally surprised that any owners of horses should be such jobs as to consent to engage in a contest as contrary to the rules."

We notice that the Sportsman contains a lot of surplus expressions at the tail end of its extraordinary effusion concerning the alleged illegality practised at the Peterboro fair races. We might be allowed to express a few cents worth of surprise at such a previously fair journal as the Canadian Sportsman printing such a sweeping and broadcast condemnation of various gentlemen belonging to both the Fair directorate and the Peterboro Turf Club, before learning the truth of the matter, and giving each side of the case a hearing.

As any patron of the turf knows, horse owners are greatly averse to having their horses get a better mark late in the fall. This, of course, is more disadvantageous to a horse at such time of year than in the earlier part of the season for obvious reasons.

To begin with, it starts the horse with a lower mark at the beginning of the following season, and further it makes him enter in a lower class at the winter races.

As is known by many hundreds of people who filled the Fair grand stand, it was distinctly announced from the judge's stand, the first day of the fair's events, that the intended races as advertised, owing to lack of entries and other reasons given in detail, were declared off; but as people had turned out to see the races run, several exhibition heading would be given, and that no time would be taken. The originally intended races, of various classes, were simply to be, and were heading in classes A, B and C.

Representatives of the local press, who occupied the judge's stand, are aware that no time was taken in any one, or any, of the so called "Races" during Tuesday and Wednesday.

We are surprised that such a paper as the Sportsman should take the word of one or two parties, possibly men with a fancied personal grievance and openly do that which can not but tend towards hurting sport, and the breeding of a good class of horse in this district without better evidence.

The fair directors of Peterboro are not the class of gentlemen to countenance any such kind of business as regressing time, if if had been kept, [illegible] their directorship and intelligent work, taken in the interests of Peterboro fair, to throw discredit on the fair attractions presented.

The Recorder says: Brockville should walk off with the O.R.F.U. championship. The Lindsay Post; "That's counting chickens. Why even Peterboro could say that."

There are now thirty-one teams operating under the Ontario Rugby Football Union—a greater number than ever before in the history of this organization. Of these four are senior, eight intermediate and nineteen junior. Never before have the junior clubs been so numerous.

THE TURF.

Arrangements have been completed and the money put up for a race between Mr. Martin Connor's fast mare Lady Gerhard and Mr. Munro's horse Little Jay for $100. This race will take place one week from to-day, on the Exhibition grounds. Little Jay is backed by Mr. Kitchen. Mr. Chris Graham is stake holder, with all the above gentlemen named interested. There is sure to be a good race, and that the best horse will win out, goes without saying.

AGITATORS MAY ATTACK CABINET

Anti-Peace Element Growing in Tokio.

TO CHANGE THEIR METHODS

Of Expressing Indignation Over the Peace Terms

Tokio, October 7.—In framing the peace treaty yesterday, the Privy Council has clearly impressed upon the anti-peace agitators the impossibility of a refusal to ratify it. The energies of the latter will now likely be concentrated on an attack upon the cabinet. Public demonstrations expressing the national indignation against the peace treaty, it is believed, will cease but this outward suppression of feeling will only create a strong undercurrent of disaffection, which, if allowed to grow will swell the popular rage. Unwise resistance and any attempt to suppress popular opinion may, it is feared, give rise to acts of violence.

Well informed people, while appreciating the wisdom of putting a stop to the war, are indignant at the half measure policy of the Government as exhibited, for instance, in the partition of the island of Sakhalin.

The public is keenly awaiting an explanation from the Government but the promise to convene a special session of the Diet immediately after the conclusion of the peace not having been fulfilled, it is growing impatient.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mr. Thos. Evans Thrown From Waggon and Severely Hurt.

A serious accident that might have led to fatal results occurred yesterday near the Walton homestead on the second line of Smith township. As Messrs. Thos. Evans, accompanied by his uncle, Mr. Evans Storey of the township of Emily, were driving in to the city, as they approached the spot noted, their team, evidently frightened at some unusual sight or noise, suddenly sprang forward, and the two gentlemen were thrown violently from the high stock rack, on which they were seated to the roadside.

Mr. J. J. Howden, who had driven past them, heard a shout and looked around only to find that a serious mishap had occurred. Storey was dragged, hanging on to the lines, some distance, but Mr. Howden stopped the horses before the driver was seriously injured. Mr. Evans, who is 64 years old, did not fare so well. He was taken to Nicholls' hospital and Dr. J. A. Morgan called. It was found that his collar bone was broken, that he had a bad cut over the eye and that his ear was also bruised. His neck was also strained. Mr. Evans is suffering considerably from the shock.

2 MORE CASES OF TYPHOID

Is Peterboro Threatened With An Epidemic of Typhoid?

Two more cases have broken out on George street north. One is Wm. Hickey and the other is a son of Mr. Castle. Both the boys, it is supposed, contracted the disease from the same source as Mr. Dixon and young Lowes—the water in Lowes' well — as they both got the water for drinking and domestic purposes from this same well. W. Hickey has been removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

There is much agitation in the north side against the cesspool at the Barnardo Home, and residents in that quarter of the city are not backward in claiming that this already discussed, source of danger, is to blame for much of the ill health in that locality. They say that the escarge from this cesspool is poisoning wells in the neighborhood.

Prince Louis After the Moose.

Moncton, N. B., October 7. — Prince Louis of Battenberg is hunting moose in the woods, back of Havelock. His Serene Highness, accompanied by a Maritime friends passed through the city yesterday for Petticodiac and went to Havelock by special train over the Elgin, Petticodiac and Havelock railway. Two guides were engaged in advance. Prince Louis intends remaining in the woods until next Monday.

FOOD AGAIN

A Mighty Important Subject to Everyone.

A Boston lady talks entertainingly of food and the changes that can be made in health by some knowledge on that line. She says:

"An injury to my spine in early womanhood left me subject to severe sick headaches which would last three or four days at a time, and a violent course of drugging at the hands of old-fashioned physicians brought on constipation with all the ills that follow.

"My appetite was always light and uncertain and many kinds of food distressed me.

"I began to eat Grape-Nuts food two or three years ago, because I liked the taste of it, and I kept on because I soon found it was doing me good.

"I eat it always at breakfast, frequently at luncheon, and again before going to bed—and have no trouble in 'belonging on it.' It has cured my constipation, my headaches have practically ceased, and I am in better physical condition at the age of 61 than I was at 40.

"I give Grape-Nuts credit for restoring my health, if not saving my life, and you can make no claim for it too strong for me to endorse." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

BOARD OF WORKS

Board Gets Contract For Barnardo Sewer--Work Begins To-day.

The following members of the Board of Works met last night: Mayor Beat, Ald. Hall, Adams, Tovey, Hicks and Johnston; City Engineer Thos. Hay was also present. Ald. Adams was in the chair.

A letter from Mr. Larmonth, manager of the Peterboro Street Railway Co., which reads as following, was presented;

Chairman Board of Works;

Dear Sir,—We have received the blue print, showing position on Smith street, at which we would like to erect our pump, and lay a pipe to be used at the open air skating rink, we are getting ready for the winter. We trust that your Board will see their way clear to allow us to lay this pump on Smith street. We may say that this is to be used only in connection with the skating rink, and we will be willing to remove it at any time, your Board thinks it detrimental to the city's interests.

Yours truly,
Peterboro St. Ry. Co.,
J. H. Larmonth.

Mr. Larmonth explained that the pump house would be heated by electricity.

The concession asked was granted on a vote moved by Ald. Johnston.

The next business taken up was the Barnardo Home sewer. This is to get rid of the dangerous cesspools in this neighborhood. Mr. Hayes, the contractor offered to put in 421 feet at $1.10 per foot, and to put a gang of 23 men to work at it to-day.

Mr. Hayes explained that a great part of the digging would be through white clay. It includes six man holes.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that Mr. Hayes be given the contract at the price quoted.—Carried.

Ald. Crow notified the Board that on Bonacord street, a large oak tree, in the center of the road, intercepts the light from the electric lamp there.

Ald. Crowe was advised to see Mr. Rogers, in front of whose property, the tree comes, and get his consent to having the tree cut down.

The chairman said it had been pointed by Mr. Eastwood, that a badly needed car of cement would be here this morning. The Board is tied up for want of cement. Mr. Hicks thought Star cement would cost 23 cents more than the other kinds. He had a team that would leave Lakefield this morning, and on request, offered to help out the Board by having the team bring down a load. There was considerable complaint that the Peterboro Hardware Company, was not fulfilling its contract as to supplying a sufficient quantity of cement. The cement, now being used, is not tested, whilst the Board pays for testing and storage, but gets neither. Ald. Johnston moved that the Board insist on Mr. Eastwood keeping his cement contract; if not the city shall buy elsewheres, and charge him the difference, and that the city engineer so notify him, and purchase the cement as above.

The Hay reported on the Chemong foot bridge repairs. The planks are in bad condition, and unsafe. It would cost $153 to repair.

Ald. Tovey moved that the bridge be repaired.—Carried.

Mr. Hay reported on concrete crossings, saying that building in sections as now done, moving the fences and other expenses, made the expense greater than in one piece. It was decided to build eight more crossings; on George, at King, Townsend, Charlotte and Dalhousie streets; on Charlotte at G.T.R. crossing, Aylmer st., on Hunter at Water, at Smith st., on Mark at Hunter street.

Mr. O'Connell on behalf of clients, Messrs. McNamara and Hartley, addressed the Board re Water street sewer. He said the old sewer on Water and Dennison Ave., were put in by request of the residents near by. The people on the west side have no connections, and his clients have built residences but cannot get their plumbing connected with the sewer. There is much typhoid fever in this locality, owing to bad sewer connection. "Are these people to be in an unsanitary condition for all time, because the residents on the east side have connection?" Nearly all the residents on the west side have petitioned the Council for sewer connection. As the Board of Health has recommended this sewer, the Council can easily act.

Ald. Hall said he had some time ago advised Mr. McNamara to get a petition up, but no action was taken; this was before the sewer was put in the east side. It would be necessary to have a special assessment made, the residents notified, and a Court of Revision held. It was explained to Mr. Hartley that labor could not be got to do the work this fall. Mr. Hartley will take a petition to all the residents and try to get their signatures.

Ald. Hicks moved that the Council move as far as possible in the matter. If possible the engineer will be instructed to go ahead with the work this year.

THE LITTLE DUCHESS

Peterboro Will Send Large Crowd to Lindsay on Oct. 16th.

Quite a number of Peterboro's society leaders are now arranging to take in the trip, by special train to Lindsay, on Oct. 16th, to hear Miss Elsie Jeanis in the "Little Duchess."

Mr. Rupert Bradburn, is taking considerable trouble to have this excursion a success, as it is due to his efforts that the Peterboro theater opera will have an opportunity of hearing Miss Jeanis, a wonderfully clever opera singer, who ranks well with Maud Adams. Lindsay people are greatly enthused over this favorite opera, which holds the boards all next week at the Grand Opera House, Toronto. As noted in a former issue of The Times, this opera company was to have opened the new opera house here, but owing to its incomplete state, Mr. Bradburn has arranged for a special train to and from Lindsay to allow Peterboro patrons of the opera to hear this long anticipated opera.

Lion and Bear To Be Friends

Gerald Balfour Invites Russia to Come to an Aggreement With England Regarding India.

London, Oct. 7.—Following closely upon the publication of the text of the Anglo-Japanese treaty has come considerable talk of the possibility of an understanding between Great Britain and Russia. All the newspapers are devoting columns to the discussion of the question, pointing out that if Russia is sincere in her expressions of a desire for peace in Central Asia, there is no reason why the two ancient enemies should not come to an agreement that will not only assure peace, but clear away the suspicions leading to friction which have existed for years. That negotiations with this object in view are pending seems possible, though definite official confirmation is lacking.

GROUND FOR THE RUMORS.

Color is lent to the rumors that have been floating about by the recent frequent visits said to the Foreign Office by the Russian ambassador since his return from his holidays a fortnight ago, and the fact that Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, who returned from his vacation to publish the text of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, has not resumed it. County Benkendorff, the Russian ambassador, had a long interview with Lord Lansdowne at the Foreign Office yesterday, and the latter left London immediately afterwards for Balmoral, Scotland, where Premier Balfour is present as Minister in attendance on King Edward.

PAPERS ADVOCATE IT.

Of course, the visits of the Russian ambassador to the Foreign Offices may have been connected with the proposal of Nicholas' invitation Great Britain to participate in the second peace conference at The Hague, but Great Britain has already answered his Majesty's preliminary invitation. It is thought here that the present is an opportune moment for reaching a better understanding between the two countries, both the British and Russian papers having strongly advocated it for the last week.

GOVERNMENT READY FOR IT.

The position of the British Government was clearly stated in a speech delivered by Gerald Balfour, President of the local Government Board, yesterday, in which he said:

"Great Britain has no intention of making agressive movements in Central Asia. Our object is defence, and not defiance, and if the Russian Government desires to come to an understanding with reference to our respective interests in that part of the world it will not find the British Government backward in readiness to consider any proposals which it might desire to put forward."

EUROPE ONE GREAT FAMILY.

The newspaper discussion has reached a much wider range, and includes suggestions for agreements which if carried out and lived up to, would make Europe a family in which there would be no differences.

DIRECTORS MEETING

After a short review of the mine's present condition, the directors decided to adjourn and meet again at the mine in Frontenac county.

It is understood that a thorough inspection of the mine will be held and the result of this investigation will determine their future actions.

THAT HORRID STUFF; no wonder some men think they can't eat it, for it is; but it is real food when properly prepared as it is in "The D & L" Emulsion, and nothing will add solid flesh as it will.

CHAS. GOW'S TRIAL

New Theory That the Fatal Shot was Fired From Inside.

The Toronto World, referring to the recent Dummer tragedy, says:

On Monday next the trial of Chas. Gow for the killing of Thomas E. Bill will begin before Mr. Justice Street at the assizes in Peterboro. Edward Meredith, K.C., of London, will be the prosecuting attorney, and R. M. Donnistoun, of Peterboro, will have charge of the case for Gow. It is said the defence will rely on their ability to prove that the boy was killed by a shot from within the house fired by his father in an endeavor to drive off the men menacing the house.

MEN RETURN TO WORK

They However, Have Limits to Both the Grand Trunk.

Chicago, October 7.—The conference between the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway and the officers of the Switchmen's Union over the grievances of the fifty men who walked out last week in this city, was broken off last night with no agreement in sight. The men were satisfied with the working conditions, but demanded an agreement and the reinstatement of three men who had been discharged. The railroad declared that the three were chronic disturbers and would not again be employed, and declined to make an agreement with the union. It agreed, however, to maintain the present conditions in the yards, which are satisfactory to the switchmen.

Victoria, B. C., October 7. — Your correspondent is informed upon high authority that a decision has been reached with respect to the filling of the British Columbia Lieutenant-Governorship, vice Sir Henri Joli de Lotbiniere. The problem of deciding between the claimants within the province is being solved by a selection outside altogether of the circle of expectants.

Hon. George W. Ross, former Premier of Ontario, has, it is said, been agreed upon for the office and has signified his willingness to accept. A formal announcement in this connection may be looked for shortly.

License Revoked.

Carson, Nev., Oct. 5—State Controller and Insurance Commissioner S. P. Davis has revoked the license of the New York Life Insurance Company in this State. The following telegram was forwarded to the New York home office by the Controller;

Upon advice of a change of management and satisfactory proof of honest management, the license will be reissued."

Pale and Anxious

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored and the blood fairly tingles with newfound life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 40 King St. East, Toronto, who says: "After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and almost gasping. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound and so strong of bone was impoverished. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, OCTOBER 7 1905

REALISING WHAT CANADA IS

Signs multiply that the people and press of the United States are beginning to realize more fully the potentialities of Canada. In the past it has been the fashion in that country to regard the Dominion as a land the destiny of which was to be annexed to the Republic. Whether Canadians as a whole favored such a course, matters little in this view. The "bigness" of the United States; its enormous population; the opportunities of all kinds that its vast territory, immense natural resources, and diversity of soil and climate, presented to outsiders, were regarded as inducements that the people on the northern border could not indefinitely resist. So generally was this view held by Americans that not a few publicists and statisticians thought it worth while to discuss how many new states and territories the admission of the Dominion would add to the Union. It was held that there was no occasion to invite Canadians to participate in the blessings that were to be enjoyed under the Stars and Stripes. They would seek admission without that. The duty devolving on American statesmen would concern the terms on which the quondam subjects of the King of Great Britain should be permitted to enroll themselves as citizens of "the greatest republic that has been."

A saner and more accurate view of the situation is now beginning to be taken. The most enlightened public opinion perceives that there is no probability of the annexation of Canada. The development of the great and fertile territories of the Canadian North-West has been such in evidence. The flow of population southward has been arrested and the current is now running steadily northward. The history of the settlement of the Northwestern States in the seventies and eighties is being repeated in that of the Canadian North-West and it is interesting to observe that many of those—or their descendants—who took part in the earlier begins are prominent among those who are now going in to possess the new land, the fertility of which has become known throughout the world. And these newcomers will become as good Canadians as their native born British neighbors. A recent American writer says that these things will cause Canada to become "Americanized" in her institutions, ideas and aspirations. We see no reason to think that. There are some admirable features in American institutions; our neighbors have some characteristics that we can but admire. But in the qualities that go to build up a nation we think that Canadians have need to borrow but little from their neighbors, while our institutions are based on models that have stood the test of time and proved their adaptability to new conditions.

NO REASON FOR PANIC

The London Times advises policyholders in the large American insurance companies against throwing up their policies and accepting cash surrender values. Severe as the arraignment of the Equitable, the Mutual and the New York Life has been, no suggestion is made that the huge assets of either institution have suffered material impairment. There must be reform in life insurance administration, but that is no reason why people should, by cancelling their policies, abandon a large portion of the premium paid for future insurance. They may find it difficult owing to poorer health to insure again, and at the best they will have to pay for other insurance the higher premiums called for by increased age. As The Times says: "Whatever the scandals that may be revealed by the insurance inquiry, there can hardly be a doubt of the capacity of the three great American companies known here as the Equitable, the New York Life and the Mutual of New York to meet the face value of all contracts. Bonuses or dividends are in another category, and may probably be much impaired."

A RICH MINE IN A RICH BELT

For a long time Arizona has been considered rich in gold, silver and copper; but only recently has the public awaked to the fact that millions of dollars annually are being taken from this section at an enormous profit. Governor Brodie in his report for 1904 said that Arizona is today the richest mineral section of America and that the production of precious metals is only in its infancy. Last year, it produced over $31,000,000 in copper, gold and silver; and the out-put is being constantly increased.

The Buffalo-Arizona Gold Mines Company realizing the value of this rich belt, have purchased 160 acres of heavily mineralized land in the heart of the producing district, and own it free from debt. The mines are in the same belt as the United Verde, which is producing $1,000,000.00 per month and which was no more favorable at its inception than the Buffalo-Arizona. The ore bodies are composed of strong quartz veins, carrying gold and silver with indications of copper. There are seven known veins which pass through the property; and the ore assays from $5 to $104 per ton. A carload shipped from an adjoining claim averaged $18.30. While this ore was selected, one can readily see how attractive this section is from the investment standpoint.

The work already accomplished demonstrates that the property is rich and that there will be enormous profits for those who aid in its development.

The Buffalo-Arizona Gold Mines Co. has a two-compartment shaft 75 feet deep. Ore from this shaft has assayed over $100 per ton. The Centrdal shaft is two-compartment, 70 feet deep, and opens a vein over 5 feet wide at the surface. These ore bodies are decomposed quartz and become sulphides as depth is gained. The other veins are opened sufficiently to prove the value and continuity of the ore. Experienced mining men say that the rich vein opened on the adjoining claim passes through our property. If this be true, it would make a mine itself.

In addition to the large amount of ore, the mines are covered with a heavy growth of pine timber. This is of great importance, as many companies are obliged to purchase their timber at considerable expense.

Located as the mines are on Turkey Creek, there is sufficient water for all milling purposes and thus far to supply the adjoining mines up the mountain. Possibly the most important feature of the location is in the transportation facilities. The mines are only two miles from Portland Station and an electric road is now being constructed to pass directly by the Buffalo-Arizona camp. The P. & E. R. R. has built a standard gauge line into this section at an expense of $250,000, with no special contract from any one mine and with no other source of revenue than from the mines. This fact alone should be sufficient to demonstrate the richness of this mineral section and the practical feature of the Buffalo-Arizona property.

From the investment standpoint, there is nothing more attactive than the stock of the Buffalo-Arizona Company, of which the Peterboro Brokerage Company are the local fiscal agents. The opening of the Central vein doubled the value of the stock; and the continued work will doubtless increase it manifold. (At 15 cents per share, par value $1. it should be purchased immediately, for it will not remain at this figure long). The management has invested its own money here because it believes in the future of the company. The mines are in the greatest producing section of the United States. The transportation facilities are perfect. The opportunity of this belt will be quickly recognized and the amount of money needed for machinery and development work will be readily realized.

Again referring to Governor Brodie's report, "Arizona's resources are without limit and the mountains are storehouses of precious metals." To those who are looking for an opportunity to aid in opening this storehouse of wealth and to share in the profits, the stock of the Buffalo-Arizona is worthy of careful consideration.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

"It is wiser not, nor is it necessary; you have no reason to quarrel with me."

Shirley resumed after a moment's silence: "I suppose Marsden is in town. Does he know you have secured this treasure of a detective?"

"No!" sharply. "I thought I told you I did not wish any one to know I was employing any one except those rusty creatures, the regular police. Pray be silent respecting Waite."

"Certainly if you wish it."

Here Mrs. Ruthven's servant brought several letters on a salver. She opened and glanced at some, closing them up again carefully, then she said, with a half smile:

"Do you remember an English engineer, a Mr. Colville, who was employed on the railway, near Umballa? A better sort of man, who had a very pretty wife?"

"I can not say I do. I was a good deal away that year."

"Well, the pretty wife died when their baby was born, and every one was very much concerned. I was godmother to the little girl. He went home, and I lost sight of him; now he applies to me for help to keep his daughter at school."

"I hope you are not going to throw away your money without inquiry into the case?" said Shirley.

"No, I am not quite so impulsive. I shall tell him to call and let me hear all he has to tell. And now I am going to treat you without ceremony, and send you away, as I want to write some letters. Are you disengaged to-morrow?"

"Yes; quite disengaged."

"Then, if you come here at two or half-past, I will drive you down to have a look at the Twickenham villa."

When he was gone, Mrs. Ruthven re-opened one of her notes and read: "You are really too hard to your refusal to see me!"—"He has not been so persevering,' she murmured, interrupting herself—"I beg you will permit me to enter your enchanted and enchanting presence this evening, as I am tempted to believe I might find some trace of your lost jewels among the jew dealers in Amsterdam. A friend of mine, an artist, was telling me yesterday of an old Father Abraham, who lives in an obscure lane, yet has marvels of brilliancy and beauty in his stores, and is by no means particular as to the sources from which he collects them. Now I propose to visit the patriarch myself, but should like to have some talk with you first. If I may come, let me have a word in reply. I do not propose to be long away, after my plans are—well, you shall make them for me if you will.

"Yours devotedly,

"CLIFFORD MARSDEN."

Mrs. Ruthven's face changed more than once as she read this. It softened, and then she flushed, while her eyes gleamed angrily.

"I can not see him to-night; that is out of the question, and he shall not go without seeing me. Where has he been? I wonder if he has been at Eversleigh, riding with Nora L'Estrange? I will write to her, I shall ask him." She seized her pen and wrote rapidly:

"Not this evening, dear Mr. Marsden. I am engaged; but come to luncheon with me to-morrow at one. I have much to say to you, and by no means approve your wasting your time in a fruitless attempt to recover my lost jewels.

"Ever yours,

"CELIA RUTHVEN."

Marsden, however, had not been down to Eversleigh and Nora L'Estrange. He had found occupation in London, and time had not hung heavy on his hands. Mrs. Ruthven's invitation was far from acceptable; he was eager to start on his voyage of discovery, but he felt it would be more prudent to accept.

"I must keep her in good humor for some time longer," he thought, as he penned a pleasantly worded reply. "She is a vindictive little animal, and I must be clear of this trusteeship before I can venture to show my hand. What a rich harvest I deserve for my patience and diplomacy? Shall I reap it? Yes, it's worth trying for."

Mrs Ruthven was unusually particular in ordering luncheon, though at no time was she indifferent as to what she eat and drank, and as to what she put on. A very becoming costume of dark blue plush and cashmere, made her fairly content with herself, while her thick, shining, auburn-gold hair was crowned by a dainty little lace cap, with pale blue ribbons.

Marsden was delightfully punctual, and, in his admirably cut frock-coat, with a delicate button-hole bouquet, his high-bred face and beautiful soft, sleepy blue eyes, looked so handsome and distinguished that Mrs. Ruthven thought a woman might be excused for making a fool of herself about him.

"And how are you, dear Mrs. Ruthven, after these long days? What sin did I commit that you forbid me your presence?" exclaimed Marsden, holding her hand tenderly, a moment longer than was quite conventional, and looking into her eyes.

"Forbid you my presence?" she repeated, laughing. "Once when you called I was really out, and once—I was really engaged!"

"Do you mean that is the beggarly account of all my attempts to see you? Why, I was here four, five, six times, at least——"

"Then they omitted to tell me! Do not let us quarrel about the exact number, Mr. Marsden! tell me some Eversleigh news. How are your charming relatives at Brookdale?"

"I really do not know. I have never heard of them since we left my ill-fated house. Do you know, I can not bear the idea of going there, and I had intended to hunt Blenkshire this winter."

"You must not allow yourself to grow morbid; I shall regret the loss of my pretty rubies more than ever! Come, luncheon is ready in the next room."

While the servants were in the room they talked of ordinary subjects, but when Ruthven had managed to get rid of them, and resisting the temptation of listening to Marsden's charming voice and flattering speeches, she took the direction of the conversation into her own hands.

"You must not be long away," she said. "I shall want a tolerably large sum of money soon," and proceeded to tell of the opportunity which offered of purchasing the desirable villa at Twickenham; after enlarging on its merits, she continued:

"I always wished for a place of that sort. It is so nice for fetes and pretty recherche parties. Besides, I may as well lay out some of that money which is lying idle in the Three-per-Cents., so you must come back in time to pay it."

She looked up suddenly with a smile and a keen glance, and Marsden met it with his usual lazy, good-humored expression.

"Very well," he said, "the cash shall be ready when and where you will. What are you going to give for this new toy?"

"Thirty-three thousand five hundred."

"That is a long price, my dear Mrs. Ruthven."

"Not too long, I think; there are some fields attached which insure privacy at present, and are worth a good deal as building land. Then there is a good deal of handsome old-fashioned furniture in the house."

"Oh! if your solicitors are satisfied, I have nothing to say against it. My business faculties are of the lowest order. I fear, however, that I can not return before Saturday-week. You will be sorry to hear that my friend De Meudon has been dangerously ill. I will try to return by Paris, and have a look at him."

"Yes, I am sorry," said Mrs. Ruthven.

"Then, I may only get on the

Mr. E. Lawrence Hurt.

The many friends of Mr. Ernie Lawrence, of the staff of Messrs. McCallum Bros., Avery barns, Water street, were distressed yesterday afternoon to see him badly limping. It seems that Mr. Lawrence was on Thursday afternoon leading a horse belonging to the livery stables by a halter to the barns, when passing the steam roller the horse, taking fright at a sudden movement of the ponderous machinery reared. In coming to its feet again one of the horse's front feet came down, with full force on Mr. Lawrence's right foot. The big toe, whilst not broken, was badly squeezed, and caused very severe pain.

CAUGHT LIVE WIRE

Little Gabriel Keough Gets Severe Shock of Electricity.

Yesterday morning as little Gabriel Keough, the young son of Mr. L. Keough, late principal of the Murray street Separate school, when playing about the corner of Park and Gilmour streets, he saw a loose wire hanging from the transformer on an electric light pole with the insulation partly burned off, and, boy like, grasped hold of it, innocent of its nature. He found it impossible to relax his hold and immediately began screaming at the top of his voice. The attention of some ladies coming from church was attracted, and they rescued the boy from his painful position, also receiving shocks while affecting the rescue.

Had the insulation not been partially worn off, thus rendering the current weaker, the consequences might have been far worse. The dangerous wire was promptly put out of the dangerous position.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting, if it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 93 Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother. She asks no money. Write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it.

Mr. Bartlett Goes to Stratford.

Mr. Ernie Bartlett, Water street, recently on The Times' staff, leaves Monday morning to take a position on the Stratford Beacon, official organ of the Reform party in that city. Mr. Bartlett's many friends will wish him success in his new home. Mrs. Bartlett will join him in a few weeks.

"What Shall We Eat?"

Every day the same old question, What shall we eat for breakfast, for luncheon, for dinner? assails with monotonous regularity the patient housewife who seeks to provide good living for the family in agreeable variety at a moderate cost. There is a daily department in the Chicago Record-Herald which is intended to answer this question satisfactorily every day in the year. It is entitled "Meals for a Day," and provides menus for the three meals every day, with the necessary receipes. These menus and recipes are carefully selected by The Record-Herald's household editor, and cash prizes are awarded for the best that are received. Housewives everywhere are invited to participate in the competition. For full particulars see the "Meals for a Day" department in The Chicago Record-Herald.

Scene from the famous Comic Opera of "El Capitan," which will be presented in the Opera House this evening by the Roscian Opera Company.

Guy Brothers' Minstrels

A crowded audience last night laughed until their sides ached, over the quips and jokes of Guy Brothers' Minstrels. This ever popular aggregation of burnt cork artists, have greatly improved their whole show, the first part being entirely remodelled. The jokes were less moss grown than usual with such a class of entertainment, the songs were mainly new, and the specialities were of a high order.

Strange Act of Fate.

By a singular coincidence, the official letter, from the Crown Land Department, Toronto, notifying Mr Arthur Stevenson of his appointment as local Crown Timber Agent, in succession to Mr. D. H. Moore, was placed in the post office box belonging to Peterboro Light and Power Co. Mr. Stevenson for many years the efficient manager of this company, severed his connection with it some months ago.

SEE THAT THE DRUGGIST gives you the right article — the soothing, helpful Painkiller that was used in your family before you were born. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. No upright dealer offers substitutes.

Typhoid Fever Scare Exaggerated.

The Times can assure those nervous people, in this city, who are circulating a report that there are several cases of typhoid at Nicholls hospital, such rumors are entirely misleading. We find that while there are six or seven typhoid fever patients in the institution, they are, with one or two exceptions, persons from outside the city, one being from Pittsburg, another from down the river, Cherry Grove and other places. Peterboro's health, for its size, is good.

NEW THOUGHTS.

Are you growing more attractive as you advance in life?

"Given a healthy body," says Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in women's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., "and a healthy mind, and everyone can cultivate and enjoy happiness."

We must eat properly and digest well to be beautiful. It is a fact that any form of dyspepsia may in a few days transform a clear, white skin into a mass of pimples and black spots. A beautiful woman has the beauty of her stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes a person's nutrition by enabling one to eat, retain, digest and assimilate the proper nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and thus the person is saved from those symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headache, etc., which are so common. A tonic made up largely of alcohol will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance.

"This is to certify that I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, think it's the greatest medicine in the world," writes Mrs. V. L. Young, of Weir, W. Va. "I had dyspepsia in its worst form. I decided to try your medicine. I used five bottles, and now I am doing my own housework. A number of my friends have taken Dr. Pierce's medicine and have experienced it highly. May God bless you in your grand work."

Dr. Pierce believes that a tonic made with alcohol will shrink the red blood corpuscles and make the system weak for resistance; that is why he avoided the use of any alcohol or narcotics in his "Medical Discovery," which contains the pure extract from roots and herbs without a particle of alcohol.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for dyspepsia or debility.

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

OF VITAL INTEREST TO EVERY CITIZEN.

MR. C. D. TAYLOR,

CLERK BOARD OF HEALTH SAYS PEOPLE SHOULD BECOME THE FRIENDS OF MEDICINE OF THE WORKING PEOPLE IN HIS CITY.

Mr. C. D. Taylor has been Clerk of the City Board of Health, Jacksonville, Fla., for ten years, which position has afforded him amply opportunity for noting the best means of preventing and curing disease.

He expresses his approval of the use of Peruna as the most effective means of solving a problem of such vital interest to the community in the following letter:—

"The health of the poor of a large city is always a question of vital interest, not only to the city officials but to every citizen. It has been a source of much satisfaction to me to find that so large a number of working people in moderate circumstances have accepted Peruna as their family medicine. It has cured a large number of cases especially of catarrh of the head, lungs and stomach and building up the general health it cannot fail but prove a help and blessing to any community where it is generally adopted and used. I have found it an honest, reliable remedy and am pleased to endorse it."—C. D. Taylor.

New York Republicans Nominate Mayor

Platform Includes a Demand for State Legislation for the Protection of Life Insurance Policyholders and for Public Ownership

New York, Oct. 8.—Charles E. Hughes, principal counsel for the committee of the legislature to investigate insurance affairs, was last night unanimously nominated as the candidate for mayor of New York, by the Republican city convention in Carnegie Hall.

The other nominations were: Richard Young of Brooklyn, for comptroller, and James L. Wells of Bronx, for president of the board of aldermen.

Senator Page read the platform, which embraced;

A denunciation of the Democratic municipal administration.

An affirmation of the principle of non-partisanship in municipal affairs.

A demand for the passage by the legislature of laws for the protection of life insurance policy holders and a more rigid official scrutinizing of life insurance companies.

The control of future subways by the municipality.

The establishment of a municipal lighting plant.

The nomination of Mr. Hughes was today declared by Mr. James McKeen, the commissioners' associate counsel, to be limited to the interests of the insurance investigation. Mr. McKeen said:

"I do not hesitate to say that it seems clear to me that it will edify cult if not impossible for the investigation to accomplish the best results, if it be made to appear that the credit for the work of the committee is to be claimed by one of the parties in the municipal contest.

"If Mr. Hughes accepts the nomination, whether he continues as counsel or retires from that position the claim will certainly be made that the Republican organization has sought to turn to its own special advantage the results thus far accomplished.

Mr. Hughes has not yet accepted the nomination.

MANY CHILDREN COMMIT SUICIDE

Germany Aroused Over the Number of Cases of Self-Destruction

VARIOUS CAUSES GIVEN

Over Two Score Pupils Die by Owe Hands Annually—Are They Forced Too Much?

Berlin, October 9.—Several distressing instances of children's suicides have occurred since the autumn school term began. This has brought on a discussion of the conditions of school and home life and endeavors are being made to trace the causes of that increasing feebleness of the desire to live which it is affirmed the 11,000 suicides of 1903 indicate. The statistics of children's self murder in Saxony show that although only seven persons under 14 committed suicide in 1901-1903 the number rose to 21 in 1903.

The suicide of adults in Saxony increased in the same time from 1,[illegible]

The causes of suicide in Germany are regarded as being exceedingly subtle and in the current discussions personal views on the subject have generally been decided by the observers' opinion on other questions. The socialists account for the suicides by economic reasons which they say result in making it harder to get substance darken life generally and throw shadows over the lives of the children.

The clerical view is that absence of faith, the increase of irreligion and the growth of sensual materialism explain the weakening desire for life and that a revival of spiritual aims would lessen suicides by increasing the serenity of living.

Critics of the school system assert that children are forced too much; that they are over-stimulated and are given tasks which are impossible for accomplishment for those slightly below the standard of capacity and that punishments,—the fear of reproach and injury to self-pride push the child towards suicide of which he often hears his elders refer as a refuge.

An instance is given of a 13-year-old boy who had failed to do a Latin exercise properly and was sent home to his father. The boy the moment he entered his father's room, shot himself. In identical circumstances another boy threw himself out of a window. The total number of children's suicides in Germany during 18 years was 747, just under 42 annually.

The shares in this syndicate are stated to be already over-subscribed, it is said the shares could not be obtained for money by influential buyers in this city on Wednesday evening.

M'CUE ALIVE

Has Still Living After Sustaining Horrible Injuries at Threshing Bee

Saturday morning Monk, Chief Taylor, D. Taylor and Alfred McCue, left for Chief Big Canoe's farm to see if Christopher McCue is yet able to be moved to the city, and found in hospital. It will be remembered that, about two weeks ago, McCue who was working on Chief Big Canoe's farm, met with a very serious accident. It was during the threshing McCue was driving the horses on the "horse power" outside of the barn. The barn doors were closed and the first suggestion those inside had that anything was wrong was when the horses stopped. Some of the men found McCue lying beside the machine in an unconscious condition.

His lower jaw was broken, one cheek was torn away, the cheek bone being fractured, and, at the time it was thought his skull was fractured. He lived until Friday night. It was generally supposed that McCue had since died, but that evening a telephone message contradicted this idea. The exact cause of his injuries is unknown. Should he be found in condition to stand the transportation, McCue will be brought to the city. He had not arrived at a late hour last night.

HUNTING LICENSES

Game Warden Fitzgerald Preparing for Deer Shooting

Now that local sportsmen are burnishing up their rifles, sorting over their cartridges, and promising enough brownies of venison to friends, to decapitate the deer country, it is well to consider the license question.

G. W. Fitzgerald, game warden, has received blank forms of licenses, which may be filled in and delivered at the hardware store of Mr. Higgins, Hunter street. Mr. Fitzgerald has already issued five non-resident licenses to persons resident in the United States, for which the fee is $25, and is still receiving applications. This fee for resident licenses is $5.

An Order-in-Council has been passed defining the districts in which bona fide residents may procure licenses on application to the township clerk and the payment of twenty-five cents. This license, like the others, limits the holder's bag to two deer, the same in this regard as other licenses. The districts in this county in which licenses are bona-fide settlers will be issued are;

That part of the County of Peterboro, including, and lying north of the north half of the township of Harvey, the township of Burleigh, and the north half of the township of Belmont.

Settlers who shoot deer without licenses are subject to prosecution the same as ordinary individuals.

Several prosecutions for antilegating the legitimate deer shooting season, have been made already in Vernlam.

THE SPORTSMAN'S KICK

Rule Under Which, Arguing From Physothesis Fair Races are Called Illegal

As noted in Saturday's Times, the Canadian Sportsman, of last issue devotes space in three parts of its columns to a most unjust and unfounded adverse criticism of racing people of Peterboro, and makes most insulting remarks concerning such gentlemen as Mr. Hughes-Charles and his fellow directors of the local industrial exhibition, by insinuating that such men would wink at such a matter as illegal suppression of time at the races.

We might say once more that there was no suppression of time; no time was taken; not a watch was watched during any heat of any race during the exhibition of speed at the fair, nor would such gentlemen as form the directorate of our local fair.

The rule under which the Sportsman makes such a sweeping condemnation of our races—was rule 41, sec. 1, of the American Trotting Association, and reads as follows;

SUPPRESSION OF TIME.

"Rule 41, Sec. 1.—In any public race or performance against time if there shall be any intentional suppression or misrepresentation in either the record or the announcement of the time of a heat in a race, it shall be deemed fraudulent. Any horse winning a heat or making a dead heat, wherein there was such fraudulent suppression of time, together with the parties implicated in the fraud, shall by operation of the rules be thenceforth disqualified from the right to compete on the grounds of members; which disqualification may be removed only by order of the Board of Review, when, upon investigation, the Board shall believe that the constructive fraud was not premeditated, but only then upon a restitution or return to the custody of the Treasurer of this Association, of any premiums that under any circumstances [illegible] [illegible] such horse on the grounds of members during the time of disqualification, and upon the payment of a fine of $100, to go to this Association, the fine to apply to the horse regardless of any change in the ownership."

It will thus be seen that the Sportsman argues along the line that time was taken, and the argument suppressed.

We might respectfully advise Canada's leading sporting organ to hear both sides of every important case, before condemning innocent men unheard.

THE DOPE GAVE OUT

A Rice Lake Man Buys a Horse from Gypsies

The Port Hope Guid says: — Mr. William White, who resides near the head of Rice Lake was in town on Wednesday attending the fair. Some time during the evening he entered into a trade with some gypsies, giving his horse in return for another and $15 to boot. The trade was made near the Royal Hotel and White had just driven a short distance past the Mill street church when the animal fell. An effort was made to take the horse to the Royal Hotel, but the poor old steed was done out and it died at the side of the roadshortly afterwards.

MR. LEONARD'S SUCCESS

Former Peterboro Resident Now G. M. of C.P.R., East of Fort William

Saturday's Toronto Mail & Empire contained an item of great local interest, which reads;—

Montreal, Oct. 6.—It was officially announced tonight that Mr. J. W. Leonard, superintendent of construction of the Toronto-Sudbury line, has been appointed assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific lines east of Fort William, with headquarters at Montreal. This is a new office with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and it is understood that it will embrace the duties hitherto performed by Mr. Spencer, and that Mr. Leonard will continue to act as superintendent of construction of the Toronto-Sudbury line.

STARCH TRUST THE LATEST CREATION

Montreal Capitalists Acquire Three Canadian Companies

Montreal, Oct. 9.—Montreal capitalists are about to combine the starch companies of Canada and create one big concern. The companies to be acquired are the Edwardsburg Starch Co., Imperial of Prescott, Brantford Starch Co., and the St. Lawrence of Point Credit. An offer to the shareholders of the Edwardsburg Company is being made today and it is understood that the other three have already been secured.

BOER OUTRAGES MEANS TROUBLE

Dutchmen Resident in London Make Allegations Against Cape Colonists

GERMANY SENDS ENVOY

It is Said the Facts are Being Suppressed in Order That Trouble may be Avoided

London, October 9.—Dutchmen now resident in London, who are opposed to the Jameson regime in Cape Colony, make some remarkable allegations in regard to the recently discovered "Boer plot" against German South-West Africa. They say the affair was really a second Jameson raid, with the difference that this time German, instead of Boer, territory, has been violated. They say that incriminating evidence of complicity has come into the possession of the German Government, with the return of the secret envoy, who was sent to Africa to investigate suspicions of British duplicity, which Berlin has long entertained.

According to these same Dutch malcontents, the German envoy has reported to the Imperial Government that "beyond any question of doubt the raid was planned and all its details arranged at Cape Town by the Jameson clique."

Leaders of the renegade Boers known as "National scouts," it added, whom the Boer people refused to receive back in the fold after the conclusion of the Boer war, trekked into German South-West Africa, and proceeded to gain the confidence of both natives and German settlers. They have been reinforced from time to time, according to the accusers of Dr. Jameson, by members of Hoares [illegible] who have been employed temporarily in the Transvaal and Kimberley mines, and then sent back into German territory after having been armed.

The opinion is expressed that the German Government, having nipped the conspiracy in the bud, will suppress the facts that have come to its knowledge from its desire to avoid everything at this time capable of aggravating the already aggravated public opinion in Germany toward England.

ANOTHER FIND

Local Police Saturday Added to Their Collection of Articles Found

As is well known to readers of The Times, hardly a day passes, but [illegible] a bottle of corn extract exhilaration, to a set of Watts' hymns are lost. The latest acquisition to the police museum of "Found Articles," was made Saturday afternoon and consists of a set of artifical grinders. Any one who is at present "gumming it" and trying in vain, to whistle Il Trovatore for lack of his upper teeth, might consult the police officials and have the set located on Saturday, tried for purposes of identification.

Mr. Berlock Stubmes, the well known local rival of Sidocque, Saturday evening was shown the set and at once, with glistening eye, and rapt attention, forgetful of the world's mad futilities, proceeded to deduce a probable owner.

The left canine tooth was, his eagle eye discovered, somewhat worn at the south-east corner of its span; this at once assured him the owner of the teeth was a smoker. With supreme contempt for possible adverse arguments, Mr. Stubmes, triumphantly showed a slight jagged indentation on this tooth; this proved conclusively that the owner must be rich. An imitation amber would have worn a smooth hole in the tooth, owing to extraneous substance in the mixture composing the mouthpiece.

That the man owning the teeth is a hard drinker, was decided beyond refutation by the well preserved condition of the north-east grinders; they are well preserved. A beginner in the wearysome business of putting tangle leg out of sight, swallows his booze quickly, whilst an old toper keeps it at the north-east side of his cavern lingeringly, hence the preservation; any way who but a hard drinker would have left a $20 set of grinders to the mercy of a police force? That the man is of a secretive disposition, has control of his temper at all times, and does not smile in his sleep, he proved beyond a doubt by the tops of each tooth being slightly worn longitudinally along their tops. This was admitted correct by all present. That the owner is of careful habits, economical and a tenor singer, Mr. Stubmes demonstrated by a kind of anchor attached to the south end of the plate. Mr. Stubmes undertook, next, to prove that the loser of these teeth wears blue clothes by induction. The man proved to constantly have an amber mouthpiece on business between his jaws, wears teeth that have a slightly greenish tint. It is well known that yellow and blue makes green, so Mr. Stubmes case here is proven.

One deduction made by Mr. Stubmes proves the owner's name; this is based on the fact that the gentleman's loss shows that "this name is Dinnis."

HELD A DOG FIGHT

Two Bull Terriers in Conflict and One Was Killed Outright

Halifax, Oct. 9.—A Sydney special says one arrest has already been made and four others are likely to follow in connection with a brutal dog fight which was held in Sydney on Sunday morning. The owners of the dogs having put up a side bet of $35 each on their respective dogs, repaired with the crowd of spectators to a spot just outside the city limits, near the city reservoir, where the fight took place. Both dogs being well bred bull terriers put up a desperate fight, and one was killed outright before the melee ended. The arrests are being made at the instance of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, but it is likely that the city authorities will also take a hand in the matter. Several prominent professional and business men of the city, who witnessed the fight, will be subpoenaed as witnesses.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Small Girl and Her Mother and Two Aged Men Beaten to Death

Middletown, N.Y., Oct. 9.—Without a clue to the murder or murders, and lacking anything more definite than vague surmises as to motive, the authorities are trying to-day to solve the mystery surrounding the murder last night of nine-year-old Alice Ingerick and Willis and Fred Olney, and the probably fatal assault on Mrs. Ingerick, the girl's mother.

Mrs. Ingerick, who was separated from her husband, and who acted as housekeeper for the Olneys, was beaten into unconsciousness by her assailants. She has not been revived and the physicians attending her believe she will die without being able to tell the story of the killing of her daughter and her employers.

Mrs. Ingerick and her daughter were beaten with a blunt instrument, presumably with a piece of iron pipe. The child was dead when found. The mother's skull was fractured in three places, and she apparently was in a dying condition.

As soon as it was known that murder had been committed, search was begun for the Olneys, who were missing. To-day their bodies were found in a wood near their home. Wagon tracks near by indicated that the men had been killed at some other point and the bodies taken into the wood.

The authorities are now endeavoring to trace a wagon seen in the vicinity of the Olney's home yesterday.

BRIDE WAS DROWNED

Husband Tried to Save Woman He Married a Few Weeks Ago

St. John, N.B., Oct. 9.—A telegraphic message from Musquash, N.B., says that Mrs. Lizzie McGuire, aged 25, who but a few weeks ago was married to Robert McGuire, quartermaster of the Eastern Steamship Company's steamer, Calvin Austin, was drowned yesterday in Little Musquash harbor, near their home. They and Mr. McGuire's sister were crossing the harbor when a squall capsized their sailboat, and McGuire and his bride were thrown out, while his sister retained her place in the boat. McGuire swam to his wife, and she [illegible] with both sank, however, twice, and he says he then seems to have lost consciousness for a brief time, for when he came up the second time she was not with him. How he was rescued is not told. At last report the body of Mrs. McGuire had not been recovered.

VICTORIOUS TOGO TO TOUR WORLD

Japan's Nelson Will Visit Europe and America Next Year

New York, Oct. 9.—According to a cablegram from London to the American, Admiral Togo, with his squadron of the best ships in the Japanese navy, will visit European and American waters some time next year.

According to reliable reports from Tokio, the Japanese Government believes that Japan's position in the family of nations will be strengthened by the appearance abroad of the magnificent sea fighting machines, and their crews, which have accomplished such results in the war just ended. The understanding is that the squadron which Togo will bring with him will consist of two of the first-class battleships, two armored cruisers and several smaller craft. He will go first to England and may visit France as well. He will then proceed to America and from there go home.

Lawson to Control Big Three Insurance

Addresses Telegram to State Governors and "Strongest Representative Men" Asking That They Step in and Elect Directors Who Will See Wrongs are Righted

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 8.—Governor Folk has received a telegram from Thomas W. Lawson asking him to accept a place with other governors on a protective committee for the policyholders to demand restitution of money by the Mutual, New York Life and Equitable Companies, and to "punish guilty officials."

The governor is very busy and probably will not be able to accept the position.

"Will you, with other governors and strongest representative men of the country, serve on a policyholders' protective committee of Equitable, New York Life and Mutual Companies? Committee unfettered, except it is to take possession of New York Life and Mutual and select directors and controllers, who shall be pledged to obtain full restitution and full punishment of wrongdoers, also to prove that the bullet killing young Hill, was fired from inside the Hill's house.

Mr. Denniston, on Saturday, denied the truth of this report, in toto.

Mr. Denniston stated that neither this nor any other information as to the intentions of the defence have been mentioned by him, as nothing whatever, he states, will be said as to their intended procedure. While they feel the utmost confidence that an acquittal of the prisoner will result, it is considered advisable not to make any statement at present. With regard to the case of McAuliffe, the defense feel that in the strong case which they are prepared to present, that an acquittal is also bound to result.

NO SIGNS OF EXHAUSTION

The Yukon Will Be a Permanent Mining Camp

Ottawa, October 9.—Mr. Joseph Keele, of the Geological Survey, has returned from the Yukon. Mr. Keele worked in a practically unknown district about 600 miles up the Stuart river, which is navigable for 200 miles, or about the same distance east of Dawson. Mr. Keele said that the yield of gold this year would be less than last season. The reason for this was the unusual dryness of the summer. The mining [illegible] practically all placer, was done by sluicing, and dry creeks meant no sluices.

Another thing interfering with the yield was the passing of many mines into the hands of larger companies with bigger outfits. When, however, these companies got down to business the output would be much larger, as their equipment would enable them to work low grade mines. Mr. Keele saw no signs of exhaustion in the Yukon, and thought it would become a permanent mining camp.

BINDER TWINE EXPERIMENT

A Test to Be Made With Manitoba Flax

Winnipeg, October 9.—Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba, is much interested in experiment to produce binder twine from Manitoba flax and has arranged to have two tons of straw picked at Gretna, Man., and shipped to the Toronto research laboratories, where it is to be put through process to convert it into fibre for twine manufacture. If the experiment proves successful it will be a great event for Manitoba farmers as furnishing market for straw, which is now waste material, and also reducing the price of twine in the province.

STEALING IN RUSSIAN ARMY

Minister of War Says That It Must Cease

Moscow, October 9.—Secret instructions have been issued by the Minister of War to all commanding officers, ordering them to take rigorous measures against the stealing of rifles and revolvers, which has become epidemic in the army. The instructions point out that despite the attempts that were made in 1901 to stamp out this practice, the stealing has steadily increased, until now it has assumed alarming proportions.

PLOT TO KIDNAP J. D. ROCKEFELLER

Remarkable Scheme to Get Big Ransom

TWO MILLION DOLLARS

Failed Because One of the Kidnappers Weakened

Butte, Mont., October 9.—Pat Crowe, told today of a scheme to kidnap John D. Rockefeller and hold him for $2,000,000 ransom, after the Cudahy affair in Omaha. He said he and his partner fled to Chicago, where they hid. He found it easy to avoid arrest, and the Cudahy matter was so easy that he decided to go after bigger game, and Rockefeller was decided upon. The two made a trip to Cleveland to study the lay of the land. They determined to hold up the watchman, gag him, and drive off [illegible] for one Wednesday night. The horse and waggon had been engaged and a house in the country secured. A few hours before the time, Crowe's partner weakened and refused to go into it. Crowe then fled to South Africa.

A LITTLE STEALTH

Some of the most lovable and best people in the world are cranky, and a "bottle" hard to manage, particularly when you want to do them good. Then it is that justifiable and righteous artfulness may be resorted to. As, for instance, in the following case given by a devoted wife and mother, in Iowa:

"This spring my daughter, who is a teacher, became convinced that coffee was doing her harm, as it caused distress and belching after eating. She felt that she needed a warm drink in the morning but disliked hot water or milk. Then our daily use of Grape-Nuts suggested Postum.

"For some time my husband, who has been a user of coffee from his youth, had been more than usually troubled with sleeplessness and nervousness and I felt that Postum might be helpful to him. The question was, how to persuade them to leave off drinking coffee and try Postum, against which they had repeatedly expressed prejudice. I resolved to try an experiment and make the test.

"Without acquainting them with the fact I made Postum according to directions, but added a teaspoonful of good coffee. I poured it out with some misgivings, but was delighted to see that no one could tell from its appearance that it was not rich, strong coffee. Its use was continued for a week with the coffee addition, then that was gradually withdrawn, until only the pure Postum remained, and still the change had not been detected.

"Two things were very noticeable, however, that my daughter had begun to rapidly improve in health, her dyspepsia left, and my husband was enjoying sweet, refreshing sleep.

"When I ventured to tell them what I had done, he asked for a return to the coffee, and I gladly made it for him; but one day satisfied him, the old sleeplessness came back and he told me he liked the Postum better. So we have used it ever since to the benefit of the whole family." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Mr. Denniston Denies That Gov's Defence Depends on Shot From Inside the Hill Residence

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Waken--Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Snap All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and vanishing, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this:

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE GREAT NAVAL POWERS

James Bryce, the eminent English historian and political economist, writes about the growth of the world's navies in a manner calculated to put people to thinking. His mere statement of the amount of the increase in naval expenditures alone in the last ten or twenty years is impressive. The British outlay grew from $97,000,000 in 1890 to $135,000,000 in 1905; in France the increase was from $19,000,000 in 1890 to $56,400,000 in 1905; Germany's advance in the same period was from $16,250,000 to $48,740,000; Russia's from $20,450,000 to over $58,500,000, and that of the United States from $23,400,000 to $82,750,000. The writer lays emphasis upon the self-evident fact that the wealth and population of these countries have not increased as rapidly as have their naval expenditures, and he naturally assumes that the people are either more heavily taxed or that a large proportion of the revenues go to war purposes.

As to changed conditions, Professor Bryce points out that while Italy might formerly have needed a navy for the defence of her long coast line, no attack menaces her now from any quarter. If France and Germany finally settle the old score of Alsace and Lorraine, the war will be fought out on the land; the naval phase of it could not be material. Italy is eliminated from consideration altogether and the idea of open hostilities between Germany and England is dismissed as absurd and impossible. Regarding the turbulent Irish spirit which breaks out on the slightest provocation in London and Berlin, Professor Bryce is confident that there is in his country "no man of political knowledge or judgment holding a responsible position who would not regard a rupture as an inconceivable misfortune, which he would do everything in his power to avert," and he is hopeful that this conciliatory spirit is true of the German people also. The very history of Germany would seem to show that the Germans are as slow to wrath and as well-balanced as the British.

Thus the United States and Great Britain are only left to be seriously considered. Of course, England being an island, her need of an exceptionally strong navy is patent, but Professor Bryce makes it apparent that her present navy really exceeds the strength required of it. Even England adopted the "two power standard" of pitching her naval strength, France and Russia were the possible adversaries in mind. The destruction of Russia's naval power and the new entente between France and England leaves this old alignment of hostilities of no present force. Now, indeed, the British navy has reached a strength equal to that of any three powers combined. There is, therefore, no obvious reason for additions to the British navy.

As for the United States, Professor Bryce holds that their position is unassailable; that no country could hope to gain anything by a war with that nation, and that no country is likely to run counter to Uncle Sam's wishes so far as the Monroe doctrine is concerned. He does not think that Davis Gain's insular possessions justify an extraordinary navy because, even though they might be taken, the republic would ultimately recover everything. Apropos of their merchant marine, Professor Bryce thinks the connection between a great navy and the expansion of foreign trade is not obvious, inasmuch as the latter would be more directly attained, "not by spending more on unproductive purproductive purposes in quadrupling the navy, but by lowering the present protective tariff."

It is now in order for any of this class of persons desiring appointments to make their wishes known to the Postmaster-General.

track of your jewels, and have to go further a-field to discover them. By the way, have you any note of their size and weight?"

"Only of course a few. But I think you would not go off on such a wild-goose chase. As for me, I am weary of the subject, and inclined to let them go! The whole affair has depressed and exhausted me. I feel pursued by an evil fate—as if everything was insecure—I never feel safe!"

"Merely morbid feeling, such as you accused me of indulging, and proves that you ought never to be left alone! Why do you think of going to so heathenish a place as Folkestone? My sister will only be too delighted, if you will go to Chedworth, Dorrington's place in H——shire. They will be there in about a fortnight, and get some pleasant people to meet you."

"You are very kind! But at present I want to be quiet—and—"

"Captain Shirley," announced a waiter.

Marsden elevated his eyebrows interrogatively, and Mrs. Ruthven replied with a smile.

"I beg a thousand pardons," said Shirley, a sullen look of annoyance clouding his face. "I thought you were alone."

"I assure you I am very glad to see you," cried Mrs. Ruthven, gayly. "I have been trying to feed my inexorable trustee here, into good-humor, to get his consent to my new purchase. Come and help me, and pray take some luncheon."

"I have already lunched, thank you."

"A glass of Burgundy, then? This, I assure you, is not to be despised."

Shirley condescended to take a glass—and began to thaw.

"Come into the next room," said Mrs. Ruthven, leading the way; and, nestling into the corner of a large sofa, she proceeded to coquette with both her visitors.

"Mr. Marsden is going all the way to Amsterdam, on the chance of finding my poor rubies," she remarked, after a little discursive chatter, "is it not good of him?"

"We would all go further than Amsterdam, if we thought we could find them," said Shirley, gallantly.

"If? Yes, that is just it. But it is too far for a mere chance. By the way, how far is Amsterdam from Ostend?" asked Mrs. Ruthven, in a curious mocking tone.

"I really do not know," returned Shirley, gravely, and looking very straight at her, his face darkening. "Why do you ask?"

Mrs. Ruthven was saved the difficulty of answering, as her courier came in before she could reply, and handing a card to his mistress, asked:

"Will you receive the gentleman, madame?"

"Oh, yes, show him up." Then, with a little confidential nod to Shirley, she added:

"This is my engineer!"

"He has lost no time," he returned.

"I shall not let him stay long. I will tell you all about him afterward"—to Marsden.

Shirley looked sharply at the door; but Marsden seemed too much occupied with his own thoughts to heed what was going on.

In a few minutes a middle-aged man of average height, with iron-gray moustaches and whiskers, his right arm in a sling, came into the room, and made a deferential, though clumsy, bow.

"Good-morning, Mr. Colville," said Mrs. Ruthven, who had risen, and was standing beside a table near one of the windows. "You have lost no time in answering my note."

"I was anxious to thank you for your kindness in writing," he returned, in a low, hoarse voice.

"And how is your little girl?" continued Mrs. Ruthven. "Let me see, she must be nearly eight?"

"No, ma'am, she is nearly seven, and looks less. She is a delicate, weakly little creature, that's why I am anxious to keep her away in the country."

"Very naturally. I am sorry I can not attend to you to-day, Mr. Colville," graciously, "you see I am engaged with this gentleman, and Captain Shirley," bending her head in the direction of the latter. "But if you will call to-morrow, I can give you half an hour; do not be later than twelve."

"I shall be punctual, and I thank you."

"Wait for a moment," said Mrs. Ruthven. "I have a little gift here for my goddaughter." She went to her writing-table, and took from a drawer a small packet tied with ribbon, which she placed in his hands.

"You are very good, madame," he said, as with another clumsy bow and a look at each gentleman, he left the room.

"Do you not remember him at all?" asked Mrs. Ruthven.

"No," returned Shirley. "I never saw him before, and I can not say he looks the sort of man I should be inclined to trust."

"You are too suspicious. The poor fellow has been unlucky, his arm was broken in some machinery, and he is out of work."

"I have a fellow-feeling with the unlucky," said Marsden, rousing himself. "I've not had much good luck myself."

"Why you seem to me a remarkably lucky man," said Shirley.

"By the way, Captain Shirley," began Mrs. Ruthven, in a languid tone. "I hope you will excuse me for breaking my engagement; but my head is quite too bad to drive down to Twickenham. It would not be worth while going in a closed carriage, and with my neuralgia an open one is not to be thought of."

"Pray do not dream of inconveniencing yourself on my account," said Shirley, turning white. "But as you do not need me, I have business to attend to in the city, and will [illegible]." He bowed to Marsden and went away quickly.

"How cross he is," said Mrs. Ruthven, as the door closed to him.

"Yes, poor devil," returned Marsden, carelessly, "you treat him rather badly."

"Why, does he court bad treatment? I do not want him to come here."

"There is a strong dash of cruelty in you, charming though you are."

"Do you think so?" looking down, and speaking softly. "Yes, I am capable of taking my revenge, believe me," her lips quivered as she spoke. "I am quite sure those pretty velvety little hands could strike unflinchingly; but they could caress tenderly too."

"Clifford!" she exclaimed, with sudden emotion, then, correcting herself—"I mean Mr. Marsden."

"No, no," he said, smiling on her, "you have broken the ice, and I will not have the colder appellation."

"Not yet," she said softly, withdrawing her hand which he had taken. "I may call you Clifford one day—but not now. Tell me, when do you go on this rather wild-goose chase to Amsterdam?"

"To-night. I cross to Calais, and shall get to Amsterdam some time to-morrow. I shall not write, as I hope to see you soon again. I trust you will go and amuse yourself somewhere. I can't bear to think of your moping in an hotel at Folkestone; do go to my sister."

"Well, perhaps I may, but I am anxious to settle about this place."

"We must also arrange about a second trustee; I feel my responsibilities too heavy."

"Oh! We can see all about that when you come back."

"Good-bye, then, my dear Mrs. Ruthven. Wish me success."

He pressed her hand, and was gone. Mrs. Ruthven grew very pale, as she stood for a moment in thought, and pressed her handkerchief to her eyes, then she looked in the glass, smiling at her own image.

"I should never be alone," she

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Yesterday's Lovely Weather

Yesterday's beautiful Indian summer weather, brought out large church congregations, both morning and evening, Jackson's, Central and Victoria Parks were all patronized by hundreds of people out taking their last summer sun bath of this season. There must have been one thousand people walking through, and lying about Jackson Park. Children had great fun among the now rapidly falling leaves.

Scarlet Fever

P. C. Adams yesterday posted a scarlet fever card at 145 London St. This fact need not cause uneasiness however, as this is only the second case of this malignant disease reported since last May. This is not a bad record for a city of 15,000 people. We regret to say, however, that the city is not entirely free from all danger on the score of typhoid. As noted some ten days ago, a sample of Peterboro's drinking water was submitted to the health authorities in Toronto. Their verdict, after testing the water microscopically, was that Peterboro's water is very bad, containing three of the most dangerous germs usually feared, and that our drinking water is as bad as that of any city in Canada. None should drink water-works water without first previously boiling it.

Farmers' Institute

The president and secretary of West Peterboro's Farmers Institute, have been advised that the intention of the Department of Agriculture is to have a judging class on one of the three days of the regular meetings. This judging class will probably be held on the second day, and an expert on live stock will be sent to conduct it. It will be held either in a farm yard or in town in which each meeting is held. It is expected this year that one additional meeting will be held at Selwyn, and the other meetings will be as usual.

27 Pound Lunge Caught

One day last week Mr. Sandy Hill of Lakefield, was successful in landing a monster lunge which tipped the scales at 27 1-4 pounds. The fish who caught near the Three Islands and Sandy had quite a tussle to landing it. This is the largest fish caught this season in Lake Katchewanooka.

—A joint meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and the retail merchants and the manufacturers has been called for Wednesday night. The great question will be better fire protection.

COLE SHOWS UP

Important Witness in Hudson Murder Case, Returns to the City

Mr. Manley Cole, possibly the strongest witness of the prosecution against Patrick McAuliffe, charged with causing the death of Fred Hudson, the Hunter street hotelman, and whose disappearance some weeks ago, was noted in The Times, has returned voluntarily to the city.

Mr. Cole explains that his absence was due to pressing business requiring his presence in Buffalo, but he will be on hand to give evidence at the assizes this week.

It now seems that his sudden call away had no connection whatever with any desire on his part to shirk [illegible] as was currently reported when he left.

HOWARD'S MEDAL

Madden Howard Will be Presented With Token of Bravery.

As noted some weeks ago in The Times, Mr. Madden Howard, a Hiawatha Indian made a brave rescue of two young men at Rice Lake, saving them from certain death by drowning. As suggested and advocated at the time, by this journal, the Humane Society decided to present Mr. Howard with a medal for bravery. The presentation will be made on Sunday, October 15th, and the function will be in the Hiawatha Methodist church. It is expected that a number of prominent public men will be present to witness the ceremony.

Steam Roller's Fuel Swiped

Some mischievous boys or indigent citizens on Friday night, took, stole and carried away several armsful of wood, the property and fuel of Peterboro's road roller. The roller had been in use Friday, and at six o'clock in the evening had been left at the corner of Stewart and Hunter sts. Early Saturday morning, when Mr. S. Wainwright, the engineer of the roller, went to steam up his boiler, he found that during the night some one had stolen the kindling he had placed on the footboard ready for lighting the fire next morning. The consequence was that he had to skirmish around and get some more, and it was nine o'clock before the steam was generated, and the roller ready for work.

New Pastor for Centreville

Rev. D. A. Mackenzie has accepted a call to Centreville church, and whilst at first opposed by his present congregation, Patterson's Corners, and afterwards allowed by the latter, the rev. gentleman will take hold of his new church on Oct. 22d. The Brockville Presbytery, last week considered his translation and authorized the change. The stipend is $900 per annum and a free manse. Upon the resignation of Rev. Mr. Mackenzie as moderator, Rev. Mr. McMullen, of Merrickville, was appointed for the coming year.

Millbrook's New Station

A large number of Peterboro's citizens, who took in the Millbrook Fair last week, were agreeably surprised at this fine new station which the G.T.R. is erecting at that point to replace the one destroyed by fire some months' ago. The new structure is a very handsome one, and would be a credit to a much larger town. The base of the structure is of brick, and the upper part clapboards. It will not be ready for occupancy until the earlier part of November.

RETAIL MERCHANTS

Will Meet Tonight in Y. M. C. A. to Elect Officers of Association

The Peterboro Retail Merchants' Protective Association, has since its reorganization a few months ago, grown to considerable strength, a large majority of the merchants of all kinds, having joined.

The association will hold its annual meeting to-night, in the Y.M.C.A. Assembly Hall, at eight o'clock.

Mr. E. M. Trowern, the general secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, will be present at the meeting, and give an address, as well as assist in the formation of plans for the future. As there are a number of important matters to be discussed it is hoped that a large number of the members of the local association will be present.

The election of officers will take place, and the reports of the work of the association for the past year will be presented. The future plans of this association will be discussed, and possible action taken on suggestions and reports presented by Mr. Trowern.

Prominently in the picture is the well known figure of Peterboro's popular Chief, Mr. C. J. Reoel, who is a member of the Association, and who attended the convention.

A CONFIDENTIAL CHAT.

"It's perfect nonsense, Bessie, for you to talk of being laid on the shelf. Why, it all depends on yourself. Forget your worries, your aches and ailments; do as I did, take plenty of out-of-door air, cultivate happiness by not allowing your mind to dwell on the trifles and the worries of life. I sent fifty one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for his 'Common Sense Medical Adviser,' and found it contained much useful information about the care of my health, about physiology, anatomy, and everything a woman should know. I also decided to write Dr. Pierce and tell him all about my ailments. I received such a nice, carefully considered and confidential letter, in reply, giving me advice about my diet, exercise and all. This advice is free to everyone and I wonder you don't write him at once. It didn't take me many months to regain my good looks. Ever since I was fifteen I have suffered untold agonies periodically but now I am free from pain, worry and bad temper. Occasionally I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—this for the complexion, and to stimulate the liver. Then I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription three times a day for those womanly weaknesses I told you about. That's my secret of beauty. It's the easiest thing in the world to be happy and keep one's good looks. Look at the thousands of women who have been made well by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; look how they keep their good looks. Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure."

Miss Thornbeck Dislocates Arm

Ethel Thornbeck, the young daughter of Mr. Wilson Thornbeck, the popular caretaker of the Brock street rink, met with an accident on Friday last while playing around her home on MacDonel street, which, while it is not serious, is quite painful. The girl fell on the ground, and dislocated her arm at the elbow. She was attended to by Dr. Mowbray and it is expected that she will be all right in the course of a short time.

Grenadiers, Dragoons, Cossacks, and Police Combine to Suppress Disorders--Authorities are Apprehensive

St. Petersburg, Oct. 10.—General Trepoff, Assistant Minister of the Interior, has been informed by telephone from Moscow that no serious disorders occurred there last night, and that the situation was slightly more reassuring this morning. But the strike is spreading, and the authorities evidently are very apprehensive. They are hopeful, however, that the St. Petersburg workmen will not be affected.

A serious development at Moscow to-day was an attempt to interrupt railroad communication. The rails were tampered with a short distance from Moscow, causing the derailment of a train, but there were no casualties.

THREE WERE KILLED.

The Ministry of the Interrior admits that three Cossack policemen were killed yesterday, but has no confirmation of a despatch received by the Russ from Moscow, saying that eight bakers were killed in an affray at a bakery, and are inclined to question its accuracy, saying that their advices do not mention such an event, and pointing out that it is hardly possible for troops firing volleys from a narrow street to injure strikers atoning them from fourthastory windows. The report was definitely disproved at a later date.

The main streets and squares of Moscow are occupied by police, as well as by two regiments of grenadiers, a squadron of dragoons, and eight squadrons of Cossacks.

The report that martial law has been declared at Moscow is authoritatively denied. No disturbances were reported at Moscow to-day.

Order was restored in the streets at 11 o'clock last night. It is officially announced that among the wounded are five Cossacks, four gendarmes, and a number of policemen.

A BOMB-THROWERS' PLOT.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 10. — The throwing of bombs : the troops in Tiflis yesterday morning, resulting in the soldiers firing on the people, appears to have been the outcome of a deliberate organized plot. Ten bombs were thrown simultaneously in the vicinity of three barracks in widely separated quarters of the city. Shots were also fired at the soldiers as they rushed out of the barracks, but the loss of life was confined to one Cossack and one bomb-thrower. In addition twenty persons were wounded.

SHOOT DOWN RIOTERS.

London, Oct. 10.—Special despatches to the London newspapers describe the desperate state of affairs at Moscow on Saturday and Sunday. Many persons were killed or wounded in the rioting on the Everyskoy Boulevard at the site of the monument to the poet Alexander Pushkin, and in the great square fronting the monastery, where the troops used sabers and rifles, firing point blank into the rioters. The authorities have issued a proclamation giving the police absolute power to prevent assemblages.

The correspondent of the Standard describes how many of those arrested were made to run the gauntlet of a double line of Cossacks in a long narrow courtyard, the soldiers brutally striking them with knouts and butts of rifles until they dropped fainting or dead at the end of the line.

GERMANY TO TAKE HANDS OFF MOROCCO

This is the Outcome of British Diplomacy

A RUSSIAN OPINION

How England Has Triumphed Over Germany in Latest Encounter

St. Petersburg, October 10. — Prince Cholanskr, the Czar's adviser, said to your correspondent today:

"Having endeavored to wrest from Britain its supremacy of the sea and failing to obtain a foothold on the Mediterranean, Chancellor Buelow now announces his readiness to desist from the Moroccan adventure. Possibly with a view to neutralizing Alsace, the Kaiser proposes to close the Baltic, thus relieving Russia and himself, of the necessity of maintaining Baltic fleets. He also proposes that Russia and Germany divide the heritage of the Hapsburgs, Russia receiving Galicia and Germany obtaining all of Austria, including the Southern Slav provinces and the Adriatic ports of Trieste.

"In the struggle between Germany and Britain, however, Russia will remain neutral, fearing the excessive strengthening of either. The Russian press is advocating an understanding with Britain, which will bring about the demarkation of the spheres of influence of the two nations in Middle Asia and will open the Dardanelles. This corresponds with the Czar's desire for peace, permitting Russia to recuperate."

MAUD KESWICK'S HISTORY

Concise History of a Mare Whom the Turf World is Talking

We have to thank a correspondent for the subjoined letter giving a short history of Maud Keswick, the mare that, once peddled about Peterboro, has now made a record of 2.08 1-4, and worth perhaps $20,000 In view of the fact that a recent attempt has been made, through misrepresentation, by certain uneasy souls parties to "queer" the Peterboro Turf Club in official turf circles, the part played by the local turf club in bringing Maud Keswick out, is, in itself, a strong argument against underhand attempts to injure the club. The letter reads as follows:

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—I have thought recently, since Maud Keswick has come into such great prominence, your readers would like to know all about her and the part the Peterboro Turf Club and Fair played in the matter.

Mr. B. Morrow gave her mother, a Tarrif mare, to Mr. James Fife, of Otonabee, and he raised Maid Keswick, 2.08 3-4. Dolly Kesmet, 2.24 3-4 on ice, Jim K. 2.25 on ice, from her, Mr. James Fife let Mr. B. Morrow have Maud Keswick, and he used her for a saddle horse, but thought so little of her he traded her to Dr. Johnson for a horse, the doctor gave $40 for; Morrow giving $35 to boot. Then the doctor let Mr. W. R. Gibbs, the liveryman have her. Gibbs let Mr. Parker have her for $125. Mr. Parker soon got very sick of her and transferred the mare to Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, who used her in his business as cheese buyer. As the latter gentleman takes quite an interest in the Turf Club and Peterboro's fair, he let Mr. Geo. Curtis have her to handle. He had her in training one month and she showed up so well at the race, Mr. O. B. Sheppard brought her. Your readers all know her record since.

Now this mare, as will be thought would have been peddled round here as a "no account" horse but for the Peterboro Turf Club.

Now, as for Dolly Kravick, who we got Mr. Fife to start her at our fair, everybody laughed at her, but the club got him to keep on, and at our winter meeting, she not only ran but beat everything in her class, taking a mark of 2.24 1-2.

During the meeting he sold her to Mr. Sam Currie for $1000. Seeing he had done so well with the mare, he brought out her half brother Jim K last winter and gave him an ice mark of 2.25. He sold him this spring to Mr. Pearson of Montreal, for $800.

Now, not one of those horses would ever have come to the front, if the Peterboro Turf Club and Fair had not been in active existence.

Still some people cry down with racing, but I do not think there is a farmer in this part of the country that has made one quarter the money Mr. Fife has, and of his Tarrif mare. And it is known to every one that the Peterboro Turf Club helped him make it, as shown by the above short history of these now celebrated horses.

Yours truly,
FRIEND OF THE TURF CLUB.

HAROLD BARBER GONE

Son of Mr. J. H. Barber, One Time C. E. on G. T. R. Dies in St. John N. B.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Roland Deane, the George street flower and seed merchant, received a telegram from Mr. J. H. Barber, from St. John, N.B., The message notified him that Harold Barber, Mr. J. H. Barber's son had died yesterday morning at St. John. He was asked to make preparations to have the remains buried in the Barber family lot in Little Lake cemetery, and to complete other arrangements, such as having a clergyman in attendance. The body will arrive by C.P.R. express Wednesday and be taken direct to place of interment. The deceased was between eight and nine years of age. Mr. Barber was some years ago a civil engineer in employ of the G.T.R., Peterboro. Mrs. Barber was a Miss Leary of Lindsay.

Mr. Barber's many friends in this city will feel deeply for him in his recent affliction.

NARROW ESCAPE

Mrs. Thos. Bradburn, and Miss Bradburn Have Runaway Experience

Yesterday morning what might have had a most serious result, was experienced by Mrs. Thos. Bradburn and Miss Bradburn. The ladies were driving near the C.P.R. station yesterday morning, when their horse taking fright at something, took the bit in his teeth and began to exhibit a quick speeding stunt. Mrs. Bradburn with great presence of mind and pluck, held tight to the reins.

When the flying steed reached the G.T.R. tracks, corner of Parnell and Park streets, it fortunately lost its footing, and the momentum caused the animal to fall.

Most providentially neither of the ladies sustained anything more serious than a bad scare, and, strange to say, neither horse nor rig was injured.

THINK CURE HAS BEEN DISCOVERED

Accept in Advance Professor's Dogmatic Assertions re Tuberculosis Discovery

SCIENTISTS OFFER OPINION

Have Known for Some Time That Important Medical Announcement was Coming

Paris, October 10.—Reversing their usual attitude, French savants accept in advance Professor Emile Behring's dogmatic assertions, that he has discovered a cure for tuberculosis. Among the men of the highest standing in the medical world whom your correspondent approached on the subject were Drs. Metchnikoff and Roux, of the Pasteur Institute, and Dr. Brouardel, former president of the Academy of Medicine, all of whom declare that if Prof. Behring says he has found a cure, he must surely have done so.

"I await Saturday's communication from Prof. Behring with the greatest interest," said Dr. Metchnikoff. "His discovery of the anti-diphtheritic serum was presented in the same way, the announcement of his discovery having been made before the details were given. We have known for the past year that Dr. Behring was on the track of a new discovery. He has certainly carried on his investigations upon a scale which entitles him to speak when he thinks himself ready."

Prof. Behring himself said to your correspondent, "There has been some exaggeration about this matter. In treating the disease the new method has been successful with all the animals we have tried, but experiments with human beings must yet be made. This is one of the reasons for delaying a full explanation of the cure. I will say frankly, however, that I am firmly convinced that I have found the long sought cure, which is not a serum, but in powder form. I don't say it is the only cure, but I do say that it is, in my opinion, completely effective in almost any but the last stages of phthisis."

Prof. Behring hinted that the basis of the cure rests upon recognition of the facts that the digestive organs are the road which the bacillus takes more frequently than the respiratory system. No further indication as to the nature of the cure can be had for the moment. Prof. Behring says that the result of the present tuberculosis congress has been the complete downfall of Prof. Koch's theory as to the non-transmission of bovine tuberculosis to man. It marks the entire triumph of the French school, he said, which was always of the other side, holding as axiom, "theorize all you please, but sterilize your milk."

MRS. PENFIELD DEAD

Woman Whose Claim U. S. Persuaded Portugal to Arbitrate is Dead

New York, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Catharine Albert Penfield, wife of Frederick Courtland Penfield, a former American diplomatic agent and consul-general to Egypt, died on Wednesday of heart disease, at a hotel here. She was 60 years old.

Mrs. Penfield was at one time the center of an international dispute. Before she married Mr. Penfield in London she was the widow of Colonel Edward McMurdo, who built the Delagoa Bay Railroad. She inherited from him an interest amounting to $1,500,000 in the claims against Portugal on account of the seizure of the line in 1889. In prosecuting her claim she appealed to Secretary Blaine, and, under pressure, Portugal allowed the matter to be arbitrated. She finally received $500,000.

BEST IN AMERICA

Manager of Ogilvie's Says This Year's Crop Beats Anything Grown on the Continent

Montreal, Oct. 9.—"The best all round wheat crop that has ever been produced, either in the Canadian or American North-West," was the statement made regarding this year's Canadian crop by Mr. F. W. Thompson, managing director of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited. "There is now every indication that over 80 per cent. of the total crop will be of the highest grades. The weather has continued so favorable that it is also gratifying to note that a very large amount of fall plowing has already been done in addition to the regular harvest operations. The increase in acreage next years promises to be very large."

INCREASED ASSESSMENT

Assessors Returns, now in, Show big Increase in Peterboro's Assessment

As is generally known, the system of assessment was changed this year, by the new Assessment Act. Messrs. McGrath and McKee the city assessors, yesterday handed in their returns, which show some interesting comparisons.

NEARLY $1,000,000 MORE.

The city shows a tremendous increase in assessment. Last year it was $6,884,720, while this year it is fixed at $8,815,976, an increase of $931,257 over last year. The largest increase is that of business assessment, which this year is $632,372, while last year there was no business assessment. In real income there is an increase of $17,675.

POPULATION.

The city shows a gradual but certain growth in population, as shown by the returns of families rated as residents, among whom there are 216 persons not so rated. The total population this year is 14,391, as compared with 14,175 last year; however, the returns of the assessors favorably shows less than the number of residents, as there are always some who are missed. In the number of children from five to twenty years of age in the city, there is, according to the returns, rather an alarming decrease, the figures being 1906, 2,237, and 1905, 3,296.

In some wards the income tax shows a decrease, and this is attributed by the assessors to the effect that last year there was no business assessment, and this year part of the income assessment, has been made business assessment. The figures for the different wards, are:

WARD 1.

Total value of taxable real property, $1,613,792.
Total assessment, $1,710,624.

Total value of taxable real property, $2,101,442.
Total assessment, $2,994,994.

WARD 3.

Total value of taxable real property, $1,090,155.
Total assessment, $1,157,334.

WARD 4.

Total value of taxable real property, $674,850.
Total assessment $736,695.

WARD 5.

Total value of taxable real property, $499,883.
Total assessment $607,947.

RECAPITULATION.

Value of real property, exclusive of buildings, $9,086,551; value of buildings, $3,409,980, taxable real property $5,934,751; business assessment $632,372; taxable income, $109,625; total assessment, $7,541,353.

Some strange discrepancies occur in the figures arrived at, particularly among the mercantile community. For instance a George street merchant, in the budest part of the city, is assessed at nearly the same figures, as another business man in the same line, both having about an equal frontage, on a side street. It is likely that a large and lusty crop of dissatisfaction will arise and require explanation.

RUGBY.

The first rugby game of the season will be played at Riverside Park on Saturday, when Victorina H. of Toronto, will meet Peterboro. The Peterboro team will be in good shape and there should be a big crowd on hand Saturday to see them make their debut. The club is stronger than last year and is worthy of every encouragement. Saturday's event is an exhibition game.

• • •

There was a good attendance at last nights practice. The local pigskin chaser will have to get a swift move on for Saturday's game with the Victorias of Toronto. We would suggest, that all players available, that they will pretty early win out.

• • •

There is some talk in the city of organizing a good junior team. There is good raw material that would, in a very few months training and persistent practice, develope good players for the seniors. There are many of the older generation, who with their perennial virility and pluck, never seem to stale or get enough of the game, but for various reasons, even the best, and most enthusiastic, must drop out. Why not raise successors to them who will shortly fill the able soul, thus their elders now hold in the game. Who will there be to take their places if the young material is not given a chance to develop? Organize a junior team and arrange games with Port Hope and Lindsay. It might mean the outlay of a few dollars, but the senior material developed will more than recompense the club for the expense incurred.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting of Retail Merchants' Association

The annual meeting of the Peterboro Retail Merchants' Association took place last night in the Y.M.C.A. building. There was a small attendance, but considerable enthusiasm prevailed. The president, Mr. Robert Fair, occupied the chair, and read his annual report. After routine business, Mr. Trewern, secretary of the provincial association, delivered an interesting and instructive address, setting forth the work which is being done by the association throughout the country. At the conclusion of his remarks, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him.

Fall Assizes Open With Large Docket

Mr. Justice Street Presides--Two Criminal Cases--One Charge of Murder and One of Manslaughter--Several Civil Cases

The long anticipated session of the fall assizes began yesterday, shortly after one o'clock, Mr. Justice Street in the presiding judge and has a long list of cases to try, larger in fact than Peterboro has seen for some years.

There are two criminal cases, one a charge of murder and the other is a case of manslaughter, and probably Howard Peters will be tried at this sitting on a charge of stealing $145. Five civil cases, three for the jury, and two non-jury, will be heard.

A large number of interested persons crowded the court room long before one o'clock and by the time His Lordship started his address to the Grand Jury, every seat in the court room was occupied.

MEMBERS OF THE BAR.

Among the members of the legal fraternity present were Messrs. E. Meredith, London; Proudfoot and G. H. Watts, Toronto; Denniston, Edmonson, Edwards, Greene, McWilliams, O'Connell, Peck, and Crown Attorney Wood, of Peterboro.

THE GRAND JURY.

Alfred McDonald, of Peterboro, was elected foreman of the Grand Jury and the following Grand Jurymen were sworn:—Alfred McDonald, Peterboro, foreman; A. L. Davis, Peterboro; Wm. Faint, Peterboro; Richard Killen, Ennismore; Ernest Mason, Peterboro; Sandy Matchett, Otonabee; John McConkay, Smith; William Robb, Dummer; Dennis Shaughnessy, Otonabee; Jas. Stothart, Wm. Tucker, Anstruther; John Watt, Peterboro; Geo. E. Elliott, Peterboro.

HIS LORDSHIP'S ADDRESS.

In opening his address to the Grand Jury, his Lordship, Mr. Justice Street, said:

I understand that there are possibly three criminal cases to be submitted to you; certainly there are two. One is the very serious charge of murder, and the other is one of manlaughter.

His Lordship pointed out the general distinction between murder and manslaughter. In each case it is homicide. One is homicide by design and the other is homicide by accident and without any intention to kill.

In the murder trial it seems a blow was struck, and the Crown charges that death resulted from that blow. In a murder case it matters not if the victim lives a day or a year after the assault, the result is the same as when death is instantaneous. First, you must ask yourself the question, did the prisoner strike the blow? second, was the blow the cause of death; third, under what circumstances was the blow struck.

If the death of a man is hastened by any act of another it is homicide, that is, if a man is dying from natural causes and another commits an act which hastens the end, it is homicide. Sometimes death is caused by a person in a passion, who has no intention of killing, that is manslaughter and not murder. In the first case it is charge that the blow was struck with intention to kill.

In the second case the prisoner is not charged with firing the shot, which caused the death of the lad, with any intention to kill or to do bodily harm.

As the case appeared to his Lordship, it was one of criminal carelessness, and if criminal carelessness results in the death of another, it is manslaughter.

In a case when a child is a victim the crime is equally as great as when it is an adult. If you believe the prisoner is guilty of criminal carelessness, you will be perfectly justified in bringing in a true bill of manslaughter. His Lordship then explained a number of instances when a person could be charged with manslaughter. To find a true bill it is necessary that seven or more shall be in favor of it. If less than seven you will find no bill. His Lordship then impressed upon the jurymen, the importance of their duties and the necessity for them to give the cases before them their most careful attention.

FIRST CASE CALLED.

While waiting for the return of the Grand Jury the court proceeded with the first civil case on the docket. It was an action entered by John A. H. Strange against F. F. Hamlink, Donnelsboro, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, for plaintiff; Proudfoot, Haye & Blair, Cobourg, for defendant.

This is an action for damages of $500, and costs of the action, brought by the plaintiff, Jane Ann Hare Turner, against D. F. Hamlink. Plaintiff alleges that she, on Nov. 15th, 1899, leased to defendant a building and premises in Port Hope for a term of five years, the latter covenanting to keep the premises in good repair, and that he failed to do so, his failure to carry out the conditions. The defendant alleges that the premises are in as good a state of repair as when rented.

A verdict was given for Mrs. Turner, awarding her the sum of $100, with lowest court costs.

WEST INDIES AND CONFEDERATION

The Matter Discussed in Old London

A REAL LIVE QUESTION

Matter is Viewed Favorably by Big Steamship Owner

London, October 10.—Mr. E. R. Davison, who is prominently connected with several trans-Atlantic freight-carrying steamship companies, in an interview this week on the subject of the West Indies and the Imperial Empire, said:

"The question of the West Indies and the confederation is a large and complex one, and embraces three distinct points, namely, the federation or unification of the West Indies themselves, the carrying though of a preferential trading treaty with Canada, and finally their confederation with that colony.

"The confederation of colonies from a theoretical point of view at least is an end to be aimed at and one which must be accepted as a necessary factor in the development of the Empire. The aims and conditions of each section are widely different. Jamaica, for instance, with its large fruit and tourist trade, has interests bound closely with the United States, THEREBY, with its produce, mineral and entrepot trade with the Spanish Main can show more independence and attach itself commercially to Canada or any other country from which it may expect to derive a benefit. Barbadous lives for sugar and more recently cotton, and its welfare depends entirely on the welfare of these products.

"Preferential trading with Canada, from a theoretical point of view at least, is an excellently conceived idea, and the giving to a return to the already existing Canadian preferential tariff, must appeal to every one's sense of equity. But does this preference benefit the West Indies in fact?

"This has been the experience so far in the West Indies and as long as one country buys products in bond or by agents in another country, so long must the former alone profit by its own preference. The West Indies at present enjoy a preference of demand but not a preference of price, and the two things are not necessarily identical. It may be that competition among importers will gradually induce a more equitable apportionment of what was undoubtedly intended to benefit the island, but such an outcome is by no means an immediate one.

"What shall be said of confederation with Canada? The West Indies are at present Crown or quasi-Crown colonies and self-representation in its fullest sense could not possibly be granted to them. Therefore they must be contented to a degree at least by the Imperial Government.

"Now the West Indies are not disposed at present to regard the Colonial Office with any great amount of favor. The question of the mail contract, the removal of the troops, the the refusal of the home authorities to assist in establishing adequate cable communication and the indifference with which the acquisition of the Northern Carribean Sea by the United States is regarded are all matters which make West Indians feel that a policy of retrogression has set in just when they had high hopes of once again taking a place in the front ranks of British colonies."

DANIEL SHANNON DEAD

Come Up Where You Belong.

Perhaps you know why you fail in the plans for money, fame and position
Some don't.

Just why the brain does not produce practical money making results is a puzzle to many men.

Strong, healthy natural brains cannot be made from the food most men eat, and good brains can't work sharp when slugged to weakness by coffee.

Unsuccessful brains come from improperly selected food and from coffee drinking.

Coffee affects the stomach and nerves, thence the brain and prevents proper digestion of even good food.

A DISTINCT IMPROVEMENT in mental power will follow in a week or ten days after coffee is left off and POSTUM taken on.

The results are multiplied when the brain-building food, GRA E-NUTS is used twice a day.

There are well established and very clearly understood reasons for these sure results from the change in food and drink. You can make Money, Position, Fame if you have the kind of Brain that works that way.

Postum well boiled produces a delicious beverage, satisfying and nourishing.
Quit dragging and poor food and COME UP WHERE YOU BELONG.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells us follows of her return to health from Ferrozone:

"For two years I was not well. I was run down and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tired feeling hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, OCTOBER 10 1905

CAPITAL AND LABOR

In an address before the Congress of the Trades Labor Unions of Canada at Toronto a few days ago, Prof. Goldwin Smith said that arbitration by law had been found to have failed. It began hopefully in New Zealand, but awards could not be enforced. Capital could not be compelled to pay wages it would not afford. Men could not be expected to take lower wages than they could obtain elsewhere. They might aim to assuage angry passions and fall back on the sense of justice and the feelings that avail in the ordinary affairs of life. He recommended that all votes for strikes should be taken by ballot, and that every married man should have two votes.

The former Oxford professor has written and spoken learnedly and wisely on many themes, and his recent address at Toronto shows that he has given some serious attention to the labor question. A fault, however, which we would find with Mr. Smith's view is, that he acquires it within the four walls of his library and treats it more academically without regard to experience or economic laws. He argues, for example, that arbitration, though it began hopefully in New Zealand, had failed, because capital could not be compelled to pay wages it could not afford. Would he enforce awards that would result in certain bankruptcy and would that be the proof of the success of arbitration? Again, he says that men could not be expected to take lower wages than they could obtain elsewhere. That, we admit, is the union view, but wages are regulated largely by local conditions, which is a law of economics. An employer may be compelled to pay the uniform scale established by the union, but always at the cost of the consumer who must bear the imposition.

A GRAND FUTURE

Local Firm Secures Stock of Calumet Telluride Gold Mine Co. for Sale

Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Co., our local mining stock agents, who have, in the past few years, handled so many well paying mining propositions, and who have placed some splendidly paying mine stocks with local citizens, have recently secured a block of stock for sale that bears the earmarks of a good thing.

So many mining stocks are now offered the investing public that a close investigation is advisable before placing a dollar in any of them: still the class of securities handled by Patterson & Co. are, from past experience, only of the legitimate kind.

The latest offer to Peterboro investors is, as above stated, well worth a careful consideration The Calumet-Telluride Gold Mining Co., of Telluride, San Miguel County, Colorado, with general offices at Calumet, Mich., organized under the state laws of Colorado, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 500,000 shares, of the par value of $1 each, and non-assessable, seems to us to present features of interest to prospective purchasers that are calculated to assure the most sceptical. The property of this company is most advantageously located, being in the world famous gold district of the Telluride quadrangle of Colorado. The company owns several properties, that not only possess favorable indications, but actually thousands of tons of gold carrying rock in sight, most of which carries uncommonly high values.

A prominent point for consideration in all investments, but particularly those in gold mines, is the personnel of the directorate.

On the directorate of the Calumet-Telluride Co. are men of national fame, such as Hon. H. M. Hogg, of Telluride, member of the United States Congress, an able jurist of high standing; the present superintendent of mine, Mr. C. W. Gibb, C.E., member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, is a gentleman of high standing in his calling, of life long experience in mining and railroad engineering.

The mineral belt of Colorado is literally strewn with prospects and producing mines, some of fabulous wealth, and the Telluride district is particularly rich. The Telluride quadrangle, in its physical features, contains ranges, canyons and plateaus, and is very favorable for mining operations. Shipping facilities, owing to recent railroads built, are of the best. The company's properties are assured as to title by United States' deeds of warranty, with properly registered transfers in the office of the San Miguel County recorder. They own a mill site and a mill of ten gravity stamps, as well as valuable water power. A tunnel is now being driven in. The company has also a group of seven full quartz lode mining claims, with a lake of nearly one million square feet, with rights to a creek, thus providing additional water power, if required.

The veins not over 200 feet in depth are from 5 to 11 feet in width, and are well walled. An assay of samples taken from the properties of this company's mines, show, on a general average taken from the upper tunnel as high as $78 in gold, with $3.83 in silver, per ton of ore. Recent reports, made by Captain Richard Edwards, one of the ablest mining engineers in Colorado, taken from the Daily News, says that the company's mines are surrounded by some of the richest mines on earth, now producing gold in large quantities, and ends by saying that $75,000 invested on this enterprise will make a mine equal to any of the best in this district.

Intending investors or those looking for a chance to place large or small sums, that will untimately bring rich returns, should consult Messrs. Patterson & Co. whilst they have some of this stock left at the present low price.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Small Girl and Her Mother and Two Aged Men Beaten to Death

Middletown, N.Y., Oct. 9.—Without a clue to the murder or murders, and lacking anything more definite than vague surmises as to motive, the authorities are trying to-day to solve the mystery surrounding the murder last night of nine-year-old Alice Ingerick and Wilks and Fred Olney, and the probably fatal assault on Mrs. Ingerick, the girl's mother.

Mrs. Ingerick, who was separated from her husband, and who acted as housekeeper for the Olneys, was beaten into unconsciousness by her assailants. She has not been revived and the physicians attending her believe she will die without being able to tell the story of the killing of her daughter and her employers.

Mrs. Ingerick and her daughter were beaten with a blunt instrument, presumably with a piece of iron pipe. The child was dead when found. The mother's skull was fractured in three places, and she apparently was in a dying condition.

As soon as it was known that murder had been committed, search was begun for the Olneys, who were missing. To-day their bodies were found in a wood near their home. Wagon tracks near by indicated that the men had been killed at some other point and the bodies taken into the wood.

The authorities are now endeavoring to trace a wagon seen in the vicinity of the Olney's home yesterday.

NO SIGNS OF EXHAUSTION

The Yukon Will Be a Permanent Mining Camp

Ottawa, October 9.—Mr. Joseph Keele, of the Geological Survey, has returned from the Yukon. Mr. Keele worked in a practically unknown district about 400 miles up the Stuart river, which is navigable for 200 miles, or about the same distance east of Dawson. Mr. Keele said that the yield of gold this year would be less than last season. The reason for this was the unusual dryness of the summer. The mining being practically all placer, was done by sluicing, and dry creeks meant no sluices.

Another thing interfering with the yield was the passing of many mines into the hands of larger companies with bigger outfits. When, however, these companies get down to business the output would be much larger, as their equipment would enable them to work low grade mines. Mr. Keele saw no signs of exhaustion in the Yukon, and thought it would become a permanent mining camp.

STRICTURE CURED

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.

G. E. WRIGHT.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I was delighted with the results. In one week I felt better and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained sixteen pounds in weight."

CHAPTER VIII.

The result of Miss L'Estrange's self-commune was very perceptible, at least, to herself. The careful watch she established over her own words and manner, however, was too delicately exercised to be in any way remarkable. She was bright and frank as ever, but she slid easily away from any approach to sentimental subjects, though talking readily on other topics. The chief change was an increase of animation and a tendency to mock at what used to touch her. Mrs. L'Estrange only noticed that Nora was in remarkably good spirits.

The quiet weeks went by swiftly, their monotony broken by occasional dinners at the houses of the cathedral dignitaries at Oldbridge, where Nora's songs and lively talk, and Mrs. L'Estrange's gentle tact and sympathetic "listening," made both welcome guests.

October was more than half over, and hunting had begun—a congenial amusement which interfered a good deal with Winton's frequent visits to Brookdale. The rapid falling of the leaves, and a succession of stormy nights, made Mrs. L'Estrange think seriously of spending November and December in town—a proposition which Nora originally urged.

Mrs. Ruthven wrote at length, very amiably:

She was detained in town by business, she said. She was in treaty for a pretty villa on the Thames, and would be delighted to have Miss L'Estrange's counsel and assistance when she set about furnishing.

Mr. Marsden had been so good in trying to find her jewels, and had gone to Amsterdam in search of them, but all in vain. Was he at Eversleigh? for no one seemed to know what had become of him.

"Do you know I think it would be very nice to help Mrs. Ruthven in choosing her furniture? Shall I tell her we are thinking of going up to town? Perhaps she would take rooms for us," said Nora, when she had read this letter aloud at breakfast.

"My dear Nora! she would not care for the trouble; and what a price she would agree to give for rooms! We must be very prudent; my little savings during the latter part of our stay in Germany will not go far."

"Oh, yes! I forgot. You are really a wonderful woman, Helen; I shall never be such an economist; but as to not caring for the trouble, I do not think you quiet do Mrs. Ruthven justice; you and Mr. Winton are always of the same opinion, and I think you have caught his prejudice against her."

"I am not as much fascinated as you are, and I must say, I am a good deal influenced by Mark Winton; when I look back"—she stopped abruptly. Nora, who longed to hear her reminiscences, gazed earnestly at her, and Mrs. L'Estrange, raising her eyes suddenly, encountered those of her step-daughter fixed upon her, and colored through her delicate pale skin, to Nora's great surprise. "Some day," said Mrs. L'Estrange, quickly, and with some confusion, "I must tell you my little history; every one has some touch of romance in their lives, even so prosaic a person as I am."

"Do, dear; tell it to me now."

"Now? Oh, no, I must interview cook, and plan the dinner; the romance of the past must give way to the needs of the present, vulgar though they be, some evening, by the fire-light, I will prose about days gone by. It is fine and calm to-day; let us give Bea a holiday, and walk across the park. The meet is at Crowland Gate; and we will see the hounds throw off."

"By all means, I feel as if I wanted to be in the open air."

Mrs. L'Estrange went away to her household duties. Nora sauntered into the drawing-room and sat down at the piano, but she did not begin to play for some moments. Was it possible that her quiet, unselfish step-mother had had thrilling experiences? She was so reasonable, so wise in a simple way, that Nora could never imagine the irregularities and redundance which constitute romance gathering round her. How good she had always been! even from her first entrance into the family. How she had stood between every one and her husband's hasty irritation; how much Nora herself owed to her justice and generosity. What a good influence she had been, how much she had endured from her selfish, unsympathetic husband, who looked upon her as a slave whom he had bought, and who had no rights, no title to consideration, whom he had married to be an upper servant. What a life of suppression, of careful conscientious sick-nursing she had had, without the reward of gratitude or recognition! From how much she had saved Nora herself! How strong and patient she had been.

"If I can reward her I will," thought Nora. "I do hope Bea will be a good, loving child; she is like my father, but no woman would be as selfish and troublesome as he was! perhaps his bad health made him worse. I must take care I do not grow hard and selfish myself. I wish I were busier! my life is too easy; it leaves me too much time to think; I must not think."

And she applied herself diligently to a piece of Chopin's, practising with accidentals and crabbed passages, till Bea, with a radiant face, came to tell her it was time to get ready.

The walk through Eversleigh Woods and across the park was delightful. It was a soft autumnal morning, slightly leaden in coloring, like one of Wouverman's landscapes, as if nature gently mourned her departed youth, the pines and larches gave out their aromatic odors, the ground was thickly strewn with red, withered leaves from the beech trees, for which Eversleigh was famous, and when the trio reached Crowland Gate, which opened on a wide common, where the woods ended and an undergrowth of brushwood and furze afforded abundant cover, a tolerable field had assembled, but not many spectators. The rector's daughter on horseback, the curate's little children, with their governess, on foot, the banker's wife from Oldbridge, in her smart carriage, with a couple of visitors from London.

Every one knew every one else, and greetings were exchanged. Winton, who rode a powerful chestnut, with the temper that color is usually supposed to entail, managed to keep the fiery creature still for a moment beside Mrs. L'Estrange.

"Very glad to have caught a glimpse of you. I am going off to-morrow to Devonshire, an old Indian chum of mine has asked me to share his hunting quarters in a splendid country. I hope I shall find you in town next month. You'll let me know your movements?"

"Yes; certainly. We shall miss you very much."

"I hope you will, unlikely though it seems. We must do some plays when we meet. Good-bye, Miss L'Estrange!" He stretched out his hand to Nora, who had taken a vantage post on a stile, pressing his horse with heel and knee to make it approach, but the animal kicked and resisted, glancing round with wild, wicked eyes.

"Consider yourself shaken hands with," said Nora, laughing and

St. Water Lily Kept Busy

The Calcutt Line steamer, Water Lily, whilst finished with this year's passenger service, is still kept busy. Yesterday she brought up a scow load of wheat from Rice Lake. On Wednesday she will bring up a scow load of logs to the city, and on Thursday another scow load of wheat. This old reliable line seems to meet with approval from both passengers and freight shippers. The company have contracts that will keep the Water Lily busy probably until the river freezes up.

A good investment—$7.50 for a 3 months course at the Business College Night School.

Mr. Robinson Resigns

Mr. T. W. Robinson, after a work of forty years in the several capacities of teacher, leader and superintendent, on Sunday afternoon, at a general meeting of George street Sunday school teachers and officers, tendered his resignation and asked to be relieved from the duties of the position as superintendent. Mr. Robinson has been a hard worker in the interests of the Sunday school, and his resignation will be sorely felt.

Patrick Lynch Still Laid Up

We regret to say that Mr. Patrick Lynch, an employe of the Allin Ice Company, is still unable to attend to business. Mr. Lynch's accident of last Friday proves to be more serious than at first anticipated. It seems that, on Friday last, as Mr. Lynch was delivering a large block of ice, weighing perhaps 250 pounds, the block, in some way, slipped and fell with full force on one of his feet, seriously crushing the member. In all probability Mr. Lynch will not be able to resume his duties with the company for some time.

Smith Cheese Factory Burnt

North Smith cheese factory, on lot 8 con. of Smith, owned by North Smith Dairy Co., was destroyed by fire on Saturday. The conflagration started in a chimney, and within a quarter of an hour the whole factory was destroyed. The Selwyn fire fighters turned out to help, but without avail. There were two Hundred cheese in the factory, and of these, 180 were destroyed, valued at $1,500. The total loss will be between $2,500 to $4,000, and $1,000 insurance. $950 on the building, and $1,000 on the stock. Mr. Patterson, the cheesemaker, lost his manufacturing appliances and household effects.

Prepayment Meter Co. Have Taken Premises in Mr. Hicks' Building

The Prepayment Meter Co., whose recent organization The Times has already noted, demonstrated clearly that they mean business and business with a capital B. Although only organized so recently they have already leased the second and third flats of the building lately occupied by the Colonial Ink Company on Hunter street and will install at once the necessary plant.

Mr. Hicks, who last week purchased the building will use the first flat in connection with his heating, furnace and roofing business.

Mr. Alfred Parker, the managing director, will push work on as rapidly as possible, and, judging by his great success in his other business, will prove the right man for the place.

A Moose in Verulam

Fenelon Falls Gazette: On Friday last a fine large bull moose was seen in the township of Verulam, within two miles of the Falls, by Mr. Robt. Stewart, Mr. Wm. Wilson, Mr. Wm. Rutherford, and two or three other men, as well as by a number of children on their way home from school. Mr. Stewart says that it was as tall as a horse and that, after looking at him for some time, at a distance of about five rods, while he was plowing, it turned and walked leisurely into the woods. We may remark that any person who shoots the animal will be liable to a heavy fine.

HERDED LIKE HOGS

Inmates of Cobourg's Jail Kept In Disgraceful State

Even in the matter of running a jail other towns can well take pattern by Peterboro. Referring to a seemingly 15th century system obtaining in the Cobourg jail, the Toronto News, basing their statement on a report made by the Cobourg grand jury last week, says;

The conditions generally prevailing in Cobourg jail are a shame and a disgrace to modern civilization, and the county council, whose parsimony and niggardliness have been the cause of these conditions, should be severely censured for allowing such a state of affairs to exist.

The municipal authorities in the united counties, according to the grand jury, are sending their indigent poor to Cobourg jail, nominally as vagrants, thus saving the expense of a county poorhouse. The jurors found a deplorable condition of affairs, the room being so inadequate that the poor people are "herded like animals in a place not properly ventilated, and reeking with odors." In the hospital alone were no less than nine aged and bed-ridden occupants. This place was a horror.

Herded all together were lunatics, indigents, convicts, epileptics and prisoners awaiting trial. The cells are partially underground, the sewerage is bad, and the water supply is inadequate. The governor and officials are doing their best, but the counties council has not acted, despite former presentments of a similar nature. Attached to the presentment is a list of 42 indigent persons from the age of 26 to 92, who are confined on convictions as vagrants.

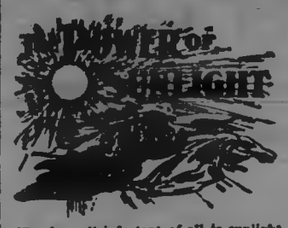
Little Duchess

In another column our readers will see an adv. of the comic opera "Little Duchess." As before noted, Miss Elsie Janis was to have opened the new opera house here with the Little Duchess. As the opera house will not be ready in time, Mr. R. Bradburn has completed arrangements for a special train to enable Peterboro theater goers to see Miss Elsie Janis in this opera in the Lindsay opera house next Monday. This is a splendid opportunity for those desiring to see this most successful opera, played by Miss Janis, who is favorably compared with Miss Maud Adams. The return tickets, by special train leaving at 7.10 and returning after opera is over, are placed at the low price of 65 cents. Prices for performance range from 35 cents to $1. The opera house plan will be open, at Messrs. Ormond & Walsh's on Thursday and Friday, to enable those intending to go, to secure seats.

Fell From Scaffold

Yesterday morning as Ald. W. J. Johnston and Robert Ritchie were working on a scaffold, at 898 George street, their frail scaffold in some way fell, with the result that both the workmen were hurled to the ground 20 feet below. Ald. Johnston escaped with a broken thumb and a badly bruised arm, besides a rather severe shock. Mr. Ritchie, however, was unfortunate enough to fall upon a pile of bricks, and while his head my limbs broken, severe internal injuries are feared. Ald. Johnston was able to return to his residence, but Mr. Ritchie was conveyed to the Nicholls hospital in the ambulance. A late telephone message last night said that it is still impossible to determine the result of Mr. Ritchie's injuries.



The best disinfectant of all is sunlight. It destroys by its very brightness all sorts of germs and at the same time helps the growth of plants and animal life. Doubtless all have noticed that mould grows during the night and in dark, damp cellars. Bright sunlight quickly destroys germs, mould or other organisms. That is why it is best to let the sunlight into your houses for its purifying influence.

At the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, chief consulting surgeon, started experiments, some three years ago, with the Finsen light in conjunction with the X-ray in the treatment of disease. Began experiments, results therefrom, and was among the first to adapt this remarkable cure to many cases which it was formerly supposed must of necessity be treated by the knife.

Not only is Dr. R. V. Pierce notable for his surgical achievements at his hospital in Buffalo, but nearly a third of a century ago he discovered certain roots and herbs which were nature's remedies, and succeeded in putting them up in a form that would be easily procured and ready to use. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It maintains the patient's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and in this way fewer, night sweats, headaches, etc., are done away with. It fortifies the body against the germs of consumption, grip and malaria, it builds up the tissues and puts on healthy flesh.

Those desiring to know something about the body in health and disease, also medicine and surgery, without technicalities, should read the "Common Sense Medical Adviser," which can be had for 50 cents in one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound book. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A NEAT BOOKLET

"Redeeming Love," a Clever Little Work by Mr. D. H. Kennedy

The Times was, yesterday, in receipt of a charming little booklet, entitled "Redeeming Love," from the pen of Mr. H. D. Kennedy, of Maden.

Mr. Kennedy is fast coming to the front among recent writers of sermons and religious essays. His book let "Redeeming Love," is now in its third edition, 12th thousand. It is neat in appearance, the paper cover being of good material, its grey color being relieved by the design and lettering in gold.

That the text is of value and meeting with extensive patronage for the reading public is proven by its already large sales.

Mr. Kennedy has also issued other similar religious works, entitled "Jacob the Wrestler," and "Misunderstood," both of which are now in a second edition, and commanding a wide sale.

We might mention that all of Mr. Kennedy's works are now on sale at The Times Book store, and are attracting much attention.

All Evidence Now in, on Dummer Case

Witnesses for and Against Charles Gow Now Heard--Judge Will Address Jury This Morning--Examination of Witnesses Searching

At last the "cause celebra" of Dummer township, has been partly tried, and Charles Gow is still uncertain as to what a jury of his peers, will say regarding the serious offence with which he is charged.

At 9.35 yesterday morning Charles Gow entered the prisoners' dock in the Court House, to answer the charge against him, of having committed manslaughter.

Mr. Maloney, clerk of the court, read the charge, which alleged that the prisoner did shoot and slay Thos. E. Hill of the township of Dummer, on the night of Aug. 24th last. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the clerk.

"Not guilty," replied the prisoner, who seemed to be self confident, and managed to conjure up a very wistful smile. The prisoner, throughout all the evidence, both pro and con, assumed a comparatively careless demeanor, but listened eagerly to every point of the evidence.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun appeared for Gow, and Mr. E. Meredith, K.C., of London, and County Crown Attorney Wood for the prosecution. Mr. E. B. Edwards is looking after the interests of the Hill family in the case.

During the morning Mr. W. C. P. Heathcote, Robert Hill, father of the victim, Miss Mabel Hill, Dr. Douglas of Warsaw, High Constable George Cochrane, County Constable A. Moore, and Dr. Gray, coroner, were examined.

JURY SELECTED.

After thirty-three jurymen had been called, twelve were chosen as follows: Harry Snider, Robt. Taylor, Robert Smarer, Richard Cochrane, Andrew Brown, Thomas Emmerson, R. H. Fortye, Thomas Wood, A. W. Wood, Geo. Hutchinson, Carlos Green and Roland Johnston.

Nine were challenged by the Crown prosecutor, and 13 by the defence.

The High Court Clerk read the charge against the prisoner of manslaughter to the jury and the trial began.

Gentlemen of the jury, the prisoner at the bar stands indicted as follows: Charles Gow is charged with unlawfully killing and slaying Thomas E. Hill, of the township of Dummer, at midnight on the night of Aug. 24th. The prisoner pleads not guilty and it is for you to hear the evidence and pronounce whether he is guilty or not guilty.

Mr. Meredith, of London, who is acting with the crown attorney, then addressed the jury:

"Gentlemen of the jury," Mr. Meredith began, "the prisoner at the bar is charged with manslaughter. Where a human life has been taken it is the duty of the jury to solemnly and sincerely try the prisoner. You have each taken the solemn oath to solemnly and truly try this prisoner at the bar. Each of you has called upon your God to witness your action in this matter."

Mr. Meredith then explained that, although the prisoner might be a young man, well connected, and with a high reputation in every respect, they must consider the family of the alleged victim. He next clearly informed the jury that justice, and justice alone was demanded in their verdict. Mr. Meredith then gave a short synopsis of the tragedy of August 24th, at the Hill residence, in Dummer. He pathetically drew a word picture of the little lad sleeping in his father's house, when a noise was heard. He described in graphic terms, how the little child crept from his little cot and crept to the window to see what was the cause of the noise. He crouched down to look through the opening in the window. A shot was fired. The little lad was struck. He cried out "Mama, I'm shot," and fell dead to the floor. He was carried down stairs.

Mr. Meredith, perhaps to divert undue sympathy for the prisoner in the dock, noted that the afflicted Hill family received no such sympathizing attention as did the prisoner. Mr. Meredith next proceeded to pass complimentary remarks as to the "farce," of so-called inquest held after the tragedy. The speaker again urged the jury to do their duty justly and honestly. The Crown's case as cited by Mr. Meredith, was a strong one. The whole matter looked to him very like a "plot." He gave the now time-worn story of the tragedy, once more, arguing that the three men going on foot to arouse the household, followed by Gow to fire, looked to him like a plot.

The first witness called, was Mr. Heathcote, civil engineer, of Monaco. J. E. Belcher & Heathcote. Witness deposed that he had visited the Hill homestead, where he made a plan, which was produced. He had found a bullet hole about two and a half feet from the corner of the house, under the verandah, and at the upper window where he had found bloodstains. Witness described the location from which the bullet had been fired. At the upper window he could not locate the originating point of the bullet so closely, owing to the fact that the bed inside the window had been moved. Witness produced a plan from which he explained the different points from which the shots had been fired.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun, Mr. Heathcote said that he had gone out about one week after the shooting. He did not know when the bullet holes had been put in the house. He had inserted a iron rod in the bullet holes to make a sight. There were some drops of blood upon the window sill upstairs. He had made a line from the blood marks on the window sill to the bed. The bed may have been moved. If the bed had been moved the bullet might have stopped in the bed, but could not have come through the window.

Further examined by Mr. Wood, witness said if bullet had been fired from inside the house it must have been close to the north wall.

Robt. Hill, father of the deceased boy, stated that he and his wife slept downstairs, and the dead boy, with his sister, upstairs. About 11.40 on the night of the tragedy, he heard a disturbance upon the road, with shouts of "A mob! a mob!" He recognized the voices of William and Stewart Murphy and George Gaughegh. He heard a buggy approaching from the north, and further shouts of "Hurrah! Hurrah!" proceeding from about the gate. The buggy was at this time between the barn and the gate. When the buggy was at the gate he recognized the voice of Ed. Dewart, and a stranger.

He also heard men cheering and yelling "Hurrah! a mob!" Recognized the voices of James and Robert Dewart. Then with a mighty yell, "Hurrah! a mob!" a shot struck the house, as he stood by the front door. Again he heard a shot fired from further south of the house. Then his daughter Mabel came down stairs wounded in her hand. She said that Tommy had been shot. Walks was at the door groaning down. The third bullet struck the verandah. He then went up stairs, Tommy was lying face down upon the floor with his head to the east, dead, when he went up. Witness carried the dead boy down stairs. Witness was somewhat visibly affected. Witness did not look for bullet holes until next day.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness stated that it was the constable who had found the bullet holes in the house. Dr. Douglas took one bullet out of the house and Archie Moore, another. The third was found late in the day by Mr. Cochrane, but was not extracted till about a week later. He had heard the voice of Ed. Dewart say "Hills come out in your shirt tails." He denied saying that Ed. Dewart had said nothing. He had not heard them till they were south of the barn. He was certain that James and William Dewart were there. Witness did not know that Gow was in the buggy, but knew that there was a stranger there.

The witness has in the house two guns, a rifle and revolver. He carried the latter for protection. He was just inside the door. The evidence he had given previously may be wrongly reported.

He had been in penitentiary, upon a charge of attempted murder, and also served a term for stealing later.

Mabel Hill, eight years old, slept on the fatal night with the boy now dead, her brother. There was shouting of "A mob! A mob!" which came from the direction of the gate. She and Tom got up and went to the window and looked out. Tom was next to her and was also stooping over and looking out of the window. She heard a buggy on the road and, shortly afterwards, a shot which struck the end of the house. The next shot she heard, was that when she had her head wounded and her brother was killed. Tom cried "I'm shot, Mama," and fell backwards. Heard a third shot after Tom was hit.

To Mr. Dennistoun, said she saw Stewart Murphy standing behind the flash. I couldn't tell who was behind the barn but I heard a cry "A mob! A mob!"

Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw, testified to attending to the little girl's injuries, and described the wound of the slaughtered boy. He did not know the calibre of the fatal ball.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun, witness stated that the wound in the back was smaller. The edges of the wound in front were dark in color. There was no indication of powder. He would not swear that the wounds was not made in the back.

Coroner Gray testified to holding the inquest. said the bullet produced by Dr. Douglas was almost intact, but had a small groove on one side.

During the afternoon, Edward Dewart, the man who drove with Gow in the buggy; Dr. Young, Dr. Bradd and. Detective Walls gave evidence. Then the Crown's case was closed.

The witnesses for the defence were heard during the afternoon, and the case so far advanced that witnesses of both sides had both given evidence.

His Lordship will deliver his address to the jury this morning, which unless the jury disagree, will probably result in a verdict before evening. Following this case yesterday afternoon, it would seem that Mr. Dennistoun put up a strong theory that the shot, that killed, was not fired by Gow. The doctors did not fully agree as to whether the fatal shot entered from the back or front. Doctors Young and Bradd claiming from the front.

Citizen Complains That News Boys Continually Bully Inoffensive Italians

(To the Editor of The Times)

Sir,—I would like your valuable paper to call notice to a very unfair way in which several always constantly insult Italians living on Sherbrook street. A few evenings ago, as I passed the corner of King and Stewart street, I saw an Italian walking alone and troubling no one. Two newsboys also, Teddie Burrell and other American papers, when they saw the man returning from work, at once began to insult and throw stones at him. I saw the same two newsboys throw stones at another Italian on Hoffver street, a few days after the first mentioned case. Now people are too apt to call these Italians Dagos, and run them down generally. It does not seem like British fair play for any working man, who behaves himself, to be bullied in this way by irresponsible boys. Should the Italians have chased the boys and soundly cuffed them for their cowardly stone throwing, it would have served them right. Had the workman, however have given the boys what they well deserved, people would at once denounce the terrible Dagos for slapping the boys.

If the police hear of an unoffensive workman, Italian or other nationality, being stoned by boys, they should arrest the boys and punish them.

Yours truly,

CITIZEN.

The Gold Lake Hunt Club Enjoying Good Weather

The Gold Lake party comprising Messrs. William Snowden and his son Harold, M. O. Tooley, Fred Stenson, Arthur Bliss and Dan Welung, as guides, are now at their fall camp on Gold Lake. They left town last Thursday and are evidently enjoying themselves. Mr. Harold Snowden's carrier pigeons keep the party in direct communication with the city. Yesterday a pigeon, No. 52, left Gold Lake at 1.45 p.m., and arrived here at 2.20 with the following message attached:

Arrived O.K. The Klondike works like a charm. Arthur is just doing some tall cussing over the dinner fire, as he gets dinner ready. The buttermilk can is very low. It is very warm here.

THE ARMY RATION

A Good Suggestion From An Old Soldier

The government has been experimenting for some years seeking a condensed food to be used by soldiers in case of emergency when the army shall cut loose from its base of supplies and cast off its wagon trains and the troops shall carry their rations for a number of days in their haversacks. While some progress has been made the problem has not yet been solved.

A veteran from the Civil War, writing from New England, says in this connection:

"I have been using Grape-Nuts food for some time, and my liking for it increases with use. I find it extremely palatable, and not only digestible, but an aid to the digestion of other food which used to give me trouble.

"What has particularly struck me is the fact that a very small quantity of it is sufficient for an entire meal—that I really need no other food. It is my custom to begin my breakfast with two heaping tablespoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with cream. By the time I have eaten that I find that my appetite has been completely satisfied. I feel the comfortable sensation of one who has breakfasted wisely and well, and while I sometimes eat a little of other things, I do it more as a matter of habit than anything else. I find that I can go till noon on the two tablespoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream alone, and what is also an important consideration, without any uncomfortable sense of fullness such as I usually feel when I eat my old style breakfast. Especially is this so if I drink a cup of good, hot Postum Coffee with the meal, for I must confess the old kind of coffee fills me full of gas and discomfort for some hours after I drink it.

"Now it has occurred to me that Grape-Nuts food ought to be added to the army ration for the reason that it furnishes so much satisfying, nourishing food in such small bulk. A soldier with a package of Grape-Nuts in his haversack would have a food supply adequate for several days of marching and fighting. It wouldn't take up much room, and the weight is nothing."

"There's a reason."

GREAT REVIEW OF CHINESE TROOPS

Military Officers from Every Province Ordered to Pekin for Purposes of Study

TRIED TO KILL A VICEROY

Would Be Assasin Captured and Received Two Thousand Strokes With Bamboo as Punishment

Pekin, October 11. — Military officers from every province of China have been ordered to attend a review of Chinese troops for the purposes of studying. The army to be reviewed is the Pieyang army, commanded by Viceroy Yuan Shih Kai, which in future will be uniformed similarly to the Japanese army.

The Chinese Journal Shi-wan-pao reports an attempt on the life of Viceroy Yuan Shih Kai, a most progressive official. The would-be assassin was eighty years of age. He entered the official residence of the viceroy at Tien Tsoin and tried to attack the viceroy. Guards interfered and promptly secured him. He was ordered decapitated, but the viceroy refused to allow the sentence to be carried out, and the assailant was released after being given two thousand blows with a bamboo.

Corean newspapers, printed in English, express indignation because of high-handed actions by the Japanese executive in Corea. The Corea Review says Coreans are dangerously near revolt at the methods adopted by Japanese. Thousands of acres near Seoul have been arbitrarily seized, owners dispossessed without payment, and crops uprooted on the grounds of "military necessity."

The Corean Review says: "Recent events show conclusively that the Japanese military authorities are carrying out a vast scheme of reprisals, which have for their object the seizure of Corean private property wholesale and with the merest pretence at compensation.

Japanese vernacular papers feel keenly because of reports published abroad that the recent rioting at Tokio and Yokohama, because of dissatisfaction felt toward the peace terms, was anti-foreign and aimed against Americans.

The Japanese Gazette says that many Japanese are held prisoners in the direction of Kamchatka by Russians. The Yokohama papers say a dozen Japanese vessels have been burnt off the Kamchatka peninsula, and most of the crews stabbed to death by the garrison. Lieut. Gunji and party were held safely, with the exception of some youths, who were killed when it was learned they understood the Russian language.

The Japanese Times publishes news of a number of cases of embezzlement by Japanese naval officers. Paymaster Commander Takenouchi, financing naval construction in England, has fled after embezzling $165,000. Paymaster Kagi and Lieut. Commander Sakuma, of the Maizuru naval yard, were implicated, the former being sentenced to seven and the latter to two years. Takanouchi will serve eleven years when taken.

Official returns of the casualties of the Japanese army throughout the war shows 46,155 killed, 44,994 died of wounds, and 15,300 died of disease, a total of 72,450 dead.

Japanese fire insurance companies have refused to pay claims after fires caused by the rioters at Tokio, but have agreed to make partial payment under the name of "Money of sympathy."

U. S. MAY GIVE UP THE PHILIPPINES

Plan Brewing in Congress to This end --To Neutralize Islands

Boston, October 9.—It is stated here tonight that Senators Crane and Lodge are to introduce and press in Congress a bill to neutralize the Philippines, and expect strong support from both parties. The deficit in the treasury is causing the party leaders a good deal of worry and Senator Crane foresees further trouble in that respect, and having found what has made the deficit, is preparing a bill which will stop the steady drain and will put the treasury on the right side of the leader.

The plan that the Massachusetts men are now putting into shape for presentation to the next Congress provides not only for the neutralizing of the Philippines but also of China and the relinquishment by Germany and England of the colonies of Wei-Hai-Wei and Kiao-Chau, the United States neutralization of the Philippines acting as an effective answer to any question as to this country's intention with respect to the Far East.

CHECKERS.

The Y.M.C.A. Checker Club has been organized with the following officers: President, Chas. Gainsford; Secretary, H. Alphek; Committee, G. Horsley, H. Brayshaw, and W. Shiner.

Owing possibly to yesterday's bright sunshine warming the city's brick walls, there was a small attendance at the police court. Members of the Sunfish and Easy Loaning clubs, were seen holding up various convenient buildings, instead of indulging in their usual intellectual treat of soaking in particulars of the various drunks before his Worship.

Young Landeau, the little boy who pleaded guilty, a week ago, to stealing a watch for W. Hoff, engineer of a steamer lying in the canal, and who tearfully assented to living at the Children's Shelter, and kept thither with quickness and dispatch, was again on trial. His case of a week ago had been enlarged until yesterday, to see how he would behave at the Shelter. It seems, however, that young Landeau's good resolutions about remaining at the Shelter faded away as quickly as ante-election promises of a politician, and he forsook the place shortly after his arrival. His case was once more enlarged.

Mr. Westlake, who lives at the north end of George street, was interested by the chief with maintaining a malodorous and unsanitary cesspool at his residence. The Magistrate gave him one week in which to remedy this menace to public health, understanding how the residents of that locality are handicapped for lack of proper sewer connection.

Jas. Healey was charged with having a dog of the female persuasion on which the tax had not been paid.

Healey did not appear, but as he had been personally served with a summons, the wheels of justice rolled on apace. Healey when served denied that the animal belonged to him. The local agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., in giving evidence said the dog had bitten him on the leg, and that Mrs. Healy had told him she had had trouble with the canine since her last puppies arrived. She told him the dog had become cross. Her Worship considered this testimony sufficiently established ownership and imposed a fine of $2 with $2.60 costs.

TO ASSASSINATE KING AND FAMILY

Widespread Conspiracy to Blow Up Royal Train Proceeding from Bucharest

FOUR CONSPIRATORS TAKEN

Wholesale Murder Was Planned With Assistance of Roumanian Revolutionists

Berlin, October 11.—Advices received here state that a conspiracy has been discovered to assassinate King Charles of Roumania, who belongs to a branch of the Hohenzollern family, and also to kill members of his immediate family.

The Roumanian police received from Paris, Rome and Vienna simultaneously word that four anarchists, two Italians and two Frenchmen, were preparing to carry out a scheme to blow up the Royal train while it was proceeding from Bucharest to the frontier.

All four conspirators were arrested at Pitesti, sixty-five miles north-west of Bucharest.

Following the arrest the authorities discovered details of a formidable plot which was concerted with the assistance of Roumanian revolutionists. Conspiracy had purposed the destruction of King Charles, Queen Hizabeth, Crown Prince and Crown Princess and their children, Prince Charles, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Marie.

TRAVEL MADE EASY

A Pair of Motor Boots Which Enables the Wearer to Walk at Twelve Miles an Hour

Geneva, October 11.—A clever young engineer has succeeded, says the "Basler Nachrichten," in manufacturing a pair of motor boots.

The new invention, which has been tried with the greatest success, consists of a pair of stout boots, each of which is nothing more or less than a miniature motor-car mounted on four wheels of about a foot in diameter. The two feet work quite independently of each other, and should one motor-boot break down the other will carry the traveller along without difficulty.

The motor boots are exceptionally light, compact, and strong, working by petrol on a new plan, which the inventor keeps secret.

It is claimed that an ordinary pedestrian can travel all day over average country roads at a pace of twelve miles an hour without experiencing the least fatigue. The motor boots can be started or stopped in an instant by a spring attached to the belt of the traveller.

A LUCKY STRIKE

Frank Walsh's Purchase Included Many Old Relics

Toronto, October 11. — Every little while one reads of a lucky strike in the gamble which the buying of unclaimed freight undoubtedly is. But seldom does a fortunate purchaser secure such a collection of interesting things as did Frank Walsh, 514 King street east, by the outlay of $3.85 in Henderson's auction rooms on Saturday. Four dozen willow-pattern plates and platters of very old make, a fiddle-bow over 150 years old, flint-lock carbines which belonged to the 1st Regiment of the line, guns and swords which had been used at Ballanahinch in '98, rebel pikes, Irish clogs, blackthorn sticks, and a host of other old relics were in the big packing-case. The oldest thing, especially as the consignment came from Derry, was a tin box containing four bottles of holy water.

The case was addressed to Robert Moore, London, Ont., but was never claimed, and had been in the auction room for five years.

A MARVELOUS FLESH PRODUCER! This is the statement of those who have used "The D & L" Emulsion. It is said to be rich and sweet as cream and not unpleasant.

Penny Postage is to Be Made Universal

Strong Plea Made for it by Henniker Heaton, Backed by Peers of England, Lord Strathcona, and Rudyard Kipling

London, Oct. 11. — The strongest plea yet made for the universal penny postage appears in the Times in a three-column letter from Henniker Heaton, with an assurance from peers and members of Parliament of their support. Among these are Lord Roberts, Lord Strathcona, Lord George Hamilton, and Sir John E. Gorst, also Rudyard Kipling, Bishop of Ripon, and others. All are willing to add their names to the league Mr. Heaton is forming to obtain his object.

Lord Strathcona, after a note of praise for Mr. Heaton's efforts on behalf of Imperial penny postage, says he believed further efforts would be made to extend the boon till they most with success.

ALL NATIONS WANT IT.

Mr. Heaton says their letters represent national feeling, and that it is impossible to add to their force and authority. He reviews the reasons in favor of the adoption of the project, and estimates the cost for the first year at £125,000, and concludes that the people of all the principal foreign countries are in sympathy with the project.

"It may suit England to agree to introduce the reform gradually." Mr. Heaton says, "If timid financiers decline to accept the whole burden I have the assurance of the support of the chief German commercial men and the leading French, Austrian, and Belgium Chambers of Commerce, bankers, and merchants."

ONLY A LITTLE COURAGE.

The Westminster Gazette, in commenting, says the post-office will easily bear such a loss as Heaton estimates, and adds that, "Now that we have penny postage within the Empire, the other step only requires a little courage on the part of the administration of the post-office."

BRITISH SQUADRON IN CHINA WATERS

Blue Jackets of Britain and the Sailors of Japan Fraternize in Streets of Kobe

ONE NATIONAL FRIENDSHIP

Demonstration has Diminished Depression in Mikado's Empire Over Peace Terms

Kobe, October 11.—The festivities attending the visit of the British China squadron to Japanese waters thus far have been an unqualified success. Saturday, yesterday and today the British officers and men have been entertained in the vicinity of Kobe and Kyoto. The brilliant weather has added greatly to the enjoyment of the celebration. Kobe is gaily decorated with a profusion of Japanese and British flags. The blue jackets and marines of the visiting squadron were entertained Saturday and yesterday at Nanko Temple, English speaking pupils of the commercial school acting as companions of the men, who also warmly fraternized with the sailors of the Kasagai. More striking evidences of friendship were given. The British officers were entertained by the municipal authorities of Kobe, at Suwayama Saturday afternoon. The Mayor gave them welcome in a cordial speech. Vice-Admiral Sir Gerard Noel, commanding the British squadron, responded, proposing a toast to the Japanese Emperor. Capt. Clover, of the battleship Wisconsin, who was present, expressed pleasure in joining in the welcome. In the evening the guests were entertained at dinner by the governor of the prefecture at the official palace. This was followed by a reception and dance, to which a thousand invitations had been issued. Yesterday afternoon the Admiral and his officers were entertained at a garden party at Nunobiki, famous for its waterfalls. Later the visitors went to Kyoto, where great preparations had been made for their reception. The visit of the British squadron, bringing proof of the friendship of Japan's powerful ally, has appreciably diminished the depression among the Japanese due to the unsatisfactory peace terms made with Russia.

THE LITTLE DUCHESS CO.

What the Toronto World has to say About the Company

The Toronto World says regarding the "Little Duchess" Company now playing at the Grand Opera House in that city:

In the vernacular, Elsie Janis is a "comer," if indeed she has not come already. Last night she rose triumphant over the weak investiture and the small company which Milton and Sargent Aborn have given her in Anna Held's now famous vehicle, "The Little Duchess," and proved that she was no mean competitor for the Edna May and Lulu Glaser-ships that are lying around loose in the theatric profession. The company as individuals are not weak—with a couple of exceptions they are clever—all of which only given weight to the fact that the audience waited again for the successive reappearance of Elsie.

Mr. Bradburn has arranged for a special train to leave Peterboro at 7.10 Monday, returning after the performance, and your seats can be reserved at Ormond & Walsh's on Thursday and Friday next. Round trip tickets are placed at the low rate of $1. No person should miss seeing Elsie Janis in the "Little Duchess."

SELF EDUCATION

Crowded Audience in T. A. S. Hall Charmed by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick

As foretold by The Times, a very large and delighted audience filled the commodious T.A.S. Hall on Monday night.

The chief feature of the evening was, of course, the address given by Rev. Father FFitzpatrick, of Emsmere, upon "Self-Education," the subject being treated by the speaker in a broad and comprehensive manner, in which much information of practical value was imparted.

The rev. speaker has the true Hibernian humor of his nationality, which illumined the more grave and serious portions of his admirable address.

Another pleasing event of the evening was the presentation by Rev. Father McColl to Miss M. A. O'Connell of a medal presented by the Ladies' Literary Society for the best essay handed in during the past season. The subject of Miss O'Connell's contribution was "Canadian Poets."

The medal, which is a handsome trophy of solid gold, bore the following engraving: "Miss Annie O'Connell; presented by Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., for Prize Essay, T.A.S. Literary Association, 1904-05."

Mr. Robt. G. Begley very ably performed the duties of chairman. A very pleasing musical program was rendered, including a piano solo by Miss Myrtle Kline; a vocal solo by Mr. Vernon Murphy, entitled "The Song of the Reaper;" a vocal solo by Miss Beckett, was received with universal applause.

A PLEASING EVENT.

Tea at Gilmour Memorial Church a Success Both Financially and Otherwise

On Monday night a very interesting and pleasant re-union was held in the Gilmour Memorial church. There was a large attendance, and those present testified to their practical interest in the church, by donating the handsome sum of $150.

The event included a fowl supper and a musical program, interspersed with some excellent addresses.

Rev. W. T. McKinnon, pastor of the church, occupied the chair, and in his opening address expressed his great pleasure at seeing such a large number of persons present. Other speakers were Rev. H. McGrande, of Bridgenorth; Rev. Jas. Deacon, of Norwood; Rev. F. J. Scott and Mr. D. Campbell, of McMaster University, Toronto.

CHIME FOR CATHEDRAL

Presented to St. Paul's, London, by Mr. Justice Meredith

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 11.—Alexis Kramtchev, an escaped political prisoner from Sakhalin, is in Victoria. He said he owed his release to Dr. Russell, agent of the New York society formed to liberate and aid political prisoners of Russia.

Kramtchev, who is 25 years of age, was sentenced to the Sakhalin prisons for seven years. He is a mining engineer and metallurgist, and was imprisoned because of an address delivered to 3,000 Poles at Warsaw, advocating a movement for freedom. He was condemned to be hanged, but escaped during a rising of the prisons. When captured, the date of the execution was passed, and he was, in keeping with a Russian custom which does not allow of an execution taking place after the date originally set, sent to Sakhalin.

When the Japanese army landed at Sakhalin, Dr. Russell of the New York organization also landed and through his agency many prisoners secured freedom, among them Alexis Kramtchev, who opened the Pacific after reaching Japan. He has letters to countrymen in San Francisco.

Indictments Against Embezzler

Peoria, Ill., October 10.—Thirteen indictments have thus far been returned against Newton C. Dougherty, city superintendent of schools and president of the Peoria National Bank. Ten of them are for embezzlement and three for forgery. Forty more are being drawn by the state attorney's office. It was announced from the office yesterday that the total would reach more than 200.

Leonard Indicted for Forgery

New York, October 10. — An indictment for forgery in the second degree against Henry A. Leonard, the youth who secured more than $200,000 worth of securities from the National City bank on a forged cheque last week, was returned by the grand jury yesterday. Leonard is liable to a further indictment for larceny in the same case. He is in grief, not yet having furnished $10,000 bail.

Poor Fire Alarm System

New York, October 10. — A report stating that the fire alarm telegraph system which protects New York, is in a dangerously advanced state of decay throughout the entire borough of Manhattan, was made to Fire Commissioner Hayes yesterday by the New York Board of Fire [illegible]. TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER

Indicates Faulty Blood and Worn Out Nerves—Build Up or Total Collapse Will Surely Follow

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was insufficient and lack of strength is told by Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 30, Beeton, Ont.: "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

A CATHOLIC CENTRE

La Verite has been advocating the formation of a Catholic Centre in Parliament. Le Canada says that Mr. Tardivel's dream is not realizable, and, moreover, that it is dangerous, that the idea underlying it is the same as that of the Protestant Protective Association. Were two new parties created on religious lines Catholics would be fatally defeated. Protestantism represents the stronger party, and its view will prevail. Le Canada goes farther, says The News, and asks whether Catholics in Canada are really persecuted, as La Verite represents. Are they really in danger? "Is it urgently necessary, is it wise to mass "our co-religionists together, to enroll them under a political flag sheltering them to the exclusion of all others?" In answer Le Canada says that it would be unjust to the great majority of Protestants in Canada to accuse them of persecution. They have their prejudices, but this is to be expected from our poor humanity. Protestants are not the sole depositories of prejudice. Frankly, asks Le Canada, would the victims of persecution, as described by La Verite, be better treated if they lived in France, in Italy, in Spain, in Belgium, in the Latin republics of Central America or South America?

Le Canada then proceeds to examine the status of Catholics in Quebec. By the Act of 1774 it is provided that the Catholic subjects of the King shall enjoy the free exercise of their religion, subject to the supremacy of the King; and that the Catholic clergy shall receive and enjoy the accustomed dues and rights, with respect to persons professing the Catholic religion. Through all the vicissitudes of history, in spite of irreconcilables on one side or the other, this Act is the basis of Catholic liberty. Our clergy admit willingly, and the witness if corroborated by every impartial observer, that in no part of the world is the Catholic religion freer than in Canada." If La Verite doubts this it is invited by Le Canada to interrogate the superiors of the religious orders who have been driven "by the odious persecution of the Combes' Government" from France to Canada.

Catholics in Quebec must smile at the idea of requiring protection from Protestant assaults on their religion and liberty. Nevertheless, as they have probably heard terrifying accounts of Protestant bigotry raging in Toronto, it is just as well that they should be assured from a French-Canadian source that the formation of a Catholic political league is wholly unnecessary and dangerous. The country had enjoyed rest from sectarianism in politics, when the quarrel was revived by the coercion clauses of the Autonomy Bills, followed by the attack on Mr. Haultain as an opponent of coercion. No attack is being made in Quebec or in Ontario or in the West on the rights and liberties of Catholics.

INDIFFERELT AND SUSPICIOUS

A correspondent of a London paper who was present when the English fleet, under the command of Sir Arthur Wilson, visited Swinemunde the other day was much impressed by the indifferent attitude assumed by the inhabitants. He says that when Admiral Wilson went on shore to visit the governor and commandant he was received by the crowd about the landing place and wharf in absolute silence. There was no demonstration of any kind. Not a murmur of interest was heard, not a hand was raised to hat or cap in salute, unless it belonged to a policeman or other official. So it was when the British officers drove through the streets. There was no sound of applause and no marks of respect or interest. The people looked on coldly and stolidly. As for signs of popular rejoicing, there was none at all. There was no decoration, no display of bunting, not even the flag was sparingly hoisted at the public buildings. The Union Jack and the White Ensign were invisible, even on the excursion steamers, which were plentiful, and crowded with spectators, who had come from considerable distances. There can be little doubt, in the writer's opinion, that the visit of the warships was regarded by the general public, not as a friendly chance visit, but as an insolent flaunting of naval strength, especially significant after the fraternization of the French and English fleets at Portsmouth.

MR. EMMERSON'S RETURN.

Minister Completes His Long Trip Over Canals.

Ottawa, October 11.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson, with Deputy Minister Butler and Chief Engineer Schrieber, has returned to Ottawa after an inspection of the Canadian canal system from the Welland to the Beauharnois, including the Trent waters.

This is the first time, it is said, in the history of Canada that a Minister of Canada has made a complete and comprehensive survey of the system. The members of the party were chiefly impressed with the necessity for grain handling facilities at Port Colborne, for the rapid trans-shipment of cargoes from lake vessels to canal. Lack of such facilities has prevented the canals being made use of to date in any adequate manner. The foundations of the elevator which are to repair this defect at Port Colborne are about completed and the contract for the superstructure will shortly be let.

Gilmour Church Anniversary

Most interesting services were held on Sunday at the Gilmour Memorial Church, on the Chemong Road, attended by large congregations, both in the morning and in the evening. The services were brightened by special music, of a most charming character, including a male quartette. The church was adorned beautifully for the occasion with floral decorations, which added greatly to it's attractiveness. Special sermons were preached by Rev. James Deason, of Norwood, who exchanged services with the pastor, Rev. L. McKinnon. Mr. Deason in the evening service preached a forceful and convincing sermon, taking as his text St. John XVII. 18.—"As Thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I sent them into the world."

Rural Deanery at Brighton

The Deanery of Northumberland, of which Rev. J. C. Davidson is rural dean, will be in session on Wednesday in the parish of Brighton. Rev. Rural Dean Davidson and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt from this city will be in attendance. Tuesday evening Rev. Mr. Langfeldt will deliver an address on Parochial Finances, and on Wednesday, the rural dean will speak on "The Deanery." A most interesting program has been arranged.

Another Plan of the Combine

It is reported that the combine not content with their failure to freeze out Peterboro's local brewery have adopted other tactics of offense. It is said that they are now trying to buy hotel businesses in the city, for clients who will, of course, have to do as they are told. If this be true, there are ways and means for Peterboro people to protect Peterboro's industries.

Off For a Fish

Yesterday a party of local gentlemen, comprising Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, Fred Addison, Toronto; O. Shortley, Ottawa; Dixon B. Shortly, Graham, Toronto; and W. Baptie, cook, "The Salmon Fishing Club" left for a most enjoyable outing. The Sovereign carried the party as far as Buckhorn, whence they will drive in to their cottage at Lake Ketchesum.

BLOOD DISEASES CURED

Before Treatment.

After Treatment.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the use of Method Treatment for 7 or 8 months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish."

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

shrinking, "I am afraid of your horse."

At that instant the hounds gave tongue. "They've found, they're away," cried every one. Winton's horse, wildly excited, tried to bolt, and strove by every device that could enter into the heart of a horse to unseat his rider, rearing straight up, buck-jumping, lashing out with his heels, in vain. A hand of iron controlled him, and the firm grip of the knees was not to be shaken. At last he darted off in the direction his rider chose, like a bolt from a catapult. During this struggle Mrs. L'Estrange covered her eyes, but Nora could not remove hers. She turned deadly white, for at one moment it seemed as if the horse would have fallen back, then she knew how little all her self-control had done to uproot Mark Winton from her heart. How splendidly he sat. She had not observed before what a fine figure he had. Would he come back safe after a run on such a vicious brute?

"I really thought Mr. Winton would have been killed," said the eldest of the rector's daughters. "How wonderfully he rides! My brother says he is a great 'shekarry.' In fact, he cares for nothing else but sport. You were frightened, too, Miss L'Estrange?"

"I have not been used to horses for years," stammered Nora.

"You ought to ride now. I remember you managing your little sheltie capitally, long ago. Won't you come back to luncheon at the rectory? Mother would be charmed to see you and Mrs. L'Estrange. Mrs. Gardner and her friends are coming."

Mrs. L'Estrange preferred returning with her little daughter, but Nora was glad to divert her thoughts by accepting the invitation, and was one of the most animated of the party. She could not, however, be persuaded to stay till the eldest son of the house, an officer on leave from his regiment in India, returned with a report of the run.

"I suppose Mrs. Ruthven has heard nothing of her jewels?" said Mrs. Gardiner, as Nora was saying goodbye.

"Nothing whatever. She seems to despair of recovering them."

"It was a frightful business altogether!" exclaimed Mary Damer, the rector's second daughter. "Do you remember a Captain Shirley who was at the ball. You danced with him several times. He danced very well."

Nora did remember.

"George says there were queer reports about him in India. He was in the same regiment as Mr. or Major Ruthven. People said, too, that Mrs. Ruthven was—well, not too particular."

"I only know she is particularly nice," returned Nora. "Do not believe half the ill-natured things you hear."

"I wish," said Miss Damer, "that Mr. Marsden had not been frightened away by the worry of this unlucky robbery. How nice it would be to have Eversleigh open once more."

"Do tell me, Miss L'Estrange," cried the younger sister, "is the squire engaged to Mrs. Ruthven?"

"Indeed, I do not know; but I am sure she would make a very pleasant mistress for the manor house. Now, I must not stay, it will be dusk before I get back."

"I think you are quite heartless, not to stay and hear if poor Mr. Winton came alive out of the hunt, and he is such a great friend of yours."

"Oh! he can take care of himself," said Nora, and with a few more words she escaped, her heart beating with annoyance at the tone of Miss Damer's last remark. She would certainly persuade Helen to come up to town next week, or as soon as possible, and then would take singing lessons, and amuse herself, and forget the folly and weakness into which she had fallen. "How ill-natured people are," she thought, "and ready to spread ill-natured stories." She did not believe that Captain Shirley ever did anything disgraceful, though she had not been favorably impressed by him, and was disposed, in an instinctive and unreasoning way, to dislike and distrust him.

Large drops of rain made her hurry on to gain shelter before the threatened storm burst; but as she crossed the carriage drive of Eversleigh Manor, on her homeward way, she noticed fresh traces of wheels and horses' feet. The steward had no doubt been up at the house. She caught a glimpse of it before she passed through the gate leading into the wood opposite her own home. How mournful it looked with its closed shutters, and the one thin thread of smoke rising from its wide stack of chimneys! She was quite glad to be safe at home, in her own comfortable bedroom, changing her dress for her in-door garments. She had grown stupidly nervous of late. One folly brings on another, she thought.

"How late you are, Nora; did you get wet?"

"No; at least very little."

"Had George Damer come back? How did the hunt go off? I should be glad to know if Mark Winton is safe."

"I did not wait. I think the fox must have headed for Anchester downs. Do let me have a cup of tea! I feel so tired."

No more was said; but when the time came for shutting up the house, Mrs. L'Estrange sent to ask if Roberts had heard of any accident at the hunt. Roberts reported that young Mr. Gardner had been thrown, and had broken his collar-bone, and that as he (Roberts) had been leaving Oldbridge that evening, there in had gone to fetch oats, he had met Mr. Winton and the rector's son, riding back, all covered with mud and "tired like."

"I am really quite relieved," said Mrs. L'Estrange. "I was rather uneasy."

Nora did not reply and the rest of the evening was spent in making their plans for a visit to London, and writing to an ex-cook and housekeeper, who had taken a lodging-house in one of the streets on the Tyburnian side of Hyde Park, and to whom all Eversleigh folk applied when they needed temporary quarters in the great city.

The next morning broke bright and crisp after a night of rain, and after their midday meal, Mrs. L'Estrange drove away in the pony-carriage, with her little girl, to do various errands in the town. Nora, relieved walked on silently for a few moments. Then she said:

"Helen and I are thinking of going up to town for a couple of months. It is rather melancholy and uncomfortable to be so far from every one in the winter. Helen has been so nervous ever since that robbery."

"You are quite right—it is an excellent idea," cried Marsden, with hearty approbation. "Where do you think of staying—at the Langham?"

"The Langham!" laughing. "Why, the Langham would swallow up all our money in ten days. No, no; we think of going to Mrs. May, if she

Sawdust in the River

Now that vague fears of Peterboro's water supply for domestic purposes are rampant, and it must be added, possibly exaggerated, the local authorities should take every precaution to prevent contamination from every unnecessary source. It is commonly reported that certain parties are dumping sawdust on the river bank in the village of Lakefield just above the dam. Steps should be taken at once to stop this illegal practice. As sawdust generates most noxious gases and contains many dangerous elements provocative of disease.

Mr. Roy Cavanagh Improving

We are pleased to state that Mr. Roy Cavanagh whilst still confined to St. Joseph's Hospital, since his terrible accident at Kerne races, is greatly improved in health. His condition is so much better, that Mr. Timothy Cavanagh, his father, on Monday left the city on a business trip. It is now certain that Mr. Cavanagh's skull was not fractured, as was first feared. His mind is perfectly clear, the only thing preventing his more rapid return to complete health, being the severe shock sustained, and followed by the long ambulance drive to the city.

A Successful Industry

We are pleased to state that a Peterboro industry, the Central Milling Co., have had a very prosperous year, and have declared a dividend of eight per cent. Their annual meeting was held yesterday afternoon in Foresters Hall, with about 40 stockholders present. Mr. Joan Seethart occupied the chair. Mr. Geo. K. Martin was reelected auditor for the coming year. The election of directors then took place, resulting in the following gentlemen being chosen: — Messrs. John Stothart, D. Carlaw, J. H. Armstrong, Peter Dawson, W. J. Hall, and George Taylor.

CHARGE REDUCED

Charge Against P. McCauliffe Changed from Murder to Manslaughter

Yesterday afternoon there seemed to be general satisfaction over the fact that the grand jury had changed the charge against Patrick McAuliffe from the most serious charge in jurisprudence, to that of manslaughter.

As is known to most of our readers McAuliffe is charged with having caused the death of Fred Hudson, a Hunter street butchkeeper, last June.

The jury reduced the charge of murder to one of manslaughter and it is expected that the trial will begin to-day. Mr. R. M. Donaldson will look after the prisoner's interests.

This afternoon the Grand Jury, having finished the business referred to them, the members paid their customary visit to the jail and hospitals.

MORE BARNARDO GIRLS

Large Consignment Arrive and at Once Located in Places

87 girls from 6 to 16 years of age, on Sunday arrived from England, consigned to the local Barnardo Home. The girls were under personal supervision and care of Mrs. Lloyd.

The girls left London the day after the memorial service in memory of the late Dr. Barnardo, the founder of the Homes. They are the last which will be brought to Canada this year. The girls have greatly all been engaged by persons living in various parts of the province.

Some of them left for their new homes yesterday, and it is expected by the end of the week that the majority will have been placed in good families.

The Lanterns Were Alight

In contradiction of certain rumors current throughout the city yesterday, regarding the accident to Mr. Robt. Pethick, Monday night, we might say that an investigation made by The Times showed that the lanterns left illuminating the open sewer were all alight. There were five lanterns, all lighted, left to warn passers-by. As noted in yesterday's issue, Mr. Pethick had the misfortune to fall into the Rubidge street sewer, sustaining severe injuries. The Dan Spence ambulance was called and the injured man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. Coughlan. Inquiry last night elicited the information that he was resting easily, and that he would soon be able to leave the hospital for home. He was very fortunate in not sustaining any more serious injuries than those recorded, and his experience should, and doubtless will prove a lesson to those teamsters who persist in driving on streets which are torn up.

Off For the Woods

About twenty-five men left yesterday morning for the Dickson Company's limits in Burleigh and Anstruther township. Some 300 men have already left for the woods and will be employed by the Dickson Company all winter. About 150 more are required and it is expected that as soon as the work on the farms is concluded, the company will have no difficulty in obtaining the necessary numbers.

DR. ARMSHAW DEAD

Bright Young Physician Succumbs to the Great White Plague

Yesterday morning a bright young man, who, had the fell hand of death spared him, would have probably made his mark among the medical fraternity, died yesterday at four o'clock at the house of friends on Weir street. Dr. Armshaw, the deceased, studied for some time at McGill College, Montreal, and then moved to the State of New York, where he graduated some months ago at an American Medical College. Dr. Armshaw, just at the beginning of his professional career, shortly after graduation moved to Belleville. In this city he was seized with symptoms of consumption, which developed only too fast.

He then, with his family, moved to Peterboro. In this city, his case excited much sympathy for all who knew him, and much generous kindness, of a practical sort was shown the dying physician.

Prominent in the work of charity was the assistance rendered by the King's Daughters, of St. John's. The patient, it has been learned, was attended during the latter part of his illness since his arrival in Peterboro, by Dr. Marshall, who displayed much practical kindness.

The children of the deceased were removed about a week ago to the Children's Aid Shelter, the younger a babe of two weeks having since been placed in a private home by the secretary of the King's Daughters. The deceased was 24 years old. Just previous to his death, Dr. Armshaw craved to see his wife, who had been taken to the Nicholl's hospital, since the birth of her baby two weeks ago. Mrs Armshaw was taken to the Weir street residence, but unfortunately arrived too late to see her husband alive.

The funeral will take place to-day to Little Lake cemetery at 2.30 o'clock.

Adjt. Jennings for Ottawa

The many friends of Adjt. Jennings, of the Salvation Army, who, on account of ill-health, was compelled to temporarily give up his work as local officer in command of the Salvation Army, will be glad to learn that he has been greatly benefitted by his rest, and that he will by about a month be able to re-enter the work. It is expected that he will go to Ottawa, where he again enters the work.

Postpone Tonight's Meeting

It is proposed to postpone the meeting for to-night, which is to be held for the purpose of considering the question of better fire protection. The reason of this proposed change of date is due to the Irish Guards Band concert. If the Guard's band will detract, in any degree, from a full discussion of this most essential problem, by all means postpone the meeting. A split meeting is liable to have a false impression on the public, as to the general demand for security from fire.

The Mother—Norman Duncan.

THE ATTRACTIVE GIRL.

Much has been written about "the American girl" and her reasons for being preeminently the most attractive girl in the world. In bringing up girls mothers can't be too careful to let their daughters develop all their natural charms to the utmost.

The crucial epoch of a woman's life is the change from maidenhood to womanhood. It involves the whole body and manifests itself in the nervous disposition at this time.

Nervous or sick women are afforded the opportunity of a lifetime, for the makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured. Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhœa, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I cannot praise your medicine highly enough," writes Mrs. Jessie Hippenhaer, of Rantertown, Indiana. "I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and took it steadily for six months. I was not once sick at stomach, never vomited once. Took the 'Favorite Prescription' three times a day and when in severe pain took an extra teaspoonful of medicine which checked the pain. I felt pleasant all the time and did not get nervous as I used to. When my baby girl came last August she was healthy. She is now eleven months old. Am thirty-eight years old and never got through so easily in all my life. Why should women suffer when they can get through so easily? I am able to do quite a washing and ironing which I could not do for eight years before."

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure. No other pill can compare with them.

AGENTS ORGANIZE

Agents of Canada Life Co. Form a Protective Association

At a meeting held Monday in the fine offices of Mr. W. E. Cox, General Agent of Canada Life Insurance Co. for Peterboro district, the Midland district of this vast corporation decided to form an association. The organization is called the Canada Life Agents' Association, and is for the purpose of mutual self help and co-operation, and to advance the best interests of the agents and the welfare of the company.

Mr. B. Bellis of Toronto, district manager for the Midland district, was elected president of the association; Mr. W. R. Widdows, of Lindsay, and Mr. W. E. Cox, Peterboro, vice-presidents. Capt. Robertson of Port Hope, was appointed secretary-treasurer.

The executive will consist of the foregoing officers and two other members yet to be appointed.

Mr. Sills entertained the representatives to a dinner at the Oriental Hotel, after which those present took in the lift lock and other city sights.

BIJOU COMEDY CO.

Mr. Wilmot Young and Miss Marjie Adams Present Banker's Daughter

A good sized audience last night witnessed that old time favorite play the "Banker's Daughter," in Broadburn's opera house. The leading part David Holt, was taken by Mr. Wilmot Young with his usual inborn dramatic forgetfulness of self. The part of Mrs. Holt was played by Miss Marjie Adams. As Mrs Adams is a favorite of long standing with the Peterboro theatre going public, it is unnecessary to say that she maintained the part with her usual artistic ability. The Bijou Comedy Co. of whom the above stars are its leading people, this trip are, if possible better than ever. Their specialties, including Richard and Peters, musical artists; Wilda Conlin; Edward Stauffer, ballads; Winnie Barton, dainty soubrette; W. C. Stewart, comedy entertainer; illustrated songs and Lubin's moving pictures, are well worth going to see and hear. The company is one of the strongest that Peterboro people have seen, and should be greeted with bumper houses to-night the company play that ever green drama "Nell Gwynne of Old Drury."

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

Two Professedly Telegraph Messengers Enter W. Madill's House

Yesterday what bears the appearance of a would-be burglary was committed on the residence of Mr. Wm. Madill, 516 Aylmer street, during the absence of the residents.

Two boys, who it is said, loitered about the premises for some time, apparently reconnoitering, told several of Mr. Madill's neighbors, they had a telegram to deliver to him. The family, as noted were out, and the boys, raising a window, entered the house. As yet nothing of any value has been found missing. It is suspected the boys became frightened at the close scrutiny the neighbors gave them and decamped before securing any plunder.

Chief Ronald will probably investigate; in such case a clue to the boys' identity will probably soon be established.

The Deadly Wire Claims a Victim

Archie Wilsie Killed Last Night at Havelock Whilst Turning off an Electric Lamp Tap--Hand and Wrist Badly Burnt.

Last night a terrible fatality occurred shortly before six o'clock, whereby Mr. Archie Wilkie, employed in Mr. Frank McMaster's tin shop, Havelock, had his life suddenly ended.

The deceased went, on termination of the day's work in his employer's shop, to turn off the electric light. The light was not, as might be inferred from its causing sudden death, an arc light, but the ordinary incandescent system. As Wilsie, immediately after taking hold of the tap, turned it as usual, from some cause a flame flashed forth burning his hand and wrist badly; he dropped to the floor and expired instantaneously. It is supposed that the insulation was imperfect, and the contact of his hand about circuited the current, his body thus receiving the full force of the mysterious fluid. Dr. Gray the coroner was at once notified. The latter sent High Constable George Cochrane to Havelock on the evening train last night to summon a coroner's jury. The inquest will be held today at one o'clock.

The deceased was a widower and leaves one little girl, aged 14 years.

It was reported last night that the wire connecting the lights in McMaster's tin shop had been crossed by a live arc wire, and that this caused the fatal accident. The Times last night endeavored to obtain corroboration of this theory but could not, up to time of going to press, discover whether this theory is tenable or not. This however will likely develope at today's coroner's inquest.

It is said that the deceased was in the best of health, his heart being in too good condition to allow the theory of heart disease to account for his sad death so suddenly.

DEATH KNELL OF RACES IN CANADA

Ontario Court Expected to Sound It

PUT AN END TO BETTING

Crime Following Gambling Causes Action

Toronto, October 12.—By a decision expected shortly from the Ontario Court of Appeal, composed of Chief Justice Moss and Justices Osler, Garrow, Maclennan and Maclaren, the death knell of horse racing in Ontario is likely to be sounded.

The judgment will only bar betting, but with that element eliminated, the racing game will be stopped.

That the Court of Appeal will give a decision against betting in the firm belief of Deputy Attorney General John M. Cartwright, King's Counsel. The same court, with the exception of one or two changes in the personnel, has already gone on record to the effect that bookmaking on a race track is illegal. This decision was given in a confirmation of sentence imposed by Magistrate Bartlet, of Windsor, who fined Edward Hanrahan $100 for running a pool room out at the Windsor race track. Attorney J. W. Hanna appealed the case on the ground that a provision in the statutes allowed betting where an actual horse race was in progress. Hanrahan claimed that races were going on at the Windsor track while he was taking bets. However, the judgment of the Court of Appeal was that there is nothing in the criminal code which under any circumstances of time or place exempts from liability the keeper of a common betting house.

However, the decision did not put a stop to bookmaking in Ontario, although the pool room was closed for a time. The Liberals were in power then. Now there is a change of government and there is a fear among the promoters of horse racing, particularly the jockey club managements, that the law is to be rigidly enforced. There is a new Attorney-General, J. J. Foy, K. C., and Premier Whitney is said to be firmly set against the gambling feature of horse racing. Mr. Cartwright, the Deputy Attorney-General, is also strongly opposed to betting.

CRIME WHICH FOLLOWS RACES.

"It is the betting that causes all the trouble," commented Mr. Cartwright. "We had the same experience in Toronto that has resulted from the racing in Windsor and Detroit. Thieves come with the races and a period of crime results. Then, after the horses go, we have the embezzlers to deal with. Clerks and other employes don't get enough wages to bet with their own money and they use the funds of their employers. Horses are wrecked in that way and many a man goes down the path of destruction. It's a pity that the racing couldn't be relished just as well without the betting. That the public must lose is certain from the fact that the bookmakers have to pay enormous sums for the privilege of selling the pools.

"If the Court of Appeal again decides bookmaking is illegal on the race tracks, will steps be taken to prevent further betting?" Mr. Cartwright was asked.

"I have," he replied. "We shall have taken."

"I can't say just what action will be the interpretation of the law and there remains for the authorities to do but enforce the law. If there is any way in which the race track people can get around the law, I am not aware of it."

The case which the Court of Appeal is now considering is that of President Hendrie of the Ontario Jockey Club of Toronto, who was recently convicted by Magistrate Ingaleon of Toronto, on the charge of aiding and abetting the sale of pool tickets at the Woodbine race meet. The club sold the privileges to Hamilton people and in doing this the Magistrate held that he was guilty as charged. The decision on the appeal is being awaited with much interest in Toronto.

THE LUMBER CASE

McWilliams vs. The Dickson Co., Heard Yesterday.

This celebrated case, which has played such important parts in the history of the lumber industry for the past [illegible] years, was resumed yesterday afternoon. Mr. Theodore McWilliams gave evidence, and kept a clear head as insinuations affecting a relative were freely introduced.

Considerable interest was taken, even the majority of those listening to the McAuliffe trial remaining, in this long talked of suit.

The case is a suit for recovery by Mr. T. McWilliams of $500 for timber claimed to be his and alleged to have been taken by the defendants. The case was tried without a jury.

Mr. Theodore McWilliams in reply to his counsel, Mr. Aylesworth, said the logs owned by him were of good quality. It would cost two or three times the value of the logs as they stood, to bring them to market.

Had an offer from Kelley of Bridgenorth. Whole amount of Kelly, of Bridgenorth, offered was $441.56; it would cost about $1.50 a thousand to drive, this for 60,000 feet.

It was growing timber which would increase in value. Skidways were on lot 18, thence the logs would be taken across their enclosure to get to water. About 48,000 in the lot was hemlock.

Cross-examined by counsel for the Dickson Co. is not doing anything at present, and has had no occupation for two years. Has done nothing since he entered his former action. His father was a Crown officer, supervising the Provincial Crown Timber Rangers. Used to be in and out of his father's office before the action was started. Did not help his father. Mr. Cochrane is his uncle and the latter was not employed by his father. Cochrane lived in Cavendish. Knew the deed of 1902 was made but not signed before the patent was paid. Did not know Cochrane was applying for the patents.

Not sure about this. His father may have paid the fees. Did not know that Mr. Cochrane had never paid the money to his father. His father and Mr. Cochrane were not much together. Had never to get money from his father. Can't swear whether he gave his father the money he (the father paid). First saw the property 25 years ago. Don't know who was the original applicant for the property.

Went after the property as original applicant had abandoned it. Did not know that his father gave his consent on his behalf, to issuance of the patent to his uncle, Mr. Cochrane. Does not know how his father gave his consent without, his (witness) knowledge. Did not register property till 1903. Transferred the property to his brother, but not quite sure about the matter. Always been good friends with his uncle. Recognized a specimen of his hand writing. Wanted the lots for ranching purposes.

Did not think it extraordinary that his father and Mr. Cochrane were working together. Did not consult with his father at time of sale for taxes. Did not discuss his intended ranching business with his father. Was in the employ of the Crown in 1898 to 1900, working for his father, on Crown Land Department business. His work was going over land for the Department. Was through the property in this capacity.

Tax sale was in 1897, but was not then working for his father. Did nothing with this land since the tax sale. Did some plowing in 1905 on the land in question. Did not know what the Dickson Co., had cut at that time. Did not notify the Dickson Co., until 1903. Wrote a letter the following October after the Dickson Co., were cutting the logs. Did not see the logs until January or February. Knew by reports, that the company were taking out the logs. Did not object to them cutting or driving the logs. It was necessary to get them to Buckhorn to get a market. It was only when they got them to Young's Point, that he took action. Did not know anyone else was making application for the lot when his father got it for him. Did not know Mr. Westlake owned part of the land within the fence, he, witness, erected. Did not know Westlake was applying for the patent.

Did not know, at that time, that Westlake was applying for patents for lots 18 and 19. Did not see the correspondence of his father with the department. Knew his father had had correspondence with the department about getting the patents. Under cross-examination, said he did not know his father applied in his name. There was no understanding between him and Cochrane previous to the latter's applying for the patent.

First spoke to Mr. Cochrane in 1903 about the matter. Cochrane said all he cared about was to get Westlake off the property, as he could secure the lake front. His father had nothing to do with the bargain between him and Cochrane. Made the bargain himself. His father never had any interest in the matter. Did not register the deeds sooner as he was away in Cavendish and elsewhere.

An argument between counsel took place then as to witness's story about payment of $50 to Cochrane; his Lordship said witness' story was not contradictory.

Witness has had possession of patents since. Could not give dates as to when he paid the money to his father, as they have had accounts together at different times. Is not clear about the payment of $50. Remembered the case of Scott and Jordan. His father had no interest in this matter. If his (witness) had not been an employe of the department, he would have had an to the end.

Deputy Sheriff F. Hall then gave evidence. Said he made a seizure of a quantity of logs on Clear Lake. His papers called for 800 or 900 pieces. Mr. Snooks said "There is the boom with 48,000 logs, go ahead and sell what your papers are for.

Jas. Swanston, a licensed lumber cutter, gave evidence as to doing his work in lots 18 and 19.

Mr. George Hatton then testified to selling a quantity of timber, giving figures as to values.

MUNICIPAL TELEPHONES

Unsatisfactory Results Reported from Glasgow

When Prof. James Mavor, of Toronto University, was interviewed on his return from the Old Land recently, he gave some facts adverse to the municipal ownership enterprises of Glasgow, referring particularly to the unsatisfactory results of that city's operation of the telephone. A Toronto paper in an editorial entitled, "Will He Disclose His Brief," charged the learned professor with not being wholly disinterested, in short, with using his position as a vantage point from which to speak for private interests.

In a letter to the paper in question Prof. Mavor completely vindicates himself, and on the subject of Glasgow's telephone system says further:

"Had I been in Glasgow when the telephone enterprise was instituted I might have had no influence in the matter; but I believe I would not have supported it, partly because I believe it would have appeared to me to be too risky, and partly because it is not a service which can be utilized to any material extent by any but a small fraction of the population of a city like Glasgow. While no one admires more than I do the disinterested enthusiasm and the loyal adherence to an idea of those who are responsible for the Glasgow municipal telephone system, yet it is fair to say that in Glasgow it is universally recognized that the result is not financially satisfactory. Reference has been made by you to the telephone accounts of last year. Allow me to add to what you say about them that the auditors refused to give an unqualified certificate for these accounts. They drew the attention of the council to the inadequate allowance for depreciation, and to the absence of any provision for the cutting off of preliminary expenses (Minutes of Town Council, September 7). I may say that at the next meeting of the town council it was announced that negotiations were in progress for the sale of the system.

"I am not aware that anyone conversant with the subject pretends that the telephone service has been conducted at a profit; the only question is as to what may ultimately turn out to be a loss."

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often the result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once.

Miss Meeks, of Mattewan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath, which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

A complete outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several week's treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write to-day for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

THE NEW CONSUMPTION CURE

New Yorker Wishes Him to Announce It to the World

New York, October 17. — Professor Behring's announcement to the International Tuberculosis Congress in Paris of a cure for consumption, has aroused widespread interest in America.

One of New York's wealthiest and best known citizens, whose name is withheld fro the present, has authorized the announcement that he will contribute $50,000 to a fund to present to Prof. Behring if he will at once announce to the world his treatment and not withhold it for years. The only qualification to the offer is that the treatment must first be pronounced successful by a competent committee of physicians.

MANY MILLION RUSSIANS STARVE

Will Have to be Fed Until Next July

A WIDESPREAD FAMINE

Extending Through 23 Provinces and Affecting 18,000,000 People

London, October 12. — Eighteen million people are fairly starving in Russia. The Moscow correspondent of The Express says:

"Russia is faced with a terrible and widespread famine. It extends through 138 districts in 23 provinces, affecting a population of 18,000,000, who will have to be fed until the middle of July next.

The splendid hospital organization of the United Zemstvos is centered in Moscow and relief work operations have already begun. So gigantic, however, is the task that there is little hope of supplying sufficient food for the starving millions. It has been decided, therefore, to begin with the children first.

Those who are older will have to take care of themselves until the end of the month or else starve. By that time it is hoped that food stations will be established throughout the stricken centers of the empire.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

One Thousand Miles Will Soon be Under Way

Montreal, October 12.—The Grand Trunk Pacific construction work is beginning to take definite shape. Mr. William Wainwright, assistant general manager of the new transcontinental line, stated yesterday his connection that one thousand miles of the road would be under construction by next spring. This includes the Lake Superior branch, as well as the division from Touchwood Hills to Edmonton.

Mr. Wainwright went to Ottawa to out if Hon. Mr. Emmerson had approved the route map of the Grand Trunk Pacific from the Touchwood Hills to Edmonton. It was learned, however, that before taking any action the Minister will send Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, C. E., to the North-West to report upon the application. Mr. Schreiber left yesterday to go over the route and see if this is the best obtainable in the country's interests. He will go further west than Edmonton, as other Grand Trunk Pacific plans will be put in shortly, and the Minister wants expert opinion as to the route being followed.

If necessary Mr. Emmerson will go to the North-West and see for himself the country through which the prairie section of the proposed transcontinental railway will pass.

MR. LEONARD'S PROMOTION

Takes Position of Assistant-General Manager of Canadian Pacific Lines

Mr. J. W. Leonard, so well known in Peterboro, who has been superintending the construction of the Toronto-Sudbury line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been given the appointment of assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific lines east of Port William, with office at Montreal.

Mr. Leonard has entered upon his duties. He will still continue to superintend the construction of the Toronto-Sudbury line. In addition it is stated that Mr. Leonard will take up the duties performed until recently by Mr. C. W. Spencer, as general superintendent of transportation on eastern lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Spencer has resigned to become general manager of Mackenzie & Mann's interests east of Port Arthur.

The appointment of Mr. Leonard marks the inauguration of a new office in the employ of the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Leonard, though still a young man, is one of the most popular Canadian railway men, and has already filled several posts of responsibility in the Canadian Pacific Railway.

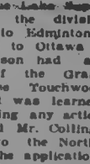
ANTI-BRITISH DREIBUND

Count Lamsdorff Denies Intention of Trying to Create One

St. Petersburg, October 12.—Foreign Minister Lamsdorff denies that he is to make a trip to Paris and Berlin for the purpose of creating an anti-British Dreibund. Count Witte, who heads the pro-German party, opposes the proposal that there should be an understanding between Russia and Britain. The government denies that there is a naptha famine. It says that the Baku syndicates have merely cornered the naptha reserve in order to obtain a subsidy.

Police Court OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, C. I. Stuart
Magistrate, D. W. Dumble



At yesterday's police court a boy named Connor was charged with having stolen a pistol from Messrs. A. H Stratton & Company's tower store, the one recently occupied by Mr. W. Salisbury. It seems that the lad who was employed by Mr. Stratton, had been sent to bring some goods from upstairs that had recently been unpacked; on the floor near the case of goods, an empty cardboard box was found which had contained a pistol of the kind that discharges a quantity of liquid, and used mostly by bicyclists as a protection against dogs. Some days ago, a young lady employed in the store had had a hand bag containing a five dollar bill stolen, under suspicious circumstances. Some few weeks ago the safe drawer had been, by accident, left open, and such to the value of $10 abstracted. The boy is described by his employers as a bright, intelligent lad and a good worker; but the combination of recent losses compelled Mr. Stratton, in self defence, to lay an information. The boy's mother was notified by Mr. Stratton a few days ago and her son was suspected, and to return such goods as he might have stolen. No attention was paid by the woman to this attempt to save her son from arrest, until he was arrested. The case was enlarged until 5 p.m. to see if the boy would confess what he had done and where the stolen articles, if any, were. However, he maintained a dogged and persistent silence on this score.

Mr. W. Madill, after the Court was over, came to see the chief about the attempted burglary of his house by two boys the preceding day, as noted in yesterday's Times. It seems that Mr. Madill and his family went for a drive on Tuesday afternoon, and when in fifteen minutes after they left, a telephone message was sent to his drug store, notifying him of the boys having entered his residence. The house showed evidence of the boys having gone completely through it but, owing to a lady calling, soon after their entrance, the youthful burglars fled without any spoils. A description of the boys has been given to the chief, so that arrests will probably follow.

CHORAL SOCIETY

Peterboro's Musicians Organize With Splendid Prospects

Monday night there was a large and enthusiastic gathering of musicians at the studio and residence of Mr. Alfred Davies, corner of Harvey and McDonel streets, to form a choral society for Peterboro.

Those present were practical exponents of music, both vocal and instrumental, and the meeting was marked by great enthusiasm.

Mr. John Crane, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church, occupied the chair and in a few preliminary remarks warmly commended the proposal to form a choral society for Peterboro, an organization that was greatly needed in the interests of musical progress and development, and referred to the encouraging character of the attendance at the initial meeting.

Mr. Davies, who will be musical director of the society, referred to the gratifying character of the attendance and also to the fact that his relations to the vocal musical talent of the city was not hampered by connection with any particular church organization. He also mentioned the fact that the society would begin work with the practice of high-class music of not too difficult a character, and work up gradually.

The fee for membership was placed at $1.00, but in case this expenditure for music should surpass anticipation, a small supplementary fee might be necessary.

It is possible that, after a time, the Peterboro Choral Society will attain to that ultima thule of such organizations, and render a cantata.

MARMORA SWEPT BY THE FLAMES

Conflagration Destroyes Many Residences, Stores, and Sheds

Marmora, Oct. 12.—Marmora was last night visited by another disastrous fire. It started at three o'clock this morning in St. James' Hotel sheds, burning the new cement stables and drive sheds, also:

Hush Warren's blacksmith shop.
Wiggins' & Gray's barn, sheds and storehouse.
Dr. W. G. MacKechnie's barn.
J. W. Pearce's storehouse and barn.
Mrs. C. W. Bleecker's residence.
Mrs. Geo. Bleecker's residence.
Gladney McDowell's store.
Dr. James' residence.
Mrs. Wilkinson's residence.
R. McCoy's residence.
The Pearce Lumber Yards were on fire, but the fire was put out before doing much damage.

There was a high wind blowing, but rain started to come down quite heavy, and no doubt this saved the whole town from being an ash heap this morning as there is no fire protection of any kind.

Murder of Unknown Woman at Hamilton

Man Shot Female Companion and Attempted to Hide Traces of Crime by Cremating Remains --Desperate Struggle Took Place.

Hamilton, Oct. 11.—One of the foulest murders in the history of Wentworth county was brought to light yesterday afternoon by the finding of the body of an unknown woman on the mountain top 300 yards east of Marshell's lime kilns, a half mile east of the Caledonia road, and a short distance from the 7th concession.

The body was found by three Hamilton boys, one of whom is H. Chappell McAuley street east, who were out gathering nuts in the district. They discovered the body in a clump of trees, covered over with boughs and leaves, and with the lower portion exposed.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD.

The boys immediately gave the alarm. Coroner Griffin was notified and he at once left for the scene accompanied by city detectives. They found the woman lying face downward, with her face in a big pool of blood. A bullett wound behind the right ear showed the cause of death.

A DESPERATE STRUGGLE.

Evidences of a desperate struggle were everywhere apparent and the unfortunate woman had been gagged with a white handkerchief to stifle her cries.

Near the body was found a pile of burned paper, sticks and dry leaves, that had been set on fire with the evident intention of cremating the remains, or at least of burning them beyond recognition. At this juncture the fiend was evidently frightened and made off and aside from burning a hole in the murdered woman's skirt the flames did no other damage.

Up till late last night the detectives were unable to get a single clue to the woman's identity, or the slightest thing to help them in their hunt for the fiend who so foully murdered her.

The only hope so far of the capture of the murderer lies in information furnished by a small boy who saw the dead woman in company with a man near the woods about ten o'clock yesterday morning. He identified the body as that of the woman he had seen, and furnished the police with a fair description of the supposed murderer.

MAY BE MRS. CARNEY.

Mrs. David Smith, who lives near Stoney Creek, later viewed the body and thought it might be that of her daughter, Mrs. Carney, but owing to the distorted condition of the dead woman's features it was not possible to identify her positively.

The murdered woman is about 26 or 28 years of age, of dark complexion, dark hair and well dressed. She wore a three-quarter fawn raincoat, a black lustre skirt, white linen waist, No. 5 shoes and neat underclothing.

The woman's hat was missing and the revolver with which the crime was committed could not be found.

An inquest will be held to-day.

BODY NOT YET IDENTIFIED.

The body of the woman found murdered in the mountain last night has not yet been identified, and the police have no clue as to who committed the crime. It was thought she was Mrs. Carney, formerly Maggie Thornton, but that woman was located at noon near Stoney Creek. She is alive.

MERCY ASKED FOR

Charles Gow Found Guilty, but Jury Plead for Clemency

As noted in yesterday's Times, the evidence in the Gow case was all in by Tuesday evening, thus leaving the address by counsel for both sides, and the judge's charge to the jury to complete the case, and enable the jury to consider their verdict.

Before an absolutely packed court house, Mr. Dennistoun, at 9.30 yesterday morning, made an eloquent and closely argued address to the jury in defence of his client, Charles Gow. He first called attention to the fact that the preceding day's evidence had been gone over practically three times, and with no variation. He gave the jury five or six points on any one of which it would be their duty to discharge the prisoner. In the first place the evidence of Mabel Hill, Wm. Hill and Robt. Hill, Jr., went to prove that they believed the man who fired the shot was Stewart Murphy, who was standing a good way from the buggy in which Gow and Edward Dewart were driving, and the Crown had not called Murphy to deny this.

The bullet which the Crown contended had come from Gow's rifle, might have been in the bedstead for years. Four witnesses swear that there was a shot fired from the Hills house that night. Two of them said that they saw the flash of the shot.

Only Robt. Hill, sr., said that there was no shot fired from the house.

On considering the wounds which the boy received, Dr. Greer's evidence would indicate that the shot entered from the back driving the rib inward and came out at the chest.

Mr. Dennistoun contended that a bullet making a smaller hole at point of entrance than at its exit; the opposite was in evidence in this case. Only the little girl's opinion went to show that the fatal bullet entered by the window. The bullet which killed the boy and woman and girl might have come through the floor from down stairs.

He next pointed to the discrepancy between young Hill's and Murphy's stories about the former going up stairs.

Also every member of the Hill family swore that William and James Dewart were behind the barn that night. But Miss Dewart had said her brothers were not out that night. The Hills said they had heard them call out, "Let her fly," and immediately someone shot, and Robt. Hill got in a statement never heard before, that some man in a buggy cried, "Hands up," "mob, mob."

If these men were behind the barn, it would disqualify the story told by other witnesses regarding the economy in which Gow was that night.

He then reviewed Gow's own story told in an open and manly way, inviting questioning and cross-examination. Gow, he explained, when on his way to Ottawa, went to see his friend, Edward Dewart, and they drove, as they had often done before, out to the Dewarts. Ed. Dewart had lent his brother his rifle, and he thought that he would take the rifle home.

Mr. Dennistoun then explained Gow's position in the buggy, saying as Gow had, after unwiring the horse out in at the left side; hence his driver on that side. After the young men, as youths will, cheered at the Hill house, a shot was fired from the house at them, and Gow holding his rifle pointed in such a manner as would prevent him doing any damage to the Hill house, fired three shots, which the Crown did not allege to be an unnatural thing to do.

The evidence all went to show that Gow's shot, which at the worst the Crown only attributed to carelessness, did not kill the boy.

Mr. Dennistoun asked the jury to consider carefully the five points he had submitted: 1st, Did Stewart Murphy fire the shot; 2nd, the bullet, 3rd, the wound; 4th, the unknown men behind the barn; and 5th, the mysterious shot from the Hills.

In conclusion, he exhorted them to do their duty, by their God, their country, and also by this prisoner at the bar.

Mr. Meredith, after a long exhortation to the jury, in which he congratulated Mr. Dennistoun for the able defence he had put up, and in which he said he heard that friendship for Gow in Peterboro would prevent a conviction, asked them to give a fair and impartial verdict.

He threw doubt on the statement of the Hills, that Murphy had fired the shot. He then related the facts as viewed by the Crown, and after a long and eloquent appeal for a conviction on the grounds of justice, after his Lordship, Mr. Justice Street had given his address, pointing out and explaining all dubious points in the evidence on both sides, the jury retired, and after a long absence, returned a verdict of guilty, with strong recommendation to mercy.

It is likely that Gow's sentence will not be pronounced until the last day of the assizes.

PUGSLEY'S TESTIMONY

New Brunswick's Attorney-General Lauds the Work of Postmaster

St. John, N.B., Oct. 12.—Commenting on Sir William Mulock's retirement, Attorney-General Pugsley said he had known Mr. Mulock intimately for many years and had a great admiration for him as a statesman, and felt that he had managed his department with remarkable skill and business ability. Hon. Mr. Pugsley felt that his retirement would be a great public loss.

Senator Ellis said: "As I do not know why Sir William resigns, cannot express myself further than to say that he is a man of considerable intellectual strength, and a capable Minister in out of the Administration. His retirement is a loss to the party and to the country. His management of the postal service could not be surpassed, and fully held the confidence of all Liberals."

SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Two Cases Before the Assizes Were Yesterday Settled out of Court

The suit against Elizabeth K. Gray against Alfred E. Davis was called, counsel said it had been settled out of court.

The case of Cassidy vs. Bolin has also been settled out of court.

MAY BE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Crown Attorney Thought to Have Information That Car Was Chasing Cyclist

Toronto, Oct. 12.—"The indications are that John Dean the motorman in yesterday's accident will be charged with murder," said Crown Attorney Curry this morning.

At present Dean is accused of manslaughter, but from Mr. Curry's remarks it was evident that his information had led him to believe that the motorman had been chasing Beckwood, and had increased the speed of his car instead of diminishing it as on his neared Queen street.

"It was evident that Beckwood expected the car to slacken speed, and thought he could easily beat it to the corner."

"What about bail for Dean?" the Crown Attorney was asked.

"The court can say—especially in the charge of manslaughter is pleaded to one of murder."

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton N B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me, and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

EX-PREMIER HAULTAIN

The Regina West is quoting with much enjoyment eulogies passed upon Mr. Haultain by Mr. Scott's paper, The Regina Leader, three years ago. "We do not suppose," said The Leader, "the history of any coutry can show "as much achieved with such inadequate means, and so few mistakes in "the face of great difficulties, as have "characterized the North-West Government ever since Mr. Haultain has "held the helm. The Premier once said "that if persons wanted to know his "policy they would find it in the ordinances. That is true, but it also "may be said of itself elsewhere. Mr. Haultain may as well tell anyone seeking his policy to look around. The "schools that dot our prairies or are "the pride of our towns; the public "works that are everywhere visible "for the use, convenience and profit "of the settler; an up-to-date agricultural department; and the vigilant "watch over North-West interests that "characterize the dealings of the Executive with the powers at Ottawa, "all speak of a policy of which the "people of this country ought to be "proud. And to this policy has to be "added the statesmanlike proposals by "which Mr. Haultain has continually "urged we should reach the Provincial "status."

TRENT CANAL NEEDED

Toronto News: "The wheat coming from Western Ontario is overtaxing the capacity of the Georgian Bay ports and the railways in Ontario, and vessels are now being chartered for the long water maul to Kingston. While this situation is inconvenient and even serious for the present, it holds out bright prospects for the Ontario lake towns. The growth of Buffalo is due largely to its position at the point where wheat is transferred from the great lake vessels to the railways, and several towns on the Georgian Bay enjoy a similar advantage. There will be a demand for greatly increased elevator accommodation, and these enterprising towns are not likely to let the opportunity slip." The completion of the Trent Valley Canal would furnish the necessary [illegible] and would present competition of traffic as suggested above.

NO PEACEFUL PICKETING

IMPORTANT DECISION OF U. S. HIGH CAURT

Severe Sentences Passed on Members of Pressfeeders' Union.

Chicago, October 12.—"There is no such thing as peaceful, polite and gentlemanly picketing," declared Judge F. A. Smith, of the Appellate Court, today in deciding against Franklin Union of Pressfeeders and three of its members, who had been fined $100 each and sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment for violation of injunction issued by the Chicago Typothetae prohibiting interference with employees of certain members of the Typothetae. After the injunction was issued Fred Kitchel, Charles Smith and John Morrison, members of the Franklin Union, were cited for contempt of Court for alleged violation of the injunction and were adjudged guilty. The cases were taken to the Appellate Court by Franklin Union, against which organization a decree imposing a fine of $1,000 had been entered. This decree decree is also affirmed by the Appellate Court. Judge Smith today in rendering his decision said:

"There is no such thing as peaceful, polite and gentlemanly picketing any more than there can be chaste, polite and gentlemanly vulgarity, or peaceful mobbing or lawful lynching. Certainly, if the union man has a union behind him he will 'promptly endeavor to exterminate the scab at sight.' This is as well known to the public as it is to counsel. It is idle to talk of picketing for lawful persuasive purposes. Men do not form picket lines for the purposes of lawful persuasion and of conversation.

"Courts should be practical. When they form an opinion from evidence, it must be a practical one. They have no opportunity, no license, for star gazing, for indulging in poetic fancy. In imagination and in theory a peaceful picket line may be possible, but in fact a picket line is never peaceful."

THE LITTLE DUCHESS CO.

What the Toronto World has to say About the Company

The Toronto World says regarding the "Little Duchess" Company now playing at the Grand Opera House in that city:

In the vernacular, Elsie Janis is a "comer," if indeed she has not come already. Last night she rose triumphant over the weak investiture and the small company which Milton and Sargent Aborn have given her in Anna Held's now famous vehicle, "The Little Duchess," and proved that she was no mean competitor for the Edna May and Lulu Glaser-ships that are lying around loose in the theatric profession. The company as individuals are not weak—with a couple of exceptions they are clever—all of which only given weight to the fact that the audience waited agog for the successive reappearances of Elsie.

Mr. Bradburn has arranged for a special train to leave Peterboro at 7.10 Monday, returning after the performance; and your seats can be reserved at Ormond & Walsh's on Thursday and Friday next. Round trip tickets are placed at the low rate of 65c. No person should miss seeing Elsie Janis in the "Little Duchess."

BLOOD DISEASES

If you inherited or contracted any Blood Disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury, potash and patent medicines, which suppress the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure you. OUR GUARANTEES ARE BACKED BY BANK BONDS that the Blood or Skin disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our NEW METHOD TREATMENT for over 30 years, and no return of the disease. No experiment, no risk—not a "patch up," but a positive cure. Before Treatment

After Treatment

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like to notoriety and speak of myself, but I feel I must say a word to Dr. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The sore and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, rumbling noises took place, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I spent hundreds of dollars. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 20 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

[illegible] Mrs. May?"

"Well, yes, I seem to have heard the name."

"She was rook at Eversleigh when you were a boy, I believe. Oh! years ago."

"Exactly; before I grow old and decrepit."

"She has a house near Hyde Park, and we shall take rooms there."

"You'll be awfully uncomfortable, you'll get nothing to eat but scorched mutton and watery rice-pudding, and you'll never move without carrying off a knitted chair-cover on your back, or hung to a button."

"You are quite wrong! We stayed a week there, on our way back from Germany, and it was very comfortable. I do not think there is a knitted antimacassar, if that is what you mean, in the house."

Talking lightly, with occasional silence on Marsden's part, they reached the blind woman's cottage.

"How long shall you stay here?"

"I do not know, but you need not trouble about me."

"If I choose to trouble, you can not prevent me. I am going to look for one of the gamekeepers about a mile further on, and I shall wait for you outside, when I return."

"Oh, no! pray do not mind, I—"

"Do I bore you?" very gravely.

"How can you say so, Clifford?"

"Would you rather not walk with me?"

"Nonsense!"

"Very well, I will wait for you, and if you give me the slip, deep will be my wrath."

"I have no such intention," and she vanished into the cottage.

Marsden walked on in deep thought, his brows knit, his handsome face firmly set, all the smiling softness of his ordinary aspect gone and replaced by a stern haggard, look, that made him seem years older.

When Nora had read the better part of a newspaper to her old protegee, and discussed some of its contents, she perceived the odor of tobacco wafted through the open window, and guessing that the squire was waiting, she bade the blind woman good-bye and went to join him.

"Will you tell me," he said, throwing away his cigar, when they had gone a few paces, "what is the pleasure of going into a stuffy cottage, to read to a stupid old woman, who would probably prefer being left to sleep?"

"It is not a very great pleasure certainly, but I assure you I like reading to old Betsy, she is very shrewd, and, though I don't profess to be an angel, we ought to help each other sometimes. It is not much to do for a poor soul; think how lonely she must be. We should be rather worthless, if we did only what we like."

"Hum! That has been the only rule I have ever followed."

"I do not believe you. People would not like you so well, if you cared for nothing but self; you must have some heart."

"I begin to fear I have," said Marsden, as if to himself. "I assure you," he went on, "it is impossible to me to do what I do not like, and equally impossible to resist snatching at what I desire, ay! and getting it, too, by some means or other."

"What a bad character!" cried Nora. "If any one else spoke of you in that way, I should have been quite angry."

"And would you have defended me?"

"Yes, of course! you are my kinsman and good friend."

"And you are a very pearl of a cousin."

They were silent till they reached a turn in the path, from which the dull red towers of Oldbridge were visible; the sight of them perhaps promoted the abrupt question:

"What has become of Winton? Is he here still?"

"No; he is gone to Devonshire, I think."

"Ha! and how has he been prospering?"

"Prospering? How? In what way?"

"With your step-mother. I expected to hear that their engagement had been announced when I came back. Why has he let the grass grow under his feet?"

Nora was too amazed to reply at once; but memory swiftly unrolled her picture of the past few months, and showed a hundred important nothings which corroborated Marsden's startling assertion.

"I suppose I am very stupid," she exclaimed, as soon as she could speak, "but I never suspected this. Helen, too, is so frank, she would surely have told me."

"I am not so sure of that! Pray, what do you think kept a man like Winton in such a dull hole as Oldbridge, and brought him day after day to Brookdale? Yourself, oh? A very natural supposition! You are sufficiently magnetic, sweet cousin."

"Indeed—indeed," began Nora eagerly, but Marsden went on smiling, and shaking his finger at her:

"It is soothing to so imperfect a fellow as myself to find out a little weakness—a tinge of vanity in such an admirable 'human' as you are! I don't doubt that Winton, like many another, would have fallen to your spear; but, you see, he was Mrs. L'Estrange's lover in by-gone ages—when they were boy and girl, and after—I know all about it. I fancy Winton when he first came home from India, was not too anxious to take Helen Landell back with him. I remember her, a sad-eyed, timid creature, under the thumb—I should say thumb-screw—of old Miss Webster. She was a soft, taking little thing then, she is a very charming woman now, and Winton is well off. It would be a comfortable settlement for her and her little girl, for they are, I think, quite dependent on him."

At the end of this long speech, during which Marsden watched his companion's face, Nora was quite prepared to reply.

"If they are fond of each other, I shall be very pleased. Helen has been a real mother to me, and I like Mr. Winton immensely. You don't know what a hard life Helen has had. If Mr. Winton will be kind and make her happy—and now you have opened my eyes, I think he is fond of her—I shall be glad. But as to her dependance on me, if I die before I am twenty-one, of course all I possess will go to Beatrice, and as soon as ever I am of age I will settle half my fortune on Helen, to go to Bea after her."

"But, Norah! you must not be quixotic; make some provision for your father's widow, but not the half of your fortune," cried Marsden, looking at her with surprise.

"Oh! if Helen is married, well, I shall make the settlement on Bea only. I have always considered it an oversight on my father's part not providing for her, an oversight I am bound to make good."

Her tone was perfectly easy and natural; nor did it express the slightest consciousness of doing more than a simple act of justice.

"You are right, I think," said he. "It is a horrid nuisance to know that people belonging to you want for anything; but, at the same time, you are acting with unusual liberality. When shall you be of age? if I dare ask such a question!"

Jerome, the English humorist and novelist, author of "Three Men in a Boat," and other widely read books, can be secured for Peterboro, if enough tickets be guaranteed. He only appears in five cities in Canada and Peterboro has the chance of being one of those selected. We understand that a guarantee list is being circulated and we hope it will be liberally subscribed to.

A Strong Company

As might naturally have been expected, owing to the unusual attraction of the Irish Guards' Band at the rink, the Hilton Comedy Co., did not have as large an audience last night as the merits of the company, and the excellence of the play, "Nell Gwynn," would demand. Mr. Wilmot Young and Miss Margie Adams have this visit earned a reputation in Peterboro that will remain. The specialties were loudly applauded, and the audience, when the curtain went down, left well pleased.

Collected $1,100

Last week, Rev. J. J. Wright, the energetic representative of Queen's University Endowment Fund, visited the members of Keene and Westwood Presbyterian churches, in the interests of the college. The rev. gentleman laid before his friends of the church, the strong claims that Queen's has upon their sympathy and generosity. That his efforts were regarded in a broad and generous light is proved by the fact that he collected over eleven hundred dollars during his trip.

No Meeting Last Night

Last night the council chamber was lighted and in readiness for the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and the business men of the city to discuss better fire protection. The aldermen forming the committee, notwithstanding the Irish Guards Band concert, were on hand, but the prominent citizens had a more immediate need for music than discussion. The meeting was of necessity postponed until Friday night at eight o'clock, for the matter to be discussed is one that is of vital interest and importance to some 15,000 people of this city, there should be a large attendance.

WATER POWER THE CAUSE

New Factory Opens at Port Hope Owing to Culverwell Water Power Company

The company recently secured the Port Hope, by Mr. J. A. Culverwell, known as the Britannia Paper Co., will occupy the building lately occupied by the Radiator Co., and will commence operations in about six weeks. Their principal manufacture will be asbestos building paper, but in addition to this they will manufacture binder board paper for boxes, flour sacks, cement bags and coarse papers. It is the only concern of this kind in Canada and will no doubt help infuse some more life into that pretty little town. The company has a capitalized stock of $200,000, with $100,000 paid up. They will employ not less than 50 men, at from $1.50 to $2 a day. They will spend on machinery and additional buildings $50,000. The town gives them exemption from taxation for ten years, excepting the school tax.

Mr. Culverwell deserves recognition from the Port Hope citizens, as it was owing to his exertions that the factory was located there. The representatives of the company stated at the public meeting that a main cause of their settling in Port Hope was the assurances they had been given of power soon to be supplied by the Culverwell Waterpower Company.

LINDSAY'S THIEVES

Scugogville Burglars Steal Meat, Groceries Wine, and Other Goods

Lindsay is having an epidemic of burglaries. O'Halloran's butcher shop was recently gone through and goods stolen. Now George Calvert, another butcher, has had his shop robbed of fifteen cans of corned beef, butter, headcheese and sauces. The thieves entered through a Kent street window, gaining admission to his cellar, and thence to the shop. Cowan's grocery was also entered by a window at the rear being broken. He is short 30 bottles of cherry wine, vinegar, lime juice, a lamp, peanuts, and a basket wherein to transport the plunder. All the stolen property, except the wine, was located, hidden in a manure pile, the wine being left behind a stable door. The thieves are known to the Lindsay chief of police, but have jumped the town. Arrests, however, will soon follow.

To Defend Gaynor and Greene

Savannah, October 12.—Messrs. Gaynard and Meldrim have been engaged to represent Gaynor and Greene. They spent some time with their clients yesterday in the gaol. Many persons called to see the prisoners, but only a few were admitted. Arrangements have been made to supply them with meals from a hotel. Mrs Gaynor and Mrs. Greene were with their husbands for an hour yesterday. John F. Gaynor jr., was also a visitor.

GRAND JURY'S OPINION

Grand Jury Object to Lashing an Insane Boy, in County Jail

Our readers will remember that a few days ago, a correspondent of The Times objected, with forcible argument, against a penalty inflicted by the police magistrate. This was in the case of a young lad sentenced to 15 lashes, during his present term of imprisonment in the county jail.

As will be seen by the subjoined presentment of the Grand Jury, those gentlemen object in exactly the same grounds as did The Times' correspondent. The Grand Jury's presentment, says, in part:

In the further discharge of our duty, we carefully inspected the jail premises and are pleased to report, that, so far as respects the duties of the several officials, we found everything in good order, clean and (to all appearance) sanitary. Our attention, however, was directed to the case of a young man serving a term of imprisonment in the jail for an offence for which he was convicted by the police magistrate of Peterboro—the sentence including the administration of fifteen lashes, before the term of imprisonment shall expire. Your jurors are advised that this young man is of unsound mind, having, it is said, more than once been committed for insanity, and that there is reason to fear that the infliction of the punishment of whipping will have a very detrimental effect upon his mental condition. Your jurors therefore submit the matter to your lordship's consideration, with the hope that you will direct the taking of such steps as the circumstances seem to demand, and, if found advisable, recommend the remission of that part of the punishment liable to have permanently bad results.

We visited the St. Joseph's Hospital and House of Providence, associated institutions, and found in the former twenty-two inmates, and in the latter seventy-two. The Nicholl's hospital was also visited and found to contain thirty inmates, and to be in general, well managed, but the lady superintendent informed your jurors that among these inmates, is a young man suffering from epileptic insanity, who, at times, becomes very violent and difficult to control. It is suggested that this is not a proper case for admission or for retention, in a general hospital, and it is the opinion of your jurors that measures should be adopted to remedy these unsanitary conditions and to prevent the possibility of a recurrence of them. At the Protestant Home we found twenty-two inmates and at the Children's Shelter, six. All these institutions seem to be carefully and efficiently managed, with due regard to the several conditions and requirements of the inmates, and in general, to be in a very satisfactory condition with the exception above cited.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ALFRED McDONALD,
Foreman.

Grand Jury Room, Peterboro, Oct. 11th, 1905.

CASE LAID OVER

Important Witnesses Against McCauliffe not on Hand

The long-looked for case of the King v. Patrick McAuliffe, was called yesterday morning at the assizes.

In this case Patrick McAuliffe, an Emily farmer, is charged with murdering Fred Hudson, the proprietor of the Royal Hotel, on June 1st. It will be remembered that McAuliffe and Hudson got into an argument during the course of which, it is alleged, Hudson was knocked down by McAuliffe. The effect of the blow, which was delivered with some hard object proved fatal, and McAuliffe appeared before P. M. Dumble, and was committed for trial. He was released on $7,000 bail.

Mr. Donnelstoun, on behalf of the defence, said he was ready to go on with the case.

Mr. Meredith, on behalf of the prosecution, requested his lordship to lay the case over until the spring assizes. There are several important witnesses, which the Crown had been unable to secure.

Mr. Donnelstoun objected strongly to any delay, claiming that since the crime was committed last June there had been plenty of time to gather together their evidence.

His Lordship said that as this was the first application to have this case laid over he would grant it.

Both counsels agreed upon the amount of bail, which was reduced from $7,000 to $2,000, and the sureties are Emmet Maloney $2,000, Phillip Cake $2,000, and the prisoner $2,000.

In this case perhaps the most important witness of the Crown was Stanley Cake. It will be remembered that Cake was said by the local press to have gone to Buffalo, some weeks ago, and that this would break the Crown's case down considerably. The Times has evidence that Cake was not in Buffalo, but in another city altogether, and that it is owing to the sagacity of a member of the local police, that he was on hand for yesterday's trial; the Crown did not know his whereabouts until advised by the local police.

As there was no further business for the petit jury they were discharged by his lordship.

John Shanahan on a Tare

Last night about 7.30, P. C. McGinty, seated in the station house, was called by telephone to the Ameri can House, on Hunter street. The officer girdled up his loins, donned his club, and, after a casual remark, best expressed in print, by deshes, about the weather, hastened away to quell the disturbance. It seems that Jack Shanahan had imbibed too freely at various bonne dispensaries, and had then tried to put the American on the rough. As the proprietor is not built on the lines of a man who will allow a disturbance in his house, the police were sent for; Mons McGinty. Whilst the officer was hastening to the scene, John got wind of his coming and found he had important business elsewhere. As everything at the hotel, on his arrival was serene, the officer went back to the station. Hardly had he arrived before another, "hurry up" telephone call came. Again had John tried to raise a row, and still again did he slip out whilst McGinty was on the way. It is likely a summons will be issued.

PERIL IN THE HAND-SHAKE.

Not long ago Dr. J. N. Hirsch, of Chicago, said: "The most delicate perfume upon the hands is not a sign of freedom from germs, and the most refined are not free from disease of lungs or throat, and the germs are rapidly spread by touching the hand that has handled the handkerchief of one afflicted with a cold, catarrh or consumption. The breath one inhales from the lungs of another may contain germs of disease." You will not only be able to resist the germs of consumption, but many thousands of cases have been known where persons who were suffering from incipient phthisis, or the early stages of consumption were absolutely cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and thus the person is saved from those symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headache, etc., which are so common.

An alterative extract like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, will assist the stomach in assimilating or taking up from the food such elements as are required for the blood, will assist the liver in throwing off the poisons in the system.

Do not permit some designing druggist to insult your intelligence by offering you a remedy which he claims is "just as good" —because he made it up himself, or has chances to sell you will get a medicine made up largely of alcohol, which will only weaken the system.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is heartly recommended by every person who has ever used it and it has stood the test of thirty-eight years of approval from people all over the United States.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Coroners Inquest Held at Havelock

Coroner Grey Accompanied by Dr. Young Hold Enquiry as to How Asher Wiltsie Was Killed--Electric Wiring Seemed All Right

Yesterday afternoon, as foretold by The Times, Dr. Gray, accompanied by Dr. Young, held an inquest on the body of Asher Wiltsie, of Havelock, who dropped dead as he turned off an electric light tap. County Constable Cochrane had sworned the jury, so there was no delay.

Dr. Gray, the coroner, stated to the jury that a post mortem examination would be necessary, and the jury agreed to have Dr. Young and Dr. Crawford perform it.

Dr. Young was the first witness called, and said that without making a post mortem examination it would be impossible for him to state what the cause of death was, and he considered a post mortem examination necessary to determine the exact cause of death.

The next witness was Mr. Alexander Rose, secretary of the Havelock Electric Light Co., who said that he was unable to account for the death of Mr. Wiltse. Questioned as to the voltage which left the transformer and entered the house in which the accident occurred, witness said that he could not tell. The voltage on the wire entering the house though, could not be higher than 110, and it might be as low as 95or 90. The load on the wire to the transformer from the power house is 4,400 volts, and, as the machines were built and wound for that load it could not carry more. There was, he stated, a transformer about a quarter of a mile from that at McMaster's on the main line to the power house, and there is an arc light transformer between these two. The latter were for the purpose of reducing the voltage to 104.

Mr. Rose stated that a short time ago the company had trouble with their wires in the C.P.R. round house. A workman, carrying a lamp by a cord, got a charge of electricity, and, as a result the C.P.R. changed all the wiring in the roundhouse. At the time of the accident at the C.P.R., the wiring there was similar to that at the McMaster store. The wiring was done by Phillips Bros., by contract, and afterwards changed by order of the expert from Toronto. He had examined the wires at McMaster's yesterday, and could find nothing wrong. As far as he knew only 110 volts entered the building at McMaster's.

He could not vouchsafe for the accident except that deceased had held the lamp in one hand and had touched it with something in the other, which completed a circuit. If he had known McMaster's wires were not right, he would have told him, as we have done with Mr. Webb. Witness stated that his son, J. W. Rose, was employed all his time inspecting the wiring in the town. The company had found no fault with the way in which McMaster's building was wired.

Mr. Charles Easton was the next witness examined, and testified that he was an engineer at the power house, and gave statements as to the horse power generated. There were never more than 110 volts sent to Havelock over the wires. He stated that about six o'clock on the night of the accident he noticed a drop in the voltage of about four volts, but, on a wet night this often occurs and may be caused by a bush striking the wires.

Mr. J. W. Rose, a practical electrician, as far as inside work is concerned, according to his evidence, was next called, and he could not account for deceased's death. He had heard complaints in reference to the wiring in the C.P.R. round house, the trouble being caused by a drop cord. When his company made a connection he examined the wiring, and he also keeps an oversight, so far as his time will permit, over all inside wiring.

Mr. R. T. McKeown, the one who found the body of the deceased, was the next witness, and said in his evidence that on the night in question he had been cleaning an electric light bulb, and on touching the shade he had received a slight shock. He called the deceased to look at the wire, and the latter had advised him to leave it alone as he might "commit suicide." About half an hour later he had found Wiltse in his shop dead. Through a door he saw the body of the deceased on the floor with his head leaning back on a chair. He thought deceased must have working around the bench when he received the shock.

Witness stated that he bulb from which he received the shock was on the same wire from which Wiltse was supposed to have been killed.

Mr. G. C. McIntosh, an employee of Mr. McKeown told of Wiltse's death, gave his evidence, which told of finding the body.

Mr. F. C. McMaster, in whose employ the deceased was stated that he had been working for him since last March, and he had never heard him complain of illness. Between 5.30 and six o'clock, he had been in the shop, and at that time deceased was all right, to all appearances. A short time afterwards he had found him dead. He had never had any trouble with his lights before.

Dr. Crawford was called, and gave evidence that he had been called about 6.10 p.m., but that he had found him dead. He was unable to state definitely what the cause of death was, only a post mortem would reveal that.

The inquest was then adjourned until Monday next at one o'clock.

ARRANGING FOR SQUADRON'S VISIT

Prince Louis to Visit New York City

WITH FLEET OF WAR SHIPS

Great Preparations Under Way For the Event

New York, October 13.—The dock department is arranging facilities in anticipation of the arrival here on November 1st of the second British cruiser squadron, under Prince Louis of Battenberg. With the prince's squadron anchored in the North River from November 9th to 17th, there will probably be fourteen United States warships, making a line of vessels extending more than three miles from a point off the foot of West Twenty-second street to a point above Grant's tomb.

It is proposed to have seven piers at which launches from warships may land, namely those at West Twenty-second, Thirty-fourth, Forty-second, Forty-fourth, Fifty-seventh, Eightieth and One Hundred and Twenty-ninth streets.

The landing at West Eightieth street it is probable will be the "Royal" landing, set apart for the use of Prince Louis. Six new floats, seventeen by thirty-five feet, are being built, to which the launches will tie up.

[illegible] at the Battery will be towed to the "Royal" landing, and has already been named "Royal Fleet." Admiral Evans, with the squadron, will leave New York early next week for Hampton Roads, and, with Admiral Brownson's squadron, will meet the British ships off Cape Henry on October 31st.

They will escort them to Annapolis and later to New York. While the ships are at Annapolis, Prince Louis and staff will be dined by President Roosevelt at the White House.

HIDING IN MONTREAL

At Midnight an Indiana Man Was Killed

Ottawa, October 13.—Sheriff Green, of Porter County, Ind., is in Montreal trying to find an Italian whose name he will not divulge, but who is believed to know something of the murder of Wayne Hale, a farmer with whom the Italian lived for several months. The suspect is alleged to have become infatuated with Hale's wife, and the revelation caused Hale to drive the Italian from the house. Two weeks ago Hale was called from his home at the midnight hour by a strange man, who asked to be directed to the house of a neighbor. The next morning Hale's body was found with his throat cut from ear to ear. Evidence developed by Sheriff Green shows that the murderer had an accomplice who lured Hale to the place where he was killed. The suspected murderer is hiding in Montreal.

DIED IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Robt. Carter Died Wednesday Night in Nicholls Hospital

A very distressing death occurred in Nicholls hospital on Wednesday night, when Mrs. Robert Carter passed away, having only been ill since last Tuesday. Although perfectly well to all appearances, Monday night on Tuesday morning, she complained of a pain in the chest. Her husband thinking her indisposition a slight one, went to work. A short time afterwards, Mr. Carter's sister, with whom he and his wife were boarding, went upstairs to see how Mrs. Carter was, and found her lying on the floor in a convulsion. The ambulance was called and she was removed to the Nicholls hospital, but she never regained consciousness, passing away Wednesday night.

Deceased was only 30 years of age, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Meagher, of this city. She leaves besides her parents, four sisters and one brother, with her husband to survive her. These are Miss Lizzie Meagher, of Rochester, Mrs. Jos. McGinty, of Lindsay; Mrs. P. J. Davis, of Ottawa; Miss Maggie Meagher of this city, and Mr. Thos. Meagher.

The funeral will take place from the residence of deceased's brother-in-law, 81 Lark street, to-morrow at 2.30 to the Little Lake cemetery.

"Driftwood," whose pithy remarks in the Buffalo Horse World, are eagerly read by all prominent horsemen of the United States and Canada, says: Maud Keswick is now the fastest 2.10 pacer of the year. It is quite a step in life to come from the humble occupation of drawing a cheese wagon in Peterboro, a year ago, and being queen of the pacing brigade. She was bought for $400, now it would take $10,000 to buy her.

Thanks to the local Turf Club, Maud Keswick has soared from cheese to diamonds within one year.

The whole front page of the Buffalo Horse World, official organ of the trotting and racing associations of this continent, in its latest issue, is taken up by a splendid photo-gravure of Maud Keswick, whose record of 2.08 1-4, have made her the eyesore of all horsemen's eyes. This mare was raised and peddled about Peterboro about a year ago, and is now worth a fortune of any man's money.

Russia the Scene of Much Disorder

THE INTERNAL SITUATION

Everybody Arming for a General Outbreak

Moscow, October 12. — Convincing proof of the seriousness of the internal situation in Russia, is afforded by the growing severity of the methods adopted to suppress even the most peaceful public demonstration. Through out the provinces everybody is arming for a general outbreak. Arms were found in considerable quantities last week at Kieff, Riga, Odessa, Moscow, St. Petersburg, Saratoff, Tiflis, Baku and Batoum. At the same time the Czar's officers seized explosives in Northern and Central Russia and in Poland. In the Caucasus the revolutionists have declared war on the Cossacks. From Tiflis there comes an account of wholesale killings of the people during a demonstration at the town hall. Among the slain was a Russian woman of rank, who was trying to give help to a little girl wounded by the soldiers. Eleven bombs were thrown in one day among the Cossacks who were patrolling Tiflis. The situation there is more alarming than ever before. At Moscow the municipality has refused to receive any new regiments of Cossacks, because it has been proved that a great number of robberies, outrages and atrocities have been committed by the Cossacks throughout the country.

THE MIKASA DISASTER

Was the Result of Mutiny on Board, it is Reported

Victoria, B. C., October 13. — The steamer Tartar yesterday brought the news from Japan of a story current that the accident to the battleship Mikasa at Sasebo was occasioned as a result of mutiny on board because of the resentment by the crew of the peace terms.

Robert W. Collins, who represented the Associated Press with Kuroki's army throughout the campaign, was a passenger on the Tartar, bound for Washington, and said the story was given some credence in diplomatic circles in Japan. Mr. Collins said the report was that the men had mutinied and attempted to seize the ship, when some officers fired the magazine.

Soon after the disaster Admiral Togo went to Tokyo to lay a report of the occurrence before the Emperor.

DIAMONDS FOUND IN ALGOMA DISTRICT

Reported Discovery of Precious Gems Near Sault Ste. Marie

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 12.—It is claimed by prospectors that diamonds and garnets have been found a few miles north of this city. Considerable excitement prevails as a result, and exploring parties are being organized to search the Algoma district for gems. The Geological Department of Ontario will also take up the investigation.

WOULD COURT AN INVESTIGATION

Canadian Insurance Managers Say They are Ready for the Ordeal any Time

A REDUCED BUSINESS

Canadian Companies are Still Ahead of Last Year Notwithstanding the Disturbance

Montreal, October 13.—Apropos of the report received from Ottawa yesterday in regard to the proposed Parliamentary investigation into the methods of the Canadian Life Insurance Companies, from the representatives of the different companies doing business in Montreal, it is evident that an investigation by the Government would be acceptable to all concerned, the manager of a leading Canadian company stating: "We are ready to open up our books at any time; in fact, we will be only too glad to do so. I would not be sure, but believe our head office has asked for such an investigation.

"It would be a very sensible thing to supply a staff in connection with the Government Insurance Department. There is a great deal to be done and the Government Inspector should have a larger staff.

"The British companies in Canada would, of course, come under the scope of any investigation instituted by the Canadian Government, and they would welcome an investigation at any time."

Speaking of Government inspection, the Canadian companies state that the inspection work is very well done, though one manager remarked they had not yet received their blue book for 1904, and believed a large staff is required. The inspection work in Canada is far ahead of that of the United States.

Just now there was a certain let up in the business, according to the local insurance men, but generally they are ahead of last year. This slight fall might be due to the country people now getting hold of the facts, as did the city people when they first came out, and in consequence matters are now rather standing still.

Another view as expressed by a Canadian company is that any reflection on the Canadian insurance companies is a reflection on the Government. The Government Inspection Bureau is a permanent institution, not a political one, and if there are any defects it is up to the Government to remedy them. These investigations in New York will no doubt, do a great deal of good in the way of eradicating abuses in connection with the life insurance business. "I do not think, however," said a representative, "that the abuses such as have been found in New York exist even there except among the very large companies, as I think that nearly all the small companies in the United States and all the Canadian companies are conducted in a far better manner.

As a matter of fact, nearly all the abuses in question have arisen from the "excess of wealth," which is due simply to the enormous size of a few of the companies. This investigating business is going to do good, but it is hurting the whole business, and has gone about as far as necessary in order to do good. And in regard to an investigation by the Canadian Government, I would say that the public mind is just now inflamed, and the legislation following might be of a very different kind from the result if considered in a calm and deliberate manner. There is a clamor to prevent speculation in the funds of the life insurance companies, but if you will look at the evidence from New York companies you will find nothing has come out to show that these companies have made bad investments. As a matter of fact, their investments have turned out very well, and I believe it is because they have been so successful with these investments that they have been able to take away money without its being felt by thhe policyholders. If any law were passed restricting the insurance companies to invest only in municipal securities and bonds which pay a very low per cent., it would be against the policyholders, for, as stated before, the evil is not in the investments, as shown by the large amount accumulated by the United States companies, and the companies would earn a much lower rate of interest on their assets than they are at present. That is practically the same thing as reducing their surpluses, because it is reducing their power of earning dividends for the policyholder, and this would benefit nobody. It will be well to know that there is no evil in connection with the class of investments of the life companies. This has been caused by a few of the directors and officers not giving the companies, and the policyholders, the full benefit of all they have been entitled to.

THE LUMBER SUIT

Counsel of Both Sides Speak and Judge Sums up Evidence

Yesterday afternoon, as soon as the excitement consequent upon delivery of Gow's sentence was accomplished, the counsel for both Mr. Theodore McWilliams and the Dickson Company, addressed his Lordship, Justice Street.

The evidence, previous to this was all in. Mr. Aylesworth for Mr. McWilliams, said that the wood was standing on Mr. McWilliams lot was very valuable. We are told it was worth from $200 to $300. The first thing we know is that the defendants want to deduct from its value. He then went on to show that the defendants, without authority from McWilliams, brought out the wood and drove it down to the waters. Mr. McWilliams marked the logs belonging to him and left in by the driving ways, the next thing he knows the wood is in the lake adjoining the premises. We made a certain allowance in the $534 claimed. We included $90, viz., at the rate of $1.50 a thousand for driving from the booms to the place of seizure. The $90 was for work done by defendants possibly to benefit themselves. The amount was reached by striking an average. Taking the defendant's own measurement, even if the $90 is not allowed, he asked for the balance in full. If the defendants had not mixed McWilliams' stuff with their own, so it could not be picked out, in the lower court, McWilliams could have made a better seizure. Defendants have taken the property and offered to put $500 in the sheriff's hands. The value of the logs must be their value at the place of seizure. He then wound up with a plausible and well argued contention that Mr. McWilliams be allowed the amount of his claim in full.

Mr. Watson, for the Dickson Company began his argument in reply by trying to show that there was a smug profession as to the original title of the lot in question. The lands were first asked for, for ranching purposes. This is to show that the Dickson Company was given to understand that lot 18 was for ranching purposes. Mr. Silcock in September, 1904, wrote withdrawing and taking the department not to deal with the matter until the Dickson company explained their objections. Would not enter into the evidence and deductions to be drawn from this. Theodore McWilliams is uncertain that he did pay the $50 originally. Plaintiff had changed his tactics. His plaintiff's father shows differently. Claims that plaintiff, in his former examination, opposed his recent declarations as to the deal between himself, his father and Mr. Cochrane. It is essential that plaintiff show evidence of a substantial payment whilst Cochrane swears he gave it to plaintiff.

The Registering Act says that in land transactions, there must be shown the payment of a valuable consideration. Full onus of priority legality of title rests with plaintiff. There is a section of the Land's Act prohibiting any employe of the Crown Lands Department trafficing in Crown lands; here the father and son both trafficed in Crown lands. In respect to the agreement of the Dickson Co., they agreed that the timber pass to plaintiff.

The fence built by plaintiff should never have been placed on the land by McWilliams, the putting up of the fence interfered with the Dickson Co's rights, and was illegal. The present case was not for replevin but for damages for taking the logs. Plaintiff was clearing the land for ranching, when the logs were taken away, thus improving the property. Plaintiff puts in a bill for cutting, hauling and other expenses. Thinks plaintiff has entirely failed to establish title to land as claimed.

Justice Street in summing up the case, said the evidence of Mr. Theo. McWilliams, his father, and Mr. Cochrane was full of contradictions. Referring to deed of the property, his lordship said that plaintiff does not seem to be a man of means at all; his father seems to be a man of credit and means. Plaintiff's father held a position in the Crown Land's Department, during the time involved. Plaintiff cannot say whether he or his father bought the land at the tax sale.

Had no doubt that the father probably furnished the money. Plaintiff had no money to get such a large tract of land, his ambition being his excuse for the purchase of so large a piece of land. It is evident that either the father or the son got the land. There is grave doubt about the title being got properly. According to Cochrane's story the application to the department was sent in through him.

Nothing further was done for a year or two, but the money was paid to the Government in March, 1900 by the elder Mr. McWilliams. This is denied by Mr. Cochrane. Plaintiff spoke about a $48 payment in connection with another account of monies, but this is absolutely denied by Cochrane. Cochrane said he was not paid for the land. Plaintiff is not sure whether he paid for it, but thinks he might remember it if he had not had so many other money transactions. Plaintiff's father says plaintiff did not pay him, as stated by plaintiff, but by Cochrane. Thought the property really belonged to the father, as he advanced the money. Cochrane never owned the property to use it, but simply bought it by request of plaintiff. The money was paid by the elder Mr. McWilliams, and as far as he, his lordship, could see, had never been repaid him.

Then began the second suit of same plaintiff against the Dickson Company, for $2,000. This trial will probably be continued this morning.

Murdered Woman Identified

Hamilton, Oct. 13.—The victim of the murder on the Mountain on Monday last has been identified.

Yesterday afternoon, John Newton, who keeps the Empire Hotel in Toronto, informed the police that she is Carrie Rice, of that city.

Carrie Rice worked for him in his hotel at her employment until Friday last, and got off for a few days.

She told her employer and his wife that she was coming to Hamilton to see relatives, and would be away two or three days.

Mr. Newton saw a picture of the dead girl this morning, and was at once struck with the resemblance. He called his wife and she, too, said it was Carrie Rice.

Three Months in Jail For Taking a Life

Charles Gow is Shown Great Clemency at Present Assizes, as Advocated by the Jury and Request of Prisoners Counsel

The curtain dropped yesterday afternoon, about 3.30 upon the final scene in the trial of Dunmer tragedy. The evidence had all been heard; the counsel for both prosecution and defence had done their duties according to their respective positions; the judge had delivered his charge and explained all doubtful phases of the law; the jury had carefully considered and weighed both sides of the case, and had returned a verdict to the effect that Charles Gow was guilty of manslaughter in killing Thos. Edward Hill, and had asked the judge to use clemency, for obvious reasons. All that remained to conclude the case, was pronouncement of sentence by the judge.

Mr. Denniston, when before passing sentence, Justice Street asked the prisoner if he had anything to say, made an eloquent and fervent appeal for judical clemency. He remarked in thrilling terms that the prisoner's past career was above reproach, and that his character was "sans reproche," and adduced many reasons why his client should receive a light sentence.

Many prominent citizens of Dummer, all testified to Gow's irreproachable character. Even Rev. Mr. Atkinson, Gow's clergyman, was only prevented by the illness of his own wife from coming voluntarily to put in a strong endorsation of Gow's good character. Mr. Denniston dwelt at some length upon the manly and strength forward attitude assumed by the prisoner since the regrettable accident. Mr. Denniston concluded with saying:

"Later Gow returned of his own free will from Ottawa and gave himself up to the authorities and has gone into the witness box and told all he knew. I think if am entitled to add that the Crown Prosecutor, Mr. Meredith, assured me that he would concur heartily in my application for leniency, to your lordship, I therefore appeal to your lordship with great respect and deference for the exercise of your judical leniency.

THE SENTENCE.

When Mr. Denniston concluded his masterly argument for Gow, the silence, every eye in the crowded court room was fixed firmly on the law's interpreter and adjudicator; the silence for a few minutes was almost tangible, suspense was rampant from every quarter of the court house.

His Lordship, in his customary calm fashion way began his address to the prisoner.

He said in part, Charles Gow, you have been found guilty upon evidence which could leave no doubt in the mind of any intelligent person that the bullet which killed the boy was fired from your rifle. I do not think the jury could properly have found any other verdict than the one they did. It is not charged by the Crown that there was any intention of misdoing on your part, but that the death was caused by gross carelessness on your part. The jury in their recommendation to mercy have absolved you from any intention of doing any harm to any of the persons in the house, otherwise they certainly could not have recommended you to mercy, and with such an intelligent jury a recommendation would not otherwise have been made. But you still stand convicted of gross carelessness in the use of firearms which has caused this death.

The judge then stated that, in his opinion, Gow would regret his careless action during his whole life.

He next noted the prevalent use of fire arms in that part of the county, and said that a lesson must be given to such people to make them more careful. The sentence of the court is that you be imprisoned in the common jail for three months.

The prisoner who had preserved a perfect self control, as far as features and actions went, upon hearing the light sentence imposed, broke into a broad satisfied smile, showing evidently by his demeanour, when speaking with his counsel, Mr. Denniston, that he was greatly relieved and thankful.

It is perhaps but fair, whether approving the leniency of the sentence or not, to advert to the masterly way in which Mr. Denniston, a comparitively young man, handled the case of his client Gow. It has been commonly supposed throughout the town, that whilst freely admitting Mr. Denniston's able management of the case, that Gow would get at least from two to five years' imprisonment.

That Mr. Denniston could have gotten his client off with such a sentence as would be given for poisoning a no-account yellow dog, although proven to have taken a human life; under circumstances only open to condemnation, is a matter, that, judged from the business standpoint of a lawyer's ability, certifies distinctly to his forensic powers, tact, judgment and eloquence. Many encomiums were paid his management, not to say manipulation, of Gow's case.

CHINESE FILING DAMAGE CLAIMS

Retaliation Against the United States for Their Exclusion Laws

MANY HUNDRED CLAIMS

Bill Will Not Be Presented Until it Aggregates Over One Million Dollars

New York, October 13.—A Washington despatch says that a new phase of China's policy of retaliation against the United States, because of its exclusion laws, is disclosed at the Capital, by the activity with which officials of the Chinese Legation are collecting claims for damages for the deportation of Chinese immigrants, for presentation to the State Department. The claims arise from the Chinese contention that the Burlingame treaty of 1868, which does not restrict immigration, is the only existing contract between the two governments, since the treaty of 1894 lapsed. Every Chinaman who is deported, is accordingly encouraged by the Chinese Government to file a claim at the legation in Washington, stating the financial loss and personal sufferings entailed.

These claims average of $1,000 each, and hundreds of them have been received at the legation where the officials are now busy putting them in shape. The complete bill, it is understood, will not be presented to the State Department until the amount exceeds $1,000,000. Anticipating that the United States Government will not admit the validity of the claims, it is understood that China will be prepared to appeal to The Hague tribunal for a settlement of the claims.

Legation officials explain the collection of the claims on the ground that they will make clear before the world China's attitude toward the exclusion laws. The Chinese Government argues that the treaty of 1868, known as the Burlingame is still in effect. The treaty of 1880, which especially provides for limiting the immigration of Chinese laborers to this country, but which did not exclude them altogether, was abrogated accordnig to the Chinese, by the United States, when Congress passed a law, in 1892, excluding Chinese laborers. This law was made by the United States against the protest of China, and was, therefore, only a domestic law and not an international contract. The Chinese say, however, that it made void the previous contract of 1880, which was cordially entered into by both parties.

The treaty of 1894 recognised the right of both countries to exclude the citizens of the other, but it lapsed a year ago. Negotiations for a new treaty to take place have thus far failed.

In presenting these claims and offering to submit them to The Hague, the Chinese Government seeks to draw a comparison between the exclusion law claims and the claims filed against the United States by Great Britain in 1893 in the Behring Sea controversy, in that case the law of Congress prohibiting poaching by Canadians in Behring Sea was made the basis for the seizure of certain Canadian vessels in the Behring Sea. Great Britain gathered the claims and pressed them, and an international commission awarded damages of $473,151.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rural Dean, of the Deanery of Northumberland and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., rector of St. Luke's have returned from Brighton, where they attended the quarterly meeting of the Deanery.

On Tuesday evening the meeting opened in the Brighton church, at which the choir boys of St. Paul's church, Colborne, led the musical service. Three addresses were given, Rev. A. J. Reid, of Campbellford, speaking on "Lay Helpers," Rev. E. A. Langfeldt on "Parochial Finances," Rev. F. G. Plummer, of St. Augustine's church, also gave an address.

The Wednesday morning session opened with the celebration of the Holy Communion, and Rev. E. W. Pickford, of Norwood, read a paper on "Faith and Morals," which was much enjoyed. A reading in Greek and discussion on the 17th chapter of St. John, followed Rev. C. H. Brooks, of Grafton, being the opponent.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt moved, seconded by Rev. A. J. Reid, a resolution of confidence and appreciation of the services of Rev. Mr. Davidson in promoting interests of the deanery. The next meeting will be in Campbellford. The rector of the Campbellford church, and Rev. A. J. Reid were appointed a committee of management. All the clergy in attendance expressed themselves as highly appreciative of their reception and treatment whilst in Brighton.

Mr. J. R. Booth's Plans

Ottawa, October 13.—Now that Mr. J. R. Booth has the railways off his hands, it is rumored that he will form a big stock company to operate his industries at the Chaudiere. These industries have now assumed gigantic proportions. To the lumbering business, the largest in the world, Mr. Booth has added pulp and paper mill. It is understood, of course, that Mr. Booth would retain a controlling interest in the company. It is also rumored that Mr. A. W. Fleck, who has been secretary of the Canada Atlantic Railway Company, will be secretary-treasurer of the new company.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became nervous and suffered from heart palpitation. I could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

CHINA'S ADVANCEMENT

At latest advices 2,441 bright young fellows from China were studying in Japanese schools and colleges. Chinese students continue to reach Japan in ever increasing numbers. The Jiji Shimpo says that scarcely a steamer brings less than 100, and 200 or 400 are always waiting at Shanghai for an opportunity to come. Looking back to the beginning of this movement, the first entry in the record shows that two students were sent from Chekiang, by the Chinese Government in April, 1897. These were the pioneers. Now, in the eighth year of education, they are studying at the engineering college of the Imperial University. Thereafter the arrivals became frequent, some students coming at their own charges, others at the charges of the government, and it appears that, among all the eighteen provinces in the middle of the kingdom, Kansu is the only one which has not hitherto contributed to the total.

A RICH COUNTRY

An Era of Prosperity for Yavapai County, Arizona.

The turning point in Yavapai's mining history has been reached, and from now on through decades of years our country will, at the magic touch of capital, yield forth its golden treasures to enrich in a mighty degree our people and country. We are not usurping the role of prophet in this statement. At the present moment every element that can contribute to the success of mining and development of our mineral possibilities is present. We have the mines wherein lie untold millions of gold, silver and copper; the railroad is everywhere being pushed through hills and valleys, and this, too, in the face of enormous engineering difficulties; smelters are being built, or are now completed for the reduction of our ores; men of enormous capital from the Eastern states are coming personally to our section, or are sending their engineers in order to procure the best that can be found; hundreds of mines are at present being developed that have remained idle for years: now, to cap the climax, we have the Davis mine sold at $250,000.00, with the certainty of other equally large transactions in the air.

One of the greatest contributing factors to our development will be the building of the many railroads now in the course of construction, or in contemplation. We have waited for many years for the advent of railroad facilities, and have until now been handicapped to an inconceivable degree by the difficulty of getting our ores to market.

With the new electric road from Poland Tunnel through the Hassayampa and Big Bug section, it will be possible to take out ore, and from the proceeds derived therefrom develop the mines into greater producers, and thus make many poor men who have held on to their properties for years reap the reward of toil and patience.

But capital always follows the railroad, and no great mine was ever made quickly without an abundance of cash. The mines are here, and with adequate railroad facilities the men with capital will be only too eager to coine into the country, and secure whatever promising mines are offered for sale. This will mean rapid development, and from now on we may look for an era of prosperity hardly ever equalled in any part of our Western land. — From The Arizona Journal-Miner, September 27, 1905.

N. B.—The new electric railroad from Poland Tunnel through the Hassayampa and Big Bug section, mentioned in this article, crosses the Buffalo-Arizona property.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

One Thousand Miles Will Soon be Under Way

Montreal, October 12.—The Grand Trunk Pacific construction work is beginning to take definite shape. Mr. William Wainwright, assistant general manager of the new transcontinental line, stated yesterday his conviction that one thousand miles of the road would be under construction by next spring. This includes the Lake Superior branch, as well as the division from Touchwood Hills to Edmonton.

Mr. Wainwright went to Ottawa to out if Hon. Mr. Emmerson had approved the route map of the Grand Trunk Pacific from the Touchwood Hills to Edmonton. It was learned, however, that before taking any action the Minister will send Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, C. E., to the North-West to report upon the application. Mr. Schreiber left yesterday to go over the route and see if this is the best obtainable in the country's interests. He will go further west than Edmonton, as other Grand Trunk Pacific plans will be put in shortly, and the Minister wants expert opinion as to the route being followed.

If necessary Mr. Emmerson will go to the North-West and see for himself the country through which the prairie section of the proposed transcontinental railway will pass.

PUGSLEY'S TESTIMONY

New Brunswick's Attorney-General Lauds the Work of Postmaster

St. John, N.B., Oct. 12.—Commenting on Sir William Mulock's retirement, Attorney-General Pugsley said he had known Mr. Mulock intimately for many years and had a great admiration for him as a statesman, and felt that he had managed his department with remarkable skill and business ability. Hon. Mr. Pugsley felt that his retirement would be a great public loss.

Senator Ellis said, "As I do not know why Sir William resigns, cannot express myself further than to say that he is a man of considerable intellectual strength, and a capable Minister is out of the Administration. His retirement is a loss to the party and to the country. His management of the postal service could not be surpassed, and fully held the confidence of all Liberals."

BLACK EYE FOR MAYOR

Chicago Aldermen Vote Down Municipal Ownership

Chicago, October 12.—Mayor Dunne's "contract plan" for immediate municipal ownership received a knock-out blow in the City Council monday night. By a vote of 46 to 12 the aldermen rejected the plan. Thirty-four aldermen were elected on the municipal ownership platform, with the mayor. This apparent betrayal of the people's trust is creating a whirlwind of indignation among the mayor's followers. The aldermen assert that they are still for municipal ownership, but not the Dunne plan.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

"The fifteenth of February next, I shall be twenty-one."

"And suppose you marry some stingy fellow before that date?"

Nora laughed merrily.

"I do not fancy I shall run away with any one between this and February, and if I marry soberly, conventionally, the lawyers can devise the means of carrying out my wishes, or, if the suitor likes my poor little money better than myself, why, he may go," she waved her hand with an expressive gesture.

"I wonder what sort of a woman you will develop into, Nora?" said Marsden his eyes fixed upon her as if brooding over some somber thought.

"Am I not developed already, squire?"

"You have heaps to learn! for one thing, your own power! but why do you go back to that patriarchal appellation? Promise to call me Clifford, always Clifford."

"I will try," returned Nora smiling. "Now Clifford, here we are at the bridge, and before we part, promise me first to consider all I have said a profound secret between us two; next not to tease Helen about Mr. Winton; she is a shy creature, and I do think he has absolutely proposed for her yet, so it would annoy her dreadfully if you said anything on the subject."

"Trust me, I shall be most discreet! But, Nora, suppose this marriage takes place and they will go to India. What shall you do?"

"Stay behind and educate Bea, or marry that stingy man you seem to have found for me."

"Will you promise to marry the man I shall find for you?" cried Marsden eagerly.

"Yes! If he is pleasant and handsome, and rich, and accomplished, and ready to love, honor, and obey me," returned Nora with mock solemnity. "It will take you a long time to find such a rara avis; undertake nothing rashly, so good-bye!"

"Are you going to dismiss me? What have I done?"

"Helen is out and I—I am going to be busy; but if you will dine with us at seven, we will not oblige you to eat scorched mutton."

"Thanks, many thanks. It is," looking at his watch, "three-twenty. May I present myself at half past six?"

"Yes, certainly; Helen will be delighted to see you." She bent her head with an arch smile and, turning away, walked quickly toward the cottage.

Marsden leaned his arms on the parapet of the bridge and looked after her so long as she was in sight, then he pursued his way home in profound thought.

Nora went quietly to her own room, to cogitate the wonderful information imparted by Marsden.

She was glad, very glad, not only for Helen, but for herself. This knowledge would fortify her to resist her own folly, to uproot the ridiculous fancy which had mastered her. The man who was to be Helen's husband ought to be, could be, nothing to her. Her cure was certain. But oh! what a weak conceived fool she had been, to take for granted that she herself and she only was the attraction that drew Winton so constantly to Brookdale, to be so blind to the gentle charm of her step-mother's looks and voice and manner. She saw it all now. How quietly tender Winton always was in speaking to Helen, and how much more notice he took of her than of her step-daughter. Yet across this conviction would shoot puzzling gleams of memory, recalling significant looks and words which might have been interpreted as indicative of a strong liking for herself, this no doubt was but the exaggeration of her own vain unhealthy imagination. How she thanked Heaven that none could read her thoughts. She was tolerably safe, no one save Mrs. Ruthven had ever hinted at any possible tendrese between herself and Winton, and that suspicion would soon be dispelled by the announcement of his engagement to Mrs. L'Estrange.

At any rate, for the moment, Nora thought herself quite cured. She made some changes in her dress and rearranged her hair so as to be ready for the evening. Then she descended to the drawing-room, and set herself diligently to answer some long-neglected letters.

Before she had finished Mrs. L'Estrange returned, and there were parcels to be opened, purchases to be looked at and put away, and Bea's report of all she had seen and heard to be listened to.

Mrs. L'Estrange was surprised and pleased to hear that Marsden was to be their guest. He was a great favorite with her, and showed her much kindly consideration.

On this evening he conversed chiefly with her, but she was too observant, too warmly interested in her step-daughter, not to perceive that he was aware of Nora's every movement, even her slightest gesture. She had already suspected that the lord of Evesleigh had lost his heart to his young kinswoman, and she was not a little puzzled by Nora's evident unconsciousness. She had very little idea, however, of the overpowering intensity of the passion Nora had inspired.

From motives, which need not now be revealed, Marsden masked his batteries cleverly; until the right moment came to open fire, he was merely a pleasant, playful, admiring relative. To-night, however, she was struck by some slight though distinct indications, which escaped his resolute self-control.

Marsden had never denied himself anything, nor thought any price too high for the pleasure of the moment. He had had endless love affairs, but none of any depth, and when he met his young cousin, he was unconsciously fascinated by her. Her delicate loveliness, her simplicity and strength, her quick spirit and keen self-respect, her moments of softness, suggestive of delicious possibilities of responsive tenderness, which was not to be lightly won, made, to him, an irresistible combination.

Clifford Marsden was a man of infinite taste, taste so true, that it all but made him enamored of goodness, if only for its harmony. Alas! what a chasm that "but" covered! He could be generous too, though he was quite capable of sacrificing all and everything to the gratification of self, yet, at times, the self took an amiable form. At present he was determined Nora L'Estrange should be his wife. She was the first woman he had ever wished to marry, and nothing should stand between him and the accomplishment of his wishes.

In such a passion there is a tinge of cruelty. Marsden would rather kill her with his own hand, than give her up to another.

Meantime, the wild animal within him slumbered in the sunshine of its own hopes. Marsden talked well. Nora, who had more color than usual, was charmingly bright. Winton

Mr. Giroux entered the service on Oct. 12th, 1880 as time keeper, and by ability, sobriety and general worth, not only has held his department's approbation during a quarter of a century, but has several times been promoted until appointed in 1882 to his present post of clerk of the works. Norwood Fair

Wednesday's fair at Norwood was spoiled by the continuous and pouring rain. The East Peterboro Agricultural Society, is to be consoled with over their hard luck. This is the first time in nearly 40 years that this fair has not been a general success. This year's fair, had the weather been propitious, would have superseded all former gatherings of the kind in every respect. Last year they had 1,700 entries, and Wednesday's fair had over 2,000 on the entry books. The membership of the society has this year risen from 121 of last year to 190.

Everything pointed to a grand success; entries, tents, amusements, even to good entries from a distance were all on the grounds, but Jupiter Pluvious for reasons of his own frowned on the affair. However, better luck next time.

FITS MANY

To Leave Off Coffee and Use Postum.

Postum Coffee shows its great nourishing power in many ways.

"I was nursing my baby six months ago," writes a young matron, "and I found that tea and coffee did not agree with me. I grew nervous and weak, my appetite was not good, and besides, baby was cross and restless. He didn't seem to get proper nourishment from my milk, and friends said: 'You must wean him, he is starving.'

"I gave up tea and coffee and tried cocoa, chocolate and milk instead, but still baby didn't seem to thrive. At last, on the advice of a friend, I began to use Postum Coffee, and I can truly say that the effect was wonderful. Both baby and I began to improve in appetite, spirits and flesh immediately. In three months my boy weighed 30 pounds and he is as good a baby as a mother could wish to have. My drinking Postum did it.

"I cannot recommend Postum Food Coffee too highly to nursing mothers. It is better in flavor than the other coffee and is far superior in nutritive qualities, supplying just what the child must have, as no other food can do." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason—explained in the quaint little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

WORK TO GO ON

Dr. Barnardo's Work Will be Carried on Now by a Committee

Since the recent death of Dr. Barnardo, there has been some questioning as to whether any successor will arise to carry on the deceased philanthropist's life work. Mr. A. B. Owens, superintendent of the Toronto Boys' Home, asked as to how the organization would be directed, explained that a council had been elected some eight years before, which would now take up the direction of the work which had formerly been directed in every detail by the doctor himself.

Dr. Barnardo however, had reserved the right to name his successor, and if among his papers there was found anyone so named, that person would at once be admitted as director.

Mr. Owen was entrusted with the duty of marshalling the procession, over two miles long, which followed Dr. Barnardo's remains through the streets of London, to their last resting place.

"The work in England," said Mr. Owen, "is progressing by leaps and bounds. The prospects are that a larger number of boys than ever will be sent to Canada this year. Very few are now being sent to Australia and South Africa, as Canada has abundant room and splendid opportunities, and the authorities are not slow to recognize that fact."

A NOBLE DEED

Two Young Ladies, Skilled Nurses Refuse to Accept Compensation for Work Done

Perhaps of all classes of the community, whose unselfish and arduous labors, never ending and involving vast responsibilities, to which the general public offers least thought, except by individuals directly concerned, are those engaged in the profession of trained nurses. A case in point that really demands notice, is that of two young ladies of the city, the Misses Laing and Haggarty. These two ladies, without any remote expectation of accepting remuneration, attended the late Dr. Armshaw, whose sad death was described in yesterday's Times. The two young ladies, skilled and faithful nurses, with residence in the Y.W.C.A. building, were commissioned by the King's Daughters to attend the patient, and it must be recorded that even after their engagement with the King's Daughters was terminated they continued to minister to the member of the afflicted family, for which they would accept no remuneration.

It is such acts as these that breed new confidence in human nature and Christian practically applied charity.

A PORT HOPE BRIDE

Miss Bella Thompson Becomes the Wife of Mr. Reg. Black

A Port Hope wedding that is of local interest is thus described by the Port Hope Guide;

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Thompson, Pine street, Port Hope, when their eldest daughter, Bella, was united in marriage to Mr. Reginald Black, the Rev. J. E. Trotter, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating.

The bride looked very pretty in a gown of rich chiffon taffeta trimmed with seed pearls and silk applique. Miss Sarah Black, who acted as bridesmaid, looked very becoming attired in crepe de notte over pink. Mr. J. I. Thompson, Peterboro, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

After the nuptial ceremony, a dainty dejeuner was served, and the bride and groom received the congratulations and best wishes of all present.

A large and costly selection of presents testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held by all who knew them. The groom's present to the bride and bridesmaid were pearl pins, and to the groomsman, a pearl tie pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Black will take up their residence on Hope street. Their host of friends wish them many years of wedded felicity.

The out of town guests were Miss F. Tinney, Cobourg; Miss Black, Toronto; Mrs. W. J. Nelson, and Mr. J. I. Thompson, Peterboro.

Referring to a case now on trial here, the Toronto Star says; Mr. Aubrey White, deputy commissioner of lands and mines, and Mr. T. W. Gibson, director of the Bureau of Mines are to-day earning $1 each as witnesses in a lawsuit at Peterboro. There does the Crown as the dispenser of justice get even with the Crown as administrator. The suit in which Messrs. White and Gibson have been called is between J. H. McWilliams and the Dickson Lumber Company, and involves the Department of Lands and Mines through veterans' lands grants being located and timber being cut therefrom, although the lots were on timber lands under lease to the lumber company.

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ills and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

NEW AGENCIES

Peterboro Grocer Has Been Appointed to Several Important Agencies

Mr. Arthur Rountree the George St. grocer, has had another telephone placed in his establishment, i.e., in the wines and liquor department. This is necessary owing to the complete separation now demanded between groceries and liquors. The grocery telephone is 634, and the wines and liquors department is 618. It was also necessary to place the wines and liquor department telephone in, owing to very frequent calls of late for Invalid's Port Wine; Mr. Rountree having a few weeks ago, received a large consignment of the celebrated Invalid's brand, a rich nourishing, full bodied Port.

He has this week been appointed agent for the equally celebrated Rhoderick Dhu Scotch whiskey, which in combination with "Sanitaria" mineral water, for which he is sole agent, makes a combination impossible to beat.

W. H. Bowman's case, enlarged from the day after the fair closed, was once more enlarged until this morning.

Luther Cross was charged with throwing an apple through a Grand Trunk Railway car on the Lakefield line through Douro. The case was enlarged until this morning. Cross says he threw the apple at a freight car, which was in front of the passenger coach; the train, however, passed so quickly, the apple happened to hit a car window. This is, according to the strict letter of the law, a serious offence, the punishment of which can be placed as high as five years' imprisonment. No attempt at injury, however, was contemplated in the act of throwing the apple.

George Kane, London street, was charged by the chief with not sending his boy to school as required by law. The case was enlarged for one week to give Kane a chance to send the boy, aged 13 to 14, to school or to learn a trade.

A young man named Francis called at the police station yesterday and pleaded guilty to owning a dog on which the tax has not been paid. He duly endorsed the summons as guilty, so his penalty, if any, will be imposed at this morning's court. He says he bought the dog a few weeks ago from a man leaving town, for 50 cents, the seller telling him the tax had been paid.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL. XXXIII, NO. 241 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, SATURDAY OCTOBER 14, 1905. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The Fire Protection Fully Discussed

Manufacturers and Merchants Meet Fire, Water and Light Committee in Council Chamber and Decide to Carry the Fire Hall By-Law, if Possible

Last night's meeting called to discuss better fire protection, was slow in filling up. Among those present were noticed, Mess. Patterson, Mgr. of the C.G.E. Co.; H. LeBrun, R. Fair, Ald. E. F. Mason, T. Rutherford, T. Fortye, Adam Hall, Lermonth, McWhinnie, Oke, Leary, Hicks, Elliott, of the Peterborough Knitting Works, Fitzgerald, Tovey, Denham, and Deanie, of the American Cereal Co., and others.

Ald. Johnston opened the meeting by describing its purposes, viz., to look into the important subject of more appropriate fire appliances and protection. He mentioned that the fire appliances of Peterboro are 25 years behind the age. Mr. Johnston then spoke briefly about the by-laws previously submitted, and turned down by the citizens. He thought that, at the January elections, the fire by-law should be brought up. Then the Council would know where they stood. He suggested first, a new fire hall, and, as the merchants are the ones most affected, it was only right, they should express their opinions. He called upon such, as wished, to give their views.

Mayor Best said he considered the meeting was called to confer with the merchants. The matter has been considered fully in the committees. He would like to hear the merchants first and then he would give his opinion. We must have a new building first, in which to put any new appliances bought. The fire engine is a debateable question. We require, most certainly, a new fire hall, ladders, and other appliances, but the fire engine is, perhaps, debateable.

Mr. Fair said the fire question is a most important one to the mercantile community. His rates had been increased this year, but there is no doubt that proper fire protection would decrease the rates. The Retail Merchants Protective Association, without a dissenting voice, passed a strong resolution lately, demanding more adequate fire protection. In the resolution was a strong appeal to the public to support such action as would lead to better protection. We don't know the day a serious fire may occur. This would mean a GREAT loss of revenue to the city. Anything the Council may do to-night, will be approved by the association. A fewer ... memorable scheme should be evolved. It would mean from 10 to 15 per cent. decrease in rates.

Mr. Patterson, thought, as far as fire fighting facilities are concerned, there is no dispute. The Council could consider the details. A committee could be sent to other cities to learn what we ought to have. In comparison with its assessed value, Peterboro is about on a par with Norwood. With $6,000,000 assessment we should have proper protection in proportion; it would be an economy to spare the necessary money.

Did not think a by-law to raise $60,000 would be passed by the people, as the Council should shoulder the responsibility; it is their right and privilege. If the Council does not supply proper facilities for fighting fire the citizens should turn them out. The Council are custodians of the people's affairs. Property owners would commend their action.

Mayor Best here explained, that although agreeing with Mr. Patterson, it was ultra vires for the Council to spend the money.

Mr. Denham of the American Cereal Co., would like to see a better fire service. His company has put the best fire fighting machinery in their plant procurable. The latest, improvement and better equipped department we have, it would be an asset to the city by encouraging factories to locate.

Mr. Deane, as a citizen and property owner would like to see better fire appliances. The merchants and manufacturers. It is said, are the greatest gainers by better fire protection; as a citizen he claimed the property owners would gain equally. If manufacturers were burnt out, it would decrease the demand for profits; at the same time, what a system and a hall are required; the factory is burnt out, other towns, at other things will come later. Excuse try to get it to move to their idea.

Mr. Hicks, manufacturer of the Knitting Works, said that manufacturers are a great asset to the city, as what helps them helps the city in general. He next referred to details of the by-laws, and said I ople like to thoroughly understand what they vote on.

Suggested that a committee be chosen from the Council ... manufacturers to explain to the ... what is needed. It should first be known absolutely what requires to be spent. Let such a committee find, first, what is absolutely required and what it would cost, then the people would support such a by-law.

Mr. LeBrun supported what the previous speakers said. The town is growing fast, but the fire department remains as it has been. The merchants should try and get a by-law passed, as they are the largest taxpayers. Thought, if the matter was thoroughly explained the public would vote for a fire hall.

Mr. Patterson had no doubt but what the Board of Trade would appoint a committee to confer with the Council if asked.

Mr. Ackerman thought the first thing is to show the people what we want and then go ahead.

Mr. R. H. Rogers thought there is no difference of opinion tenable over the fire question. Fire protection was one of the most important things we have to deal with.

Mr. Tom Fortye endorsed what previous speakers said. The fireman have done very well so far, but with better tools, they could do better.

Mr. T. Rutherford, chief of the brigade, felt like clapping Mr. LeBrun on the shoulder for saying Peterboro has the most disgraceful fire appliances in Canada. Was anxious to have all citizens help the department. They could not go on much longer with present appliances. Agrees with Mr. Patterson's suggestions, as to having committees appointed to see if something could be done. The town requires a fire engine, but the most important thing is the hall. We have been beaten three times, but by the Board of Trade, Council and merchants meeting together, and working, hand in hand, the by-law could be passed. Property owners should be shown the necessity of better protection.

Mr. Crossan thought it is not what we want but how we can get it. Endorses Mr. Patterson's ideas about having committees formed.

Mr. Medill thought the subject was pretty well threshed out. The by-law should be carried; to do this, the people must understand what is required. Many people voted against the by-law, through misunderstanding.

Mr. Adam Hall felt the P. W. & L. Committee feels gratified at the meeting and sentiments expressed. ... a question of the water mains could stand the pressure forever. Something must be done. A by-law submitted by itself does not bring out enough people to vote. There is no trouble, with united effort, to carry the by-law.

We want both a steam and chemical engine. To get reduction in rates we must have such appliances. We also want 2,000 or 4,000 more feet of hose. This would reduce our rates 10 to 15 per cent. across $6,000 a year. Endorsed Mr. Patterson's suggestions as to having committees from the Retail Merchants' Association, the Board of Trade and the Council.

Mr. J. Osmond, spoke of the need of a fire engine and ladders for a fire on George street, as the street is full of wires, and firemen could not get up with their present ladders. Advocated having the George street wires put underground.

Mr. Lermonth thought the matter had been gone over thoroughly. Would like to have the committee proposed to be appointed, to ask for $60,000 instead of $25,000. January would be the time to submit the by-law as people are out then voting for aldermen.

Mr. Oke, said he is a young merchant in the town, but thinks something ought to be done.

Ald. Mason said we all agree that fire fighting appliances are necessary. First, to get them is the trouble. The general householder will not vote for spending a large sum that will benefit the manufacturers and not themselves directly. He then pointed out that their interests ran together; if this were understood they would vote for enough money to get a good fire fighting outfit, he thought the old fire engine might be fixed up. A first-class fire alarm party; at the same time, what a system and a hall are required; the factory is burnt out, other towns, at other things will come later. Endorsed Mr. Patterson's committee idea.

Ald. Hicks has talked fire appliances all year. When last fire by-law was defeated, they had to start somewhere to build up. Now that the merchants and manufacturers are present and express such views, the committee should be appointed.

Ald Leary, did not think it necessary to talk of what is needed, we all know that. The question is how to get what is wanted. By following the suggestions offered, the by-law can be carried by nine out of ten. When he got into town half the size of Peterboro, it made him ashamed of Peterboro. Out west little towns had most complete systems. Action must be taken at once. Let the people know what is wanted and they will speak.

Ald. Tovey suggested letting those who vote understand the importance of the matter.

Mr. Patterson moved, seconded by Mr. Ackerman, owing to necessity, etc., that a committee of citizens be named to co-operate with the Fire, Water and Light Committee, the Merchants' Protective Association, the Board of Trade and the Water Commissioners to carry the by-law next January, declared carried unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned.

A LIGHT-WEIGHT SCRAP

Visitors of the Assizes Watch a Fight in Victoria Park

Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock a plucky fight attracted much attention from those passing to and from the assizes. About 50 small boys, from the size of a June bug to the immature age that requires watching when an orchard is near, gathered at the top of Victoria Park hill. They formed a ring and the fight was on. A lad about 14 years old with bright red hair, and a knowledge of fisticuffs, battled with two boys, each perhaps, a year or two younger. The fight was dead in earnest. The carrots top handled his mauleys like a veteran, and many a sturdy blow did he land on the solar plexus and heart region of his two opponents. The smaller lads, like fleas on a hot plate, hopped about their adversary, landing where and when, he left a chance open. Not a foul blow was struck, nor was there a clinch. As to time or rounds, such immaterial elements of pugilism were entirely cut out. The Titian sunset locks would shine up one opponent and as he, the light-weight retired before his advance, the elder lad would quickly recover himself, and try to ward off the mimic blows being hailed in by the other smaller lad. Quite a crowd of grown-ups forgot that the assizes were in session, lawyers, clerks hurrying up after badly want ed papers, stern visaged interpreters of the law, sorely required, and late in coming witnesses, reporters trotting down with "copy," all of these stopped to take in the mill. The fight, quickly fought, was at last declared off by mutual consent, as these engaged were played out, but still full of go. The fight was by general consent called a "draw."

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Reed

Magistrate, D.W. Dunstan

Yesterday was his worship's busy day, several minor cases taking up considerable time.

Bowman's case was finally settled by the imposition of a $5 fine. Mr. Wood, prosecuting attorney, addressed the court, to the effect that the crown did not want to be too hard on Bowman. This case was not as bad as that of the two men arrested during the fair, and fined $20 each. They were deliberately doing up the public, while Bowman merely ran a game, small as that, of chance at an agricultural fair. His worship imposed a fine of $5 ... to be paid in 10 days, with the alternation of 40 days in jail. Mr. Bowman at once dug up the long green and settled the matter then and there.

George Stevens, of the east side, was charged with maintaining a nuisance, to wit: a pile of malodorous bones, within the city limits. Col. J. E. Rogers, who resides near Steven's place, said the stench from the bone pile was unendurable, and either he or the offensive fertilizer would have to move. His worship said he could not get an injunction to prevent Stevens maintaining such a nuisance, but could, and would impose a fine every day it might be continued. As Stevens had removed the bones, by shipping them away, no fine was imposed, but he had to pay the costs $7.10.

Cross, the young man threw an apple at a passing freight car, and hit a passenger car window, smashing it, had his case enlarged until Monday.

A young man, well known about town, was discharged with a warning for creating a disturbance.

Sam Kennedy was charged by his wife with assaulting her on Wednesday; as Mrs. Kennedy did not show up during the session of the court to give her evidence, the case was dismissed, Kennedy denying the assault. The wife arrived shortly after court had adjourned, and expressed a few ideas because they would not try the matter over again.

Patrick McGinty was charged with breaking a window in the American House on Wednesday evening. Two dollars or ten days. As Pat had not sufficient fifty there in his pan, he went north as far as Brock street and then turned east.

ANARCHY REIGNS IN CZAR'S REALM

The Whole Country in State of Unrest

THE CZAR IN IGNORANCE

Of the True Situation—Revolutionists Well Organized

St. Peterburg, October 14.—Incipient anarchy reigns throughout the Empire. The universities, freed from their accustomed restraints, have become headquarters of the revolutionists. Mobs of men and women occupy the lecture halls, whence they send out instructions to the revolutionary committees. What St. Peterburg failed to do in January, Moscow expects to accomplish now. The leaders of today are better organized and have more funds. The strikers are receiving money, weapons and ammunition. The police report that more Cossacks and police than strikers have been killed in the recent riots. Revolutionary emissaries from Moscow have arrived at St. Peterburg, Kieff, Kharkoff, and Odessa for the purpose of spreading the strike riots. Finns, Poles, Jews, Armenians, Georgians and other nationalities, having obtained concessions from the Government, demand more. In the crisis the Government appears weaker and more embarrassed than ever. The Czar is kept in ignorance of the true situation. General Trepoff is enigmatic.

Count Witte, who is fishing in troubled waters, flirts with everybody, business men, revolutionists, and Grand Dukes. His newspapers propose that he be made Premier.

Minister Buligin, of the Interior Department, wants the situation to drag along until the Douma can be elected with a Government majority. Then he would begin vigorous action. The revolutionists demand immediate liberty of speech, and of the press, and the right of assembly. If beaten they threaten more strikes and riots. Meanwhile, the country is ... stricken. Business and education are at a standstill, and life and property are unsafe.

PROVINCIAL RIGHTS.

In Alberta Mr. Bennett was asked first whether he intended to have the constitutionality of the school clauses of the Alberta Bill tested before the highest court in the realm; second, if the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council decided that close clauses were not constitutional whether he would endeavor to abolish the present school system. The first question he answered in the affirmative. The News says that the second is obviously a mere catch question. We do not suppose there is any proposal to "abolish" a system which contains many excellent features. What is wanted is full Provincial power over the system—power to modify it today if necessary, or ten years hence if necessary. The principle of Provincial rights is not understood by those who ask such a question.

Owing to pressure for space we were compelled to omit Thursday's game at Port Hope in yesterdays Time. The local ladies, nine in number who travelled to Port Hope, were unfortunate enough to suffer a defeat, that will probably be atoned for in the return match here, next week. The score stood 14 to 2, in favor of the Port Hope players. The score of the home players was;

THE TURF.

Breeders of trotting horses, and farmers in general, should note that the United States Government has recently established two experimental farms for the improvement of horses for carriage and road purposes. Instead of using the hackney strain, they have secured a standard bred trotting stallion, as this strain gives better, action, stands a long journey better, and better all rounder for park and driving purposes. This strain was proved to be the best at this year's fall fairs at Peterboro, Millbrook, Norwood, and other near by exhibitions. Mr. Andrew Hogg's yearling and filly took prizes in the roadster class against hackneys and every other class. These were from a standard bred trotter. Farmers, particularly with the great margin the American Government's expert mental farms will create, breeding this line, if their colts do not have speed, can rely on their having looks and action, and those are the horses wanted by United States' rich buyers who pay long prices.

BASEBALL.

The Lindsay Post's sporting editor gets funny at times, as witness the following;

"As we predicted before, the baseball season in Lindsay is not over yet. And who knows but we may have a grand winding game on Thanksgiving day. Now, we'll start all over again. Lindsay has just woke up, and from now on wild wind and frosty winter games. On Tuesday afternoon next the agricultural diamond will be the scene of a desperate struggle for supremacy between Peterboro and Lindsay, the old-time rivals. This will be the strongest attraction of the season. Peterboro will have the services of "Yobbie" Flaherty to do the twirling, and the Porridge City chaps expect to put it all over the locals, but just know, Lindsay has secured the services of no other than "Rube" Kissinger of Buffalo Eastern League. So it may be expected to be a hummer. "Rube" will be given a free hand after every innings to keep up his spirits, as the Lindsay ites are noted for playing—did we say errorless ball? Citizens would do well to patronize this game, which is under worthy auspices, namely, as a benefit for the Sylvester band. Come up and see Bill Cinnamon catch the remarkable spit balls which "Rube" will deliver. All balls are guaranteed to be zig-zaggers."

"Good," He Says, "But Comfort Better."

Food that fits is better than a gold mine," says a grateful man.

"Before I commenced to use Grape-Nuts food no man on earth ever had a worse affliction from catarrh of the stomach than I had for years.

"I could eat nothing but the very lightest food and even that gave me great distress.

"I went through the catalogue of prepared foods but found them all (except Grape-Nuts) more or less indigestive, generating gas in the stomach, (which in turn produced headache and various other pains and aches) and otherwise unavailable for my use.

"Grape-Nuts food I have found easily digested and assimilated, and it has restored my health and vigor and made me a well man again. The catarrh of the stomach has disappeared entirely with all its attendant ills, thanks to Grape-Nuts, which now is my almost sole food. I want no other." THE ASSIZES

The McWilliams vs. The Dickson Co. Was on All Yesterday

The jury talked of case of Mr. Thos. McWilliams against the Dickson Co, for recovery of a large sum was continued yesterday.

Only that part of the suit involving the title to the property will be decided at the present assizes. That portion of the suit, involving cost of timber will be tried before Judge Weller.

Mr. McWilliams, in the witness box said, in reply to questions put by Mr. Aylesworth, his counsel, that before he wrote his letter of the 9th, or before, he received the letter from the department there were verbal negotiations. Afterwards some letters passed between plaintiff and defendants. Most of the timber was cut and placed in booms by that time. The result of the ruling was to cancel seven lots out of the eleven concerned. Three questions had to be settled between the parties—What was the value of the timber? What portion was cut off the two lots? What was to be paid as cost of taking the timber off the cancelled lots?

He got this cheque which was given in part payment in April and he remained in possession of the logs until May. On May 4 he wrote to the Dickson Co., saying that he was in possession of the logs and would not deliver them up until the balance of the price was paid, and would consider it a breach of the criminal law if the defendants removed the said logs.

The defendants did remove the logs in spite of the protest. An injunction was applied for and granted to restrain the defendants taking the logs farther. It was then that the agreement was arrived at.

To Mr. Watson witness said that the reason he did not proceed with the action at that time was because his brother hoped to get a settlement with the defendant company, and the was busy electioneering at the time and was unable to look after the business. The present action was started May 10, 1905, which is a delay of about a year since the order was granted.

Witness produced a book of accounts which he said was made up within the last two months for use at the trial. The memoranda he made of expenditure had been destroyed after he made up the book. He destroyed the memoranda of the banking accounts previous to making up the book. From the first witness understood he was to be paid for his work and he got $150 over and above his local charges.

He had no interest whatever in the property after that.

Regarding other monies witness had gotten from the bank, Mr. McWilliams advised to think the questions irrelevant to the case and declined to answer. However Justice Street ruled he should reply.

He got $2,000 from Mr. Alex. Hamilton, on his note endorsed by his father, after August, 1903. His father wrote to Mr. Hamilton. Also got $1,500 from Miss Dubois in the same way. He got $500 from Mr. Irwin on a note signed by himself. Witness' father now Miss Dubois. His brother got $500 from Westwood. He got elsewhere once or twice from his father as temporary loans. His father got no allowance from the business.

Before December 11, 1903, he got a telegram from the department to stop cutting on the said lots in Dysart township.

Notwithstand the telegram, letter and ruling of the commissioner he kept on cutting and did remove the logs. He and his brother were not veterans. His father was. Conroy was not a veteran. Both parties objected to the ruling of the commissioner, but no protest was made by either party.

He knew of Chas. R. Stewart. He did not know of any correspondence between his father and Stewart. Stewart is a Crown Lands agent in Haliburton district. He did not know if his father saw Mr. Wm. Anderson to get him to intervene.

Mr. White, Deputy Minister of Crown Lands, was recalled and gave Mr. Aylesworth a full description of the transactions in connection with the land.

Letters were also read in which Mr. R. F. McWilliams applied for lots 18 and 19 of the 4th con of Cavendish, and contained an assignment of said lots from Jessie Grey to Thos. McWilliams. Witness said the applications went through the same course as those of other persons, mentioned, and were granted.

In 1899 Theodore McWilliams bought at tax sale lots 19 and 20in the 3rd and 20 in the 4th and got the deeds.

After dinner, the case was continued and evidence taken. Mr. Thos. McWilliams was subjected to a searching investigation as to his financial standing personally, and, what to one uninitiated would seem, unnecessary prying into his family relations and mode of living.

Mr. White was again recalled, and gave evidence regarding the notes he had given plaintiff to quit cutting and removing timber from the lots. Mr. Gibson, director of the Bureau of Mines was also put on the stand in regard to the notice to quit cutting timber.

Mr. G. M. Rogers and others gave evidence, a report of which will appear in Monday's issue.

KNOCKED SENSELESS

Man Name Launderville Taken to Hospital as Result of Fight

Last night shortly before seven a call for the police was sent in from the American Hotel on Hunter street. Officers Adams and McGinty, at once went to the scene, and, just at the door of a stable, in the yard of this hotel, found a man, called Bob Launderville, seated on a chair, in a semi-unconscious condition. The man was bleeding profusely from several wounds in the head and face. P. C. Adams, recognizing the man to be seriously injured, summoned an ambulance, and had him conveyed to St. Joseph's Hospital. Enquiries soon led to the arrest of a young man, who gave his name as Elson Moore, of Orangeville.

Moore told his side of the story to a Times representative. He said he is hostler, recently engaged at the American Hotel. The injured man, whom he spoke of as "Dick," the prisoner claims was drunk. He, Moore, says he has, several times, had to put the injured man out of the hayloft. Last night he saw Launderville go into the hay loft. Followed him up with a lamp carrying a lantern. He told the man to leave, as he lay on the hay to sleep. Launderville grabbed him by the leg, knocking him over. He again told the man to leave, and on being told to go to ——— behind he put him out. The man as he was shoved out of the door, "must have stumbled against a post." If the prisoner's story is true, it was a most remarkably hard and armed with manorous protuberances calculated to strike in several places at once, like a Canadian thistle.

An enquiry, at St. Joseph's Hospital, late last night, ascertained the intelligence that the man's skull is not fractured, but he is badly cut and bruised.

The prisoner will come up for trial this morning.

Hamilton Murder Hiding Near Scene

Assassin of Unknown Woman Believed to be Lurking in the Neighborhood of the Crime —Is Victim An American?

Hamilton, Oct. 14.—From every account that can be gleaned it seems very evident that the man who perpetrated the tragedy in Burton township is hanging around the outskirts of Hamilton, hiding in the many scattered clumps of bush which stud the plateau, and displaying those signs of that nightmare which make daylight unbearable.

About eight o'clock on Wednesday evening, when darkness had just come on—and, it should be remembered, a day or more after the shocking affair had received publicity—a man, quaking with some nervous excitement, entered the Wentworth Park Hotel. The proprietor, Mr. Cotter, could not help being struck by the strangeness of the man's actions. First, he was unshaven and wore a couple of days' growth of beard. His clothes were good, even well cut.

"Do you know where John Farm lives?" he asked.

The landlord told him. The house is a little further along the same road and is in a quiet part. Then the man made some enquiries about a horse Farm had lost, but which has since been found lying dead at the foot of a cliff, over which it had fallen.

Why a complete stranger should be so agitated over an advertisement for a missing horse, naturally struck the proprietor and the manager of the Imeline Railway, who happened to be present, as being rather extraordinary.

"Let me see an evening paper," asked the man, speaking with a strong Scotch accent.

HEADLINES SHOOK HIS NERVE.

By this time Mr. Cotter's suspicions were fully aroused. He perceived that in almost every detail the man answered the descriptions furnished in the newspaper reports. He thought he would test him. Cotter picked up the Spectator and folding it over in such a way that the heavily leaded headlines announcing the murder appeared glaringly before the stranger's eyes, placed the paper on the bar counter.

"Take that away," brusquely said the man, turning down the page and sweeping the paper from him. "Let me see another." As there was not another in the house he could not be obliged.

Then after finding he could not see another newspaper he took one big gulp of beer, his hands and lips shaking to such an extent that he spilled more than half the contents of the glass. Seeming suddenly to get afraid he slammed the glass on the counter, and rushed out of the place.

The landlord and his friend ran to the door, but notwithstanding the fact that they searched high and low in the barns and all around the premises they could not find any trace whatever of their extraordinary visitor.

AN OLD TREATY TO BE RENEWED

Great Britain to Safeguard Norway

SO GERMANY BELIEVES

A Defensive Alliance Between Two Countries

Berlin, October 14.—The German Foreign Office believes that the British Government has promised to safeguard Norway's independence by renewing the treaty of November, 1855, on condition that Prince Charles of Denmark be elected "hereditary president" of the Norwegian kingdom. The English and Dutch royal families are working at high pressure to bring about such a solution.

The treaty of November, 1855, concluded during the Crimean War, had for its main object the securing of the integrity of Sweden and Norway against Russian aggression. It amounted practically to a defensive alliance between Great Britain and France on the one side, and Sweden and Norway on the other. Berlin considers that Sweden has ceased to recognize the treaty and has decided to stand on its own legs, but that King Oscar nevertheless would welcome its renewal by Great Britain and Norway because by it, Russia would be robbed of any inducement to attack Sweden, since the conquest of the coveted Norwegian Fjords would be prevented by the British fleet.

Even Germany would have reason to be satisfied, as Scandinavia is the only point where British and German ambitions do not clash. Moreover, the fatherland desires a monarchical solution of the crisis, and the preservation of Scandinavia's integrity, although its Russian policy prevent Germany from undertaking to guarantee these ends. The Kaiser's statesmen recognize, however, that King Edward's protection of Norway would amount to a new triumph for Great Britain, and would demonstrate to the world its enormous increase in power and self-confidence gained by the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

I am a woman.
I know as a woman what other women know.

It will not interfere with your work or occupation.

Give yourself (your ailing bodily self) the benefit of your doubt, my sister, not the burden of it. For I will make you all your nature should have been—well—heart—robust and plump, with all the color, glow and life of healthy womanhood.

One line from your hand to tell me where to send it—just your name and the address—and the cure will come by return mail—all sealed and prepaid—plain wrapper.

Do not hide your sympathy from me and suffer with yourself to shiver and sink down more and more. You must not do that. Only let me hear from you. Do. For I know that you will be well—cured and glad be.

THE RUSSIAN EASTERN ARMY

The telegram from Tokio that 200,000 Russian troops will be retained on the Chinese frontier, bears out certains hints from St. Petersburg and elsewhere in Russia. It would be too severe a strain upon the Siberian railway to rush the troops home, further delaying commercial traffic, after the line has been practically monopolized for military purposes for the past eighteen months. But the chief reason for keeping the army in the east is probably the fear that the men would join in the discontent at home "for want of better employment."

It is stated that when the question of peace or war was in the balance it was freely asserted that Russia did not want peace because she did not want the army back—that she would sooner sacrifice the army than have it return. When, to the astonishment of the Russian authorities, the Japanese accepted their "ultimatum," it was asserted that the bureaucracy was disgusted at the result because it did not know what to do with the troops.

The news that the Russian prisoners in Japan are not going straight home, but are to be redrafted to their original regiments, also supports the belief that Russia is afraid of its own army. These men have been educated by the Japanese, and would therefore be regarded as more dangerous than the uneducated muzhks who form the greater part of the Czar's forces.

WORK AND WAGES IN CANADA

The new compilation of the industrial census, just issued from the department at Ottawa, gives some interesting particulars about the number of persons employed.

A comparison by groups of industries shows that the number of employes in the manufacture of foods increased in 1901, as compared with 1891, by 10,191, wages increased $4,042,769, and the value of products increased $40,347,682.

In textile manufactures the number of employes increased 17,606, wages $4,242,613; wages increased from $3,-288,333 to $17,213,730.

Lumber, timber and their re-manufactures occupy the first place in number of persons employed, and wages paid, but stands second to the food industries in value of products. The number of employes increased from 65,978 in 1891 to 82,492 in 1901, an increase of 16,514. The wages paid in 1901 amounted to $40,941,204, an increase of $4,813,739; and the value of products rose from $72,756,425 to $86,-941,294; an increase of $7,844,779.

In the production of metals and metal products, including pig iron, the number of employes increased 2,201, wages $1,612,853, value of products $4,-169,251. The largest increase was in smelting works, namely, 215 in number of employes; $480,579 in wages and $4,064,144 in value of products.

PLEA FOR THE DOGS

Mr. G. W. Hatton Speaks Forcibly on Dog Poisoning

(To the Editor of The Times)

Sir,—For some time past poison has been to placed in parts of the west end of the town as to result in the killing of many valuable household pets especially dogs. In the neighborhood of Gilmour and King streets west of Park has this been particularly in evidence.

Surely if the miserable specimen of humanity, who is so careless of animal life could but experience the death struggles in fearful agony of one of these animals as it endeavors to return to its home and afterwards should it be able to get there he would never again be so inhuman.

Last evening for over two hours from six o'clock until after eight with the evening meal untouched, did a family and especially the mistress of the home struggle with a strychnine poisoned valuable terrier so powerful that it took two men to hold him; jaws that snapped gags and vessels that were inserted in attempts to force emetics—with hands covered with cloths. The remedies used in such cases were forced down the animal's throat as his condition would permit from spasm to spasm. Now rigid, now staggering blindly, striking his head did this powerful specimen of a royal bred bull terrier fight for his life amongst his heart-broken playmates—and this was a most inoffensive dog, hardly ever leaving the grounds except accompanied and called by members of the family, generally after school accompanying the boys to the recreation ground, where the dog had many friends, and it was there yesterday evening just before six o'clock the poison was taken.

It is now up to the town authorities to take such steps as will bring to justice the brute who has been placing the poison about. For what else is the dog tax of $600 and $700 a year collected from the dog owners? Poisoning has been going on for years in this city. Many valuable animals have been destroyed, and nothing whatever has been attempted by the authorities to prevent it.

We would suggest a coat of red sand and whey would greatly improve the appearance of the bridge.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard-earned dollars. WE WILL CURE YOU OR NO PAY.

☞NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers put in and the doctor told me no brand specialist. I took all kinds of medicine and tried many 'free' doctors in Chicago, were as electric belt. Three months, went to St. Clements for OPPOSE TREATMENT baths, but received little benefit. While AFTER TREATMENT at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY.

CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. If unable to call write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

CHAPTER IX.

The last week of October saw nearly all the acquaintance in this little history assembled in town.

Nora L'Estrange was almost ashamed of the eager pleasure with which she hailed their removal to London. The change of scene, the various objects of interest, the different occupations of town, contrasted with those of the country, roused and diverted her.

Beatrice and her attendant fraulein were left with Winton's aunt, Mrs. Atherley, who had invited them to stay with her in Oldbridge, in order that the young lady might have music lessons from the organist of the cathedral, and be preserved from the disorganization of life in a London lodging, where she was to join her mother before Christmas.

Winton, as was expected, soon made his appearance, and then Maraden; both bestowing a good deal of their spare time on the ladies of Brookdale. So the days went speedily and pleasantly, with the help of galleries and concerts by day, and theatres in the evening. Nora flattered herself that by the careful cultivation of more frank friendliness of manner toward Winton, she was killing out warmer feelings in her heart, and at any rate successfully masking the true state of affairs in that weak citadel.

Mrs. Ruthven, however, put in her claim for a good deal of her trustee's time and attention. She also found it expedient to take up her abode in the capital. The police gave her little hope of recovering her lost property, but the preliminaries of her new purchases made her presence requisite.

"Have you seen Miss L'Estrange?" asked Mrs. Ruthven, one morning when Shirley had been admitted before luncheon.

"No, I thought of calling, but did not see what business I had to do so."

"I wish you would! Why should you not?"

"I do not know. Mrs. L'Estrange is rather stand off."

"Pooh!" she returned with an expression of contempt. "Mrs. L'Estrange is nobody! They called here yesterday, but I was out. Shirley, I wish you would make love to Nora! It would not be a bad marriage for you, and you need not marry her if you do not like."

"What is the real reason of your regard for my interests?"

"I want you to cut out Winton."

"I do not think there is anything to interfere with in that direction. The running at present is all on Maraden's side."

Mrs. Ruthven stopped to pick up her pocket-handkerchief before she replied, "Well, cut Maraden out. Why should you not? You have been something of a favorite with women, more experienced women than Nora L'Estrange, before this."

"I am flattered," said Shirley with a self-satisfied smile. "Still I imagine—"

"Oh! I would give anything to see you safely married to Nora L'Estrange," she interrupted, clasping her hands together with a fervent air. "What a denouement the whole thing would be!" and she laughed—a cruel, mocking laugh.

"What whole thing?" asked Shirley with an angry look.

"My good friend, I am thinking of complications which do not enter your mind."

"I do not see how they can when I am in ignorance."

Here Mrs. Ruthven's courier entered with a note, which she took and glanced at.

"Let him come up," she said, and sat a moment in silence, twisting it with her small, pointed fingers.

"Am I in the way?" asked Shirley with some stiffness.

"No! no! you can stay," said Mrs. Ruthven carelessly, and as she spoke the detective, Waite, was shown in.

"So! you are back again?" she said. "Have you anything fresh?"

"Something, I—" he hesitated, and glanced at Shirley.

"Oh, you may speak! This gentleman, Captain Shirley," with a slight emphasis on the name, "was, you remember, at the ball when I was robbed, and knows all about it."

Waite bowed gravely.

"I have just come from Brussels," he said. "A report I heard at, no matter where, induced me to visit a merchant there, who it was said had some fine rubies for sale. They were certainly very fine, and were, I find, bought from a respectable-looking young man, of small stature and very dark complexion, who said he was a native of India. He spoke French very imperfectly. He had, he said, inherited the stones from an uncle. He stated he was a native of Pondicherry, and had offered the gems in Paris, but could not get his price. This surprised the jeweler, as he asked less than their value, which the purchaser, Vanderaluys, Rue de la Montagne, gave him. After much trouble, I traced his man back to Ostend, and ascertained that a passenger answering to his description embarked on board the Dover steamboat about three weeks ago, and there I lost all trace!"

"But you must find it again," exclaimed Mrs. Ruthven, who had listened intently. "You know the reward I offered for the jewels themselves. I will double it, if you enable me to punish the robber! Do you not think I am right?" she added with sudden startling vehemence to Shirley, who hesitated an instant and then replied.

"Certainly, Mrs. Ruthven, certainly. Such a miscreant deserves no mercy."

"From Pondicherry, did he say? Did he give any name?"

"Why? I think the jeweler may be glad to get such a bargain, to make many inquiries."

"You do not intend to give up?" cried Mrs. Ruthven, eagerly.

"Certainly not, madame. These are the first tracks." He paused and gave a quick questioning glance at Shirley's bowed head. "Yes," he went on, "the first tracks I have hit on, and I am determined not to give up till I have done all man can do to find the rascal and his accomplices, if he has any."

"I should imagine he had," said Shirley, who had risen, and going over to the fire, stirred it into a blaze. "A man would hardly attempt so bold a stroke single-handed."

"It would be a good deal safer alone."

"Then what do you propose to do next?"

"I have not yet quite decided, sir," replied the detective dryly. "Moreover, I never speak of my plans. As there is no time to be lost in trying to find the trail, I shall wish you good-morning madame, and keep you informed of my movements."

"A shrewd fellow," said Shirley, "but I fear his chances are but scanty of tracking this darky."

"He will do it yet," returned Mrs. Ruthven, with gloomy conviction, and fell into such persistent silence, that, finding it impossible to rouse her, Shirley, himself irritated and uneasy, bid her good-morning.

The next afternoon Maraden, who had been gratifying his lawyer by detailing the particulars of a successful speculation he had made on the Paris Bourse through the guid-

Winter Sunshine

Have you heard of the novel method of avoiding the most disagreeable part of our winter? It is nothing less than a trip in a Palace Hotel on wheels.

E. M. Cuthbert, of 35 Maitland street, Toronto, Ont., has just returned from a careful survey of the ground to be covered. Instead of going to some expensive hotel for several weeks, this trip, as mapped out, will leave Toronto the early part of February, pass through and stop at all points of special interest in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, taking boat at New Orleans for Havana, Cuba, where a week of great interest will be spent. Returning to New Orleans for Mardi Gras, the trip will continue through Louisiana, Texas, and finally Mexico, visiting all points of interest, among them Saltillo, noted for zarapes or blankets; Quernavaca, Jalapa, Vera Cruz, Orazaba, Tlascala, Apazico, Morello, Patacuaro, Prehistoric Pyramids, ruins and amphitheatre; Guadaljara, for pottery, Irapuato, strawberries all year, Guanajuato, the Jerusalem of America, and Catacombe, Aguas Calientes, original seat of drawn work industry, San Luis Potosi, and many other places. A trip to California to complete the winter is optional.

Mexico is the greatest field in America for speculation. Canada is already deeply interested, owing to electric lighting and street railway electric plants. A goodly number of moneyed gentlemen with an eye to speculation as well as pleasure have already joined this unique party.

A few fortunate ones may yet secure a place on the trip.

THE WEAK AND DELICATE PEOPLE envy the strong and robust. We are told that "The D & L" Emulsion builds up solid flesh and that it does not disturb the digestion. Why not ask your druggist about it?

THE LINDSAY SPECIAL

A Large Number of Citizens Will Hear the Little Duchess

Considerable interest is being taken by our citizens in the coming musical treat in Lindsay next week.

Mr. Rupert Bradburn is being congratulated on his forethought in providing a special train, leaving the G.T.R. station Monday evening, and returning after the opera, "Little Duchess" is over. As Elsie Janis has had such a warm welcome at the Grand Opera House, Toronto, and the Toronto papers speak so highly of the "Little Duchess," there will be a large crowd of Peterboro patrons of the drama, avail themselves of this great opportunity of hearing this brilliant operatic star as easily a though playing here.

OFFICIALS CRITICIZED

Toronto Star Condemns Management of the Gow Prosecution

Referring to the recently tried Dunnet manslaughter case, the Toronto Star, uses some very pointed language. It says:

"The Crown Attorney who said that no jury would convict Chas. Gow of Dummer Township, has learned that if the officials do their duty a jury can usually be relied on to do the rest.

"The Province was aroused, not so much by the criminal folly of Charles Gow as by the criminal indifference of the community and the authorities that was shown concerning the affair. The case shows that local opinion often needs stimulation from outside.

Special train for Lindsay Monday next, Oct. 16th, leaving at 7.10 p.m. returning after the performance of Elsie Janis in THE LITTLE DUCHESS at Academy of Music. Plan is now open at Ormond and Walsh's and at Mac's Cigar Store. This company has 60 people. Special train rates 45c. return Academy prices—50, 75, $1.00, $1.50 All reserved.

Canadian Ship Held as Prize

Ottawa, October 14.—According to advices received by the Secretary of State from the Colonial Office, the Antelope, the Canadian vessel seized by the Japanese, has been treated by the Japanese procurator as a prize. The owners of the vessels are asked to file their claims before the case comes up in the prize court.

SCALD HEAD is a disgusting and obstinate disease, unfortunately frequent in children. The proper treatment includes perfect cleanliness and a generous application of Weaver's Cerate. Mothers will be glad to learn this.

A good investment—$7.50 for a 3 months course at the Business College Night School.

St. Paul's Thank Offering

A large number of St. Paul's church members gathered within that sacred edifice last night. The occasion was the annual thankoffering meeting, and was held under auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. Most interesting addresses were made, and a large sum collected towards the good cause.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—Mr. Richard Chiles and family leave town this week for Peterboro, where they will reside in future. Their numerous friends here will regret their departure very much.

—Miss Mary Rush city, will assist in the musical services in connection with the anniversary services in the Millbrook Presbyterian church tomorrow.

—The many friends of Mr. Roy Cavenagh, who was so seriously injured at the Keene fair, and who is in St. Joseph's Hospital, will be glad to learn that he is progressing favorably.

—After making a searching inquiry, we can positively deny yesterday's rumors that the city is to give Gow $100 a month during his retirement in Castel Nesbitt, in compensation for lost time.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING as a harmless cough. The trouble goes from bad to worse unless checked. Allen's Lung Balsam cures the worst of colds. It allays inflammation and clears the air passages.

—Mr. G. Gordon Hall, ledger keeper of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has received word of his transfer to the Belleville branch. He will have as soon as his successor here, Mr. J. Y. Thompson, of Montreal, arrives.

—Surgeon-Major and Mrs. Poole, who have been visiting in Peterboro for some months, have left for their home in London, England. They sail on the steamer Virginian after visiting their son, Dr. B. R. Poole here for some weeks.

—Mr. T. Cavanagh of the Cavanagh House, has returned from the North Shore, where he had been in charge of a gang of men for the McCarthy Lumber Co. He left to-day at noon for Quebec to engage more men for the North Shore.

An Ideal Medicine.

MISS LOUISE MATHER, 13 Church St., Burlington, Vt., Vice-President Bureau of Exchange, writes:

"Your medicine is an ideal woman's medicine and by far the best I have known to restore lost health and strength.

"I suffered for several years. My back ached, I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches.

"I would often wake from sleep in such pain that I would suffer for hours before my eyes would close again. I dreaded the long nights as well as the weary days.

"I consulted two physicians, hoping to get relief. Finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, a friend advised me to try Peruna.

"I am certainly glad that I followed her advice, for Peruna was the only medicine for me. Every ache and pain disappeared in four months and I am in perfect health now.

"My earnest advice to suffering women is to try Peruna, for I feel sure they will not be disappointed in it."—Louise Mather.

Enjoying Splendid Health.

Mrs. L. E. Tyler, Santa Monica, Cal., Secretary Santa Monica Musical Society, writes:

"I was troubled for over three years with systemic catarrh, complicated by female weakness and inflammation.

"This induced frequent headaches, nervousness, hysteria and sleeplessness, which nothing could relieve until I tried Peruna.

"I began to feel better after I had taken the first bottleful and improved from week to week until at the end of about eleven weeks I was entirely well.

"I am pleased to say that I have enjoyed splendid health now for nearly a year. I have a fine appetite, enjoy sound sleep and do not suffer from any more headaches or other pains."—L. E. Tyler.

Completely Regained Her Health.

Miss Edith Reams, 726 North Main St., Dayton, O., writes:

"I suffered for some time with both lung and female troubles.

"I had been under the treatment of a good physician for about nine months without obtaining any relief, when Peruna was recommended to me. After taking twelve bottles of this medicine I have completely regained my health.

"I am pleased to recommend Peruna to any one suffering from the above ailments."—Edith Reams.

America is the Land of Nervous Women.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of female disease.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. Give him a full description of your symptoms, previous treatment and age.

He will promptly reply with full directions for treatment, free of charge.

Popular Cartoons

The art of newspaper illustration in its present form is a development of recent years. Newspaper cartoons have become a most popular feature of up-to-date metropolitan daily papers. The unique and catchy drawing now appearing daily on the front page of The Chicago Record-Herald is one of the many special features of the great paper. The Chicago Record-Herald has been fortunate in securing one of the best young artists in the country to carry out its popular policy of presenting each day a humorous and good-natured cartoon. Mr. Ralph Wilder is one of the coming men in newspaper work. His success has been as pronounced as it has been rapid. He shows all of the good-natured humor and the brighter side of everyday common life which has carried his work to a very popular success. His drawings are on all of the various subjects of popular interest, political and otherwise. Current events are vividly portrayed in a way that pleases, yet often giving just criticism in a way that does not offend. Through his excellent work on eastern magazines, Mr. Wilder first attracted universal attention. The Record-Herald recognized in him at once a cartoonist of unusual promise, and congratulates its readers on having been fortunate enough to engage him.

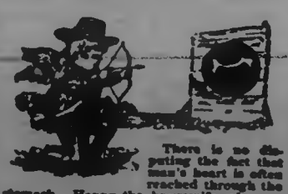
Gold Lake Hunting Party Enjoying Good Weather

As noted in a former issue of The Times, a jolly party of local gentlemen comprising Messrs. W. Snowden, his son, Harold, M. C. Tooley, F. Stinson, Arthur Blade, and others, augmented by a party of visitors who have been outfitting for the summer at Clemeng, are occupying the Gold Lake Hunting Lodge. Yesterday afternoon, carrier pigeon No. 58, belonging to Harold Snowden, arrived at his left, conveying a note written on tissue paper, and attached to a strong pinion of the bird. The bird had come the 40 odd miles in less than three quarters of an hour. The message, necessarily brief, reads, Gold Lake Lodge. Weather has been fine. We should have brought straw hats as we're burnt red. Mr. Snowden has not been well since we came. The fishing is very poor. Had not seen a sign of life yet. Tooley is in great shape, and has the pug in tight. Fred thinks of the ladies all the time. The camp ground is all cleared and looks fine. Don't forget the supply of buttermilk, and seal the cork down.

Mr. Pife to Speak in Norwood

—Mr. Jas A. Fife, B.A., science master of Peterboro Collegiate Institute is going to speak on "Wheat Lands of the West," Thursday evening, Oct. 19th, at the Teachers' Convention of Norwood. Inspector Lees, of Peterboro, will also speak on "Trees."



There is no disputing the fact that man's heart is often reached through the stomach. Happy the housewife who can please her husband's appetite with well cooked food for the table. Many a man is grouchy, ugly, nervous, suffering from distress after eating, heart palpitation, and all through the overworked stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which helps the digestion of food in the stomach, assists the blood in taking up the proper elements from the food, helps the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons in the blood and vitalizing the whole system. This assimilation helps in the oxidation of the red blood corpuscles, the poisons in the system are eliminated, the heart gets the right blood to beat, and the person feels invigorated and stronger in consequence. As a tissue builder it is far preferable to cod liver oil or any alcoholic compounds or tonics, because it gives the blood and the tissues the food elements they require and maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion. Because of the good effects from using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon nutrition and the building up of the tissues, catarrh, consumption, weakness or debility and symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., disappear.

"I believe that it is generally conceded that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for a man to take suffering from any weakness, kidney trouble or any of the ailments resulting from overwork or neglecting a cold," writes J. Russell Hill, of 92 Harris Street, Kingston, Ontario, Recording Secretary Imperial Knights' Federation League of Kingston. "I have used it several times during the past few years and have always found that it gave me immediate relief. It expels excessive uric acid in the system, due to improper digestion, relieves the kidneys from congestion, drives out rheumatism and backache away, invigorates and tones up the general system. I consider it a fine remedy for young or old men, sure to build up a run-down condition of the system."

Slight Car Accident

Yesterday evening as the south bound car, about 5.15 was passing along George street near the corner of Charlotte street, it hit a buggy in which Miss Hall was seated. The sudden jar caused the horse to spring forward suddenly in fright. This snapped the whiffle-tree and necessitated unharnessing the horse to repair damages. Neither the occupant of the buggy nor the horse were hurt.

Mr. John Miller of the enterprising firm of Alexander & Miller, Brock street, is now absent from town. His company have secured an extensive contract in Cobourg, where they will do the wiring of the new armories there. It speaks well for this comparatively young firm that, in addition to a large city business they should be given a large Government contract abroad.

Peterboro's Press Unfairly Judged

The Local Newspapers Whilst not Unfair Towards Charles Gow Demanded That Justice be Done Without Fear, or Favor

There seems to be a disposition, on the part of a few interested parties in this city, to condemn the active part taken by our local press regarding the prosecution of Charles Gow for killing the Hill boy in Dummer.

Any action tending towards suppression of any particle of fact or evidence in this case would be, and is, most reprehensible.

From the day the death of poor young Hill and the mutilation of his little sister was known, there has been no possible doubt in the minds of a majority of our citizens as to how, and by whom, the accident (to use an euphemism) happened.

The local press never adopted a yellow journalism attitude in connection with their reports of this case. They simply expressed the justifiable indignation of the community at the flippant manner in which the slayer of an innocent child was regarded, and to insist that justice be done.

Whilst those engaged, as a matter of professional business, in Gow's defence, naturally desired to make their case good, and qualify, as far as consistent with personal honor, reports and evidence of an incriminating nature, they should remember that public opinion on the sacredness of human life is sound and earnest, and that it was promptly voiced by the local press. There was no attempt to create a prejudice against Gow by any paper printed in this city. The press of Belleville, commenting on a statement made by a resident of Dummer, that "but for the Peterboro papers, the whole matter would have blown over," spoke in high terms of the position taken by our local press, and condemned, in no uncertain expressions, their disgust at any attempt made to suppress any part of the transaction.

Those engaged, personally or professionally, in Gow's defence, were justified in doing everything within the law for their friend or client. To suggest that the voice of the people, as expressed in the public press, should be silenced, or even modified, in an endeavor to bring to justice the man, or any man, who, by crime or criminal carelessness, deprived a human being of his God given life, and mutilated another innocent child, is to shackle the hands of justice and nourish a disregard for the sanctity of life and person.

If to demand and assist justice where human life has been taken, whether by rank carelessness, or by criminal intent, is sensationalism, class us as a yellow journal in this respect. We have no animosity against Charles Gow, but we do insist that such a lesson should have been taught as would effectually debar the recurrence of careless rifle practice towards an inhabited house, and thus obviate any chance for the suggestion of such acts as occur in the Southern States. In that portion of the continent, mal-administration, or laxity in punishing certain crimes, has led to an outraged public taking punishment into hands outside the law's jurisdiction.

FISCAL MATTERS NOW DEALT WITH

Special Committee of Devonshire Free Trade League Issues Gray Book

PREFERENCE NOT NEEDED

British Manufacturers Already Supply Canada With 2-3 of her Cotton Textiles

London, October 16.—A special committee of the Duke of Devonshire's Free Trade League, consisting of thirty-seven Lancashire cotton merchants and manufacturers, deal with the Canadian aspects of the fiscal question in a gray book issued today, being the Free Trade reply to the cotton report of Mr. Chamberlain's Tariff Commission League. It argues that inasmuch as British manufacturers already supply two-thirds of the Canadian imports of cotton textiles, a preference is unnecessary. Moreover, insofar as Canada will buy more goods, because of the foreign immigration the British people, under a preference, would be taxed to swell had better directly subsidize British emigration.

The league denies that British trade with the Colonies is increasing faster than with foreign countries. It does not believe the Canadian ministry will do much, if anything, to make the entry of British goods easier, and believes that a preference would generate a friction with the Colonies which would easily lead to the complete disintegration of the Empire.

DUTY CAME AS SURPRISE

Sherbrooke, Que., October 16.—Sherbrooke lumber dealers received notification yesterday of an order passed by the United States Government imposing an import duty of twenty per cent. on all pulpwood in any form, rossed or unrossed. The order went into effect yesterday, no previous notification having been given. Numerous cars of pulpwood on their way across the line yesterday were held by United States official for collection of duty.

This will have a serious effect on the pulpwood industry in Canada. A prominent local lumber merchant said today that the duty was almost prohibitive. If the United States could produce pulp enough for their own use, prices would go up on the other side of the line and the exporting of Canadian pulpwood across the line would greatly increase.

He believed that many pulpwood contracts between Canadian lumbermen and United States manufacturers would be immediately cancelled, as they are made conditional upon a continuance of the then existing customs duty.

LORD STRATHCONA'S GUESS

88th Remarks Years Ago When C.P.R. Passed Dividend

Montreal, October 16.—At one of the early meetings of the C. P. R., when a gloomy report was read, and the dividend passed, Sir Donald Smith smiled, in reply to a scathing attack:

"Let me say emphatically, so far from the statement that I have been enriched by my connection with the C. P. R. being true, the actual truth is, if I had never touched the C. P. R. I would have been better off. Nevertheless, I am here today to tell the stockholders that the C. P. R., in my judgment, will speedily become one of the greatest profit-making enterprises in this country. I have not lost faith in it. I never did; I never will. I am in the same boat with all of you. I am willing to wait. I know the tide will turn, that business will improve, and that the C. P. R. before very long will be paying eight and ten per cent. dividends. I ask you to feel that I would not say this if I did not from the bottom of my heart believe it."

These brave words cleared the air and inspired a confidence which has never since been disturbed.

A GOOD RACE

Citizen Writes His Opinion of the Tussle Between Lady Gothard and Little Jap

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Being a lover of that most noble animal the horse, and always ready and willing to assist in any cause to that wherein he or she may take part, I strolled to the Exhibition grounds, Saturday afternoon to witness the matched race between two of our city horses, Lady Gothard owned by Martin Connors, and Little Jap, owned by R. Monroe. The said horses raced for a wager of $100 a side, half mile heats, best three in five. I feel proud to state that never before have I been witness to a more up to date and sportsmanlike exhibition of horse racing. I might mention the two gentlemen judges, Messrs. Cluman and Graham, carried their part out to the letter, as did the drivers, Messrs. Neville and Kershaw.

The small gathering, of which I was one, were of the up to date gentlemen of true sport, and not afraid to gamble a dollar on their choices with fears of fraud. In all, it was one of the best of its kind, in some respects. I have had the pleasure to witness in this prosperous city. Hoping it may continue, and I care little four but what it will, then all lovers of horse will help to boom a good thing. I remain, yours,

A CITIZEN.

TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM

Work to Commence at Once on New York's Structure

New York, October 16.—As soon as plans can be prepared and contracts let, work will begin on the New York City Sanitarium for Consumptives, which is to be built on Staten Island, on the site already the property of the city. The sanitarium will be in the centre of Staten Island, where the city owns one hundred and thirty acres of land. It will accommodate eight hundred patients, and will cost about $2,000,000 exclusive of the site. Last spring $300,000 was appropriated for beginning the work. The site is a magnificent one overlooking the Narrows and the lower bay.

OLD SETTLER GONE

Death of Mr. Alex Darling of Smith at the Age of 76 Years

Throughout every portion of the city, last Saturday, the death of Mr. Alex. Darling on Friday night, was in many men's conversations. Mr. Darling was one of the best known citizens of Smith township, having settled there, on his arrival from Scotland, in 1831.

Mr. Darling breathed his last at the family residence, lot 3 con. 3, Smith Township. Had the deceased who was a son of the late Mr. John Darling, lived until Nov. 6th he would have been 76 years.

His illness had lasted some months confined to his bed, he suffered more or less in the intervals. Heart disease was the immediate cause of death. The deceased gentleman leaves behind him a wife and two children, Mr. John Darling and Miss Caroline, both residing on the homestead; two brothers and eight sisters. The brothers are, Messrs. James and Robert Darling, of Smith; and the sisters are Mrs. D. Bellegham, Mrs. Wm. Simpson and Mrs. A. Greeve, city; Mrs. Thos. Young, Mrs. A. Young, Mrs. White, of Warton; Mrs. Barrie, of Newcastle, and Mrs. Scott, of Manitoba.

Mr. Darling was a Presbyterian in faith, and a Liberal in politics, but never took a very prominent position in public affairs. His will be keenly felt by a large circle of friends. The funeral, which was largely attended took place yesterday afternoon from the homestead to Little Lake cemetery.

WILTSE WAS HEALTHY

Post Mortem Held on Man Killed at Havelock by Electric Wire

As foretold in Saturday's Times, Dr. Young of this city, assisted by Dr. Crawford of Havelock, held an autopsy on the body of Asher Wiltse of of Havelock, who on Thursday night, was instantly killed whilst turning an incandescent light tap.

Coroner Gray, who held the inquest on the deceased, decided that a post-mortem was necessary and instructed the two medical men, above mentioned to perform this duty.

Dr. Young, when seen by a Times representative, was somewhat reticent, and would give no news for publication, until he had presented his report to the coroner's jury.

It is understood, however, that the report of the physician will show that up to the time of his death the vital organs were in a healthy condition. It is expected that the post mortem report will reveal information which will lead to the common belief that the electric shock was the cause of death.

$818 DAMAGES

Mrs. Mary Cassidy Recovers Amount Loaned on Mortgage

A case that was important, not so much from the amount involved, as that a strong precedent was established, was settled during last week's assizes.

In the case of Cassidy vs. Hollin, judgment was rendered by Mr. Justice Street awarding the sum of $615 and costs to the plaintiff, Mrs. Mary Cassidy. The suit was in connection with a mortgage granted the defendant, Hollin, almost 18 years ago upon which nothing had been paid. Defendant pleaded that the claim was barred and extinguished under the statute of Limitations, but this contention was overruled. A HILL TALE

A Blunt old Colorado Miner on Postum

A clergyman may be eloquent, may use the choicest language, dressing his earnest desire to help his fellowman in the most elevated, chaste and beautiful language, and yet not touch the hearts of his hearers. Another man, having little education and no grace of speech whatsoever, may tell his message in the common, everyday vernacular he is used to, and the simple faith that glows within him carries quick conviction with it. Such a man writes from the towering peaks of Colorado, preaching of Postum:

"I had drank coffee all my life until it about killed me, when I concluded to try Postum, and in a short time I got relief from the terrible misery I suffered from coffee.

"When I drank coffee I bloated up so that I could not breathe at times; my nerves were so shaky that I could not hold myself still.

"But thanks to Postum I am all well now and can say that I hope to remain so.

"I was very much disgusted with it the first time I tried it, but had it made stronger and boiled longer till it tasted as good as good coffee."

No amount of rhetorical frills and literary polish could add to the convincing power of the old miner's testimony. Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

HOLDING OUT OLIVE BRANCH

Ottawa Electric Company Invites City to a Conference

Ottawa, October 16.—Somewhat of a surprise has been sprung in civic circles by the receipt of a letter from the Ottawa Electric Company, in which that corporation holds out the olive branch to the city in the lighting issue, and invites a conference with regard to it. After the city acquired the Consumers' plant, the Ottawa Electric Company instituted proceedings to restrain the municipality from operating the concern. What has been done so far in the suit is merely in the nature of preliminaries.

Hyde Decides to Give Testimony

New York, October 16.—James Hazen Hyde has decided to appear as a witness before the Insurance Investigation committee. His counsel, Samuel Untermeyer, and inquisitor, Charles E. Hughes, held a long conference, and although neither would discuss the matter, it is understood that Mr. Untermeyer assured Mr. Hughes that Hyde would be on hand before the inquiry is concluded. Hyde's friends have urged him all along to appear before the committee and make a clean breast of everything questionable.

DOOM SEAL OF DUAL MONARCHY

Austrian Opinion Regarding the Situation in Hungary is Very Pessimistic

TO FIGHT OR TO YIELD

Hungarians Determined That Their Will Expressed in Parliament be Carried out

Vienna, October 16.—Extreme pessimism now characterizes Austrian opinion of the Hungarian situation.

Count Julian Andrassy's resolution expressing in strong terms the anger of the coalition leaders at the prorogation of the parliament, makes it plain that the Hungarian people are determined that their will, as expressed by parliament, shall be carried out. That position, if adhered to, must seal the doom of the dual monarchy on the basis now existing. It is felt universally that the Crown must choose between fighting and yielding. Either alternate is fraught with danger to the dynasty. It is pointed out that the great mass of the Hungarian population is not likely to resent the indefinite continuation of the crisis, inasmuch as it resulted in relieving the people from payment of taxes, and in exempting their sons from military service. These advantages the peasant classes value above sentimental considerations. Your correspondent has reason to think that Count Andrassy's aggressive action has disabused Franz Josef's mind of the notion that concession of universal suffrage would frighten the coalition into accepting his terms.

Dr. Baerenreiter, a leading member of the Reichsrath, said today on this point: "If Baron Fejervary is reappointed Premier, I do not believe that he will give definite pledges as to the extension of the suffrage. I think he will attempt to secure a majority in Parliament, by offering such schemes as state loans to the peasants, without interest, improved housing, higher wages and pensions to state employes. There can be no doubt that both the Crown and the coalition hate and fear universal suffrage, as both realize that it contains a threat to their own power."

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Knott

Magistrate, D.W. Saunders

At Saturday's police court, the young man Moore, charged with having committed such a serious assault on Robert Londerville, in the American Hotel stables, Friday night, that the latter is now in St. Joseph's hospital, was charged with the assault before Magistrate Dumble. He pleaded not guilty, and the case was enlarged until the 20th of this month. Moore is at present incarcerated in the county jail as no bail has been given for him.

For keeping a vicious untaxed dog, J. P. Francis was taxed $2 and costs. An information was laid against Mr. Jos. Healey on this same charge, a short time ago, but Mr. Healey proved to the satisfaction of the court that the dog was not his.

J. Shanahan pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly and was relieved of $2 and $2.60 costs.

John Cochrane admitted using profane language. He unfortunately gave vent to oaths in the neighborhood of the police station and it cost him $4.60 for saying things which offended the sensitive feelings of the law's preservers.

Timothy Kearns was arrested for being drunk and disorderly on Saturday night in the City Hotel. There has been a warrant out for some time against this man but he has been out of town.

HEALY FALLS POWER

Prominent Capitalists of U. S. and Canada Inspect View a Future Source of Power

Last week a Large party of Port Hope, Cobourg, Campbellford, and American capitalists visited the much talked of Healy Falls, to inspect the possibilities of increasing the power there now going to waste. The gentlemen took this trip on invitation of Mr. J. A. Culverwell of Port Hope. As is well known, to our readers, Mr. Culverwell is largely interested in the Burleigh Falls Power Company, and other syndicates formed to develope latent power from water.

Among the members of the J. A. Culverwell Healy Falls Syndicate are: W. J. Orenna Car Company of Cobourg, Standard Ideal Sanitary Company, Port Hope; R. A. Mulholland, Chairman Port Hope Harbor Board; J. F. Clark, Vice-President Port Hope Board of Trade; Col. Wm. McLean, Warden of United Counties of Northumberland and Durham; Mayor W. J. Mahrer, Cobourg; Chas. Donnelly, Capitalist of Pittsburg and Cobourg; Frank M. Field, barrister, and ex-Mayor E. C. S. Huycke, K.C. Cobourg; Edward T. Adams, M.D., Toronto.

The party had lunch en route to Healy Falls, at Hastings. From this village they were conveyed in carriages, and were met by a large deputation of business men from Campbellford.

The party then personally inspected this immense stretch of rapids and falls which extend for over a quarter of a mile, with a total developable head of sixty feet and according to authentic reports about six thousand horsepower. On the high bank adjoining the falls Mr. Culverwell addressed the deputation, and with the aid of a large map made by two leading Ontario land surveyors at different times showing the different properties on both sides of the river and the water levels at each property, explained in detail the advantages of the three respective portions of the power owned by his syndicate.

Mr. Culverwell explained that Mr. R. B. Rogers and Mr. J. M. Kilbourn, of Lakefield, had been trying to get control of the power. Mr. Culverwell had received the ruling of the department in his favor. But he had never been able to induce the last Ontario Government to make the Order in Council, granting a lease of their portion.

Mr. Rogers, he said, had tried to get control from the Dominion Government. He explained to the Burleigh Falls power that would soon mean power to Oshawa, Peterboro and other places.

Mayor Maher, of Cobourg, characterized the action of Campbellford as that of "a dog in the manager," they had all the power the village wanted, in trying to give the power to Peterboro, instead of to towns on the lake front. It was decided to send a committee from the Boards of Trade of Cobourg and Port Hope to Campbellford, to try and get use of the power of Healy Falls.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

RUGBY.

Saturday's game at Riverside park although as pretty an exhibition of clean rugby as could be desired, only drew about a $20 gate.

The local team, whose names were published in Saturday's issue, put up too strong a game for the Victorias of Toronto, and won out 16—4. It would be invidious to particularize the playing of the local men, as all put in their best and it was good.

THE TURF.

The long discussed race for $50 a side, between Mr. Martin Connors' mare, Lady Gothard and Mr. R. J. Munro's horse, Little Jap, was run off, at the Driving Park, Saturday afternoon. Owing, possibly to the counter attraction in the rugby match between the Victorias of Toronto, and the local team, there were only about 25 spectators.

The race was best three out of five. The track was in splendid condition, and a grand race, notwithstanding the seeming one-sidedness of the outcome was witnessed. Mr. Neville, the veteran driver handled the ribbons on Lady Gothard, and Mr. Ketchum, who backed the result of his driving, did the honors for Little Jap.

The race was won by Mr. Connors' mare in three straight heats, Little Jap not being speedy enough for Lady Gothard. Considerable money changed hands.

A FALSE ALARM

Crossed Wires Ring in from the Fourth Ward, Giving a Needless Run

Yesterday evening shortly before the church bells rested out their summons to the regenerate, another bell called out the firemen, both regenerate and otherwise. An alarm had rung in from the fourth ward, and in remarkably quick time the brigade were galloping up George street on their mission of salvation of property.

By the time the fire laddies had lost their opportunity of attending church or sailing on their best girls, they discovered that the old trouble of the north ward, crossed wires had got them out for nothing. The remarks passed, especially by those on whom fell the duty of cleaning the nice sticky mud from the wagons, will not stand reptition by ordinary mud tugs.

Several of the firemen called The Times' attention to the inefficient state of the fire hall telephone. Last night, and at a fire a few days ago, it was necessary to go to the central office to speak. With the excellent service and instruments that Peterboro is noted for, the fire hall, of all places should have an effective phone.

WON MANY EVENTS

Allan Campbell Wins out at Port Hope School Athletics

A Peterboro boy, at the recent athletic contests at Trinity College School, Port Hope, has not only won many prizes during previous years of his attendance there, but this year won no less than five cups for first prizes in running races, practically taking everything in his class.

The coming athlete who so ably proved his prowess in the field of sports, is Allan Campbell, son of Mr. Peter Clare, 552, manager of the Peterboro branch Bank of Toronto. Mr. Campbell's winnings were;—

1st in 100 yards, open, cup.
1st in 220 yards, open, cup.
1st in 1-4 mile, open, cup.
1st in 1-2 mile, open, cup.
1st Bigside 1-2 mile handicap, cut glass pitcher, with silver mountings.

And in three-legged race, winning a gun metal watch and gold pen and pencil.

Second in long jump, open.

The young lad is under 15 years of age, so there is a great future for him in the amateur arena of athletic sports.

The Times would like respectfully to congratulating Mr. Campbell on so remarkable a performance.

For many years past, dating back to when Mr. R. B. Rogers, as a Trinity school boy, used to capture prizes there, Peterboro's hope have always been well in athletics, but Mr. Campbell's performance beats all previous records.

Wave Washes Liner's Deck in Mid-Ocean

Mighty Rush of Water Sweeps Five Steerage Passengers to Death and Strews Deck With Injured, One of Whom Dies

New York, Oct. 16.—Five lives are known to have been lost and more than 30 persons injured, some of them probably fatally, on the Cunard Liner steamer Campania last Wednesday, when a gigantic wave rolled over the vessel and swept across a deck thick with steerage passengers. So sudden was the coming of the disaster, and so great the confusion which attended and followed it that even the officers of the steamer themselves were unable today, upon the vessel's arrival here, to estimate the full extent of the tragedy. It is possible that the five persons known to be missing from the steerage, may not constitute the full number of dead.

When the Campania reached quarantine today ten of the injured passengers were still in the ship's hospital, some of them seriously hurt, and a score of others were nursing minor injuries.

The steamer was ploughing along under full head way last Wednesday afternoon. A heavy quartering sea was running, but the weather conditions were far from unpleasant, and the big boat's decks were crowded with passengers. The steerage deck was covered with merrymakers and there was nothing to indicate the approaching disaster, when suddenly the big vessel lurched to port and scooped up an enormous sea.

SUBMERGED TO THE WAIST.

The wave boarded the steamer midships on the port side and swept clear across the steerage deck, completely filling the space between that deck and the deck above and carring every thing with it.

The steamer's side was buried so deep that the passengers on the deck above the steerage were submerged to their waists as the immense volume of water rolled aft and then surged forward. All the cabin passengers on the upper deck succeeded in clinging to supports while the waters surged around them, and were saved, but the unfortunates on the steerage deck found themselves utterly helpless. The irresistible rush of waters, sweeping towards the forward part of the ship, carried everything before it. Nettings, heavy railings and other obstructions which had been arranged near the railings to prevent passengers being washed overboard, served their purpose only in part.

STREWN WITH INJURED.

So great was the volume and force of the rushing waters that a door in the rail was smashed and through this opening five of the helpless ones who had been caught by the wave were swept to their deaths. Others dashed against the rails and other like obstructions, caused death, but many of them received severe injuries. One young woman had both legs broken at the thigh and several persons suffered broken arms and ribs, while more than a score were ruised and battered.

When the wave cleared the vessel the forward part of the deck was strewn with injured and for hours, Dr. Verdon, the ship's surgeon, aided by a number of physicians among the cabin passengers, was busy in attending to their hurts. In the meantime an inspection of the steerage was made by the ship's officers and it was learned that five of the passengers were missing. No further information regarding the result of the inspection was given out.

STEWARDNESS SAVES LIVES.

From one of the steerage passengers who escaped death or serious injury in the disaster, it was learned that the lives of several children were saved by a stewardess, Miss Cotes, and a deck steward. The little ones were playing about the deck when they were caught in the swirl of water and carried off with the others. On the return rush of the wave the children were being carried directly towards the open door, through which the five who lost their lives had been swept when Miss Cotes and the steward rushed to their rescue, and dragged them back to safety.

Wednesday's disaster marks the first time in the Cunard Line's history of more than sixty years ago that a passenger has been lost from one of its steamers by accident.

ASSURED INTEREST

Opportunity Presented for Investment in Co. That Pays Over 18 Per Cent

In these days of cheap money, which is synonymous with low interest or capital, there is much difficulty in placing either small or large sums advantageously. When a man desires to invest his savings or capital, two propositions present themselves. Is the investment safe; And next, what interest per annum can I get on my money? Many conservative investors look for our answer to the first question as of most material importance. Such people as a rule, tie up their money in banks, gas companies and mortgages, which although comparitively safe only pay from three to four per cent. on the money. The institutions borrowing such capital, as a matter of common sense, reinvest the sums they get at cheap rates, to other people or corporations at a higher rate. This is where such banks and corporations are able to pay dividends annually of, from eight to ten per cent.

In another column appears the advertisement of a company that not only offers, but has, for years, paid, annual dividends on capital of 1 1-2 per cent. per month, or 18 per cent. per annum. New companies, trying to float their stock for development or experimental purposes, often make promises that, too frequently never materialize.

The Mines Company of America has, since incorporation in 1902, paid out $1,670,000 in dividends to shareholders; this huge sum has actually been paid out in 34 months.

The Mines Co., of America, was organized in 1902, in 2,000,000 shares at $1 each, under the laws of the State of Maine. They own the Cresson-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

As regards reliability of the company, a brief glance at their directorate is most reassuring; viz., President, W. E. Reis, American Steel and Wire Co., Chicago; Treasurer, H. S. Black, President of the U.S. Realty and Construction Co., New York.

Directors—John S. Mitchell, President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago; John Lambert, American Steel and Wire Co., Chicago; Robert Murray, capitalist, New York; I. L. Elwood, American Steel and Wire Co., Chicago; Loyal E. Smith, capitalist, New York; Capt. W. Fleming, Chicago, general manager, John B. Farish.

A careful scrutiny of the advertisement in this issue, giving in detail the company's transactions for the past three years, cannot but result in assuring any investor of mining of the advantages to be gained. Any one having funds to invest should, without delay, communicate with O. H. D'Agent, Liverpool & London and Globe Building, Montreal.

Here is a chance to get in on similar terms with original investors, on an established concern that has paid 18 per cent. yearly.

BEYOND REASON

Lord's Day Alliance Object to Certain Sunday Work

The local branch of the Lord's Day Alliance entered a protest against the installation of the boxes and fixtures in the post office here, which were planned in position Saturday night and Sunday. The Alliance claim that the work might be done on some public holiday, perhaps Thanksgiving Day.

On Saturday morning a telegram was despatched to the Deputy Postmaster General at Ottawa, asking that steps be taken to stop the proposed work on Sunday, and during the afternoon the following message was received;

President, Lord's Day Alliance,
Peterboro;

Installation of boxes and fixtures being performed in Peterboro post office, under contract, though Government has no control re Sunday work. Contractor personally and legally responsible for any violation of the laws.

R. M. COULTER,
Deputy Postmaster Gen.

It was generally thought Saturday afternoon, when the news of this interference got abroad, that the Alliance had rather exceeded the limits of common sense. Whilst every good citizen, appreciates the benefit to all the community, that the Alliance's efforts effect, there are times when a seasoning of judgment is necessary to be introduced. Why should thousands of citizens be discommoded in so important a matter as the mails, because six or eight willing workers miss one church service?

PETERBORO'S BREAD

A Times' Correspondent Compares Loaf With Lindsay Prices

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—How is it, with numerous flour mills in this city, that Lindsay bakers are selling bread at ten cents a large loaf, full weight, whilst the 10 cent loaf sold in Peterboro requires a magnifying glass to locate it? Do our local bakers belong to the "get rich quick" combine? With bread being sold at fair prices 20 miles away, would it not pay to import a Lindsay baker or two, who may be content with reasonable prices. This is a matter that seriously affects the poor of Peterboro, and when the cold weather sets in, the local extortion will be keenly felt.

Yours truly,
ANTI-COMBINE.

RIDER HAGGARD'S SCHEME

Mr. James Long Says it Has Been Pigeonholed

London, October 16. — Mr. James Long, writing in The Guardian on land for the unemployed, referring to Rider Haggard's Canadian settlement scheme, says his own belief is that the report, however it may be regarded, is pigeon-holed, and that so far as the Colonial Office is concerned, "we shall hear no more about it."

JAPAN'S BURDEN

Japan wanted peace, and she had one very good reason for wanting it, in addition to the Christian spirit that has been supposed to animate her lately. Count Okuma has said that when the withdrawal of the troops is completed she will find herself confronted with a debt of $1,250,000,000, the annual interest on which alone, roughly speaking, will be $75,000,000, or nearly twice the revenue of the country ten years ago. The per capita rate of taxation before the war was $7. Now it is $4. The per capita share in the national debt before the war was $6. It is now $25. Count Okuma, however, is not pessimistic. He hopefully points to the necessity of business men to redouble their energy in the development of productive works of all kinds, and thus secure victories in peace as well as war.

It will be interesting to see how Japan will stand her debt and pay it. She may surprise some people who think they know all about her financial situation and prospects. Of course she can't get out of her savage as the United States did out of hers, but unless she becomes demoralized or has to fight more soon she will eventually be all right.

CHARACTER BUILDING

One of the greatest and most beneficial changes in the public school system in this country is its ethical revolution in regard to the welfare of the pupil. Formerly the chief, indeed almost the only, concern was the intellectual development of the child. Beginning in its early days with the "three Rs," mental training advanced in rapid stages to isms and ologies until the pupil's head was crammed with undigested knowledge, often to its serious detriment in respect to physical and mental health. The system threatened to become a sort of literary stuffing process similar to that by which Strassburg geese are converted into pate de fois gras. The real objects of school, teaching the child how to study and inculcating a love of knowledge, were in most cases ignored in favor of the cramming process.

Of late years, particularly here in Ontario, it has come to be recognized that education is as important in the building up of character as in the development of the brain. Character building, which was formerly supposed to be the province of the home and the Sunday school, is now rapidly becoming a distinctive feature of the public schools. This is a very fortunate thing for the coming generation, in view of the fact that attendance at Sunday school is not as general as it might be, and even then is limited to one day in the week of more or less perfunctory teaching, while the lessons of the public schools are thoroughly taught five days in the week. Moreover, the public school offers the only opportunity for the development of character in many children whose home environment is not of the best. Too often the indifference or ignorance of the parents reduces the child's chances to grow in character to a negative quantity. And where the parents lack character the child's case is as hopeless as that a stream can rise above its source.

Character building in the public schools makes for a higher standard of citizenship in the nation. It is carrying out the ideas of the patriotic forefathers who planned the country's institutions. The only aristocracy should be one of character, not founded on titles and material possessions, in order to give dignity and weight to public opinion.

This applies to such as trust in their riches and social position for the sole purpose of attaining prominence in the eyes of the world. Those who permit their thoughts to move continually on a low plane of living and thinking, seldom rise to the higher spiritual manifestations of life, and thereby deprive themselves of the very best there is in this world—that higher form of communion which adorns and elevates humanity.

The Revised Immigration Figures

Ottawa, October 14.—Revised figures issued by the Immigration Department show that during last year 117,271 immigrants came to Canada through the ports of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and Montreal. There were 3,391 persons debarred on account of trachoma and other diseases of the eye, and thirteen were debarred on account of diseases of the nerves.

The United States report for last year shows that of 921,515 persons, 1,600 were debarred on account of disease, or nearly one in every 573. Of the 921,215 who arrived in the United States, 83,743 were of British origin, while of the 117,271 who arrived in Canada, 65,320 were British. Of the 611 deported in Canada 22 were British.

Derelict Boats Discovered

Victoria, B. C., October 14.—Two derelict Columbia river fishing boats were found in the Gulf of Georgia Tuesday by settlers of Gatiano Island, indicating that two if not more fishermen were drowned during the recent gale. One boat was bottom up, and other right side up, but with considerable water in it. Nets were dragging and sails were set on both boats, one had a number of fish, including a shark six feet long, in it. Nothing was seen of the owners or crews.

Tartars Expel the Russians

New York, October 14.—A special despatch to The Sun from St. Petersburg, states that news from Tiflis, the capital of Russian Transcaucasia, that the Tartars have taken possession of many villages, hoisted Tartar flags over them, and expelled the Russians. The authority of the latter seems to have disappeared from a region covering over 200 square miles.

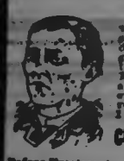
VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of semen through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

Kidneys & Bladder

All sexual complaints affect these organs, hence the kidneys are a great source of disease. Have you aching or weakness over the small of the back, tendency to urinate frequently, deposit in urine, coldness of hands or feet, a drowsy feeling in the morning. Don't neglect your kidneys. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure any disease of these organs or no pay.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.



O. W. Rowe, of Jackson, Mich., says: I had varicocele in the secondary stage and two strictures of 3 years' standing. I was operated on twice, undergoing great suffering, but only got temporary relief. I was finally advised to try the NEW METHOD TREATMENT of Drs. K. & K. The enlarged veins disappeared in six weeks, the stricture tissue was removed in eight weeks and my sexual energy and vitality returned so I was a man in every respect. I recommend you doctors with my whole heart."

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

ance of a friend, drove away to Southwick Street, having sent some flowers to keep Mrs. Ruthven quiet.

Somewhat to his discomfiture for he always suspected that Shirley was more or less a spy—that gentleman was in the act of leaving his card as he went up the steps.

The ladies were "out, driving, with Mr. Winton," said the highly respectable ex-butler, who opened the door.

"When do you expect them in?" asked Marsden.

"Can't say, sir. Not till late, anyway."

Marsden then left his card, and, turning, walked a few paces with Shirley.

"So Lady Dorrington is in town," said the latter, after their first exchange of greetings.

"Indeed! I have not heard from her."

"I don't think I was mistaken. I saw her drive up to Mrs. Ruthven's hotel as I left this morning."

"I did not think she would be up just yet. How is Mrs. Ruthven today?"

"No great things," said Shirley. "This unfortunate business has taken such a hold on her. I believe she suspects every soul that comes near her. She ought to get away, among new scenes and people. It is a pity she has bought this villa."

"It is not a bad investment. She might sell it any day for a thousand or so more than she gave. The owner was very hard up for ready money."

"Ah! that's always the way—those that have, to them shall be given. And our charming friend has a keen appreciation of a bargain!"

"Of course—it is in her blood," said Marsden, laughing. "Now I must go and look after this sister of mine. Shall you see Mrs. Ruthven to-day?"

"I hope to do so. She fancies she has some faint clew to the ruffian that robbed her. I don't believe it myself. It seems there is some suspicion about a half-caste, from Pondicherry. I scarcely know what," and Shirley pulled himself up. "I avoid the subject with her now."

"We can not wonder if she is a little morbid! I shall call at any rate—early to-morrow." They interchanged "good-mornings" and parted.

"I wonder the bereaved widow did not send for me?" mused Marsden. "Why does she hang on to that cad?" he walked slowly toward his club. "I don't fancy she cares for him; not now at least—I wish she did—or, for any one except myself. She might have him for a trustee—she may have whom she likes. I am well out of my difficulties, and I'll take deuced good care to keep clear of any more. The fact is I am very simple to my tastes, only I fell in with an extravagant set! I wish Mrs. Ruthven would take her departure—anywhere, even to another world. Has she made a will? Who has she left her money to? She has no relations? Suppose she made me her residuary legatee? That would be too comic! I wonder why she is so civil to Nora? She is always watching her. She is such a keen devil, she suspects I am in love with my charming cousin. Ay! but she little knows how deeply! That girl has given me fresh youth and force, and invention. Nothing shall part us. But I must be cautious for a little longer then—then—"

So, with head erect, a delicious sense of success unlifting his spirit, Marsden strolled down Park Lane and along Piccadilly. Reaching his club, he found a note from his sister, commanding—rather than inviting—him to dinner that day. Marsden felt bound to obey—much to his annoyance.

Lady Dorrington was exceedingly formidable to him just then. She knew something of his life and embarrassments — and she suspected more. She had no hesitation in questioning him, in the coolest and most embarrassing manner; moreover, it was exceedingly difficult to mislead her.

Marsden, however, prepared himself for the ordeal, and "came up smiling" at seven-thirty, with his pleasantest, frankest manner.

"Well, Clifford, and what have you been doing with yourself since we parted?" asked Lady Dorrington, when dinner was over and they were left alone.

"A great many things. It has been a beastly time altogether. I was over in Amsterdam, as you know, after those unlucky jewels. I was in great hopes of finding a clew there, but it's no use, Mrs. Ruthven will never see them again. Then I went to Paris, to see De Meudon. He was awfully ill, poor fellow—gastric fever or some such thing. I spent a few days with him at his villa, and had a talk with some of the principal jewelers in Paris, but could find nothing. One of them suggested the stones might have gone to New York or Sydney. That I came over here to attend to Mrs. Ruthven's business—she was in such a violent hurry about that villa."

"Is the affair finished, and the money paid down?" sharply.

"Yes," returned Marsden, looking up surprised. "Why do you ask?"

"Thank God!" said Lady Dorrington emphatically. "You know I never mince matters, and I can tell you I was in a horrid fright about this purchase, lest—well, lest the money for it should not be forthcoming in time."

"My dear sister, I am immensely flattered by your high opinion of your only brother," bowing ironically.

"That is all very well, Clifford, but I know you, and I know what temptation a large sum of money absolutely at your disposal must be. I dreaded the appointment of a new trustee and the discoveries he might make, that was one reason why I was so eager to press your marriage with Miss Penwick. I am still anxious for it, but not for its immediate celebration."

"Isabelle," said Marsden quietly, but in a tone of feeling, while he looked straight at her, his soft, dark blue eyes grave and reproachful, "I have been reckless, extravagant, everything I ought not to be, but to rob a woman, too, of whom I am, in a sense, the guardian—that is an infamy of which I am incapable." He was evidently a good deal moved. "I do not deserve such suspicions from you."

"Well, I am sure I hope not," cried Lady Dorrington, with a searching look. "I beg your pardon; but I confess I have been terribly uneasy since you paid off that mortgage of Greenwood's, in May."

"Ah! yes. I was wonderfully lucky last spring. I won a few thousands at Monaco, and De Meudon's broker managed to double them several times over; in short, I never had such a chance before, so I was able to clear Greenwood and one or two other small things. You may well beg my pardon. If you believed me to be such a blackguard, how could you care enough about me to wish me married to any woman—to sacrifice any woman to me?"

"Clifford," cried Lady Dorrington, "I know that you have very little principle, yet I am fond of you. I have seen you grow up. You have always been nice and kind to me, and you are the last of our family. I want to see you well married and free from the awful temptation of money difficulties. If I have done you injustice I am very sorry."

HERE IS A CURE FOR

Sleeplessness

Weak, Listless, Sleepless Men and Women Cured Every Day by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The physical suffering and mental anguish that victims of sleeplessness endure is indeed a sad story. But in Dr. Hamilton's Pills there is swift relief from this awful condition. Thousands have proved the merit of this grand medicine, among them Mrs. G. T. Lycon, one of the best known residents of Geneva, who writes: "My health ran down and I was unable to sleep. I had headache and pains in different parts of my body. In the morning I was weary and exhausted—no rest or comfort came from the snatches of sleep I got.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills braced me at once. After the first night I got refreshing sleep, that extreme weariness left me and I recovered very fast.

"No medicine I ever used gave such telling results as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills."

Don't let sleeplessness drive you crazy; take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and get well. You will increase in flesh, your appetite will be vigorous, force and energy will be instilled into your nervous system.

By nourishing and purifying the blood and by stimulating the action of the kidneys, liver and stomach, Dr. Hamilton's Pills accomplish wonders. Try a 25c. box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Jury Not to Blame

An considerable adverse criticism has been current over the peculiar sentence imposed on Charles Gow, three months for snuffing out a human life and mutilating another child, the jury in this case has come in for some pretty severe remarks, not wholly deserved. It seems that the jury, whilst thinking an adequate punishment should be imposed for such criminal carelessness, did not want the prisoner to get such a sentence as his act perhaps entitled him. They feared a sentence of perhaps five to ten years in penitentiary might be given, hence their recommendation to mercy. Still this is good men and true, did not anticipate a result that threw the frequently abused inquest power into the realm of justice and intelligence, by comparison.

P. C. Stewart Interrupts a Poker Game in Full Swing

Yesterday afternoon as P. C. Stewart was passing a certain office on Water street, his ever watchful ears, were assailed by sounds that did not denote a prayer-meeting or gospel service in session. The officer considered that the hilarity and general symptoms of a little game of draw predominated, so at once demanded admission.

In the office were eleven young men seated in such a position as to endorse his first surmise. The pasteboards, although when assembled 52 strong, are denominated a "Prayer Book," for euphemy's sake, had strange pictures and devices inscribed, that call to mind the genealogical tree of a Royal family; there were kings and queens, princes by the name of "Jack," and various implements, such as spades and clubs, even articles of great value such as diamonds. Though some of the pasteboards were ornamented with hearts, the officer's heart was hardened. He took the names of the eleven occupants of the office, who will possibly have to explain later on what they were doing to pass that happy Sunday afternoon.

When the officer gained admittance to this office, he noticed a quick motion on the part of the players, which he interpreted as hustling the cards out of sight. He then demanded the incriminating documents, but a general beatancy, not to say refusal, was at once in evidence. Upon threatening to make a search of their persons, the deck was thrown on the table.

"A SECRET."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such, for instance, as the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or fifty stamps for cloth-bound copy, addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The change from maidenhood to womanhood is one that involves the whole body. The strain at this time upon the blood-forming structures may be too great. Disorders of the functions peculiarly feminine are nearly always dependent upon defective nutrition. In all such cases Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just the vegetable tonic for the female system.

"I cannot express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Julius Wehrly, of Cambridge, Dorchester Co., Md. "I took 'Favorite Prescription' and feel that a perfect cure has been effected. I feel like thanking you for the kind and fatherly letters which you wrote."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was the first exclusively woman's tonic on the market. It has sold more largely in the past third of a century than any other medicine for women. Do not let the druggist persuade you to try some compound that has not had the test of so many years' success.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

LADY FOR TRIAL

Mrs. Nora Washburn up Before Two Courts for Abusive Language

When Nora Washburn, of the township of Methuen, "gets her dander up," its dollars to a cancelled postage stamp, she will get the best of the argument, even if she has to back her side of the case by a club.

As is well known, the township of East Dummer, Methuen and Belmont, contains residents who have strong opinions, when opinions are formulated by them, and in presenting them, if opposed, will augument them up by forcible means.

Not content with the many former fiascos, residents in that distant part of this land, have still another case to furnish gossip.

Nora Washburn will appear before his Worship Judge Edmison, in a few days, to answer to the charge that she did assault Mrs. Eli. A Younkins of Methuen. The defendant is charged not only with having used strong language towards plaintiff, but fanned her with a club.

Nora seems to be a hustler in the art of tongue thrashing an opponent, as she is also charged on another information laid before Magistrate Mathews, of Havelock, and has committed a breach of the morals of the aforementioned township. The two informations were on Saturday received by Judge Edmison, who will probably hear the cases this week. High Constable Cochrane will take possession of Nora in the meantime.

TICKET AGENTS MEET

Messrs. McIlroy and Buston Now in Portland, Maine

The annual convention of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association, being held in Portland, Me., began yesterday and lasts until Thursday.

A party of two hundred, including ladies, left Montreal, via the Grand Trunk Railway, a special train being provided for their use. The secretary of the association, Mr. E. de la Hooke, of Toronto, whilst in Montreal, completed the necessary arrangements.

Today, in Portland, the work of the convention begins with a reception by the Mayor of Portland and Hon. Charles F. Libby, in the City Hall. This evening the annual dinner will be held at the Falmouth Hotel. Tuesday will be taken up with excursions to points of interest in and about Portland, including a clam bake. On Wednesday a trip to Old Orchard will be among the attractions, and on Thursday evening the party will start on their return trip.

From Portland they will be carried in a special over the Main Central, the Boston and Maine and the Canadian Pacific, arriving in Montreal on Friday morning.

Among those attending this important convention are Mr. W. McIlroy, the genial uptown ticket agent of the C. P. R., and Mr. W. Dunton, the rotund dispenser of G. T. R. authority to ride on that line.

Barnardo Sewer Finished

The Barnardo avenue sewer was completed Saturday evening and the Barnardo Home may make the desired connection. The work has been rushed and a good job has been done but not any too soon, as there is no gainsaying the fact that the overflowed cesspool of this institution was a positive menace to public health.

Mr. R. J. Shalton, of Montreal, has leased the store at present occupied by Messrs. A. Brown & Co., real estate dealers, No. 138 Hunter street, and intends opening the same between November 1st and 10th with a complete new stock of books, stationery and fancy goods.

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value. $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co., New York.

JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.

JOHN LAMBERT,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.

ISAAC L. ELWOOD,
American Steel & Wire Co., Dekalb, Ill.

LOYAL L. SMITH,
New York.

CAPT. WM. FLEMING,
Chicago, Ill

General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $15,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 3rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75 000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely market value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company Stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year,

Greer's Theories Of The Murder

Provincial Detective Does Not Think There Was Any Struggle--Whisky and Sardine Tin Found--Victim Not Gagged.

Hamilton, Oct. 17.—Was the Barton township victim shot while asleep or chloroformed, or was she a party to her own death?

This is the threefold question that Detective Greer, who arrived here early Saturday afternoon, is asking himself. After a conference with Chief Constable Smith, Inspector McMahon, and Detective Miller, he viewed the body at the morgue, examined the clothes and other personal effects, and then, accompanied by Miller, drove to the scene of the murder. He returned to Hamilton about five o'clock, and after again discussing the case with the local authorities, took a night train back to Toronto.

"Was there a struggle?" Detective Greer was asked.

"No," was the reply, "I think not. The watch was torn off, not in a struggle, but lest it should lead to the woman's identification. The hat was carried off for the same reason. From all accounts it was conspicuous, and the murderer feared that it might be recognized by some one in an hotel, on the street, or elsewhere. In all probability, both man and woman were strangers. The latter's clothes are of American make.

THE CLEVELAND VISITORS.

The story of the Wilsons, the "Cleveland man and wife" who stayed at the Commercial and the American from Saturday to Monday a week ago, and took "a quiet drive" on Sunday, was related to Detective Greer. He was much interested, and remarked: "Though the dead woman and her slayer were strangers, they may have been in Hamilton or near the city several days, and may have driven around. It is hard to say whether the scene of the murder was a matter of selection, or one of chance. Though not the best place for concealment, it is not the worst one possibly. There's a fairly high picket fence at the roadside; a meadow lies between it and the trees, and though the body lay on a knoll in an sloping behind, a leafy branch partly covered it. Had not those boys or some one else passed through there, the remains might not have been discovered until putrefaction was well under way.

VICTIM WAS LYING DOWN.

"The woman was lying down when shot. At least such is my opinion, and they may have been there for an hour before the woman was killed. They are supposed to have entered the field about 10.30, and the man is said to have been seen alone at [illegible] likely to have lingered any longer than was necessary after the deed was done.

A FLOOD OF CIRCULARS.

"I am taking photos. I data to Toronto with me, and on Monday, Canada and the States will be flooded with circulars. What we have to do is to identify the woman. Of course the identification of the man would be welcome, but when the woman is known we shall soon know the manly means of these circulars, which will describe the dead woman and her clothes, and give her likeness. I hope to identify her. Of course, I can't tell how long it will take."

WHISKEY AND SARDINES.

Detective Greer's theory that the woman was shot while lying down is shared by some of the Hamilton force, and the finding yesterday afternoon of an empty "Imperial" flask about 70 yards from where the body was found suggests that liquor may have produced that slumber. Hundreds of city and country people were at the scene Sunday, and with canes or sticks prodded hollows, full of leaves and ricky services. In one of the latter Bert Murray, aged 18, who lives in the neighborhood, came across the whiskey flask and two sardine cans. The former is said to belong to the wrapper that lay, half charred, near the body. A red blot is discernible on the label. The latest on each sardine box, which contains only the tails of the fish, reads, "Sardines de Sportsmen." There's a hunting scene, and the colors are vivid. This brand retails at 18 or 20 cents, and a commercial man says that the local merchants who handle it are limited in number. They will be seen, and the man if he did make the purchase here may be remembered. It is assumed that the man and woman ate the sardines and drank the liquor. While under the influence she may have fallen asleep. For that matter, the man may have added a drug. Then would come his opportunity. Throwing the raincoat over the head, and the branch over the body, the man may have carried the flask and sardine tins with him when he made his escape north and west toward the Caledonia roads where no many saw him later. At any rate, the three articles were found on the route he would take. The man may have chosen the open spot, instead of another, for the reason that he could see the road and run very little risk of being seen himself.

SCOTTISH BANK CLERKS COMING

Fifty Young Men to Fill Banks

ARE TRAINED IN FINANCE

Needed on Account of the Many New Banks in Canada

Montreal, October 19.—An advertisement has appeared in the Glasgow, Scotland, Herald, calling for fifty young men to come to Canada to take positions in a Canadian bank at a salary of fifty pounds per year.

The name of the bank is not given, but applications are being received by a prominent lawyer in Edinburgh.

In speaking of the matter, the general manager of one of Canada's large chartered banks stated that on the face of it the proposal looked doubtful. For one thing too many were required, but at the same time it was quite possible that the advertisement was legitimate enough, though personally he knew nothing of it.

"It is quite common for the Canadian banks," he said, "to take young men between the ages of sixteen and eighteen, giving them $200 per year to start with, and an extra $50 if they are required to go west, it being calculated that the living expenses there are considerably higher than they are in the east.

"Also bank men who are transferred from an eastern to a western point in Canada have their pay increased a percentage to make up the difference in living. To men who are receiving fair salaries this increase amounts to something like ten per cent., while for beginners, who are on small pay, the increase is relatively larger."

This bank manager stated that the opening of branches by some of the Canadian banks has gone on at such a pace recently that there was in reality a shortage of clerks, this being particularly true of juniors, therefore, it was quite possible that some of the Canadian banks, [illegible] spreading out into new territory rapidly, had arranged to take over a number of young Scotchmen of good family and unblemished reputations.

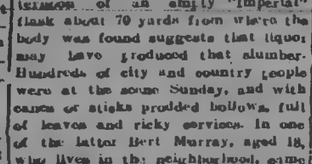
GOOD SPECIMENS

In Mr. R. Deane's Store is a Collection of Noxious Weeds

Much interest was aroused yesterday among pedestrians on George St., by a fine collection of pressed and dried weeds in the window of Mr. Robbie Deane's flour and feed store, George street. These specimens, mounted beautifully on cards, enclosed in frames, and supplemented by colored pictures, where the originals are defficient, are from the Agricultural College at Guelph, and, being properly labelled, form an interesting study for the farmers and others. Mr. Deane secured these samples at considerable outlay. At the last parliament in order to prevent the dissemination of weeds and to assure the purity of seed an act, introduced by Hon. Sydney Fisher, was passed. It is entitled an act respecting the inspection and sale of seeds. The sale of clover and timothy seed is prohibited when mixed with noxious weeds. Mr. Deane's exhibit of weeds is certainly an interesting and instructive one.



At yesterday's police court, Timothy Kearns pleaded guilty to being d. and d. on Saturday, Oct. 14th, $2 and costs, $5.14 altogether, to be paid forthwith. A friend in the audience kindly volunteered to liquidate the debt. Kearns turning to the friend in need begged him to get a move on with the dust. Within the space of three minutes and 11 seconds, a red-headed V. and some silver had passed to the city's possession.

Kearns was next charged under an old warrant, with having, on the 24th May last, assaulted Arthur Bennett. Pleaded not guilty. As Bennett was known to be out west, the case was enlarged.

Luther Cross, the lad who aimed with an apple at a freight car, broke a passenger car window, did not appear for trial; this was due to a misunderstanding about the case having supposedly been withdrawn. Mr. E. K. Edwards, appeared for young Cross, and explained that Mr. Peudy, G.T.R. agent, had telephoned him Saturday that the case had been withdrawn by the railway authorities.

Mr. Worship said that this court is run from within and not from without; the case had not been withdrawn. Mr. Dumble said, "This manipulation of the court by outside parties will not be tolerated." Mr. Edwards suggested that the lad be discharged with a warning.

However the chief explained that the case was not and probably would not be withdrawn. The case was enlarged again until Thursday morning.

Three small boys, Edward Kane, Bellew McManus, and William Kane, were charged with having, on the 10th October, entered the house of Mr. W. Madill, with purpose to commit an illegal act, contrary to the criminal code.

The boys' respective fathers were present, and after the lads had all pleaded "not guilty," as indicted, [illegible] were tried summarily by the magistrate.

The case was enlarged until this morning.

After the court had adjourned, Mr. Tenbon Guerin, the George street butcher, notified the chief that he had a few minutes previously seen the lad, Taylor who broke out of the Havelock calaboose, when under arrest there some two weeks ago for being incorrigible. It will be remembered that Taylor was sent to the Toronto Industrial school for a term of three years.

Mr. Guerin said the boy was well dressed and seemed flushed with money. He told Guerin, he had, on Sunday, hit the caretaker of the school with a club over the head and escaped. He also told Guerin, his cash had been obtained by going through several grocery store tills. Guerin was given authority by the chief, to arrest the boy, should he see him again.

CHEMICAL ENGINES

Mr. D. W. Dumble Gives the Times His Views in Fire Protection

Yesterday morning, The Times, owing to the present active interest being taken in much needed and widely discussed better fire protection appliances for this city, interviewed Mr. D. W. Dumble, police magistrate, to ascertain his opinion of what Peterboro requires.

Mr. Dumble said, "In the matter of fire protection, I am decidedly of the opinion that a steam engine is not required. Firstly," he continued, "it must not be forgotten that we have in Peterboro a system of water works, with a throwing pressure equal to any thing in this province. In the central parts of the town, where the hydrants are close together, they afford infinitely better protection than any fire engine." Mr. Dumble asserted that "They throw stronger streams and more of it. The merchants," he continued, "who do business on George street, are close to the fire station and are thoroughly covered by the hydrants system. What we do need, is a chemical engine, which could put out a fire, without drenching the merchants or householders' goods, as is done where water is thrown. Hydrants extend over most of the town, and any fire within five or six hundred feet of the hydrants can be reached by lines laid to the hydrant. If fires occur beyond reach of the hydrants, they are so far away that before a steam engine could reach them, they would be almost beyond control. It is always within the power of the town to extend its hydrant system." Mr. Dumble argued.

"It must be remembered," he continued, "that a steam engine is dependent upon the hydrant system for its supply of water. The tanks which formerly were in the town," said Mr. Dumble, reminiscently, "are now filled up and in the creeks which run through the town, there is not a tank sunk from which an engine could suck water, showing clearly how much our authorities have depended upon a steam engine. In the face of these facts," said the speaker, "to lock up $5,000 or $6,000, in an almost useless steam engine, would be folly. It it should be said that it would not do to depend altogether upon the water works system, I would answer such argument that we have to depend upon the water system for the steam engine. The system has not failed in the past, and is much more reliable than a steam engine. As for building a new fire hall, we cannot blame the firemen for wanting better quarters than they have, but the police station, police court, and town offices are all as unworthy of a city as is the fire system. It is not expected that they will continue as they are, and it would be well perhaps, to commence the erection of a new fire station and I do not think the people would vote it, if assured of an economical and judicious expenditure.

Mr. Dumble then warning to his subject, said, "As to chemical engines, almost every town in the United States and Canada, that makes any pretension to possessing a good fire fighting plant, possesses a chemical engine. They are made," Mr. Dumble explained, "for one or two cylinders, which means they can be drawn by one or two horses respectively. This is the first thing the city should get."

Mr. Dumble also before concluding, made a reference to the school question, which will appear in tomorrow's issue.

WARNS AGAINST BITE OF GIRL

German Scientist Says Wound May Be Worse Than Snake's

Middleton, Conn., October 17.—Professor W. D. Miller, of the University city of Berlin, at Wesleyan today announced in a lecture that a bite of a pretty girl would often bring a quicker and more horrible death than the bite of a serpent. Professor Miller, who has made a special study of the bacteria of the mouth, said that only a short time ago he experimented on a beautiful girl in Germany and found that an arrow dipped in saliva from her mouth would send its victim in death three times more terrible than dipped in the venom of the most deadly snake.

AMERICAN RUSH INTO NORTHWEST

Thousands of Farmers Flock From States to Settle on Free Homesteads

LAND FERTILE AND CHEAP

A Great Country Which is Rapidly Filling Up

In 1881 Canada had 4,324,810 inhabitants. During the next ten years it increased 15.97 per cent. to 4,833,239. During the next ten years it increased 11.76 per cent. to a total of 5,371,315 in 1901, and, according to the best authorities, not less than 500,000 have been added to the total during the last four years.

The greater part of this increase—practically all of it—has been in the North-West. British Columbia, during the last ten years, has increased 87 per cent., Manitoba 67 per cent. and the Territories — the new Provinces — have more than doubled their population during the last four years. For example, in 1891 the Territories had 98,967 inhabitants; in 1901 they had 211,649, and they are now credited with 500,000 people.

So rapid has been the immigration during the last four years that it is safe to say there are now 800,000 people west of Manitoba Province, in a land where there were only 19,000 twenty-five years ago. The following figures will show the immigration the years named and the sources from which it came:

	American.	European.	Total.
1900-01...	17,367	31,116	49,143
1901-02...	30,388	40,991	67,739
1902-03...	49,472	79,394	128,364
1903-04...	45,171	85,159	130,330

The statisticians at Ottawa have not made their returns for 1905 as yet, but from local authorities we learn that the arrivals this year have been about 150,000, and that the gain has been almost entirely from the United States. More than—a thousand American homeseekers have crossed the line every week during the last year, or an average of about 12½ daily. In the month of April last the Canadian Pacific and its Soo connection from Minnesota handled 474 carloads of furniture and personal effects belonging to immigrants from Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, which is an average of fifteen carloads every day.

The immigration from Europe consists of a much higher grade of families than go to the United States. They are nearly all of the farming class—sturdy English, Scotch and Irish farmers with considerable money. Most of them are homesteaders. During the year 1903 5,223,120 acres, and in 1904 4,342,080 acres were taken up in homesteads of 160 acres each, and 185,184 acres were sold to cash buyers by the Government.

There is an interesting political question involved in this invasion. It takes only three years for a newcomer to secure a vote in Canada, and it is estimated that not less than 75,000 American settlers will have become naturalized and will be entitled to suffrage next month, when the first elections occur in the new Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is also estimated that next year 150,000 more Americans will be entitled to vote in Canada; and within the next generation the American vote may control the politics of Western Canada. Fortunately, however, politicians do not emigrate, but every American is apt to exercise his right of citizenship.

THE GOW RECEPTION

A Correspondent Objects to the Proposed Ovation

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—It is usually considered a cowardly act to hit a man when he is down. Still in humble pursuance of the volley taken by others in the local press, I would like to express my opinion regarding the contemplated (?) act of blackguardism in Dummer township, on the release of Charles Gow, from his three months detention under "the consideration of his jailer, for killing one child and wounding another by an act of criminal carelessness. The term blackguardism is the only appropriate one to apply to a deliberate insult not only to the decency and law of this county and country, but to the bereaved parents of the slaughtered boy. In the name of decency, should such an outrage actually be contemplated, for the honor and good name of the county of Peterboro let the county police and authorities take such action as will quickly disperse such a heartless and lawless mob.

Yours truly,
PETERBORO.

MR. THOMPSON HONORED

Vice President of Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's Has Presentation Made Him

A pleasing event was celebrated in the Y.M.C.A. last Saturday night, when Mr. Reg. Thompson was presented with a handsome set of military brushes in a case. The presentation was made as a slight token of esteem and to mark the respect and affection of the Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's church, on the occasion of his leaving Peterboro to accept a good position in Toronto. Mr. Thompson was vice-president of the Guild, and in his official capacity, as out of it, had a great circle of warm friends.

Among those present were President R. F. McWilliams, Rev. W. M. Mackay, Mr. Cameron, Maurice Rosenberg and several others, and all sincerely regretted that so valuable and popular a member was leaving the city, but at the same time wished him every success.

Kingston Whig Takes Some Position Regarding Gow's Sentence as Local Press

The Kingston Whig says; Gow, convicted of manslaughter in Peterboro, offered in defense that he fired the fatal shot that killed a boy aimlessly. The lesson of his experience may not be forgotten. Firearms should not be fired carelessly anywhere. The vagrant bullet is liable to kill when it was only meant to scare. Taking the most charitable view of the Gow case, we think that five years imprisonment would be a very light punishment for a man who fires a vagrant bullet that kills when it is only meant to scare. Such lenience ought not to be encouraged.

OBITUARY

Death of Miss. Bertha M. Sutton at Lindsay

We regret to say that Miss Bertha M. Sutton, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sutton, Lindsay, who lived some six years ago at the corner of Murray and Aylmer streets, passed away Sunday in Lindsay, at the residence of her parents. Mr. Sutton was a former councillor of the city and had many friends here. Miss Sutton's sad taking off was due to tuberculosis. She is survived by her parents, and also a brother, Wilfrid, and a sister, Maud, in Lindsay.

The funeral will take place today on the arrival of the 11.45 train from Lindsay, and will proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

FOOTBALL.

Secretary Hall of the Peterboro Industrial Fair at the request of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., has notified the Bridgenorth team that they must play the Quakers again or lose the Hall Cup. The game will likely be played at Riverside Park on Saturday at 4 o'clock at the finish of the Argo.-Peterboro rugby game. The Quakers will in all probability have Mullin, McFadden and Fitzgerald on their line-up for the game.

RUGBY.

F. C. Waghorne, the well known lacrosse and hockey referee, was in the city with the Victoria rugby team on Saturday.

GOLF.

The finals for the single open championship of the Peterboro Golf Club were concluded on Saturday afternoon between Mr. Sam Ray and Mr. R. M. Hamilton. The tussle was keen and until the last hole was reached no one could say who the victor would be. The match was a 36 hole contest, the playing extending over two days. This is Mr. Hamilton's second grip on the championship, and was gained this year on a hard fought battle.

THE TURF.

The Peterboro Turf Club will hold a meeting at 2 p.m. Wednesday, in the Bank of Ontario Chambers to consider the following letter received yesterday by Mr. A. Bountree, secretary of the club:

Belleville, Oct. 15.

Dear Sir.—It has been suggested by some of the clubs in the Association, that we call a meeting of the members, and any other clubs that care to join, at the Iroquois Hotel, Toronto on Oct. 21st at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, to consider the advisability of arranging old magpie, out a winter circuit. This is intended to be a notice for that date, in the event of "Dan Patch," starting at the Exhibition Grounds as is apparently contemplated, and, if you can notify your members and be present, we can, no doubt, arrange a successful circuit.

Yours truly,
W. CAMERON, Sec'y.
Eastern Ontario Turf Association.

It is likely that quite a number of our local horsemen will go to Toronto to see Dan Patch try to break the Canadian record, so that the prospects for a winter circuit is looming up bright.

The Canadian record is now held by Harold H., and was made at Winnipeg in 1904, on a half-mile track, the same as in Toronto, the time being 2.07.

Woman As Agent In An Election

Said to Have Distributed Bribe Money in Kingston for the Conservatives--Contract for Meat for Asylum as an Inducement.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—A glance over the particulars filed at Osgoode Hall by Messrs. Pense and McIntyre, the candidates in the recent Kingston election, under whose name did one to the collection that the petitioner and his respondent had used nearly all the names in the Kingston directory in their charges.

Mr. McIntyre's petition was filed on Saturday. It had 176 charges, and implicated several hundred persons. Mr. Pense's cross-petition was filed today, and while its charges are limited to 46 in number, they involve probably 200 persons. One charge for instance, enumerates the names of some 120 people, alleged to be agents of the Conservative candidate, and as such distributors of money for corrupt purposes in his behalf, and with his knowledge.

One accusation is that McIntyre received money for campaign purposes from a central Conservative fund.

A woman helper is somewhat of a novelty in election trials, but Mr. Pense alleges that a certain woman acted as an agent for bribe payment and distributed bribe money for him. He also charges that she received a $10 from McIntyre to make a bet with a voter on the result of the election, thus trying to influence the man's vote.

It is charged that one agent promised a voter to secure from the Government, her husband having been an employe at Rockwood hospital.

One Conservative worker is said to have promised a butcher a contract to supply meat to Rockwood Hospital in order to influence his vote.

The other charges deal mainly with the hiring of conveyances and the payment of money to voters by alleged agents of the Conservative candidate.

INSURANCE MAN WANTS ENQUIRY

Says Canadian Companies Cost Too Much

FIGURES ARE FURNISHED

Thinks the Canadian Statistics Afford Basis of Enquiry

Montreal, October 17.—Mr. William McCaw, the widely known insurance man, had something to say to a press representative when he was approached respecting the report from Ottawa that at next session of Parliament some sort of an inquiry would be made into the operation of the insurance companies in Canada. "I take it," said Mr. McCaw, "that the expenses of operating those companies might form a good basis for enquiry. Why some companies expend over fifty per cent. of their receipts as against twenty per cent. or less on the part of others would, I think stand some probing in the interest of the policyholders. I have been looking into this matter rather carefully; I have gone to the official government record in the blue books issued from Ottawa. The result has been somewhat astonishing. It establishes that the cost of insurance in the United States, in the majority of cases, is much less than in Canada. However, I do not want to draw comparisons on my own authority. Let the figures speak for themselves. They are official."

Mr. McCaw then handed to a press representative a compilation from the record above named. Here it is:

"Ratio of total expenses to total income of Canadian companies for the year ending December 31, 1904, as per report to insurance department:

Name.	Ratio.
"Canada Life...	31.32 per cent
"Confederation Life...	30.76 per cent.
"Continental Life...	41.30 per cent.
"Crown Life...	61.06 per cent.
"Dominion Life...	29.27 per cent
"Excelsior Life...	41.06 per cent.
"Federal...	29.96 per cent.
"Great West...	30.95 per cent.
"Home Life...	50.44 per cent.
"Imperial Life...	25.98 per cent.
"London Life...	35.89 per cent.
"Manufacturers Life... ...	25.73 per cent.
"Mutual Life of Canada	17.98 per cent.
"National Life of Canada	47.34 per cent.

"Sun Life of Canada... ...	34.43 per cent.
"Union Life...	77.80 per cent.

"Average of twenty Canadian companies, 37.37 per cent."

"That," said Mr. McCaw, "is the Canadian record; and I claim that it is exceedingly interesting," especially, as Mr. McCaw explained, when contrasted with the record of the American institutions as follows:

Ratio of total expenses to total income of American companies doing business in Canada, for year ending December 31, 1904, as per report to Insurance Department:

Name.	Ratio. Per Cent.

HAVELOCK INQUEST

The Coroner's Jury on the Wilkes Case

The coroner's jury in the Wilkes case, concluded their labors last night. The first witness was Dr. J. Holdcroft, president and manager of the Havelock Electric Light Co., and stated that the company began operations beginning May, 1904. The plant was installed by a person claiming to be a qualified electrician, and since its installation there had been no trouble with the plant that he knew of. The custom of the company is to connect with houses when they have been notified that they have been wired, but witness admitted that to some extent it was the duty of the company to examine the wiring before making the connection, but in the case of concealed wiring only the parts which were visible are examined, and he submitted that the company was not responsible for faulty wiring. He could not say that he knew of any faulty wiring, by official notice, and he had not heard of any trouble at the C.P.R. round house.

Witness stated that the company had never found a crossed wire on the streets, and a man is employed to look after the system at all times, and to correct any defect he may find. Personally he not inspected the wiring in the McMaster store.

Thomas Hubble was the next witness, and asserted that he could give no light on the cause of Wilkes's death. When he was going home about one or two minutes after six o'clock on Wednesday night he noticed two wires crossed opposite Dentist Deuike's, and when he saw them again the next day they were alright. On Wednesday night a boy had called attention to the fact that the wires were crossed, and he noticed that they were burning. He did not know where the crossed wires led to.

Mr. J. W. Rose, the employe of the company, who has charge of the out side work, and who inspects the wiring, was next called, and testified that he did not know whether the crossing of the wires would produce any perceptible effect in the house, and he could not say whether it would be more dangerous to a subscriber to have them crossed and burning. He had noticed the next day after the accident the place where the wires were crossed, and had pulled the insulation back a little to repair it.

He stated that if electric light wires cross telephone wires the person using the latter may get a shock, but he could not swear to having heard of anyone being killed in that way. If the wires were properly insulated it would not matter whether there were 50 or 1000 volts passing through it, and no one would be injured by touching it. If the McMaster building were properly wired and the wire fractured one touching the wires would not get a shock. If 1000 volts tried to enter a house, witness believed the fuse would be blown. In regard to the fuse block produced in court he would not swear that not more than 110 volts would not pass through it, and he could not swear whether all fuse block were absolute protection, though the underwriters demand them as protection. Witness added that the fuse block in McMaster's was not burned out when he saw it.

Dr. Young then gave his evidence, which was a report of the post mortem examination, and a copy of which is published in another column. His evidence was corroborated by Dr. Crawford.

This concluded the evidence, and the jury retired to consider it, afterwards bringing in the following verdict:—"That we find that the deceased, Asher Wilkes, came to his death as the result of a shock."

The jury was composed of Messrs. S. S. Joyce, Alex. Matheson, Harry Andrew, Herbert Williams, Jacob Dell, G. Sills, John Paterson, Thos. Wood, Thos. Hubble, Arnold Richards, John Tomen, Matthew Swain and J. R. Craig.

IN NEW DRESS

Peterboro's Post Office Interior Greatly Improved in Every Respect

Whilst some people were greatly inconvenienced by the local post office being closed all morning, when the office did open, its greatly improved interior and largely increased fittings, met with universal appreciation. When the office did open there was a great rush by those waiting for their mails. Many a business man, went as a habit of years imprelled him, and then, to the long accustomed location of registered letters, to find that the partitions had moved yesterday. It is worth noting, that, to save delay, which in for a time absolutely unavoidable, box owners should advise their correspondents to insert their box number in the address of their mails. This difficulty will, of course, cease as soon as the local staff becomes familiar with the new system.

As far as possible the holders of boxes have been given the same numbers as they held before, although a number of changes were necessary on account of the second size drawer being done away with. Those who heretofore had these drawers can now get a larger drawer or also a large size box. There are only six very large drawers, and these are held for the three newspapers and the bank stores.

The change is a striking one and the handsome oak fittings and nickel plated boxes present an appearance at once striking and more compatible with Peterboro's dignity as a city.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak In Natural—But Its Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orillia, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

DOMESTIC SERVANT PROBLEM

Within the past dozen years there has not been a time when the supply of domestic servants was as far short of the demand as now. Indeed it is believed by many householders that never has the country suffered such a dearth of experienced kitchen and parlor girls. The reports from the employment agencies show that every day dozens of despairing mistresses beseech the officials for help that it is entirely beyond the power of the latter to give.

Perhaps there never was a time when more young women went out into the world to earn their own living, yet a large and constantly increasing number of them seek factory or store employment in preference to going into private homes. They say that in factories and stores they have certain definite hours and most of their nights to themselves, but that in domestic employments they have little time of their own, and that the work is arduous and as a general thing the treatment inconsiderate.

The problem of domestic help is growing more serious year by year. It is now difficult to secure a capable girl to do domestic service, even for liberal wages. It is not an uncommon thing for housewives to pay their girls from $10 to $15 per week, whereas a few years ago half as much would have been considered fair compensation. But even liberal wages fail to attract a great many girls who work in factories and stores for less. In the latter employment they work but six days a week, and then they have not only stated hours to themselves, but escape the annoying espionage that pertains to domestic family life.

What is to be the solution to the domestic servant problem? That is the question being asked by thousands of housewives today. Higher wages may be paid in the hope of enticing girls from other employments, but it is not believed that this will be efficacious. The conditions under which girls are called upon to labor at domestic service must be improved and the work dignified and made less arduous. Women do not like to work for women, for women do not have the consideration for their servants that men have. In most households the girl of all work is the domestic slave, the common drudge of all members of the family. She must work from early morning until late at night, and even if she has a few hours when she is apparently unoccupied she is often called upon to mind fretful and spoiled children. It is no wonder that girls prefer factories and stores under such circumstances.

WESTERNERS AND THEIR EASTERN CREDITORS

Eastern Canadians say they have been carrying Western firms for years and now that a tremendous crop is assured they hold that an effort should be made by dealers beyond Lake Superior to wipe out certain obligations instead of promoting wild speculation in land.

This reminds us that in the eighties the American North-West was being "carried" financially by the great implement firms with the aid of city banks. Successive crop failures had put the farmers on the rocks. Notes to the value of millions, given in payment of farm machinery, went unpaid and mortgages followed until the best part of the hard wheat belt felt that it did not own itself. However, the implement makers and the wholesale houses stuck to it, scotched speculation in land, drove boomers out of business and awaited paying crops. These came in good time and liquidation followed rapidly. Soon the farmer was on Easy street and the supply houses in receipt of the amounts due them.

Canadians of the West cannot complain if the East asks for some consideration while the crops are good. One good turn deserves another, but debts cannot be paid if the country becomes land crazy and money is used in speculation that should go into legitimate channels in a way to assure the East that its confidence has not been misplaced.

The sanitarium will be in the centre of Staten Island, where the city owns one hundred and thirty acres of land. The site is a magnificent one overlooking the Narrows and the lower bay.

BOAT WENT DOWN

Laden With Bricks, It Sank, Drowning Two Men

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 15.—A drowning accident took place in Digby Basin yesterday. Three boats left Digby at noon, bound to Granville. One of them contained David Everett and his nephew, Charles Everett. This boat was deeply laden with brick, and was some distance behind the others. David Ellis and his son Ernest heard loud cries like some one overboard. Two sailboats were in sight, one sailing towards Granville and the other rowing and sailing towards Digby. They also noticed two parcels floating on the water. The boat going towards Digby soon turned and continued on its trip to Granville. The brick-laden boat and its occupants have not since been seen, and it is thought she foundered.

BALLOT BOX CASE

Mr. T. S. Carman Files His Defence in the Criminal Libel Suit

Belleville, Oct. 16.—The defence in the criminal libel case, growing out of the bogus ballot-box cases, has been filed by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, who represents Mr. T. S. Carman. When Mr. Porter exposed the plot, the Ontario, Mr. Carman's paper, characterized the story as "Porter's lie," hence the charge of criminal libel. The defence pleads reasonable grounds for belief that Mr. Porter's story was untrue, that the said alleged libel was published without Mr. Carman's consent or knowledge.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

"I can afford to forgive you, ma belle, but if you knew how much I value your good opinion you would not have wounded me as you have done."

Lady Dorrington quite melted, held out her hand, and Marsden rose, took it, and kissed her brow.

"Now," she resumed cheerfully, after a moment's silence, "let us talk seriously of your marriage."

"Must I marry?"

"Why, yes; of course. It is a special intervention of Providence that sent Mrs. Ruthven in your way—and such an attractive woman too."

"Yes, she does her best in that line."

"And to judge by your conduct, especially the night of that unlucky ball, she is eminently successful. You really must not play fast and loose with a woman's affections."

"Affections! You don't mean to say you believe Mrs. Ruthven has any affections. She has vanity if you like, and gratifies it unscrupulously; they used to tell funny stories of her up in the Hills."

"Still, Clifford, I do think she is sincerely attached to you; and just consider what her money would do for you and your estate!"

"I don't think you show much true friendship for her by trying to marry her to an impecunious country gentleman."

"Nonsense! You only want a little ready money to put you straight again, and the estates would soon recover themselves."

"Give her another chance," pursued Marsden. "Ask one or two matrimonially disposed peers to meet her, and see if my fascinations would counterbalance a coronet."

"I shall do nothing of the kind," cried Lady Dorrington impatiently. "I dare say you are talking in this strain just to worry me. I dare say you have made up your mind to marry her all the time. If so, do not be too sure of your game—beware of that Captain Shirley. He is a rival, a masked rival; he is always hanging about, and acting as if he were her best friend."

"He is decidedly objectionable; but I do not fear him."

"You are wrong, Clifford! He is not to be despised! I am going to persuade Mrs. Ruthven to come down with me to Chedworth. It will draw her away from her perpetual fretting about those jewels; they are a perfect craze; and I think those horrid detectives are playing upon her credulity; it is a game that pays them well."

"I don't believe she is the sort of woman to waste her money in any direction. But she is a little gone off about this unlucky robbery. Do you know she seemed disposed to suspect Sbirley himself!"

"Is it possible? Well, she knows him better than we do. I do not like his countenance!"

"Nevertheless, I do not suppose his being objectionable to you is any proof that he would be guilty of felony," said Marsden laughing.

"Of course not. I am not so silly as to think any such nonsense! But, seriously, Clifford, I want you to come down to Chedworth and help me to cheer up poor dear Mrs. Ruthven—there is very good shooting, you know how strictly Dorrington preserves his game—and if you do make up your mind to marry Mrs. Ruthven—which I hope and pray you will—everything might be settled, and the ceremony could take place early in the new year!"

"Not so fast, my dear sister. I will do my best to oblige you; but I make no positive promise. Do not be too sure of your little game! However, I will so far oblige you, as to bestow the delights of my society on you for a few days; then I may be called away, for I have some business in hand which requires my personal attention. So I will leave the final cheering up of our fair friend to you."

More than this he would not promise. Lady Dorrington was therefore forced to be content. "I hear Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora are in town? What in the world are they doing here? Wasting their money?"

"I suppose they got bored and nervous at Brookdale. Why should they not be comfortable and happy? It can cost Nora nothing, living as they do."

"Oh! you think people are strictly economical when they don't drive four-in-hand and sit down to truffles, pineapples and pate de foi gras every day. However, they have a right to please themselves. I wish Winton would make haste to marry Nora, it is time she were settled."

"Are you sure he intends to marry Nora?"

"He is behaving very badly if he does not. Why, he almost lived in her house all the summer, they tell me."

"Is it not just possible he may marry Mrs. L'Estrange, who was his flame long ago? It looks to me very like a case of returning to his first love."

"Ah!" cried Lady Dorrington. "Is it possible? That never struck me. I don't see why it might not turn out very well, and then Nora need not make any provision for her little sister; besides, I have often thought, what a nice match she would be for Dorrington's nephew, Charlie Dyson. You know Charlie? a very good fellow, and getting on very well indeed at the bar. He would be the very thing for Nora. If Mrs. L'Estrange goes to India, we must marry Nora to some one, she can not live alone."

"Certainly not, we must marry her to some one," agreed Marsden, with cheerful alacrity.

"I will ask them all down to Chedworth for Christmas. It would be quite exciting if the triple event came off at my house!"

"It would, indeed. Now," added Marsden, filling and swallowing a large glass of sherry, "I must leave you. I have one or two people to see before I retire to rest; so good-night, sister mine, try and believe your brother is not a fiend!"

"My dear Clifford, how can you say such things? Be sure that you do not lose money at cards or anything of that kind. Let me see you to-morrow, and remember, you have promised to come down next week to Chedworth."

* * * * *

The morning after Lady Dorrington and her brother had dined together, Mrs. Ruthven received a second visit from Waite. He was got up in a style of the severest respectability, and might from his appearance have been the secretary of a benevolent institution. He paused in the middle of the room, and made a low bow. Mrs. Ruthven looked at him steadily before speaking, then a smile crept round her lips.

"I think we have successfully disarmed any suspicions or fears Captain Shirley may have had," she said. "I can afford to wait. You have done your work well, it only remains to give you your reward."

She opened her cash-box, which stood on a table beside her, and counted out some notes. The man's eyes sparkled as he watched her. When she stretched out the notes, which she held loosely, he again bowed low.

"It has been a difficult business," he said, taking them; "perhaps the most difficult I ever undertook, nor could any one have succeeded but for the clew you possessed. You have rewarded me generously, and you will always find me ready to do your service."

"I shall be more generous," said

Everybody Reads The Times

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

"I can afford to forgive you, Isabelle, but if you knew how much I value your good opinion you would not have wounded me as you have done."

"Now," she resumed cheerfully, after a moment's silence, "let us talk seriously of your marriage."

"Must I marry?"

"Why, yes; of course. It is a special intervention of Providence that sent Mrs. Ruthven in your way—and such an attractive woman too."

"Yes, she does her best in that line."

"And to judge by your conduct, especially the night of that unlucky ball, she is eminently successful. You really must not play fast and loose with a woman's affections."

"Affections! You don't mean to say you believe Mrs. Ruthven has any affections. She has vanity if you like, and gratifies it unscrupulously; they used to tell funny stories of her up in the Hills."

"Still, Clifford, I do think she is sincerely attached to you; and just consider what her money would do for you and your estate!"

"I don't think you show much true friendship for her by trying to marry her to an impecunious country gentleman."

"Nonsense! You only want a little ready money to put you straight again, and the estates would soon recover themselves."

"Give her another chance," pursued Marsden. "Ask one or two matrimonially disposed peers to meet her, and see if my fascinations would counterbalance a coronet."

"I shall do nothing of the kind," cried Lady Dorrington impatiently. "I dare say you are talking in this strain just to worry me. I dare say you have made up your mind to marry her all the time. If so, do not be too sure of your game—beware of that Captain Shirley. He is a rival, a masked rival; he is always hanging about, and acting as if he were her best friend."

"He is decidedly objectionable; but I do not fear him."

"You are wrong, Clifford! He is not to be despised! I am going to persuade Mrs. Ruthven to come down with me to Chedworth. It will draw her away from her perpetual fretting about those jewels; they are a perfect craze; and I think those horrid detectives are playing upon her credulity; it is a game that pays them well."

"I don't believe she is the sort of woman to waste her money in any direction. But she is a little gone off about this unlucky robbery. Do you know she seemed disposed to suspect Shirley himself!"

"Is it possible? Well, she knows him better than we do. I do not like his countenance!"

"Nevertheless, I do not suppose his being objectionable to you is any proof that he would be guilty of felony," said Marsden laughing.

"Of course not. I am not so silly as to think any such nonsense! But, seriously, Clifford, I want you to come down to Chedworth and help me to cheer up poor dear Mrs. Ruthven—there is very good shooting, you know how strictly Dorrington preserves his game—and if you do make up your mind to marry Mrs. Ruthven—which I hope and pray you will—everything might be settled, and the ceremony could take place early in the new year!"

"Not so fast, my dear sister. I will do my best to oblige you; but I make no positive promise. Do not be too sure of your little game! However, I will so far oblige you, as to bestow the delights of my society on you for a few days; then I may be called away, for I have some business in hand which requires my personal attention. So I will leave the final cheering up of our fair friend to you."

More than this he would not promise. Lady Dorrington was therefore forced to be content. "I hear Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora are in town? What in the world are they doing here? Wasting their money?"

"I suppose they got bored and nervous at Brookdale. Why should they not be comfortable and happy? It can cost next to nothing, living as they do."

"Oh! you think people are strictly economical when they don't drive four-in-hand and sit down to truffles, pineapples and pate de foi gras every day. However, they have a right to please themselves. I wish Winton would make haste to marry Nora, it is time she were settled."

"Are you sure he intends to marry Nora?"

"He is behaving very badly if he does not. Why, he almost lived in her house all the summer, they tell me."

"Is it not just possible he may marry Mrs. L'Estrange, who was his flame long ago? It looks to me very like a case of returning to his first love."

"Ah!" cried Lady Dorrington. "Is it possible? That never struck me. I don't see why it might not turn out very well, and then Nora need not make any provision for her little sister; besides, I have often thought, what a nice match she would be for Dorrington's nephew, Charlie Dyson. You know Charlie? a very good fellow, and getting on very well indeed at the bar. He would be the very thing for Nora. If Mrs. L'Estrange goes to India, we must marry Nora to some one, she can not live alone."

"Certainly not, we must marry her to some one," agreed Marsden, with cheerful alacrity.

"I will ask them all down to Chedworth for Christmas. It would be quite emitting if the triple event came off at my house!"

"It would, indeed. Now," added Marsden, filling and swallowing a large glass of sherry, "I must leave you, I have one or two people to see before I retire to rest; so good-night, sister mine, try and believe your brother is not a fiend!"

"My dear Clifford, how can you say such things? Be sure that you do not lose money at cards by anything of that kind. Let me see you to-morrow, and remember, you have promised to come down next week to Chedworth."

* * * * *

The morning after Lady Dorrington and her brother had dined together, Mrs. Ruthven received a second visit from Waite. He was got up in a style of the severest respectability, and might from his appearance have been the secretary of a benevolent institution. He paused in the middle of the room, and made a low bow. Mrs. Ruthven looked at him steadily before speaking, then a smile crept round her lips.

"I think we have successfully disarmed any suspicions or fears Captain Shirley may have had," she said. "I can afford to wait. You have done your work well, it only remains to give you your reward."

She opened her cash-box, which stood on a table beside her, and counted out some notes. The man's eyes sparkled as he watched her. When she stretched out the notes, which she held loosely, he again bowed low.

"It has been a difficult business," he said, taking them; "perhaps the most difficult I ever undertook, nor could any one have succeeded but for the clew you possessed. You have rewarded me generously, and you will always find me ready to do your service."

"I shall be more generous," said

THE HONORED DEAD

Rev. Dr. Crothers Delivers a Eulogy on Dr. Butler and Henry Irving

Dr. Crothers, with a fine display of oratorical eloquence and appreciation of genius, in his Sunday evening sermon, in George street church, spoke very kindly words about the recently deceased, greatest actor of the century, Sir Henry Irving. The illustrious tragedian, who deserved the greatest praise for his clean, inspiring and wholesome plays.

The rev. gentlemen said that Irving had elevated and adorned the profession with which he was all his life so prominently identified, and never, during his remarkable career, did he descend to cater to the lower taste of the public. He presented uplifting and meritorious attractions, and his life was one that shed lustre and credit on the stage.

Concerning the deplored death of Dr. Frank Butler of Montreal, whose funeral was held this afternoon, Dr. Crothers said that Peterboro should have cause to remember him with gratitude for his many acts of loving kindness and his numerous acts of unselfishness. The world was richer because of his life, and his death was a great national loss.

TAYLOR AT LARGE

Bad Boy Escapes from Toronto School and is at Large

The Times readers will remember that about two weeks ago, Herbert Taylor, a lad of some 14 years of age, was arrested at Havelock on complaint of his mother, the boy being beyond her control. Taylor, it will also be remembered, by means of an iron bar found in his cell in the Havelock jail, broke the padlock and escaped. He at once returned to his home in Peterboro, and was arrested and sent, on a three years sentence to the Toronto Industrial school.

On Sunday, in some way the lad escaped from the Toronto institute and yesterday morning was seen in this city.

P. C. Stewart was at once detailed to hunt him up, but as the boy was last recognized on his way to Havelock, he may be arrested there, or possibly slip through to Montreal. He is suspected of breaking into Mr. Collis's grocery store, east side, Sunday night or early yesterday morning, as that establishment was robbed of some cash. The store was broken into by a window at the rear. As Taylor was seen yesterday morning to have considerable ready cash, whilst in town, he is suspected of committing the burglary.

Blood

Keep your blood clean as you keep your body clean. You don't wait until your body is foul before you cleanse it.

It is a matter of surprise that many people who are so careful to have clean bodies make no effort to keep the blood clean. Everyone knows that uncleanness breeds disease; that those who do not keep their bodies in a wholesome condition and who dwell in filthy surroundings are the first to fall when some epidemic of disease sweeps the country. But foul blood is more dangerous to the individual than a foul body. An unclean body is rather a passive than an active hindrance to health. But unclean blood is an active threat against the very life—it makes the body a prepared breeding place for disease.

It is part of Nature's plan for human safety that in many cases where the blood is impure or corrupt she sets a sign on the body in spots of the corrupt current that is flowing through the body. Blotches with its disfiguring sores and scars, eczema with its irritation, salt-rheum, tetter, erysipelas, boils, pimples and other eruptions are only the outward signs of the impurity of the blood. But often in the earlier or simpler stages of the blood's impurity there are no outward signs of this condition; only dull, languid, sluggish feelings, which are commonly attributed solely to the sluggishness of the liver.

Of all preparations for purifying the blood Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery easily takes the first place. It eliminates from the blood the elements which clog and corrupt it, and which breed and feed disease. It acts directly on the blood-making glands, increasing their activity, and so increasing the supply of rich, pure blood which is the life of the body.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

A SHORT RUNAWAY

Mr. Howland's Wheel Put Out of Business by Frightened Team

Yesterday morning as a team belonging to the Peterboro Fuel and Carriage Co., were being driven down George about ten o'clock, when opposite Greasman's dry goods store, they caused extensive damage to a bicycle belonging to Mr. Robert Howland. It seems that the wagon tongue slipped from the bar in front and, fell to the ground, where it began to plow up the street. This naturally frightened the team, who made a desperate effort to run away. Their driver however stuck manfully to the ribbons, but not being able to guide them, in their desperate attempt to run away, the horses ran into Mr. Robt. Howland's bicycle, which stood in front of Grafton's store. The bicycle after the accident was decidedly the worse for wear, and somewhat resembled a Kansas town after a cyclone.

The spokes were all knocked out of the front wheel, the forks were twisted and the wheel was practically wrecked. Here the wagon came in contact with some big cases on the sidewalk and was stopped without further damage.

Maddens Howard Receives Recognition of His Bravery

The crowded church at Hiawatha, on Sunday evening, was the scene of a well deserved recognition of bravery. It will be remembered that Mr. Howard in July last, at the risk of his own life and with great bravery and presence of mind, rescued two young men from

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value, $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.
H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co., New York.
JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.
JOHN LAMBERT,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.
ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.
ISAAC L. ELWOOD,
American Steel & Wire Co., Dekalb, Ill.
LOYAL L. SMITH,
New York.
CAPT. WM. FLEMING,
Chicago, Ill
General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 3rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely marcet value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company Stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year.

United States Leads In Corrupt Politics

Boodling and Graft Rampant Everywhere, Says Folk, as He Points Out Need for Patriotic Men in Public Service

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18. — The great battle between the local Republican organization and the City party, the municipal reform organization recently formed here, was enlivened today by the visit of Governor Folk, of Missouri, who last night made an address in the Academy of Music.

The crowd was so great that the doors of the academy were closed before the meeting began.

Governor Folk said, in part;

The most conspicuous fact of municipal governments in the United States to-day is that they are governments by the few and not by the people. There is more aggressive rottenness and less aggressive patriotism in our large cities than anywhere else. If the patriotism can be made as aggressive as the rottenness, the problem of good government will be solved.

Many men would be willing, if need be, to give up their lives for their city or State. That kind of patriotism cannot be too highly commended, but the man who is willing to live for his city and State is the man that is needed just now.

There never was a time when the need for patriotic men in public affairs was greater than now. We need more men actuated by love for the public good and fewer of those who are in politics merely for revenue.

STRENGTH OF THE LAWLESS.

The strength of the lawless element is great, but it is as nothing when it comes in contact with a public sentiment thoroughly aroused. Philadelphia at last seems to be awakened, and though the gang has been strong, it is being shattered.

The people can overthrow civic evil whenever they want to and get just as good government as they deserve or as bad as they permit. The law-abiding people are in the majority in Philadelphia, and there is not a city in a community in this country of which that cannot be said.

RIGHT TO BRIBES.

When the prosecutions were begun in St. Louis, members of the House of Delegates claimed that this bribery had been going on so long that they were entitled to notice to quit before being prosecuted. Some of them argued that members having been taking bribes from time immemorable, had acquired a right to do, and it was just as proper for them to sell their votes as for the merchant to sell his goods.

"Here was a crime worse than any other, for their offence violated the law, while bribery strikes at the foundation of all laws. Yet the law denouncing it was not enforced; bribery became the usual and expected thing all over the land; corrupt men feasted and fattened at public expense, laws became merchandise on the market, and all this time the public conscience was asleep.

When the revelation came the people saw how they had been plundered, they saw the offence in all of its enormity, and from one end of the land to the other there was a civic awakening.

COUNT WITTE TO BECOME PREMIER

Latest Government Programme, Also Mentions Him for Minister of Interior

MANY REFORMS TO BE MADE

The Revolutionists in Meantime are Standing by and Awaiting Developments

St. Petersburg, October 18.—According to the Government's program, adopted at the recent meeting at Peterhof, Count Witte will become Premier with the portfolio of Minister of the Interior. A manifesto will be issued granting freedom of speech, of the press and the rights of assemblage. The Douma will be left to elaborate a constitution and decide the nationality question. If this program proves unsatisfactory, the country will be put in a state of siege. Meanwhile, the revolutionists have decided to await developments. The Zemstvoists do not believe that Count Witte has the ability to restore order.

The Czar is showing characteristic obstinacy, while the country is fairly afire. Fresh disorders are reported at Kiev and Libau. The police are inactive, apparently with the intention of throwing discredit on the revolutionists. General Linevitch's army may remain on the Manchurian border to enhance the country. It is planned to give allotments of land and subsidies to induce the men to stay as settlers. The Terek and Kuban Cossacks are to be mobilized and sent to reinforce the trans-Caucasian regulars on the Austrian frontier, where grave events are expected.

DEPORTED FROM CUBA

Young Italian Agitator is Coming Back to Montreal

Montreal, October 18. — The young Italian, Guiseppe Permino, who was deported from Cuba for insulting the President in the House which was in session, has been forbidden to spend his exile in the republic of Central America, and is now on his way to Halifax en route to Montreal. Permino, who is said to be young and clever, was once identified with a publication here known as La Patria Italiana, and is still numbered among the Italian colony of this city. He left here about two years ago and may be back towards the end of this month.

GENERAL BOOTH'S EMIGRANTS

Says He Has No Intention of Sending Out Notorious Sinners

London, October 18.—General Booth interviewed at Hull, said his well-known contention that the lapsed masses could not be rescued was no doubt responsible for the belief that he was proposing to take out re-claimed notorious sinners, but that was not so. The Canadian Government had testified that his emigrants were the best ever landed on their shores.

GREAT RAILWAY SCHEMES

Cape to Cairo Line in Africa—Trans-Abbana Road Progressing

London, October 17.—With the completion of the giant bridge over the Victoria Falls, the Cape to Cairo Railway marks a further stage in its steady progress northward. The bridge is a wonderful feta of engineering skill, worthy (if that were possible) of the gorgeous natural work that it spans. No description can give an idea of the majestic beauty of the Victoria Falls, on the Zambesi River, which in flood are one mile and a quarter wide the water precipitating itself through a gorge from 400 to 500 feet deep and 250 feet wide. The bridge is stretched a distance of 650 feet, and, being 400 feet above the water, it is the highest in the world. The railway will commence running over it in the beginning of July, and the members of the British Association who are going to attend the meeting in South Africa in August will thus be able to cross the bridge by rail. The Duke of Abercorn will perform the ceremony of opening the railway.

Another great railway scheme is in contemplation, although nothing definite is settled in the matter as yet. This is nothing less than a proposed trans-African railway crossing the continent from east to west. The proposal is to begin the line simultaneously from Dar-es-Salaam, in German East Africa, and the seaport of Libreville, in the French Congo. The railway will thus pass through the heart of the Congo Free State, and will doubtless effect a junction with the Cape to Cairo line.

MR. STETHEM HERE

Former Peterboro Hardware Man Visits the Old Town

Mr. George Stethem, well known by very many of our citizens, and who was one of the pioneer hardware men of this city, yesterday paid The Times a friendly call. Mr. Stethem is at present engaged in the real estate business, having opened an office at Fort Francis, Ont.

He has good Peterboro company in his new home, where he located about two years ago, as his two sons Archie and Herbert are with the Wills Hardware Co., of Fort Francis, of which Archie is manager. Mr. Tom Burnham of this city is also employed in the same firm's establishment.

Mr. Stethem says that the grand water power of the Rainy River is now being harnessed at Fort Francis, where there is a large water fall. Just across the Rainy River lies the State of Minnesota, and the 40,000 horse-power that will be developed at Fort Francis will be divided between that town, some 1800 inhabitants and their Yankee neighbors. Water is expensive at Fort Francis, Mr. Stethem saying it costs $5 cents per barrel for domestic purposes.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION

Next Sittings Likely to be Held in Ontario and Quebec

Ottawa, October 18. — No announcement is as yet forthcoming as to the future movement of the Tariff Commission, but unless the latest plans are changed, the next series of meetings will be held in Ontario and Quebec. The idea of proceedings to Nova Scotia next is said to have been abandoned and it will probably be December before the Maritime Provinces are visited.

A New Bank for Toronto

Ottawa, October 18. — The Canadian Gazette announces that application is to be made for a charter for the United Empire Bank of Canada, with head office in Toronto, and a capital of $5,000,000. The solicitors applying are DuVernet, Jones, Ross & Ardagh, Toronto.

A SUDDEN CALL

Mr. W. J. Doughty Found Dead in His Bed at Dublin Street

There was much talk yesterday on George street and about the loading places of assemblage throughout the city, when the sad intelligence of Mr. W. J. Doughty's death spread. Mr. Doughty's end was very sudden although not altogether unexpected by his friends, as he has for some time been said to have suffered from some heart trouble.

The deceased was seemingly in his usual health Monday night when he retired to bed at his residence 225 Dublin street. Yesterday morning however he was found lying dead in his bed, the immediate cause of death being attributed to apoplexy.

The late Mr. Doughty was about 48 years of age, and had lived in Peterboro about eight years, moving here from Warsaw, where he resided for the greater part of his life.

His wife, three sons and four daughters survive. They are Fred, Percy and Roland, Ethel, Stella, Florence and Mrs. J. Mulhall, all of Peterboro. Mr. Joseph Doughty, of Tweed, is a brother, and Mrs. Irwin, Perrytown, is a sister of deceased.

PETERBORO MEN WIN

Mr. Buston Elected President, and Mr. McIlroy Vice President of C. T. A. A.

Mr. W. Buston, the genial uptown G.T.R. ticket agent, who with Mr. M. McIlmoyle, C.P.R. ticket agent, went a few days ago, to Portland, Me. to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association, held in that city, has been elected president of the association.

That Peterboro should hang the scalp of the principal office in this important aggregation of smart business men, at her belt is an honor in itself. But Peterboro not only gets the presidency of the association, but Mr. W. McIlmoyle, whose recent appointment to the C.P.R.'s business lines, has already made him a host of friends, has been made vice-president of the association.

The report of Secretary E. De La Hooke showed a total membership of 183. Resolutions of condolence were adopted on the death of Senator Fulford. The selection of the next place of meeting was left with the executive committee. An invitation was received to meet at Milwaukee, Wis.

A LADY LECTURER

Feeds Nerves and Brains Scientifically

A lady lecturer writes from Philadelphia concerning the use of right food and how she is enabled to withstand the strain and wear and tear of her arduous occupation. She says:

"Through improper food, imperfectly digested, my health was completely wrecked and I attribute my recovery entirely to the regular use of Grape-Nuts food. It has, I assure you, proved an incalculable boon to me.

"Almost immediately after beginning its use, I found a gratifying change in my condition. The terrible weakness that formerly prostrated my after a few hours' work, was perceptibly lessened by a few days' use of Grape-Nuts and is now only a memory—it never returns.

"Ten days after beginning it I experienced a wonderful increase in mental vigor and physical energy, and continued use has entirely freed me from the miserable insomnia and nervousness from which I used to suffer so much.

"I find Grape-Nuts very palatable and would not be without the crisp, delicious food for even a day on any consideration. Indeed, I always carry it with me on my lecture tours."

There's a reason.

OTHER OPINIONS

The Grit Thunderer Refers to Gow's Ridiculous Sentence

Commenting on the recent trial of Charles Gow, the Toronto Globe says: The sentence pronounced on Gow, whose rifle shot killed a boy inside of his own home, will not prove much of a deterrent to reckless fools in the use of firearms. Gow either fired two or three bullets of which two struck the house, one of them killing the boy. Three years in the penitentiary would have been a mild punishment for such a crime. The jury's recommendation to mercy would have had adequate allowance made for it.

The Toronto News of last night says: It is misleading to talk of this case as one of careless handling of firearms. There is a wide difference between carelessness, resulting in accident, and the reckless firing of a rifle by one of a mob bent upon alarming a sleeping household.

A correspondent sends in two nursery rhymes which he seems to think illustrate the spirit of the judgment in the Gow case at Peterboro. One reads:

Little Willie killed his sister.
She was dead before they missed her.
Willie's always up to tricks,
Ain't he cute—he's only six.

The other goes:

Little Willie with his shears,
Cut off both the baby's ears.
At the baby, so unsightly,
Mamma raised her eyebrows slightly.

OPENS 15th. NOV.

New Opera House Will Open on or About the Middle of Next Month

Mr. Rupert Bradburn, manager of the local opera house, yesterday informed The Times that the new opera house will open on or about November 15th. The date of opening however is somewhat dependent on what theatrical or operatic companies have dates open about that time. Mr. Bradburn was emphatic in saying that even if the date of opening had to be delayed for a week longer to secure a first-class company, he would delay the occasion.

He is determined that only a thoroughly well known company, of recognized merit, shall appear first in the new home of the opera.

WAS WOUNDED AT TRAFALGAR

Man Who Was at the Famous Battle

IS 112 YEARS OF AGE

Records the History of William Kingsley Who Fought Under Nelson

Bloomfield, Mo., October 18. — Hale and hearty despite his 112 years of life and the wounds of many battles, William Kingsley, who fought with Nelson at Trafalgar, now lives near this little Stoddard County, Mo., town, where he settled at the close of the civil war, during which he served in a Louisiana regiment.

William Kingsley was born in Ireland in 1793. He was left without parents in early childhood and knows but little about his family history, except that he had an elder brother named John Patrick. When about 12 years of age he was placed on board an English training ship. When he became proficient as a sailor he was assigned to an English man-of-war in Lord Nelson's squadron and took part in the battle of Trafalgar in 1805. He continued in active service as an English sailor, taking part in many campaigns, including the Crimean war and the taking of Sebastopol, and visiting almost every seaport in the known world.

In 1856 he was discharged from the English service and came to the United States, attaching himself to an American cruiser which was sailing around the coast of Mexico, as the war between the United States and Mexico had left unsettled conditions in that section. He quit the American ship in 1857 at New Orleans and gave up the life of a sailor as he felt he was growing rather old for that class of service. At New Orleans he met some Irish friends who settled in Stoddart County, Mo., and he accompanied them to that county, spending his summers there and his winters in New Orleans, until the rebellion broke out.

He joined a Confederate regiment in 1861, taking part in many engagements and surrendering with his regiment at Shreveport, La. With other comrades he returned to Stoddard County, and has remained there continuously since, earning his living mainly by digging wells.

He bears the scars of many wounds received in battle, the first of which he received at Trafalgar at the time Lord Nelson was killed. He now lives near Bloomfield, Mo., and is believed to be the oldest man in Missouri.

TRAFALGAR DAY

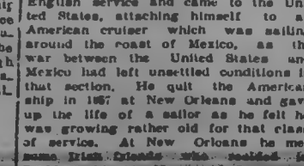
An Historical Event to be Celebrated in Peterboro

The loyal sons of England are determined that this year, Trafalgar Day, next Saturday, will be appropriately celebrated in Peterboro.

Mayor Kent has received a communication from Mr. A. Kingscote, secretary of this Patriotic Association, Trafalgar Day Committee, asking that on Saturday next the city flag should be unfurled in honor of Nelson's memory, and that the business men should also display flags. His Worship will see that flags are flown from the city buildings and he trusts the merchants will make some effort in the line of specially marking the occasion.

Inspector Walker stated that during Friday afternoon the teachers in the various rooms will give addresses touching on the life work of the great English Admiral and the famous battle of Trafalgar, when England became mistress of the seas.

NO REASONABLE MAN expects to cure a neglected cold in a day. But time and Allen's Lung Balsam will overcome the cold and stave off consumption. Cough will cease and lungs be sound as a new dollar.



The three juvenile burglars who a week ago Tuesday, broke into Mr. W. Madill's residence, 364 Aylmer street, were up for trial at yesterday's police court. Several mates, neighbors of Mr. Madill, testified to certain small boys telling them that they had a telegram to deliver to Mr. Madill. One of the boys told this "that ear" yarn to a washwoman employed by Mrs. Shortly, next door to Mr. Madill's. A neighbor seeing the house open, and knowing that the Madill family had gone out driving, went into the house, and found both back and front doors open, also a window in the kitchen.

Whilst in the house she telephoned to Mr. Madill's store to find if he left for his drive. Finding that he was gone, she notified those in the store of the way she found the house open, and advised them to notify the police.

None of the lady witnesses could recognize either of the three prisoners.

The witness said he goes to school but refrained on the day preceding the burglary, as well as on the eventful Tuesday. Was with the two other prisoners on Monday. Did not go quietly all soreness is banished.

home Monday night. Spent the night in a barn at the corner of Park and McDonel street with the prisoners. Slept in the hay. Was with them on Tuesday at Mr. Madill's. They were round collecting money for a football team, to get uniforms. He and another of the boys broke into Madill's house, the other boy telling him to lift the kitchen window. Witness jumped in through the window and unlocked the back door. He then went through the house and opened the front door.

In answer to a question by the magistrate said they broke in to get something to eat. He alone, of the three, entered the house. The magistrate here looked the witness straight in the eye, and remarked, "I am afraid you are not telling me the truth."

Witness asserted that they took nothing out of the house.

His Worship then gave the three boys a good talking to, saying that he had had his eye on two of them for some time.

"You are taking the first step that leads to a life of crime and misery. You miss your school and act like loafers, and such conduct as yours leads to a life in prison and being always hunted down like wolves. Now I am going to give you a chance by letting you go this time, but the police will watch you. If you are ever before me again I will put you where you will give no further trouble." Mr. Dumble wound up by an appeal to their respective parents to "warm their jackets well and give each a good flogging."

SALVATION WEDDING

Mr. A. Bateson and Miss L. Fowler Joined in Wedlock at the Barracks

Last night shortly after eight o'clock, a crowded audience at the fine Salvation Army Barracks' Hall, witnessed a most interesting ceremony.

The event of the evening, in which all present seemed to have a personal interest, judging by the excitement prevailing, was the union in the eternal bonds of matrimony of Mr. Alfred Bateson and Miss Lilie Fowler, both of the high contracting parties being members of the local corps.

That both the bride and groom are personally popular among the local soldiers was fully in evidence last night.

According to the custom of weddings performed by and under the auspices of the Salvation Army, the ceremony was performed by an officer of the organization, Staff-Capt. McAmmond, very ably officiating.

After the happy event was consummated some interesting congratulatory addresses were given by Adjutant Jennings and other officers.

Farce Mutiny on Cruiser Vigilant

Fifteen Men Refused to Wheel Coal and in Spite of Repentance Were Up Before Magistrate --Had to Pay 11 Cents Apiece

St. Thomas, Oct. 18.—The cruiser Vigilant, which protects the Canadian fisheries in Lake Erie, and which has been brought into much prominence of late through the repeated attacks on Yankee fish poachers, had troubles of her own yesterday. The boat has been in the habit of coaling at Amherstburg, where there are steam shovels for the purpose, but yesterday it was found necessary to coal at Port Stanley, where the boat had spent Sunday. Capt. Dunn therefore ordered his crew to man wheelbarrows in the absence of steam shovels, but fifteen of the thirty-five sailors refused in forcible language to do as the captain requested.

They said they had been hired to sail and fight, but they'd be d——d if they'd wheel coal. Captain Dunn called them out and gave them the option of going to work or facing County Police Magistrate F. Hunt, on a charge of mutiny. They at first preferred the latter, but a short time before his worship arrived to hear the case they reconsidered their decision and went to work.

The captain, however, pressed the charge of mutiny and the fifteen men were lined up in the boat's dining room before the magistrate.

They give the squire the sail and tight story, and the learned magistrate responded with a lengthy lecture in which he told the accused they were a disgrace to the Canadian navy and that they were liable to be put in irons for refusing to obey the commands of their superior officer. The magistrate's serious face as he uttered his remarks had a powerful effect, and when he told the accused that they would have to pay $1.60 costs they hurriedly opened a jackpot and raised the necessary eleven cents apiece.

HUNGRY CROWDS TO KING'S PALACE

Thousands of Unemployed English Workmen Will Appeal to Their Sovereign

WOMEN TO GO WITH THEM

Army of Misery Will Go to Buckingham Palace to Make Plain Statement of Their Sufferings

London, October 18.—Even with the improvement in trade, the ranks of the unemployed continue to swell. Not in any way discouraged by the refusal of King Edward to receive an army of unemployed workmen who propose to march through the streets to Buckingham Palace, the wives and daughters of the East End unemployed are now organizing a great procession to march to the palace, with a view of laying before the King a plain statement of their sufferings.

There is now an air of suppressed excitement in Poplar and the surrounding centers of distress. Thousands of women from Poplar, Bow, Bromley, West Ham, Hamilwall, and even Bermondsey, have declared their intention of forming part of an army of misery that will march through the streets of West End.

The final mass meeting of wives will be held on Monday week, and a few days later the order to march will be given. Mrs. Will Crooks, wife of a labor member of Parliament, will lead the procession.

"Do I think the King will see us? Yes, I do," said Mrs. Crooks. "I have been introduced to him, and he was so homely and sympathetic — a real old country gentleman such as you would read about in a book. I am sure he has a kind heart. I have told the women that if only he knows how things are that he will see them." But what the unemployed expect the King to do for them has not been stated at any of the mass meetings of the unemployed.

DELEGATES IN SESSION

W. M. S. of Methodist Church Opened Their Session Yesterday

About a hundred delegates are in the city to attend the Dominion Board of Management of the Woman's Missionary Society, which opened yesterday morning. They represent the whole dominion, and including delegates from British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

The objects and commendable raison d'etre of this influential society are too well and favorably known to require any explanation. Last year alone, over $62,000 was contributed through the efforts of this grand organization of charitably inclined ladies, towards advancing the good work in remote places.

Mrs. W. E. Ross, president of the society, yesterday morning, shortly after ten o'clock, called the convention to order. T. G. Anderson announced in The Times, was held in the George street Methodist church.

This meeting was in executive session to appoint the Nominating Committee, and arrange details for the convention.

Eighteen ladies were present to represent the presidents of the different branches, and the secretaries.

Among those present were the president, Mrs. W. E. Ross; Vice-president, Mrs. Carman; Presidents of branches, Mrs. (London Wright, London; Mrs. T. G. Williams, Montreal; Mrs. J. D. Chipman, St. Stevens, N. B.; Mrs. Wesley Smith, Halifax, N.S.; Mrs. Ferrier, Brandon, Man.; Mrs. Geo. Young, Winnipeg; Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Toronto; Mrs. E. S. Strachan, Hamilton; Mrs. G. P. McKay, Toronto; Miss Wilkie, Toronto; and Mrs. G. D. Platt, Picton. Secretaries, Mrs. Tennant, London; Mrs. Read, Merrickville, Ont.; Miss Palmer, St. John, N. B.; Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Grange, Nagasaki; Mrs. Gross, Truro, N.S.

The secretaries completed their reports and prepared for the general meeting, first thing after noon.

At three o'clock President Mrs. Ross took the chair and conducted the opening exercises which was followed by the roll call, and the convention was duly in session. The rest of the afternoon was spent in receiving the Nominating Committee reports and resolutions from branches, home corresponding secretary; treasurer of the rest fund, executive committee and an address by Mrs. Jackson, of Kitamaat.

Yesterday evening the public meeting was well attended, the body of the large church being well filled, ladies of course predominating. Several very interesting addresses, bearing on the noble work of the society were given, and some very good music was enjoyed. Miss Clara Bellegham sang, in her inimitable style, "Callest thou the Master," whilst the choir sang that grand selection, "Give thanks unto the Lord."

Woman's Head Blown Off

Geneva, October 18.—A terrible affair, due to the maddening effect of absinthe, happened near the pretty village of Thonon-les-Bains, on the shores of Lake Leman. A sportsman, named Frossard, returning from shooting, stopped at an inn on the road to Vailly, and called for a bottle of absinthe. Though he had evidently been drinking, he was not drunk, and Mme. Chatelain, the landlady, supplied him with the liquor. After taking several glasses, he staggered to his feet and attempted to leave, but was unable to keep upright and stabled repeatedly, finally falling in the middle of the road. The landlady ran to assist him, but the maddened man struggled violently and in the struggle his gun went off. The charge struck the unfortunate woman full in the face and practically blew her head off.

Pale and Anxious

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 44 King St. East, Toronto, who says; "After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly move another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

MORE PREPARATION

The English are not going to be caught unprepared on the Afghan border. It is announced from Lahore that the Indian Government is beginning the construction of a straight railroad through and beyond the Khyber Pass, with a view to prompt action in case Russia invades Afghanistan. General Kitchener favors a policy of full preparation for the only danger with which India is now menaced. The menace is real, he thinks, because Russia has extended two lines of strategic railroad to the frontier of Afghanistan and keeps an excessively large army on the border. The building of the Khyber Pass railroad will facilitate the quick handling of troops and supplies in the direction of Cabul, as the Quetta railroad facilitates movement toward Candahar. A branch line now underconstruction westward from Quetta toward the Persian border will place British troops on the flank of a Russian army moving southward through Eastern Persia.

The consent of the Ameer of Afghanistan to the construction of a railroad within his border was obtained doubtless during the recent visit of an Indian official to the Afghan capital. The Khyber Pass is beset on either side with cliffs from 600 to 1,500 feet high. It begins 10 miles west of Peshawer, a British post, and extends 30 miles northward to the plain of Jelalabad. The railroad marks, apparently, an increase of confidence on the part of the Ameer and his chiefs in the friendly purpose of India.

MANITOBA'S PUNISHMENT

Collier's Magazine, which is paying a great deal of attention to Canada just now, for value received, points out that it is an established fact that Hudson Bay is to play an important part in inter-continental trade as a site of commerce, and says that it will bring the Canadian west a thousand miles nearer to the European markets. And speaking of the shipping out of Manitoba through the privilege of a seaport on the big bay, by transferring Keewatin to the Province of Saskatchewan, Collier's says: "This is the price which Manitoba pays for her integrity, candor, and fearless declaration for public honesty in public business. Manitoba has earned the territorial extension she has asked, but so long as Sir Wilfrid Laurier demands a medieval educational policy, Manitoba must submit to her present lamentable limitations. This policy, fortunately, however, can not long live on the world's most progressive continent. The equities of time will extend Manitoba's eastern boundary to Knee Lake, and then by the Hill and Hayes Rivers north-east to Fort Nelson on Hudson Bay. All of Keewatin lying north and west of that division will go to Manitoba, and the southeast section of the territory will be added to Northern Ontario. Manitoba's great day is yet to come, and the sooner she is the greater because she refused to trade her development for a fifth of Keewatin land."

FAITHFUL SERVICE REWARDED

A few months ago there was a telegraphers' strike on the great Northern Railroad, but a few of the men stuck to their posts and refused to go out. When the checks for the monthly pay came around a few days ago all the men who stood by the road found that their checks were for exactly double the amount due, and a little letter accompanying the check explained that this was J. J. Hill's method of rewarding them for their faithful service.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

It is related that the famous General Trepoff at the beginning of his career was greatly aided by a clever lady member of the Secret Service. One day the general was fired at in the streets of St. Petersburg by a woman. The shot missed its mark and the would-be assassin was captured. She was tried for the crime, but, to the amazement of the public, she was acquitted. On her release the nihilists sought her out as a friend of their movement, and she was admitted to their most secret councils. After that several of them were arrested, their plans having been mysteriously revealed to the government. The explanation is simple. The supposed attempt on the general's life was a clever ruse carried out by the lady spy, who thus won the confidence of the nihilists.

A GRAND PROSPECTUS

Another Extensive Addition to the United States Produce of Gold

In another column appears an advertisement that well deserves close attention by those proposing to invest largely or in small sums in what holds out evident great inducements and prospects of large returns in interest.

The Consolidated Eureka Mining and Tunnel Company, incorporated under the laws of South Dakota, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, with shares at $1 each, par value, presents one of the grandest propositions we have seen for some time. All their stock is registered by the Continental Trust Co., of Denver, Col., which company also holds all the common stock in pool. This prevents any fear of the common stock coming on the market in competition with the treasury stock until the company's affairs are permanently settled on a successful paying basis.

The properties of the Consolidated Eureka Co. consist of two distinct propositions, in widely separated districts, both, however, in Colorado, the greatest gold producing portion of the world. Much of the gold bearing ore of Colorado has for centuries been practically tied up, and kept from entering the world's markets, for lack of adequate transportation facilities. Now, however, the property of this company will shortly be connected by cheap and easy of access railway communication. The company's properties are located partly in San Juan County, the richest part of this rich state. In Grand County their property consists of 55 claims and fractional claims aggregating 600 acres of mineral producing land. They have here a splendid tunnel site, as shown by photographs in their prospectus. What is of the greatest importance, the company has an almost perfect mill site, with two waterpower locations of 300 horsepower. The company owns full title to this most valuable property, with no debts of any kind thereon.

Their mine, called the Wolverine, has from $300,000 to $1,500,000 blocked out and in sight. The tunnel, now being cut by the company, is 4,000 feet of 1,500 to some 1,600 in length, will enable them to operate the richest portion of their valuable claims.

The Moffatt road are about to run a branch line to the property of the Consolidated Eureka Company's property, the Wolverine. The prospectus of this company is no mind picture of valuable properties, but contains actual photographs of their tunnels, mills, endless chain transportation of ore, and other items sufficiently assuring.

For full particulars address The Gregg Mining Investment Co., 209 to 212 Century Building, Denver, Col. It might be added that this well known firm of brokers, give for reference such institutions as Denver National Bank, The International Trust Co., and the Continental Trust Co., of Denver.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Autho- of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

Mrs. Ruthven eagerly. "If a year passes without a whisper, a suspicion of the truth getting abroad, if two years, fifty; after that all will be safe." For no other creature beyond you and me, has the faintest inkling of the fact, therefore should it be known, it will be through you. But," she dwelt on the word, "and then paused, "should I be disposed to open the case, to punish the—the felon"—her small hand, which lay on the table, clinched itself tightly, "your evidence will be forthcoming?" Waite bowed. "Have you brought me the papers—your written account of your search?"

"I have." He drew a long, well-filled envelope from his breast-pocket, and gave it to her.

"That is well." She grasped it eagerly. "Of course," she continued, in a changed voice, "of course my object is to get back my jewels. If I can do that, I do not wish to destroy any one. That would do me no good."

"Certainly not, madame, if it gave you no particular gratification."

"You have a wide experience, Mr. Waite. I suppose human nature does not seem very estimable to you."

"We know nothing better, and certainly nothing worse," he returned philosophically. "At any rate, this especial culprit has been fortunate. Had you left him to the regular police, nothing would have saved him from public trial; but, even with your help, I doubt if they would ever have tracked him. Englishmen are clumsy in such matters, and I found my nationality, my familiarity with my father's language, of important assistance in my researches. As I said, it is well for—"

"Captain Shirley!" cried a waiter, throwing open the door to its fullest extent.

Mrs. Ruthven and Waite exchanged a look, and a slight smile passed over the lips of the latter, while Mrs. Ruthven rapidly thrust the packet she had just received into her cash-box and locked it, before she rose to receive the newcomer with a sweet smile of welcome.

Waite stood back with an air of extreme deference.

"Very glad to find you are looking so much better," said Shirley, who was neater, fresher, keener than ever.

"I am almost myself again," she replied; then turning to Waite she said graciously: "I need not detain you longer."

"I wish you good-morning, madame, and deeply regret I could not do you better service."

"I am quite sure you have done your best. I have your address if I need your assistance further. Good-morning."

Shirley looked after him.

"Then he has given up, has he?" he asked quickly.

"For the present, yes. There, don't let us talk any more about my misfortunes. I am going to take your advice, throw the load off my mind, and try what a change of scene will do for me. I have promised dear Lady Dorrington to go down and stay with her for a week or two. She says she will get a few pleasant people together to meet me. It will be much better than going away by myself."

"No doubt," returned Shirley, drawing a chair near the table, beside which Mrs. Ruthven sat. "You look cheered up already."

He glanced at the cash-box.

"Well, if I do, it is no ordinary proof of resignation. I have just had the satisfaction of paying heavily for my agent's failure."

"Oh! that's what brought Waite here? What a villainous countenance the fellow has."

"I do not think so. In fact, the advantage of his face is that it is absolutely expressionless; only I fear if he has not succeeded, no one else will."

"I suppose you will have Lady Dorrington's cad of a brother at—what do you call her place?"

"Chadworth? Yes, it is highly probable."

"I am not important enough to be asked," said Captain Shirley in an injured tone.

"Nonsense, my dear friend. But if you are, I am going to beg you not to accept."

"Why? I am sure you would not let me or any one interfere with you."

"Certainly not," said Mrs. Ruthven, with sweet composure. "My reason for asking this favor is that I want you to tell me what goes on in town."

"Oh! I have to play the honorable part of spy, have I?"

"You can do exactly as you like. If you choose to disoblige me, and break with me, you can. Only—"

An expressive pause.

"You know very well I don't want to do anything of the sort. I confess to get out of temper when I see you determined to throw yourself away on such a fellow as Marsden, when you might do so much better."

"I am not so sure I could. Mr. Marsden is evidently not the spendthrift you made out. The money you insinuated he had made away with for his own purposes, was forthcoming when I needed it. I prefer, too, being high up among the landed gentry, to being the wife of some new-made, insignificant peer."

"Why not an old important one?"

"Because at this moment there is scarce one available. The Peerage gives valuable information."

"And because the fascinating master of Eversleigh happens to please your fancy!"

"What is it to you if he does?" she cried, with sudden fierceness.

"It is a great deal to me. I hate the idea," returned Shirley bitterly.

"You don't really mean to say you still care who or what I like?" she exclaimed with a slight, not unfriendly, smile, "that is too foolish. A strict alliance for our mutual benefit is wise and reasonable, but I think we have exhausted sentiment. The fact is you hate Marsden. I can see your enmity curling 'round the corners of your mouth, and gleaming through the glances you can not veil. How can I trust you to tell me what goes on, without exaggeration or prejudice? You may have nothing to report. Marsden may ask me to marry him during this visit. I fancy Lady Dorrington expects it. If so, I fear nothing, for I do believe that if I were richer than I am—rich as Croesus—he would not tie himself to me or to any woman unless she could give him pleasure! It will probably be but a short-lived passion. I suspect he is constant only to inconstancy—still, temporarily, he likes me. Now if, as I have sometimes thought, he is taken with Nora L'Estrange, he will be gadding to and fro, and spending a lot of time at their miserable lodgings. I want you to keep me informed of this. I am not going to let that girl interfere with my plans, cost what it may to cut her out!" She spoke with strong emphasis.

"I understand," said Shirley, who had listened sulkily to this long speech. "If you have set your mind on Marsden or Eversleigh, everything must give way. It is a poor marriage for you, and there can be only one explanation for it. Still, Marsden can not be as heavily embarrassed as I was led to believe. I

OFTEN DUE TO

Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Women to be Happy or Healthy

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do nature's work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience;

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.

Letter Long in Transit

Mr. W. H. Meredith of Messrs. Merrell & Meredith, the George street tailors, yesterday got a letter from Toronto. This in itself is not surprising, but when the reader learns that said letter was posted April 2nd, 1894, in Toronto, it suggests a colored gentleman somewhere in the post office department's official fence. That the latter did not rear any Peterboro postmark on the envelope, would create an inference that the delay in transmission occurred in Toronto or en route.

Four Coach Loads of Local Citizens go to Lindsay

As prophesied in The Times, Mr. Rupert Bradburn had a noble response to the efforts he made to keep faith with the people of Peterboro. As is known to most of our readers, Mr. Bradburn was to have opened the new opera house here with Miss Elsie Janis, in the "Little Duchess." As the opera house could not possibly be completed in time for the company to fill their date here, Mr. Bradburn, at considerable expense secured a special train to convey those who would otherwise have been disappointed, to see the "Little Duchess" in the Academy at Lindsay.

Mr. Bradburn's faith keeping with the public, and enterprise were fully recognized Monday evening. Four coaches were crowded with local people who both saw and enjoyed the opera in Lindsay.

Mr. Bradburn, yesterday afternoon gave The Times a friendly call and desired us to convey his appreciation of the way in which his future patrons of the new opera house, recognized the trouble he had taken; and to assure them that in just such manner will good faith be preserved with the theater goers of this city. It might be added, that despite a false report in a Lindsay paper, whereby the Lindsay people were given to understand that Elsie Janis would return later on to Lindsay, thus tending to cause some to miss the opportunity of Monday night, the house was packed to the doors, many paying 75 cents for standing room. Miss Janis manager denied the report that she would play again this year in the Lindsay opera house.

Davidson Still Wife Hunting

The Port Hope Guide says; Wm. Davison, of Rosemount, was in town last night, and according to his story he is still obliged to hatch it. Davison is of the opinion that his wife is in the vicinity of Bowmanville, but it is reported that she was seen in company with Hibbert and her four children near Lindsay. Chief Ruse, of Cobourg, is at work on the case, and probably when Mrs. Davison's money runs out it will be an easy matter to locate her.

HOW TO WIN A HUSBAND.

Woman's sphere in this 20th century is not limited any more than is man's. She can occupy almost any business position or profession, and yet the popular view of womanhood is that she best fits the position of wife and mother and head of the household. Every girl should know her heart and also know that her womanly system is equal to the strain of marriage. If a girl is nervous and irritable ten chances to one it is due to some trouble peculiar to womanhood.

Cupid has no place in a girl's heart if she is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down, worn out for no reason that she can think of. The weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are only symptoms—in the essence—of the trouble and correct the irregularity. Stop the drains on the womanly system and the other symptoms will disappear. This can be done easily and intelligently. So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of leucorrhea, female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of the womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' cured me of ulceration and inflammation, from which I suffered for many years," writes Mrs. Delphia Wheaton, President Santa Barbara Lawn Tennis Club, Arlington Hotel, Santa Barbara, Calif. "Health was completely broken down when I began its use and I was in dreadful pain most of the time, but ten bottles cured me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

$5,000 Action Against Mr. Medd

Mr. G. T. Rickerby will to-day issue a writ against Mr. S. T. Medd, for defamation of character. Mr. Rickerby considers that his good name has suffered to the extent of $5,000. This case will probably prove an interesting one. Mr. Rickerby told The Times that he basis his case against Mr. Medd on an alleged statement that Mr. Medd accused him of forgery in connection with a money transaction.

Value of Good Management

A Peterboro bill collector says he cannot help but wonder what some people do with their money. He says he knows of two families whose homes adjoin. The men work for the same concern, get the same wages and the families are about the same size. Both men have good habits. In one family the house is prettily furnished and the money is always ready for the monthly bills. In the other household the house is poorly furnished and the bill collector is put off from one month to another. It is not capital that counts; it's "managing."

Joke on the Doctor

A well known Peterboro physician, during a rain storm, recently boarded a George street car that was sadly overcrowded. He soon observed a big German sprawled over an area sufficient to seat two persons at least, while just in front of him stood a poor wan woman hanging to a strap. Indignant at this exhibition of selfishness on the part of the German, the physician tapped him on the shoulder, saying

"See here! Why don't you move a little, so that this tired woman may have a seat?"

For a moment the German looked dazed. Then a broad smile spread over his countenance, as he answered: "Say, dot's a joke on you, all right! Dot's my vife!"

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value. $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co., New York.

JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.

American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.

ISAAC L. ELWOOD,

LOYAL L. SMITH,

CAPT. WM. FLEMING
Chicago, Ill

General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 2nd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely market value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company shareholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings File accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year.

Smallpox in the Back Country

The Times yesterday was in receipt of a letter from the back country, near Burleigh Falls, conveying the startling and decidedly unwelcome news that that dread scourge small pox is rampant within a very few miles of this city. The letter says that Dr. Bell, of Apsley, last Friday received notification that there was a suspected case of small pox in or near the Post settlement, of Chandos. The doctor, at once drove out to the scene of the alleged disease and found that his intelligence was but too true. At the residence of Andrew Post, the first place in the designated locality he called, Dr. Bell found seven cases of small pox, varying in intensity and malignity from recently developed cases to those where the inevitable scales were peeling off the victims.

This house is the Post Office! Letters from Chandos have been passing through this office for the past month. This in itself is sufficient to arouse public demand for a thorough investigation, and prompt measures for an immediate change in the post office headquarters.

Milk from the infected house has been going to the nearby factory.

Some 20 to 30 cases have already developed in the neighborhood, and the infection is stated to have spread throughout the township of Methuen, down as far as Oak Lake Settlement. Active measures have been taken by Dr. Bell and the local Board of Health, and the township council to check the spread of this foul disease. It was said, in The Times correspondent's letter that an officer of the Provincial Board of Health is on his way to assist the local authorities.

Our correspondent claims that "the quick spread of the disease is due to criminal neglect." He further says, in corroboration of the last mentioned charge, that the first case which developed, and was recognized as small pox, was attended and treated by "A Cye Hill Quack," who diagnosed the disease as a result of "poison ivy." Our correspondent, has evidently heard of a case recently tried in this city's police court, as he ends his letter, when referring to the Cye Hill quack, by saying, "Where is the Medical College detective?"

That such a horribly dangerous state of affairs should be allowed to exist, and the particulars heretofore suppressed for obvious reasons, is almost beyond belief. To save the petty business transactions and export trade of a handful of people in Chandos, are His Majesty's mails to be turned into a mode of transit for one of the most infectious and loath-some diseases known?

In a city, containing 15,000 people, to be thrown into the grip of a terrible epidemic of small pox, — by means of mail and produce conveying agents, simply because a few people in the back country are so densely ignorant or so cunningly secretive as seems to be the case? Our city and county officials should act, and act both promptly and aggressively in this matter. The district affected should be at once patrolled and quarantined.

A NEW AFGHAN FRONTIER LINE

Strategic Railway to be Extended in That Country

AMEER WILL BE ADVISED

An Important and Valuable Imperial Project now Under Way

London, October 19.—An important decision has been taken for the extension of a strategic railway towards the Afghan frontier, for the purpose of which the staff of the Quetta-Muslki Railway—the line ninety miles long which was opened a few weeks ago—has, it is understood, been transferred. It is about to be transferred, to Peshawur. The projected railway, there is reason to believe, will follow the course of the Kabul River.

There is no question of obtaining the Ameer's permission, for the line will not go beyond the administrative frontier, but in order to avoid misconception, as the railway will approach the border very closely, the Government of India will doubtless explain to him the nature of the scheme.

The Kabul River line will prove a valuable alternative route to the Khyber, and, although short, will overcome the most difficult part of the route between Peshawur and Kabul. Another important consideration is that it is outside Afridi territory.

It avoids the gradients of the Khyber route, over which it possesses great advantage from an engineering point of view. Not only will the railway form an important extension of the Indian system, but it will be useful in the event of any assistance from India being required by the Ameer.

The Kabul River line will leave the existing railway at some point between Peshawur and the terminus of Jamrud. Its actual length depends on the route finally adopted for which there are certainly two alternative surveys.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH CROWDED WITH THE ELITE OF PETERBORO

Mr. H. C. Hill of Montreal Carries off as His Bride One of Peterboro's Fairest Daughters.

Yesterday was a red letter day among the best set of Peterboro's society. The long awaited event happened. Miss "Dolly" Hamilton, only daughter of the late Robert Hamilton, one of the old sturdy Hudson Bay factors, a man universally respected and beloved by all, was married to one of Montreal's progressive and successful young business men, Mr. Hugh Cyril Hill.

The wedding was celebrated in St. Luke's church, of which the bride's father was a member.

Society in this city has for weeks been looking eagerly forward to this interesting event, and many a dress maker and costumer has had cause to bless such happenings. In all this stirring young city, no young lady, would have caused more attention and interest than the fair and stately bride that has left us. No young lady in the city had or has a larger circle of friends and admirers.

St. Luke's was comfortably filled by the personal friends of the high contracting parties. Every where, despite the inclemency of the late October day, were seen happy faces, conveying in every glance the keen interest that actuated all present. Peterboro seemed yesterday to be pervaded by an atmosphere, affected by the happy event.

All classes of the community, even strangers to the charming bride, seemed to feel that yesterday's wedding was more than a private and personal matter; it was the entrance into a new phase of life, of one of Peterboro's most popular belles.

THE CEREMONY.

Shortly after the time designated hacks loaded with the bride, Miss Annie Seaborne Hamilton, groom and their friends drove up to St. Luke's portals. From the church doors to the driveway a canvas screen had been erected to protect the party and save the ladies dresses. A Brussels carpet formed a comfortable walk way to the sacred edifice.

The bride and her attendants were met at the church door by the ushers Messrs. J. H. Burnham and H. Ritchie of this city; L. P. Birkbeck and W. Macdonald of Toronto. As the ushers led the way within the church, they were immediately followed by the two pretty little flower girls, the Misses Langfeldt and Seaborne Hamilton. Miss Marie Hamilton of Belleville, the bridesmaid next followed, preceding the charming bride, who entered, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Miles Hamilton, account ant of the Bank of Montreal.

The bridal procession was completed by the ushers of the younger generation, Masters Beresford and Robert Hamilton.

The bride, who would have commanded attention in any capital of the world, was dressed in a magnificent robe of white duchess satin, en traine, with berths of real lace and sequin yoke and long silk girdle. She wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms and carried a handsome bouquet of daisies tied with white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marie Hamilton, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, looked charming in an artistic gown of cream silk eolienne over cream silk, trimmed with applique, and lace yoke. She carried a bouquet of daisies tied with yellow ribbon and wore a pretty black velvet hat.

The little flower girls, Miss Dorothy Langfeldt, daughter of the rector of St. Luke's, and Miss Seaborne Hamilton, daughter of Mr. R. M. Hamilton, and niece of the bride, were in frocks of organdie trimmed with lace, and wore lace yoke bonnets. They carried shepherds' crooks, to which were attached daisies tied with yellow ribbon.

The little Hamilton boys attracted much attention in their immaculately white sailor suits.

Never before did St. Luke's church present a position appearance. Altar, chair, windows and reading desk were beautifully decorated with lovers and seasonable emblems.

The chancel was beautifully decorated with palms.

The organist of the church, Mr. Armstrong, as the wedding party entered, played Lohengrin's Wedding March.

As the bridal procession reached the altar, they were met by Mr. Hill, who was supported by his friend Mr. Crosby Baker of Montreal.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the rector officiated at the ceremony. While the wedding party were signing the records on completion of the nuptial ceremony, Mrs. Jas. Morris (nee Miss Cottingham, of Peterboro), sang in her inimitable style, "Oh perfect love." As the party left the church, Mendelssohn's grand old wedding march pealed forth from the organ.

THE RECEPTION.

Shortly after the clocks struck three yesterday afternoon, every cab, hacks and most of the different livery conveyances of all kinds, for and an almost solid line over the mile or so, from the city to "Auburn" Mrs. Hamilton's beautiful and comfortable residence. "Auburn," in its park of beautiful trees, with its long winding drive way, was a scene of merriment and congratulatory galety. The large mansion was filled, drawing room, reception room, and halls and dining room, with Peterboro's youth and beauty.

Mrs. Hamilton, the stately and well-beloved mother of the bride, received her hundred and more guests in the large north drawing room.

Mrs. Hamilton was gowned in black brocaded satin, en traine, trimmed with white Irish lace. Mrs. R. M. Hamilton, sister-in-law of the bride, wore mauve colored silk, trimmed with cream lace, and brown chiffon hat with pink roses. Mrs. Crawford, of Regina, aunt of the bride, was attired in black silk.

Mrs. (Col.) Bloss, nee Miss Grace, of Lindsay, now of Ottawa, was dressed in white and black voile with black and white chiffon hat.

Miss H. H. Porter, cousin of the bride, was in bengaline silk and wore a lace toque trimmed with mink.

Miss Seymour, of Hamilton, was robed in black silk with pink trimmings. Her hat was a black sequin one adorned with pink roses.

Miss Spensbury, of Peterboro, wore grey crepe de chene, with hat to match.

Miss Lundy, of Peterboro, was dressed in a "Tilly May" white silk taken made gown with grass hat to match.

The bride, supported by her husband most stately received her friends in the drawing room, and it goes without saying that a universal sentiment of admiration was in evidence. The bride had a large bouquet of daisies, appropriate to her best known name, which also divided among her best known friends as mementoes of this occasion. The drawing room, bereaved of much of the furniture to make room for the guests was sufficiently adorned by palms and flowers, to make a gorgeous tonic ensemble with the gay gowns and pretty faces present. Refreshments were served in the dining room.

In a room to the rear five tables fairly groaned beneath the wealth and multiplicity of the wedding presents. One large table alone was entirely covered with beautiful specimens of the glass cutters art. One small table was occupied by a large cabinet, handsomely upholstered and filled with silver ware and cutlery, a present from the Montreal Cricket club, on another table, amidst all kinds and degrees of handsome remembrances, was a modest little envelope, containing a cheque for a handsome sum from Mrs. Claxton of Montreal.

When the guests had all arrived and congratulated the happy couple, the bride, who had been arrayed in her bridal robes and veil, retired to dress, as the rest enjoyed the refreshments and engaged in conversation.

Soon the hall leading from the stairs to the front door was filled with guests awaiting the bride's departure. Soon the bride, preceded by Misses Miles Hamilton, J. H. Burnham and others, descended the stairs. At once, amidst heartfelt wishing for happiness and showers of rice confetti, the happy young couple, entered their hack, followed by many of the guests in others, and drove away, in the rain, to the C.P.R. 5.10 train.

Whilst the bride was upstairs changing her costume the following telegram was received and read by Mr. W. H. Hill, Peterboro manager of the Sun Life Insurance Co.; "To H. Hill, Montreal: The officers and employees of the Sun Life wish you every happiness, may your good prospects all mature, and you and your wife bask in sunshine all your wedded days. Signed Agents Montreal City Branch, Montreal." The reading of the telegram, so appropriate and kindly worded, was received with much applause. The happy couple will enjoy a honeymoon in Toronto, Niagara Falls and other places to the west. They have a residence that furnished in Montreal, where they will, on completion of the first stage of their honeymoon, continue it at leisure.

Among the invitations to guests residing at a distance other than those already mentioned were: His Grace Archbishop and Miss Matheson, Winnipeg; Mr. W. S. Clouston, Montreal; Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Symonds, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Price, Deer Park; Mrs. M. Murray, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. MacLaray, Winnipeg; Rev. Colin and Miss Inkster, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McKenzie, Winnipeg; Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith, Winnipeg; Mr. Playter, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Burton, Port Hope; Dr. and Mrs. Burritt, Toronto; Miss Sinclair and Miss Lowe, Dresden, Germany; Mr. and Mrs. Thwaites and Mr. and Mrs. Pelly, England; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Steele, New York; Mr. and Mrs. James Grace, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. S. Barker, Hamilton; Mr. Joseph Seagram, jr., Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stanton, Montreal, and others.

Whilst yesterday's weather was, in a sense, inauspicious, the prevalent opinion and wish of all, not only those present at the ceremony and reception, but of all claimed the pleasure of knowing either the fair bride or her fortunate husband, is that, the one rainy day witnessing yesterday's wedding, is but a hint of fate that will be succeeded by a life of sunshine, happiness and prosperity.

SMALL BOY HAS "COFFEE HEART"

Child of Eight Is in City Hospital Slowly Regaining Health.

HEART BEATS TOO FAST

Muscle Was Wearing Itself Out —Drank a Dozen Cups a Day.

Excessive coffee drinking, City Hospital physicians say, is the cause of little Johnnie Murphy's heart disease. Although only 8 years old, he has one of the worst cases of heart lesion that has ever come to the institution.

When he entered the hospital the child's heart was beating 160 to the minute, just twice the normal rate for a child of his age. For one month he has had no coffee and his heart action has been reduced to 100 beats a minute.

For two years the child has been drinking from nine to twelve cups of strong coffee every day. He began to complain of pains as if needles were sticking in his heart, and for a year has slept scarcely three hours a night, and then only when sitting propped up in a chair beside an open window.

Johnnie did not care for things to eat; coffee was all the food he craved, and except when cake or candy was given him, he took no other nourishment. As he was sick and not expected to recover, he was given all the coffee he desired, until a physician saw him and advised that he be sent to City Hospital.

HEART WAS OVERWORKED.

Every beat of the child's heart could be plainly seen. To one inexperienced in medicine, it would seem that the heart extended over two-thirds of the chest region, and the pulsation is of a heavy, prolonged character, quite different from the sharp, quick beat of the normal heart.

The boy is small for his age, and efforts of physicians have been to build up his strength. His treatment has been largely tonics and heart regulating medicines, such as strophantus and digitalis.

As the heart, like other muscles, can stand only a given amount of work, hospital interns estimate that the 60 beats a minute he is now being saved by his abstinence from coffee will prolong his life 10 or 12 years.

The heart of a man who dies at 70 years has beaten 200 million times, and if the normal beat is 72, little Johnny Murphy was living twice as fast as any normal person. When he first entered the hospital, physicians freely prophesied that he could live only a few weeks. Under the treatment and total abstinence from coffee he has so improved that his chances for a long life are considered good if the heart lesion and degeneration already set up can be healed.

He is the son of John Murphy, of 116 South Fourteenth street. Mrs. Murphy told the physicians that none of her other children had shown signs of heart disease nor had they a marked fondness for coffee.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Literally thousands of people suffer more or less from heart weakness caused by coffee, and with some, even one cup a day will bring on heart trouble.

The heart that has been only slightly attacked by coffee will protest and make its weak condition known under slight exertion, and it is plainly a dangerous condition to get into. It is a curious fact that coffee does not always attack the heart but goes after the stomach, liver and bowels of some and leaves the heart alone.

It is plainly classed as an active toxic and its work shows somewhere on most users. It is easy to rid oneself of the habit by using well-brewed Postum Coffee. The change in symptoms is shown in a day or two as it runs, and that change shows the user to a certainty that coffee was the destroyer.

It is useless to warn some people, even when it is easy to quit and be well again. So they jog along, sick and miserable, charging their ills to "food," "east wind," "heredity," and whatnot, until some day the stroke comes when abused nature reaches the limit. It's easy to be well if one cares for the joy of health. One of the plain, sure, well-built, and well-kept highways, with sign boards on each side, is the Postum route.

There's a reason.

CZAR WARNS THE SULTAN

RUSSIA TELLS TURKEY TO MIND OWN BUSINESS

The Il St. Petersburg's Reply to the Moslem's Protest Against Caucasian Massacres

St. Petersburg, October 18.—A very sharp note has just been sent from the Russian Foreign Department to Sultan Abdul Hamid, who has been told in plain words to mind his own business or take the consequences.

Some time ago Abdul Hamid, who has greatly enjoyed the Russian reverse in the far East, sent a formal note to Russia protesting against the "barbarous massacres of Armenians in the Caucasian provinces, which have the appearance of being encouraged by the Government."

For years Russia has been protesting against the Armenian massacres in Turkey, but the Czar resents very much the Sultan's attempt to pay him back in his own coin.

Pay Dividend to Preference Shareholders

Encouraging Results of Dominion Steel Company's Operations During the Past Four Months--Output Increased 37 per Cent.

Montreal, Oct. 19.—At the annual meeting of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company to-day, Frederick Nichols, the Vice-President, announced his retirement from the company.

In reference to Mr. Nichols' decision, Mr. J. R. Plummer, the President, who presided, said that the company owed more to Mr. Nichols than it could ever repay. He had stepped in three years ago, when the company was on the verge of bankruptcy, and has since devoted all his energies to the company's affairs. The Board has offered Mr. Nicholls remuneration for his work, but he had refused it, and, therefore, the retiring vice-president would receive nothing more substantial than this vote of thanks from the shareholders and a piece of plate from the directors.

Hon. L. Forget will succeed Mr. Nichols.

President Plummer, in referring to the recent earnings of the company, stated that the revenue for the last four months was $292,000, while the interest charges for the same period amounted to $224,000, leaving $68,000 which might be devoted to paying something on the preference stock, if the directors saw fit.

THE RAIL MILL.

Mr. Graham Fraser, the retiring director of the works, stated that he considered that the plant was now in first-class order. He saw nothing in the way of its future prosperity. The last five months had shown an increase of 37 per cent. in the output of the open hearth furnaces, as compared with the previous five months, and he assured the stockholders that they could look forward to an output of rails of from 800 to 1,000 tons every 24 hours. The rod mill was now turning out better than 250 tons every 24 hours, and had run as high as 300 tons.

Mr. Plummer paid a glowing tribute to the directors who subscribed for the second mortgage bonds at par, when they could have bought first mortgage bonds at 60, thus bolstering up a concern which would now be a credit to commerce.

SPENT FIFTEEN YEARS IN JAPAN

Wonderful Progress of the Little Islanders

A RETURNED EUROPEAN

Now in Canada on His Way from the Far East

Montreal, October 19.—Mr. Paul Benninger, of Kobe, Japan, passed through Montreal, en route for London via New York, for which city he left this morning.

During his residence in Japan, dating from before the war with China, he has watched the abnormal strides forward that nation has been making, with the keenest interest, for while the Japanese is rather a slippery customer with whom to do business, according to Mr. Benninge, he has many redeeming qualities, and his present business method is merely a stage in his progress which will rapidly pass.

The East, Mr. Benninge is firmly confident, is on the eve of a great awakening.

Led by the Japanese, whose tactics commercially and industrially will be far-reaching, extending throughout China, the East will rapidly become an active factor in the world's political arena, and should prove something more than a battlefield for armies, both military and industrial, for the West.

Grave dissatisfaction with the terms of peace as concluded by Komura does exist, but it is largely the Jingo element in Japan who have manifested it. The late war partook of the nature of a fight for existence; it became a crusade against what was to the Japanese the enemy of their progress and national salvation, but Mr. Benninge believes that the course pursued by Komura, who was only the mouthpiece for the Japanese Cabinet, shows how sane and how free from what Americans call "swelled head" those men entertain.

The Japanese have been forging another weapon in addition to their army and navy. This is a great force of industrial experts, experts in agriculture and in all the sciences, who will ultimately make Japan the most progressive of all the nations of the world, with no exceptions.

"Just as an instance of this," Mr. Benninge remarked, "I might say that in the day and a half which I spent in Vancouver, I met a young Japanese who has spent the last of four months in this country studying the various electrical appliances in use in your Canadian West. He was proceeding south to the Western States where he will continue his investigations. He is only one of a small army of men similarly employed.

"It struck me at the time as truly remarkable foresightedness. I have lived among them for nearly fifteen years, and I must confess that I am as ignorant of the resourceful Jap as when I left England.

"They have their faults, of course. Everything has not run as smoothly throughout the war as the reports would indicate, but the Japanese has the knack of concealing his weaknesses, but at the same time recognizing them and endeavoring to correct them."

MISSIONS FLOURISH

W. M. S. of Methodist Church Now in Convention Here

Some 70 delegates were present at the formal opening of the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Board of Managers of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon.

The synod yesterday, Mrs. W. R. Ross, of Hamilton, presided with Mrs. Carman, Toronto, vice-president; Miss Wilkes, treasurer; Mrs. McKay, home secretary; Mrs. Sheehan, field secretary, and Mrs. Phillips, recording secretary, occupying seats on the platform.

Mrs. Graham presented a memorial from the British Columbia branch, that some provision be made for the establishment of a boarding school for Japanese women and girls in Vancouver, as the work among the Japanese in British Columbia urgently needed such accommodation.

A memorial from the Toronto Branch was read in regard to the Italian mission which has been established in the Agnes street church, Toronto. Rev. Mr. Marlin, a native Italian has been placed in charge and it was asked that the Board make a grant towards encouraging a deaconess to help in the work. One who can speak Italian would be necessary. As there is a deaconess who is available and who possesses the necessary requirements it was hoped that an appropriation of $6.00 a week could be made to meet the expense.

These memorials will be discussed at the morning session.

A MONTREAL INVESTIGATION

An Expert is to Examine Into the Gas Conditions in That City

Montreal, Oct. 18.—Mr. W. H. Pearson, General Manager of the Consumers Gas Company, is one of the experts chosen by the Montreal City Council to report on the cost of the manufacture of gas in Montreal, and the advisability of the city erecting a municipal plant. Mr. Pearson will have associated with him two Montreal engineers. Mr. Francis Gerour and Mr. E. Belanger. Mr. Pearson's task is likely to be a very difficult one, as the Montreal Light, Heat, Power Company, who have a monopoly in Montreal, will not give the experts any opportunity of finding out from their books what it the cost to the company for the gas it is selling at $1.20. What the city is anxious to find out is why citizens of Montreal cannot get their gas as cheap as the residents of Toronto, where 80 cents is paid.

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Waken--Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Soap All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

[illegible] is capable of [illegible] any disease [illegible] losing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Lowd, of Montreiber, Ont., proves this:

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures weakness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

RECENT NAVAL LESSONS

The lessons of the Russo-Japanese war are all going to be learned. The Revue de Paris has an article by an expert on the naval lessons of the war. What most impresses Frenchmen, he says, is the comparative failure of the torpedo. Apart from the surprise attack of February 8, 1904, in which the torpedo failed to effect all that was expected of it, the part which it played in the Japanese success was almost negligible. Yet Japan had sixty torpedo boats and destroyers which gave evidence of extraordinary endurance and stubbornness. The Russians had an almost equal number of those vessels, which were still less successful. The writer then goes on to argue that torpedoes carried by battleships and cruisers, and discharged from tubes below water are extremely difficult to work, and were not used on a single occasion in the late war. He considers that the United States was well advised in suppressing this useless torpedo in its new ships. "The torpedo can only be used at a short distance and as a surprise. It is the weapon of small vessels. That of large ships is the gun; and it was by its guns this the Japanese fleet won its victories. It is almost certain that the guns have not sunk battleships, but guns reduced them to silence and confusion and delivered them up to the torpedo boat."

Another point upon which the writer dwells is that even vessels [illegible] to keep afloat and reach port with their own steam, and that, now as in the past, it is the losses among the crews rather than material injuries which put ships out of action. The loss of men who are in their way specialists is irremediable. He then quotes figures to show that a battleship which has suffered no serious injury and is still provided with arms and ammunition may be forced by losses among her officers and crew to seek safety in flight.

ENGLAND AND JAPAN

"Today Englishmen have a sense of security that they have not experienced for years respecting their rights [illegible] and China," says the Philadelphia North American, "because Japan has become their pledged defender. Within half a century the weak and defenceless nation of barbarians in the distant islands of the sea has become the formidable Power of Asia, if not in the world, and the British Empire covets its friendship and protective force."

Just so. And it has more than that. It may be assumed that it has command of Japan, and will in the future [illegible] active co-operation with it. Prior to a "mushy" period, and there are those fondly believe that they have discerned the methods and influences which brought the Russo-Japanese war to a close will be slow to acknowledge that Great Britain had a great deal to do with the solution; but, nevertheless, the signs are strong toward British influence and British diplomacy as the agency of peace. Japan made a great fight. It was one of the wonders of these great days. But she did not win without a great shock to her finances. Had she insisted on the payment of a heavy indemnity and it had been realized, Great Britain would doubtless have been the chief reliance for obtaining the funds to continue hostilities and repeat the brilliant record made by the Japanese army and navy. And in the supplementary struggle Japan would have spent as much money as the indemnity would have amounted to.

While we are celebrating those who have been commonly regarded as the peacemakers, and giving them their full due in a great work, let us not forget the part that Great Britain would naturally play. England has done more for the redemption of Japan from the barbarism of which our contemporary speaks than any other country, though the Government and people of the United States have done not a little.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Pope Pius doesn't put on airs. Visitors are received with great simplicity. As soon as one enters he causes him to be seated in an armchair by his side, chats, laughs and relates anecdotes and stories. The other day the pope while receiving some women remarked that they had trains to their skirts. "This is not hygienic," said he, "one gathers thus in the streets a quantity of microbes and other things. As to myself, when they compel me to add a train to my Cassock it bothers me much, although there are four prelates to uphold it." "But, holy father," said one of the women, "we hold up our trains when going in the streets. "That must be very inconvenient," replied Pius X., and passing from word to action the pope made several tours in the room holding up his robe.

Deep-sea denizens fo the northern waters are all remarkbale for their migratory habits, the herring especially so. These fish approach the Newfoundland littoral to spawn and then are captured in great quantities, but this is only during a few months every year, while for the remainder they withdraw to some waters the location of which has never been determined. The late Professor Spencer T. Baird, United States fish commissioner, once queried an expedition to the north thirty years ago to locate this "home of the herring," but without any result. Newfoundland itself is now about to attempt a similar quest, having secured the services of a Scotch fishery expert for the purpose.

CLUE IN MURDER CASE

Girl Whose Mother Died From Poison Has Disappeared

Hamilton Oct. 18.—If Provincial Detective Greer's inquiry into the murder of the young woman on the Mountain does not lead him into the investigation of the death of Mrs. Jno. Parry, of the Royal Oak Hotel, a half mile away from where the unknown girl was killed last week, he will be asked to take that matter up. Mrs. Parry died from strychnine poisoning a week ago last Saturday. Her husband says that she took it in mistake for a headache powder. The day of the funeral, which was a day before the young woman was found in the woods, a daughter of the deceased was at the hotel and demanded an explanation regarding her mother's money, which she said had been used to make the first payment on the hotel. This girl came from Detroit.

A WIFE IN ENGLAND.

Neighbors are anxious for a more thorough investigation. Following are facts and allegations in the case: John Parry admits having been married four times. His first wife is in England, their son came here four weeks ago. He caused trouble with wife No. 4, who died ten days ago, demanding wife told parsons Parry was trying to get rid of her to make room for No. 5.

Parry kept the son away from the inquest. Deputy Constable Cope is working in the case, but has not been able to see the son of Parry or the daughters of Mrs. Parry.

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. The chorus is sung by millions. J. C. Ayer Co.

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.

G. E. WRIGHT.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I am delighted with the results. In one week I felt better and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained fifteen pounds in weight."

was rather surprised to find he was ready with the money for your new purchase."

"What!" cried Mrs. Ruthven. "You imagine Clifford Marsden would be faithless to his trust? What a base suspicion."

"I see nothing to elevate him above it," said Shirley with a sweet. "However, I will endeavor to carry out your wishes, as I have always done, but not for nothing."

Mrs. Ruthven looked at him—a curious searching look.

"You shall have your pay," she said, "in any way you like except one."

"You need not have mentioned the exception, I am well aware of it."

There was a pause. Then Mrs. Ruthven said in an altered tone:

"Lady Dorrington goes down to Chedworth to-day and I follow to-morrow."

"And how long do you remain."

"Ten days, possibly a fortnight. Now, my dear Shirley, I am going to be rather busy, and must bid you good-morning."

"I understand," he said, "and obey."

* * * * * *

Lady Dorrington had written a few lines to her god-daughter, excusing herself for not having called on or sent for her. Time was too short, she said. It was of the utmost importance to get poor dear Mrs. Ruthven away to a totally new scene, and among fresh faces.

Mrs. L'Estrange smiled as she read the note.

"I fancy Clifford Marsden will be her best comforter," she said.

"Do you know," returned Nora in a wise reflective tone, "I begin to doubt if Clifford cares as much for her as I thought he did."

"Do you?" said Mrs. L'Estrange. "I never quite shared your opinion on that subject, though I think it likely enough they will marry. Mark Winton was saying yesterday that there was an idea at one time among her late husband's brother officers that Mrs. Ruthven would marry Captain Shirley. It is curious that he should still be so much with her. When a man is rejected, communications are generally broken off."

"It was mere gossip, probably—the report, I mean. Why should not men and women be dear friends and nothing more?"

"I am sure I do not know; but you don't often see it."

"As education and common sense increase, friendship between men and women will, I suppose, be more frequent."

"Perhaps so," said Mrs. L'Estrange doubtfully. "Mr Winton was talking of returning to India yesterday. His leave of absence has not expired yet, but he seems anxious to get back to his work. He says he feels he is wasting his time here, and that, for a man of his disposition, the only charm life possesses is work."

"That is rather a dreary doctrine, is it not?"

"I told him so. He was very nice and pleasant yesterday, but I fancied there was an under-tone of depression in all he said."

"Why, Mr. Winton is the last man I should suspect of sentimental melancholy," cried Nora. "Perhaps he has lost some money."

"I don't think you do Mark Winton justice, Nora. I have known him since he was a lad of seventeen, and, believe me, he has a good, true heart."

"If you say so, I am quite willing to believe it," then, breaking off suddenly, she exclaimed: "Listen to this, Helen. 'The enterprising manager of Drury Lane has in preparation one of the most brilliant pantomimes ever presented to a London audience. The scenic effects will be of an original and extraordinary character, and the ballet one of the most gorgeous ever seen.' That is something for Bea! It will be such fun going with her! What raptures she will be in! By the bye, Helen, don't you think we can take in Fraulein Schrader at Christmas time? She is not happy at the school, and as she has given notice she is going to leave, they will be cross and disagreeable."

"Yes. I have no doubt we can manage it. Bea, too, might come to us early in December."

And the conversation turned on domestic matters.

Mrs. L'Estrange, who was far from strong, had taken cold, and was easily persuaded to keep in-doors. The day being dry and crisp, Nora took their maid, Watson, an elderly, staid personage, who had been in Mrs. L'Estrange's service ever since she was married, to bear her company, and walked across the park to inquire for Mrs. Ruthven and bid her good-bye.

CHAPTER X.

When they reached the hotel, Mrs. Ruthven was out, and Nora prolonged her walk to Harvey & Nichols', where she and her attendant spent a delightful hour, and several pounds.

By the time she reached her temporary home, Nora felt refreshed and invigorated by air and exercise. The shades of evening had begun to gather, and she planned to herself that she would read aloud to Helen after dinner, to atone for her long absence.

The gas had not been lit, and going upstairs in semi-darkness, she ran against some one on the first landing.

"I beg your pardon," said Winton, whose voice she instantly recognised, "it is so dark."

"Yes, the evenings draw in so soon now," she replied, with some confusion.

"I am glad to have an opportunity of wishing you good-bye. I am going out of town to-morrow for a few weeks; by the time I come back, I shall have made up my mind whether I shall return to India at once or stay to the full extent of my leave."

"Has the old country so little attraction for you, Mr. Winton, that you are ready to leave it?"

"Plenty of attraction; but—I need not trouble you with my reasons. Good-bye for the present. I hope to see you again before long, either here or at Brookdale."

He held her hand for a moment and was gone.

Nora ascended slowly, thoughtfully, to the drawing-room, where she found Mrs. L'Estrange leaning back in an easy-chair, her handkerchief to her eyes, beside a bright fire.

"Why, Helen!" cried Nora, as she advanced toward her. Mrs. L'Estrange started and uncovered her face, the strong light of the flames showed that she had been and was weeping. "Dear Helen, what is the matter?"

"Do not ask me now. I will tell you all one day, but not now," said Mrs. L'Estrange. Rising, she came quickly toward her step-daughter, pressed her lips for an instant to Nora's cheek, and left the room.

"Good heavens!" ejaculated Nora to herself, "she has refused him. But why?" Overcome with surprise, she sat down, all dressed as she was, to ponder this unexpected outcome of their pleasant intimacy with Winton. He, too, seemed depressed and unlike himself. Why—why had Helen rejected him? especially as she had evidently felt doing so very keenly.

Dr. Hamilton Cures Rheumatism

You Use His Mandrake and Butter milk Pills—He Guarantees Lasting Cure.

Rheumatism begins and ends in the blood which at no time is ever free from poison. But if the kidneys are healthy, they will filter out the wastes and poisons.

In case of rheumatism, the kidneys are not doing their work. As a result poisons crystalize around the joints and cause pain almost akin to torture.

There can be no cure, no permanent relief until the kidneys are stimulated. First get them into working order. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills excel all other remedies: they heal and strengthen the kidneys as no other poisons depart from the blood and all medicine can do. Once the kidneys are renewed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the cause of rheumatism disappears.

No Case is Too Chronic to Yield to the Marvellous Influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I spent nearly three years experimenting with rheumatic remedies," writes Geo. W. Bunbury, of Portland. "I had almost given up hope, when I tried Dr Hamilton's Pills; they completely cured me No remedy could be better."

You will never regret using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a supply today from your druggist, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

TAYLOR ARRESTED

One of Peterboro's Erring Boys, Escaped from Toronto School Caught on Aylmer Street

As will be remembered by our readers, Herbert Taylor, though only having seen the season of 14½ summers, has twice broken the bonds of confinement, imposed by the stern hand of the law. First he smashed the Havelock jail door open, and fled to Peterboro. Here he was at once captured and sent to the Toronto Industrial School. On Sunday last he escaped from his place of detention, and once more sheered his bark for Peterboro his home.

The boy, who seems morally incapable, spoke to citizens here on Monday last, boasting of his escape from Toronto. The local police were at once on his track.

Yesterday morning, he was arrested at his home on Aylmer street, by Constabl. Adams and it is safe to say that the local police will allow him no chance to get away again.

The boy just arrived home yesterday morning and informed the police that he had been to Toronto again since he was there on Monday. He will appear before P.M. Dumble this morning on the charge of stealing a quantity of articles from the shops of Wm. Collins and M. O'Brien in the fifth ward.

BREATHE HEALING BALSAMS

Hyomei, the Medicated-Air Catarrh Cure, Endorsed by Physicians

No one should confound Hyomei with the patent medicines that are advertised to cure catarrh. It is as superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. Their composition is secret, but Hyomei gives its formula to all reputable physicians.

Its base is the famous eucalyptus oil, well known for its antiseptic qualities. This is combined with aromatic and healing gums and balsams, making a pure liquid which, when used in the Hyomei pocket inhaler fills the air you breathe with germ killing disease destroying and healing powers that restore health to every part of the throat, nose and lungs.

Hyomei is endorsed by physicians generally. Many of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia. It is the only natural and rational way of curing catarrh.

Would it be a common sense treatment to try and cure a corn by stomach dosing? Is it not just as foolish to try and cure catarrh of the head and throat by swallowing tablets or liquids? The only natural way to cure this disease and all diseases of the respiratory organs is to breathe Hyomei.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

The American Farmer the Best in the World.

The American farmer is the greatest man in the world to-day because he is master of the soil—he is gaining in intelligence quite as rapidly as his products are increasing in magnitude. Our recent combines of capital in United States measured in money are enormous, yet such figures sink into insignificance when compared to the money, brain and brawn invested in agricultural industries. For instance, the farmers of Minnesota and Dakota have received $500,000,000 for their products in a single year. The farmer knows what Nature will bring forth for him from his experience in the past. He knows if certain seeds are planted and properly cared for that Nature will take care of the rest. In the same way you are master of your own destiny.

Providing your blood is in good order, it only needs a little effort on your own part to keep healthy and strong—rid your body of the poisons that are apt to accumulate and your system is ready to ward off the attack of the germs of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich red blood—by increasing the number of red blood corpuscles. There is no alcohol in this great tonic to shrivel up the red blood corpuscles. As an alterative extract, made only of herbs and roots it goes about its work in nature's way. It stimulates the liver into proper action, and feeds the worn-out nerves, stomach and heart on pure blood. Used for over a third of a century it has sold more largely than any other blood medicine in the United States. More bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are sold to-day than ever before—that is a true test of its medicinal value after thirty-eight years of deserved popularity.

Dr. Pierce's "Medical Adviser" sent on receipt of stamps to pay for mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value. $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co., New York.

JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.

JOHN LAMBERT,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.

ISAAC L. ELWOOD,
American Steel & Wire Co., Dekalb, Ill

LOYAL L. SMITH,
New York.

CAPT. WM. FLEMING
Chicago, Ill

General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 2rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely marked value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company Stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year,

Light Thrown on Murder Mystery

Police Receive a Letter From Which They Hope Much--Correspondent in Western Canada Gives Them a Clue--Known to be Reliable

Hamilton, Oct. 19.—There may be sensational developments in the Barton murder mystery as a result of what the police consider to be the most tangible clue that has come to light yet. The clue reached the police this morning in the contents of a letter. This will be handed over to Provincial Detective Greer as soon as possible, and there is a feeling of confidence around police headquarters at noon to-day that it will give the detectives a start on the right trail. The communication was addressed the Chief of Police Smith. A newspaper correspondent had an interview with the chief at noon in reference to the new clue.

"Yes, it is true that we have something," he replied, "I received a letter this morning, to which I attach considerable importance."

"Do you care to say where it came from?"

"No, not at present. It was sent from a western Canadian city, and is reliable."

"You think then, that it may lead to something in the case?"

"We have hopes," answered the chief, with a smile of confidence.

"Are you prepared to say of what nature the contents are?"

"No, not just now; perhaps to-morrow. Provincial Detective Greer is handling the case, and I do not care to allow the latter to be published until he passes an opinion."

The police say the writer of the letter is a most reliable person. Another anonymous communication was received to-day, and the detectives don't know just what to make out of it. The writing was on a postcard, which was addressed to the Inspector of Police. It was posted at Hamilton, and read as follows:

"In reference to the Barton murder mystery, I can give some valuable information if it is made worth my while.—P. H. D."

THE MOTIVE SUGGESTED.

Chief Smith told the correspondent late yesterday afternoon that the motive given by the writer of the letter would fit exactly in this case.

"The motive above," said the chief, "that the woman had to be put out of the way in the interest of her slayer."

"What suggested to the writer that these were the same people in mind?" was asked.

"The description. As soon as he saw an account of the Hamilton murder he recalls the incident he speaks of and the description answers minutely. My informant could not identify the woman, but the letter would probably lead to it, if it is the same."

The chief says he does not know the writer personally, but by reputation. It is judged from this he is an officer in a western city.

ANOTHER LINK FORGED.

Another link in the Commercial and American Hotel theory of "Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of Cleveland," who went driving Sunday preceding the murder, was forged to-day. Anson Hanson, hotelkeeper at Rymal, positively identified the man and woman, the former from description, as a pair who stayed at his place for tea that night. They would have to drive past the scene of the murder to return to Hamilton, reaching here about the time Wilson of Cleveland got back to the livery stable, shortly before 10 o'clock Sunday night.

A GOOD WIND-UP

Peterboro's P. O. Clerks Given a Raise by Retiring P. M. G.

The clerks in the Peterboro post office have received notice that one of the last official acts of Sir William Mulock, the retiring Postmaster-General, was to increase their salaries $50 per year.

The advance applies to all the employes in the office and they are consequently in a happy mood these days in spite of the confusion and worries created by the alterations and improvements to the building.

Two new clerks have recently been added to the staff, Messrs. Wm. Swanston and Thomas Martin, Peterboro. This makes a force of nine assistants to the postmaster.

It is understood that the recent increase in salaries of $50 per year has been extended to all the mail clerks in the Midland division.

C. G. E. EXTENSION

Mr. Nicholls Says That Contemplated Improvements Will not Be Done Till Spring

Mr. Frederick Nicholls, of Toronto, general manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, as noted in another column of this paper, with his son, Mr. H. G. Nicholls, Messrs. A. Oakley, J. A. Brenner, H. A. Nolan and George Wills, also identified with the company, arrived yesterday in Peterboro.

Mr. Nicholls, yesterday in response to a question put by a Times representative, said that no decision had yet been reached regarding the proposed extensions to the buildings here. "We have such a move in view," he remarked, but will do nothing definite until the spring. We obtained options on the land along Albert street so as to be in a position to make the additions when required. No our visit today has no special significance. We are here merely on an inspection tour. You may add that the company is very busy in all departments and the outlook for increased activity is promising.

WHAT DOES YOUR MONEY NET YOU ANNUALLY?

If it does not bring you 35 per cent. you had better investigate the BIG CASINO GOLD MINING CO. For money invested in the stock of this company will net you not less than 35 per cent. to 50 per cent. annually, the remainder of your life.

WHAT WE HAVE IN DEVELOPMENT AND ACREAGE

We have 270 acres of mineral land, located at Big Oak Flat, Tuolumne County, California, on the great "Mother Lode," and mining on the "Mother Lode" is not speculative, for the ore bodies are known to exist in inexhaustible quantities.

We have 10,000 feet of underground work done, have blocked out more than 250,000 tons of ore ready to break down and mill.

We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill in good working condition, running ten hours every day. We could be paying dividends from the returns of the mill, but we are putting the proceeds back into the development and equipment of the property.

We have the mine equipped with compressed air drills, steam power plant, steam hoist, black smith shops, and all necessary tools.

We have spent in development and equipment more than $300,000.00 on these mines, have taken almost $100,000.00 from the property and put it back in development.

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO

We propose to add immediately 20 stamps to the 20 we have in, then we will pay from $20,000.00 to $50,000.00 per month in dividends and lay aside a sinking fund to double the capacity of the mill, which will be done inside of the next twelve months.

We will then double the dividends and increase the sinking fund to again double the capacity of the mill, then we will pay dividends that will surprise every stockholder.

WHY DO WE WANT TO SELL STOCK?

We have no power, only steam, and that is created by burning Jeffrey Pine wood, which is very poor, costs $7.50 per cord, and is hard to get. We know we have more ore than can be mined in two or three Mc times, and the Tuolumne Electric Power Co., and the Golden Rod Ditch Co. (with water power) are both in position to furnish us cheap power before Christmas, and we want to start the 20 stamps with the cheap power, and in order to do this we are willing to sell some of our treasury stock at a sacrifice.

This stock is cheap at $1.00 per share, but we are going to offer it for a few days at 50 cents per share; we are going to make this stock bring par ($1.00) per share before January 1st.

We will guarantee there is not a piece of real estate in the City or County of Peterboro that would be safer as an investment at 50 cents on the $1.00 of the assessed valuation than this stock is at 50 cents per share, and we are sure there is none that would be half as profitable as an investment.

You can go to see the mines, send any mining man you like, ask us any questions you want to, we have nothing to hide but court the closest investigation, our business is as legitimate as any in the world, and is for the most profitable.

You may have invested in something some time that you thought was mining stock and lost, that is no reason you should fear to investigate what we offer you; come and see us or write and ask for any information you may desire.

We will be at the White House for a few days, and will be glad to see you and tell you all you want to know about our proposition, whether you invest with us or not.

Then we get the cheap power you can't purchase any stock of us at any price, for we will have none for sale. We will then get all the money we want for equipment from the mines in a very short time.

Address us, or call and see us at the White House until further notice.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE L. PORTER

MYSTERIOUS DEATH

Dan Sullivan of Kinmount Dies Under Suspicious Circumstances

The Lindsay Post says: As mentioned in a brief paragraphy yesterday, Dr. Burrows, coroner, was called to Kinmount yesterday by a communication from Dr. Forrat, to make some enquiries into the death of a man named Daniel Sullivan, who lived about eight miles north of the village.

The facts as gleaned by the Coroner are briefly these; Sullivan drove into the village Sunday evening and secured from Dr. Forest a bottle of medicine containing among other ingredients a slight quantity of strychnine—about a grain in 24 doses. Before leaving the village he became intoxicated, and on his way home fell out of the buggy and was injured. His young son, who was driving, got him home. During the night he became ill and vomited, but insisted that he was all right, and so was left alone. Next morning he was found dead.

Dr. Frost was called in and found one of the rims depressed—a result of the fall the previous evening. He certified that death had ensued from natural causes, and issued a burial permit. Neighbors then began talking to the effect that the medicine could not be found and that Sullivan's hound had been found dead—presumably poisoned—the same morning as his master.

Dr. Barrows returned this morning, but will go north again if a proper request for an investigation is made by the family or magistrate.

COFFEE NEURALGIA

Leaves When You Quit and use Postum

A lady who unconsciously drifted into nervous prostration brought on by coffee, says:

"I have been a coffee drinker all my life, and used it regularly, three times a day.

"A year or two ago I became subject to nervous neuralgia, attacks of nervous headache, and general nervous prostration, which not only incapacitated me for doing my housework, but frequently made it necessary for me to remain in a dark room for two and three days at a time.

"I employed several good doctors, one after another, but none of them was able to give me permanent relief.

"Eight months ago a friend suggested that perhaps coffee was the cause of my troubles and that I try Postum Food Coffee and give up the old kind. I am glad I took her advice, for my health has been entirely restored. I have no more neuralgia, nor have I had one solitary headache in all these eight months. No more of my days are wasted in solitary confinement in a dark room. I do all my own work with ease. The flesh that I lost during the years of my nervous prostration, has come back to me during these months, and I am once more a happy, healthy woman. I enclose a list of names of friends who can vouch for the truth of the statement." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Ten days' trial leaving off coffee and using Postum is sufficient. All grocers.

CANADIAN GIRLS SLAVES IN CHINA

Startling Expose of the Operations of "White Slave" Traffic

GIRLS TO GO TO CHINA

Several Girls Been Brought From Montreal to Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Following a conference with the Federal Immigration authorities, who declare that American girls are being lured from their homes to become the slaves of wealthy Chinese in the Orient, Chief Collins has ordered Mrs. Lottie Hayward, 493 North Clark street, to leave Chicago in six months or go to jail.

While the authorities believe Mrs. Hayward is one of a band of women agents in Chinese ports and others in New York and San Francisco, who are inducing American girls to go to China, they are unable to prosecute her because there is no law prohibiting the exporting of American women to foreign countries. Mrs. Hayward admitted yesterday that she had been to China, returning in June, 1904, after a visit to friends in Hong Kong. She said two former Chicago women, Mrs. Sadie La Graves and Mrs. Ainsworth, who live in Hong Kong, have been visiting her for the last few months and only left San Francisco for the Orient five days ago. These women, she said, had made annual visits to the United States, always stopping at her house in Chicago.

The chief admitted he had been in communication with James L. Rodgers, United States Consul at Shanghai. Mrs. L. E. Mullen is said to be the Shanghai agent of the syndicate. Wealthy Chinamen in Chicago and San Francisco are said to be implicated.

Government officials have made public the names of several girls who have been brought from Montreal, Canada, to Chicago, and have disappeared. Evidence has been collected to indicate that the girls are offered works in hotels in Hong Kong or lured by descriptions of a life of luxury as governesses for the children of a Chinese mandarin. They are distributed from Hong Kong and Shanghai to all parts of the empire for from $500 to $1,000. Hundreds of American girls are said to be held in captivity in the interior. Hilda Olsen, aged twenty, is said to have committed suicide in Shanghai to escape bondage.

Two girls, it is said, escaped from their captors in Shanghai. The matter was brought to the attention of the American Consul by a naval officer. The British consul is co-operating with the United States authorities in demanding the release of the girls.

A WARRANT OUT

Employee of C. G. E. Co. Arrested and Escaped by Keys of His Own

An official of the C.G.E. Co., yesterday swore out a warrant against an employe named Baker, who it is alleged stole some drills and other tools from that immense factory. This was done shortly after conclusion of yesterday's police court session.

It seems that Baker, who was employed in the machine shop, has for some time been suspected of stealing various articles. Wednesday at noon, as he was leaving the works for dinner, a box he carried, containing expensive drills and taps, was demanded of him by Mr. Peters, the gate keeper. Baker was locked up in a small room adjoining the gate house. The police were telephoned for. The prisoner managed, whilst no one was watching him to escape from the room by a door at the rear, which he had unlocked. Baker was well provided with keys of various kinds.

The young man later from Port Hope, and boarded near the works. He will likely be apprehended soon.

P. O. IMPROVEMENTS

Changes in Local Post Office Greatly Appreciated

There has been much discussion on the recently placed improvements in our local post office. Most of the public attention has, of course, been attracted to the new P.O. boxes, which are of the most modern type.

Peterboro's population, particularly that of the commercial community has been greatly enlarged within the past two years or so, the additional accommodation in this section of drawers and boxes will be greatly appreciated.

Including the drawers there are 1,160 boxes, which is 128 more than were in the old office. There are six large drawers and 60 smaller ones. The boxes are divided into two sizes, so that all classes of business can be provided with all the box room they require. Altogether there were only 100 changes in the box numbers of the old box holders. The boxes are made of grained steel and handsomely nickle-plated, with bevelled glass numbered plates. The locks are of the Yale pattern and were made by the Peterboro Lock Co.

A great improvement is the additional general delivery. Brass guards are placed on the outside and the public must enter from the right and pass out at the left. Thus all crowding around the wicket will be done away with.

Large modern sorting tables, racks etc., for the rapid handling of heavy mails have been supplied in the rear department.

The money order and registered mail department is now a branch separate from the main office. The northeast corner has been partitioned off, and this place is enclosed by a strong wire screen in quartered oak frames. The front is a handsome oak desk with two glass wickets—registered letters and money orders. Inside all the modern ideas have been put in for the rapid and accurate transaction of this part of the work.

Then Postmaster Rogers has been well looked after. He has a private office, large, airy, well lighted and

RUGBY.

Those who take in the game on Saturday between the Toronto Argos and Peterboro will have an opportunity of seeing two games for the one admission. After the senior game the T.A.S. and Charlotte street Guild teams will meet in a friendly game.

• • • •

A. W. McPherson will captain the Varsity team during the enforced absence of Cozy Hamilton.

• • • •

Saturday's game promises to be one of the best that will be witnessed this season. If the public does not back up our home players, now all Peterboro expect to hold a good team together. Turn out, and bring your best girl or sorrow the otherfellow's for the afternoon, and see a good, clean, well contested game of rugby.

The game between the T.A.S. and Charlotte street Guild on Riverdale Park after the senior game on Saturday should be a good exhibition. No senior players will be allowed to take part.

The meeting of the Peterboro Turf Club which was advertised for Wednesday afternoon in the Ontario Hotel Chambers turned out a fizzle, only two members, Messrs. R. B. Massey and Arthur Hamilton being in attendance. This meeting was called to discuss the advisability of holding winter races.

THE TURF.

There is a probability of an important change being made in the local Turf Club soon. This is necessary in the interests of this club.

Mr. G. W. Curtis, who is well and favorably known among local horsemen, has written the Toronto Globe denying that his horse Keswick, sire of the now celebrated Maud Keswick, is dead. Mr. Curtis adds that Keswick can still do the mile in 2.10.

The matched race between Dan Johnston's mare, White Blaze and Mr. A Kimhurst's Little Will, that, as noted in a former issue of The Times, was in progress of arrangement, has for the time fallen through. A deposit to bind the deal had been put up, by both parties, but as the gentleman backing Little Will, failed on the evening of the 17th, to make good his full deposit, the forfeit was accordingly paid over to the other party.

Dexter Johnston offers to put up $100 or $150 on White Blaze, but stipulates that the race be on absolute ice, preferably at Ottawa, during the winter circuit meet there. The Doctor claims that both horses will be present at the Ottawa races, and all things considered, not to omit the allowances made for freight charges, Ottawa, in his opinion is the best place. He claims that whilst a separate fair play would be assured in Peterboro, at the Driving Park, the track could not be got to the perfection of glare ice. Mr. Cook yesterday took the long green with him to the Johnston's office to put up on Little Will, but could not see the Ottawa deal in the same light.

NEW MANAGEMENT

Mr. Jas. Head Now in Full Possession of the Clancy House

As foretold in a former issue of The Times, Mr. James Head, lately with the Crown Hotel, yesterday took full possession of his recent purchase the Clancy House, Hunter street.

This hotel is an old established place of resort, by travellers and the farmers of this county. The late proprietor, Mr. John Clancy, had been for 24 years in possession of the hotel to which he gave the family name.

Mr. Head, the new proprietor is a steady and industrious young man, who, during his years as wine clerk of the Crown Hotel, has gained a host of good friends.

Mr. Head will continue the business, for some time at least, under the well trade name of the Clancy House, that name being familiar all over this county.

The new proprietor has retained the services of Mr. W. Barnes as wine clerk, and will keep only the best brans of liquid refreshments for his patrons.

With Mr. Head's popularity among the townspeople, and the well known reputation of the Clancy House all over the County of Peterboro, we prophesy a successful business for the new proprietor.

FELL DEAD AT WEDDING FEAST

Quebec Man Sang a Song and Immediately Expired

Quebec, Oct. 20.—An old man named Chevalier, of St. Joachim, a small village on the north shore, east of St. Anne de Beaupre, fell dead while taking part in the festivities connected with his grandson's wedding. The guests were all assembled round the festive board enjoying themselves, according to the custom of the French Canadian habitant, when the old man was prevailed to sing a song. He complied, and when he concluded fell to the floor dead.

Drained Bank--Cashier Committed Suicide

T. Lee Clark Failed to Make Good Paper Obligations of the Institution Negotiated Through Him, and so Ended His Life

New York, Oct. 20.—T. Lee Clark, alive hours were made. According to [illegible] the [illegible] was [illegible] official, all this money is insured by bonds of the Mercantile Trust Company, of Pittsburg, and the United States Fidelity & Trust Company, of Baltimore.

Clark was associated as treasurer with former State Senator W. H. Andrews and Francis J. Torrance, who, according to President Gwynner, were borrowers of the bank, in the Santa Fe Central Railway Company, incorporated in New Mexico in 1901. The stock of the corporation has never been marketed. This road was built by Messrs. Andrews and Torrance. Cashier Clark was also a heavy investor in New Mexico and Mexico silver mining stocks, according to Mr. Gwynner.

PARALYZING CONDITIONS.

Andrews is a brother of Wesley R. Andrews, Senator Penrose's private secretary, and chairman of the Republican State Committee. At the last election he was elected as delegate from New Mexico to Congress and it is said that he aspires to be United States Senator from New Mexico when that territory is admitted to Statehood, although Andrews retains a residence here in apartments in the Hotel Schenley. He arrived here yesterday but refused to talk about the Enterprise Bank's troubles. When advised yesterday of the statements made by the president of the Enterprise National Bank that the closing of the doors was due to the loaning of State money to politicians, Homer L. Castle, candidate for the Supreme Court on the prohibition ticket, who has been campaigning the State in company with W. H. Berry, Democratic Prohibition candidate for State Treasurer, said:

"It is sorry. The life of a good man is a terrible price to pay for what has come on. We have been saying that these conditions existed, but we could not get behind the bank doors. Now a pistol shot has opened them and revealed paralyzing conditions. Nobody knows what will follow."

Large modern sorting tables, racks etc., for the rapid handling of heavy mails have been supplied in the rear department.

The money order and registered mail department is now a branch separate from the main office. The northeast corner has been partitioned off, and this place is enclosed by a strong wire screen in quartered oak frames. The front is a handsome oak desk with two glass wickets—registered letters and money orders. MONEY IS INSURED.

Although bank directors acknowledge having only $500,000 of the State funds, the assertion was made by one of the bank officials that the Enterprise had more than $1,000,000 State money on deposit before the extension of credit.

Concerning the closing of the bank and the suicide of Clark, a Bradstreet to the Herald from Pittsburg says: It was learned late Wednesday night that the disaster to the Enterprise Bank was expected in certain quarters. Plans for an exposure of the trafficking in State funds, it is said, were laid weeks ago. Mr. Clark was cognizant of this, and talked over the matter with several of the directors a few days ago.

The cashier was told by the directors that he would have to meet the paper obligations of the institution negotiated through him, and he promised to insure the bank against all loans for which he was responsible. The supposition is he was unable to accomplish this, and fearing the consequences, took his life.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow this blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tired-ness hung over me like a load. I felt Housework of any kind simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

JAPAN'S WAR DEBT

As the weeks pass since the signing of the peace protocol at Portsmouth evidence accummulates that Japan's financial condition is at least distressing. Great as was this nation in war, a severer task now confronts its statesmen in raising the money necessary to pay the enormous debt that has accrued within the last three years. The heroism that the Japanese have shown upon the battle-field and in naval combat challenged the admiration of the world. A new heroism must come forth to wrestle with the fiscal problems that threaten to overwhelm the little empire.

Japan now owes $1,250,000,000, whereas before the war the national debt was $241,000,000. This means that every man, woman and child in Japan must raise $25 as his or her proportion of the cost of the war, instead of $6 which was the per capita indebtedness before the first shot was fired against the Russians. The annual interest upon this great debt will be twice as large as the whole revenue of the country was at the close of the war with China and is more than half the normal revenue at the present time. This is merely the interest. If anything is to be paid on the principal it will mean that Japan must devote more than 50 cents on every dollar of income to pay for its war, and then the elimination of the debt will be a matter of long and tedious years. The revenue of Japan from sugar, coming in 1903-4 was only $128,000,000, and the interest of the new debt is alone $75,000,000.

The difficulties of the situation are increased measurably by the fact that wages in Japan are low, the hire of laborers being about 25 cents a day. Of course, Japan has a splendid future opening before it, but the burden that it must assume would be staggering to any nation, however prosperous. The wisdom of making peace on modified terms is fully demonstrated in the light of these figures.

Fiftieth Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders Was Held Yesterday

A VERY SATISFACTORY YEAR

It Is Decided That In Future Dividends Will be Paid Shareholders Quarterly

The fiftieth annual general meeting of the Molsons Bank was held in the Board Room of that institution at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The President, Mr. Wm. Molson Macpherson, occupied the chair, and others present were: Messrs. S. H. Ewing, vice-president; J. P. Cleghorn, Lieut.-Col. Fred C. Henshaw, H. Markland Molson, W. C. McIntyre, W. M. Ramsay, George Durnford, R. W. Shepherd, E. H. Copland, Edward Piske (Joliette), A. G. Watson, George Smith, Alfred Piddington, R. W. Ewing, George Filer, James Skaoch, E. K. Greene, F. W. Molson and W. R. Miller.

REPORT OF DIRECTORS.

The General Manager, Mr. James Elliot, then read the annual report of the Directors, as follows:

Gentlemen,—The Directors have pleasure in submitting this, their fiftieth annual report and statement, showing position of the Bank on 30th September, 1905.

The net profits for the year, after making provision for bad and doubtful debts, amount to $392,274.51.

Two dividends have been paid the Shareholders, making 10 per cent. for the year. The usual contribution made to Bank Pension Fund; $55,449.99 has been written off Bank buildings, and a bonus paid to the officers.

The balance left at Profit and Loss Account is $31,417.93.

Your Directors have thought it advisable to add considerably to the Bank's holdings of real estate for use of its branches, at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Exeter, and other places, making in all a large addition to its assets, and quite justifying the increase you will observe of $130,449 to the Bank Premises Account, which now stands at $400,000.

Branches have been opened during the year at Amherstburg, Ontario, and at St. Therese, Quebec, and a sub-agency at St. Thomas, Ontario, and a branch will be opened at St. Henri, so soon as our handsome building, now being erected on Notre Dame street, is ready for occupation.

All branches have been carefully inspected as usual during the year, and your Directors record with pleasure their satisfaction at the zeal and care displayed by the Officers in the discharge of their duties.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President then said:

"Gentlemen,—You have heard read the statement for the year, which, I am sure is gratifying. It establishes the Bank now as on what you might say, a new footing, paying 10 per cent. dividend. Further, I have no doubt the bonus to the officers is equally gratifying.

"It affords your Directors great pleasure to place before you this report, the result of another satisfactory year.

"You will observe by our statement that the Bank is in a strong position. Reserves of cash and quick Assets are ample. Deposits are increasing steadily, and our business shows a satisfactory growth.

"This is the fiftieth year of the Bank's existence. It is interesting to note some of the great changes that have taken place in this interval.

"In 1855 Canada's population was 2,250,000: now it is nearly 6,000,000.

"In 1855 there were 12 banks, with but a small number of branches; now there are 36 banks, with about 1,150 branches.

"The capital of the banks was then $15,000,000; it is now $86,000,000.

"Deposits were $11,000,000; now deposits in banks, Government savings banks, and loaning companies, amount to about $850,000,000.

"In 1855 the capital of the Molsons Bank paid up was $350,375; today it has a paid-up capital of $3,000,000, and a $1,000,000 reserve.

"It has never omitted paying a dividend, and for the whole period of fifty years, dividends averaging 8 per cent. per annum have been paid.

"It is gratifying to feel that The Molsons Bank has steadily progressed with the country, doing its share in providing additional capital where required, and establishing branches where business warranted it; these now number 48, the first of which was opened in London, Ontario, in 1870.

"It is pleasing to be here today some of us descendants of the founders of the Bank, whose records speak for their great business capacity and energy. We endeavor that the Bank shall continue in the careful and prudent policy laid down by the fathers of the institution, and carried on under the able management of the late General Manager, Mr. F. Wolferstan Thomas, and that the future may contribute the same satisfactory returns as in the past.

"The outlook seems promising, the great prosperity of our western country, the extension of the three great railways now required to bring our products to markets, the increasing tide of immigration, mainly of a satisfactory class, reasonably assure us, under Providence, years ahead of continued prosperity.

"Let me here read the opinion of United States authority, Mr. B. W. Snow:

"'In all my experience, I do not know of any other country or land on the face of the globe, of the same extent containing as large a percentage of high class wheat land, as lies between Winnipeg and the Rockies. This is a big statement, but it is absolutely true and correct. I have watched the development of this new country for some years past, and I believe it is a matter of a very few years, until what we in the Northern States call North-Western Canada will produce a larger surplus of wheat for the world's market than is now produced in any other country.'

"Such development brings prosperity to the whole of Canada, and we hope to share therein.

"Your directors have great pleasure in placing before you such a statement as we have today. We have repeatedly been approached, as possibly a progressive bank, and asked if we would not make the dividend a quarterly one. For some time we deemed it unwise to entertain the idea; but now we have our Reserve Fund equal to the capital, and are doing everything we can for the advantage of our Shareholders, we would suggest to the meeting today, if it is your pleasure, that we are willing to undertake to pay a quarterly dividend. It is very gratifying to feel ourselves in a position to do so.

"The whole staff of the bank has cause today to feel proud of the result of their work in connection with the Bank. The Directors desire to express to them their appreciation of their services, and are pleased to be able to show this in a tangible way, by the bonus which has been given.

"I beg to move the adoption of the annual report."

This was seconded by Mr. S. H. Ewing, Vice-President.

THANKS ARE TENDERED.

Mr. R. W. Shepherd then moved: "That the thanks of the Shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors for their efficient services during the past year."

This was seconded by Mr. Edward Piske, and unanimously concurred in.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of directors, the President announcing that, if agreeable, only ballot be cast.

This was unanimously agreed to.

The scrutineers then reported the re-election of the retiring Board of Directors viz.: Messrs. J. P. Cleghorn, S. H. Ewing, Lieut.-Colonel Fred C. Henshaw, H. Markland Molson, Wm. Molson Macpherson, Wm. C. McIntyre, and W. M. Ramsay.

The President thanked the Shareholders for their attendance, and observed that it could only be hoped that a continuance of prosperity might remain with the Molsons Bank.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. Wm. Molson Macpherson was re-elected President, and Mr. S. H. Ewing Vice-President for the ensuing year.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of the disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish." W. BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Could it have been because she knew that she and her little girl were unprovided for, and that she did not like being a burden on a husband? Winton was fairly well off, and, most likely, so let such an obstacle stand in the way of his own or her happiness. Could it be any hesitation about leaving her (Nora) alone with some mere hired stranger for a companion? No; Helen was too sensible for such an overstrained sense of duty or friendship. Then, as she gazed into the red mass which glowed in the grate, memory unrolled her long record of paste benefits and generous acts. The quiet, steady kindliness, which had won her childish heart, in spite of her natural prejudice against a step-mother, the perpetual shield she interposed between the irritable, exacting, tyrannical father and his daughter. Now that Nora was a woman—a thoughtful, observant woman—how many instances of her step-mother's patience, her care for every one's comfort, her entire self-forgetfulness, came back to her mind from dim, bygone days. Her own vague wonder that Helen never wanted to go anywhere, never sought release from the wearying attendance on her querulous, suspicious, invalid husband, her undefined impression that somehow life was over for her young step-mother—that she had nothing left but endurance and kindly thought for others. What would she herself have been, had she been reduced to a single-handed struggle with such difficulties—as existence would have presented itself without Helen? How much of youth would she have enjoyed? How much of education, or pleasure, or freedom from the stunting effect of care too heavy for her years? Yes! She saw it all clearly. Helen had been more than a mother to her, for she had no claim to such tender, discriminating care. "And if I can repay her I will," thought Nora, her heart glowing warm and strong. "Nothing shall stand between me and a woman to whom I owe so much. Thank God! she is brighter and stronger now than I ever remember her. I do hope Bea will grow up a tender, loving daughter! She has a dash of my father's temper! But why—why did Helen send Mark Winton away? I can fancy their whole story—growing into love with each other, almost from their school-days—then his going away to seek his fortune, some misunderstanding separating them probably. Helen, left a penniless orphan, with no hope in the future, tempted by the chance of a settled home with my father. It is a sad enough story, and I suppose a common one. Well! she shall have peace now if I can secure it. But—why did she send Mark Winton away? I am sure she did; I must not ask her; I must not seem intrusive. Will she ever tell me?"

That evening Nora was more than usually kind and cheerful; she insisted on Mrs. L'Estrange lying down where her eyes were shaded from the light, and she read aloud from a picturesque book of travels.

When bed-time came and they parted for the night, Mrs. L'Estrange put her arm around Nora, and kissing her gently, said:

"You are a good dear daughter, or I should say younger sister, to me; you made my life happier than I ever expected it to be." She went quickly upstairs, leaving Nora touched and surprised, for neither were demonstrative women and rarely exchanged caresses.

The days went by, however, and Mrs. L'Estrange did not show any inclination to tell Nora the story she had promised; still, her step-daughter waited with loyally suppressed curiosity, and tidings reached them that Winton had gone as far as Florence with some Indian friends outward bound to Bombay, and had passed through London without calling to see them.

Meantime, Lady Dorrington flattered herself that her plans were maturing successfully. The day after Mrs. Ruthven had been installed in the principal guest-chamber at Chedworth, Marsden arrived from town, and made himself charmingly agreeable to every one, especially to Mrs. Ruthven. The pretty little widow visibly revived after his arrival, and lost something of the pained, strained look in her eyes, which had given Lady Dorrington such uneasiness.

"You ought to go out more, my dear Mrs. Ruthven," she said, as that lady was bidding her hostess good-night. "There are lots of pretty drives about, and I have a capital pair of ponies."

"To say nothing of an excellent charioteer, in the shape of an unworthy brother. Pray allow me to show you the neighborhood. I am duly qualified for the task of cicerone," said Marsden.

"Thank you," and Mrs. Ruthven raised her eyes to his with a long, searching look. "If you really don't mind losing a day's hunting! It is a tremendous sacrifice!"

"Sacrifice!" cried Marsden, laughing. "If sacrifice and penance always took such a form, what a penitent I'd be! Then, if fine, we will take our first tour of inspection immediately after luncheon."

The weather was all that could be desired, more like late September than early November; and the excursion was so successful that another was arranged for the following day.

"I have been thinking, my dear Mrs. Ruthven," said Marsden, as he pulled in the ponies to make them walk quietly up a long hill, "I have been thinking that Dorrington would not make a bad trustee for you. He is really an excellent old fellow, and not at all a bad man of business, though a boring air hangs round him still."

"He might not like the trouble, and I am really in no hurry."

"But it is quite necessary that you should have another trustee."

begin to feel the responsibility rather too much for me. I should prefer a colleague, because—Oh! for several reasons."

"Does he wish this matter to be settled before he offers himself to me?" thought Mrs. Ruthven, looking into the dark-blue eyes admiringly fixed upon her; and smiling responsively, she said, "If you think well, pray ask Lord Dorrington."

"It would come better from yourself. You know my brother-in-law is one of your many devoted admirers. His will be flattered by the request."

"As I shall be if he accepts."

"Which, of course, he will. I often wish I were a better man of business, for your sake. I am, or have been, too great a lover of pleasure. I suppose I must turn to gravity and ambition some day."

"Were I a man, I should certainly be ambitious. I should not like to be second to any one."

"What an awful vista of toil and trouble you conjure up; still, you make me ashamed of myself. If I had some one near to inspire me, I might do something. I began to think I have drifted about long enough."

"Is it coming?" thought Mrs. Ruthven for the twentieth time, as she twisted the tassel of her parasol round its handle in painful anxiety.

"Will you drive with me to-morrow?" resumed Marsden earnestly. "I want you to trust yourself to me for a longer expedition than usual; to a charming village about ten or

CURLING.

The semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association was held Tuesday in Toronto. Col. E. B. Edwards represented the Peterboro Club.

In the Tankard it was agreed that groups 1 and 5 should be repeat by the committee. The present arrangement is—

Group No. 5—Port Hope, Colborne, Lindsay, Peterboro, Cobourg, Hobgaygeon, Uxbridge, Peterboro Fallis. Umpire, J. W. Corcoran. Play at Peterboro.

This change was made in response to the suggestion of Mr. J. D. Flavelle of Lindsay, who said that the clubs in group five had been playing the same clubs for 25 years, and were desirous of mixing in with the other clubs. On a vote it was decided to adopt the suggestion. These groups will be recast and both will play at Toronto.

The matter was re-opened on request of Col. Edwards, who wanted play continued at Peterboro. The application was refused.

Col. Edwards, was elected a member of the Committee on Complaints and Appeals. It was a wise choice.

The order included silks mainly of the more expensive class, but included some of the grades of silks, ribbons, fabrics. The Nanaki Company's order amounted to the tidy sum of $3,000.

$50 REWARD.

The Geo. Matthews' Company Offer Reward for Apprehension of a Vandal

In the buildings of the Geo. Matthews & Co., in this city appears a placard offering the sum of fifty dollars for such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of a party still unknown.

It seems that some two or three nights ago some maliciously disposed person deliberately destroyed quite a quantity of prime hams, that were all smoked, preserved and ready to be boiled. The party committing this senseless and malicious act of vandalism, took a quantity of the best Bone Brand hams, that were just ready for the final treatment and wantonly destroyed them. This ill-disposed person took a sharp knife and slit the hams from end to end, rendering them useless for commercial purposes. Not content with this mutilating the hams, this destroyer of property, deliberately, after slitting the hams, evidently, with his hands, tore the meat off, completely ending all chance of sale for the hams.

Messrs. Matthews, have as stated offered a substantial reward for prosecution of the party who wantonly destroyed their property.

The Well Known Harness Manufacturer Recovers from His Fall

We are pleased to state that yesterday evening, Mr. B. F. Ackerman was resting easier, and fortunately, as far as can be ascertained, has not received serious injury beyond the severe shock and pain resulting from his fall of Wednesday, although it will take some time before he is able to get to business again.

It seems that Wednesday afternoon, while examining some goods on the shelves in the stock room at his factory, Mr. Ackerman was mounted on a ladder, and, coming down, slipped on the fourth rung from the bottom. He fell backwards and struck his head on the edge of a table. The blow was a severe one, and for a few minutes he was prostrated. Members of the office staff came to his assistance, and he was was removed to his home and medical aid summoned.

GUPID'S MIRROR.

"The beauty of a woman's face or figure is but the external sign of the good health within," says Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the specialist in women's diseases. Further, to be happy and beautiful one must naturally have good health. Now, if a woman has dragging-down feelings, together with constantly returning pains and aches, a too great drain upon her vitality and strength, she will never look beautiful. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, all result from those disorders peculiar to women, and the only way to effect their cure is to strike at the source of the difficulty. There is every reason why she should write some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

During a long period of practice, Doctor Pierce found that a prescription made up entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, cured ninety-eight per cent. of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

In many cases Dr. R. V. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will fit the needs and put the body in healthy condition.

So sure of it is Dr. Pierce, he offers a reward of $500 for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

Don't allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by offering you a cheap substitute.

Large Shipment of Salmon

Yesterday Mr. A. Rountree The George street grocer, received what may fairly be called a large consignment of a totally new brand of salmon. This consignment consisted of 150 cases of the Gazelle Brand of British Columbia salmon. The label on the cans is a very catching one, being a representation of birch bark, suitably inscribed with the trade emblems and usual description of the goods. Mr. Rountree was also fortunate enough to secure 50 cases, the last left in Montreal, of the high grade Rodel & Figa Freres' sardines. That these are good goods may be guessed by the price, fifty cents per can.

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value. $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co. New York.

JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.

JOHN LAMBERT,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.

ISAAC L. ELWOOD,
American Steel & Wire Co., Dekalb Ill

LOYAL L. SMITH,
New York.

CAPT. WM. FLEMING,
Chicago, Ill.

General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 3rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely market value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company Stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year.

"IN TRAFALGAR'S BAY"

One Hundredth Anniversary of Nelson's Great Sea Fight

BRITISH EMPIRE CELEBRATES THE EVENT TO-DAY

"England Expects That Every Man This Day Will Do His Duty."

The concert given tonight, under auspices of the Local Sons of England, in honor of Trafalgar's victory, calls to mind, and opens up a vista, through all the long years of a century, one of England's most memorable victories.

The recent victories of the Japanese are somewhat similar to those gained by the immortal Nelson. Togo and Nelson link a century of naval achievement.

The world today is ringing with praise of the Japanese admiral. One hundred years ago, October 21, 1805, it mixed its cheers with tears, for the heroic victory of Trafalgar, when Nelson, after defeating the French and Spanish, and breaking the naval power of Napoleon, went to his death in the very hour of triumph.

Trafalgar now belongs to the whole world. The celebration of its 100th anniversary can no longer be confined to England. Its importance has come to be appreciated in all countries. An American, Capt. Mahan, in his book, "The Influence of Sea Power on History," most thoroughly outlined all that was accomplished when Nelson defeated Villeneuve.

The great victory of October 21, 1905 taught this great lesson that the day of hand to hand conflict, one vessel against another had passed, and that the great sea power of the future would be the one that maintained the great and knew how to maneuver it.

This lesson learned by England and other great nations, has elevated Japan to a place among the great sea powers.

It will be remembered that the hero and conqueror at Trafalgar, the immortal Nelson, married the young widow of Dr. Nisbet, an English physician, and how his subsequent separation from her when he fell a victim to the charms of the beautiful Lady Hamilton, forms a romantic chapter in English history.

Briefly speaking, Trafalgar grew out of the desire of Napoleon, then at the zenith of his glory, to invade England. To this end a strong fleet of French and Spanish ships was divided into three squadrons at Brest, Toulon and Rochefort, the whole under the command of Admiral Villeneuve. There is little doubt that had the fleet succeeded in defeating Nelson, England would have lain at the mercy of the Emperor, for the British defences were dependent entirely on the navy.

By masterly manoeuvring, the British squadron worked to keep the French fleets from effecting a junction, until the British admiral was able to mass his forces.

It was on the 19th of October that Villeneuve, spurred on by the sharp orders of Napoleon, put to sea from Cadiz.

The eager Nelson, waiting far outside, at once made for the Straits of Gibraltar, to bar the entrance to the Mediterranean. He had only twenty-seven ships with which to meet thirty-three French and Spanish ships of the line and five frigates and two brigs.

Nelson's ships were to approach in two parallel lines, nearly a mile apart one column under command of himself, the other followed after by Admiral Collingwood. Nelson was on the Victory, with seventy-four guns, commanding twelve ships on the right, Collingwood, on the left, commanded fifteen ships.

The French and Spaniards advanced in five columns, in straggling lines across the British course.

It was at 11:30 when Cape Trafalgar was 12 miles distant that Nelson raised in flags his famous signal, "England expects every man to do his duty."

In the centre of the French line was the flagship, the Bucentaure, a magnificent fighter of eighty guns, Admiral Villeneuve had chosen this as the ship from which he should direct the battle.

Vice Admiral Alava was on the Santa Anna, a few ships away. The two British leaders instantly picked out these two ships as the point of their attack, Collingwood making for the Santa Anna and Nelson for the Bucentaure.

The Royal Sovereign, Collingwood's flagship, got into the enemy by 12 o'clock, three-quarters of an hour ahead of the others. This forced Lord Nelson to fume with impatience, while his fellow admiral was raking the Santa Anna from stem to stern.

Side by side the Royal Sovereign and the Santa Anna battled. Collingwood profited by the better training of his fleet, receiving aid from the other ships, and eventually sank or captured twelve of the sixteen ships forming Alva's rear line.

The Victory raised the Bucentaure, and was on a fair way to complete her destruction when a ship to the leeward blocked the way. This led to the memorable hand-to-hand battle between the Victory and the Redoubtable. The Frenchman on this ship justified its name, for they stuck to the conflict till only thirty-five of a crew of 643 were left.

At half past 1, just when victory was in the grasp of the British, Nelson was struck by a bullet fired from the enemy's rigging. He fell on the deck mortally wounded.

As they carried him down into the cockpit already covered with the dead and dying, he covered his face and epaulettes with a handkerchief, so that the fighting sailors might not recognize him and become panic stricken over his loss. When they brought him news that the victory was complete, and that fifteen of the enemy's ships were captured, he expressed his regret that the number had fallen short of the twenty on which he had counted.

Lord Nelson died a few minutes after the Achilles and Intrepide had blown up.

The triumph of the British arms was complete. The French and Spaniards lost eighteen ships. Admirals Villeneuve and Cisneros were taken prisoners, Admirals Alva and Gravina were wounded and the French rear admiral killed.

The body of Lord Nelson was taken back to England in a leaden casket, and he was interred at St. Paul's cathedral, in the midst of one of the most pretentious ceremonies that England ever saw.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY

Peterboro Sandstone Brick Co. Have Applied for Charter

Still another industry will be added to Peterboro's long list of manufacturing establishments. This latest addition to the healthy and large family of local industries, is unique of its kind in Canada.

Letters patent have been granted to the "Peterboro Sandstone Brick Company, Limited," for the purpose and objects following:—(a) To manufacture, sell, trade and deal in bricks and other building material made of sand and lime, or any other materials; (b) To sell clay, gravel, sand or lime, and (c) To trade and deal in building materials of wood, stone, sand, lime or iron, and all other kinds of building materials whatsoever."

The share capital of the company is $50,000.00, divided into 1,000 shares of $50.00 each, and the provisional directors of the Company are: Messrs. John Joseph English, of the village of Hastings, merchant; Robert Hartshaw, of the village of Warkworth; merchant; John James Hartley, contractor; Andrew Brown, agent, and Ernest Simpson Carry, all of the city of Peterboro. The head office of the company is Peterboro.

Sufficient capital has already been subscribed to authorize the company commencing at once to erect their plant, which, with it is estimated, make 15,000 brick daily.

This company, we understand, have not as yet, definitely decided what part of the city will be chosen for their factory, but they will likely be guided in their choice, by reasons of access to railway facilities.

The bricks the company will make are to be manufactured from sand and lime, and can be turned out, complete from the raw material in twenty-four hours. One great point of advantage claimed for these bricks is that they take less mortar in placing on a building.

If the bricks turn out as well as represented, with the active building operations now in evidence here, the home market alone will give the company a good share of business.

MR. PORTER RETURNS

Agent of Big Cariboo Mine Is Again Giving Local Citizens a Chance for Investment

Our readers will remember that some months ago Mr. Geo. L. Porter, representing the Big Cariboo Mine of Tuolumne Co., California, when here before, disposed of some $25,000 worth of stock in his mines.

Mr. Porter only arrived in the city yesterday by the 11.50 C.P.R. express, and before four o'clock in the afternoon, had placed a large block of stock, with one of our leading business men.

Those looking for an investment that assuredly holds out grand prospects, in the way of dividends, should call upon Mr. Porter, at the White House. He will only remain in the city for a few days. Mr. Porter tells us that the mine is not a speculative investment now, as the ore bodies have been developed. The only thing his company now needs stock for is to increase their milling capacity, from a 20-stamp mill to 50 and over.

SEVEN YEARS OLD

Mr. Williamson of Y. M. C. A. Gets a Post Card That Was Delayed

The recent improvements in our local post office, has unearthed several long delayed letters and postals, which have evidently fallen into cracks, and disappeared, or been carried away by mice, as a foundation for the family residence.

The latest example of misplaid communications which has come to light after a disappearance of years, was a post card delivered on Thursday to Mr. Geo. H. Williams, secretary of the local Y.M.C.A.

The post card was dropped in the local office May 31st, 1898 and asked Mr. Williamson to attend the half-yearly meeting of the P.L.E. Association which would be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday, June 6th, 1898 at 8 p.m. The card was signed by R. Hotland, 437 Sherbrooke street and dated May 30th, 1898. The card was found during the alterations, and though somewhat disfigured is still legible after being over seven years in the building.

ELECTIONS ON NOV. 9th.

Alberta Will Show Its Opinion on the Political Situation

Calgary, Alberta, Oct. 20. — On Thursday, Nov. 9, the electorate of this new Province of Alberta, will decide whether the west supports the railway-bound government forced upon it from Ottawa or the no-coercion policy of Bennett and his provincial rights party.

The writs for the first election in the new Province of Alberta were issued last night. They call for:

Nominations, Oct. 31.

Elections, Nov. 9.

The date of the polling is curiously enough, the King's Birthday.

CZAR ISSUES A PEACE MANIFESTO

Formal Thanks to President Roosevelt for His Services

CZAR PRAISES HIS TROOPS

The Two Emperors Send Congratulations to The President

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—The Czar has issued the following peace manifesto:

"God has caused our Fatherland to suffer sore trials and blows of fate in a sanguinary war, which has afforded manifold proofs of the bravery and courage of our glorious troops in an obstinate struggle against a brave and mighty enemy. This war, so painful to us all, is ended. The Eastern portion of our country will develop itself in peace and good neighborliness with the Japanese Empire, which has now become our friend.

"In communicating our resolution for peace to our subjects we are sure that their prayers will be joined with ours that God will give His blessing to our great labors in conjunction with those of the men elected by the people for the development and prosperity of Russia.

(Signed), "NICHOLAS."

THANKS TO ROOSEVELT.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The Russian and Japanese Emperors have forwarded formal expressions of thanks to President Roosevelt for his services during the peace conference.

The Russian Ambassador has forwarded the Emperor's message, which in part is as follows:

"At this historical hour, his august sovereign cannot but recollect with sincere pleasure the efforts put forward by the President in order to co-operate in the attainment of that great result. These efforts have been the more highly appreciated as they entirely responded to the sentiments of friendship and regard which animate his Imperial Majesty towards the President personally and towards the American people."

The note from the Japanese Emperor reads:

"The formalities necessary to bring the Treaty of Portsmouth into full force and vigor having been accomplished and peace having been definitely re-established between Japan and Russia, I desire again to express to you my very high appreciation of your distinguished and important service in the cause of peace."

SOLDIERS "SALT HOSS"

Often Leaves Him as Bad as Wounded

Army food has ruined the digestion of many good wise men. A veteran speaking of how a wise selection of food helped him, says:

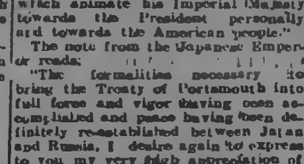
"For over 6 years my stomach gave me an immense amount of trouble. Everything I put into it seemed to cause an internal (and infernal) revolution which unfitted me more or less for business. My doctors told me that the trouble was all brought about by the salt pork or salt beef (or horse) which comprised the main part of the food supplied me by Uncle Sam during my three years' service in the great Civil War.

"For many years I tried cracked wheat, oatmeal, boiled rice, and many other things, but my stomach kept up its unpleasant grumblings and painful aches.

"A little over a year ago while in Detroit on business, a friend sitting at the breakfast table with me, ordered as a starter, a dish of Grape-Nuts. 'Make it two' said I. It was my first experience with Grape-Nuts food and I was delighted to find not only that it was most palatable, but that I had much less of the internal commotion than usually followed my morning meal. Since then I have eaten Grape-Nuts every morning for breakfast and frequently for luncheon also.

"My stomach has been toned up and is stronger than it has been since 1867. I have no more of the old pains and uneasiness and I am better able to attend to my business. This result I attribute to the use of Grape-Nuts, as I have taken no medicines meantime." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in every pkg.



At yesterday's police court George Kane was charged with not sending his boy to school, and explained that his boy was now attending school. His Worship asked whether he wanted a constable to sit at his door and see that the boy went. He enlarged the case saying that the boy must go or he would impose a fine.

Mr. T. Cavanagh was charged with depositing objectionable matter in the creek on Simcoe street. As Mr. Cavanagh was in Montreal, the magistrate enlarged the case until Monday.

Young Taylor who escaped from St. John's Industrial School, Toronto, was up yesterday before the court. His Worship simply remarked, "Well young man you are going back to the school from which you escaped. If you ever come before me again, I'll not deal very gently with you."

Anson Moore, the undersized yard man, of the American House, Hunter street, was on trial yesterday morning at the police court. It will be remembered that the yard man objected to Robert Londerville sleeping off his jag in the hay-loft of that popular hotel.

Londerville had little memory of what occurred the night he was not only ejected from the loft, but badly beaten and damaged, so that a trip for repairs was necessary to St. Joseph's hospital.

Several witnesses of the scrap said that Londerville, under the influence of liquor, climbed into the hay loft of the hotel stable and went to sleep. Moore tried to make him go away and Londerville refused. The evidence showed that Moore had struck the almost helpless man with a club and had also kicked him.

This prisoner, in his own defence, claimed he was obeying orders when he ejected the intoxicated Londerville. His Worship gave the prisoner a lecture on his powers and officiers and assessed him in the sum of $10, with the alternative of 20 days in Castle Nesbitt.

For lack of sufficient of the "root," Moore took the days.

A COMING SUIT

Mr. Alex Reid Will Sue Contractor on Post Office Addition

Mr. Alex. Reid, who carries His Majesty's mails to and from the post office and railway stations, is mad, or at least, he was mad last night. Not a little two for a rickio mad either! Mr. Reid is exasperated from the crown of his hat fight down to the tips of his No. 9 brogans.

The mail carrier, freely expressed his opinions concerning the inconveniences he has suffered during the post office re-building, and some of his expressions would not bear repitition in the g.f.j., so lucid and sulphur exhaling were they!

His grievance, as stated to a Times representative last night, in the presence of several citizens, is as follows:

Shortly after Mr. Bellingham, contractor on the post office addition, began operations, Mr. Reid claimed, he left scaffold poles and stone piles promiscuously scattered in the right of way to the mail entrance.

One result of this, Mr. Reid claimed, was that one dark night his horse, whilst dragging His Majesty's mails to the post office, stumbled over, and fell on the stone pile, sustaining injuries that are still in evidence.

The next important trouble encountered by Mr. Reid was an obstruction caused by placing scaffold poles so he could not gain admittance to the post office mail entrance.

Mr. Reid cut the Gordian knot of this trouble by the use of a stout rope, backed by sturdy muscles. The poles were simply yanked bodily from their perpendicular location, and flung to the rear of the yard.

Here Mr. Hartley enters upon the scene! Mr. Reid stated last night that Mr. Hartley, when the poles were again planted preparatory to erecting the brick work, promised him an assistant to help carry the mails from Water street, as the aforesaid poles barred his entrance to the office. Mr. Reid claims that the assistant helped him for a few trips, but that, on his midnight trips, he had to carry in the mails himself or hire a man.

In all, Mr. Reid claims to have sustained considerable delay and inconvenience during thirteen weeks, with 92 trips per week.

The mail carrier vehemently asserted his intention of at once entering suit against Mr. Bellingham, for a considerable sum to recompense him for the 1196 trips.

BOARD OF WORKS

Application Made by G. T. R. Granted on Certain Conditions

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night, with Mayor Beat and Aldermen Adams, chairman, Hatten and Towey present. The city solicitor and engineer were also present. The first matter engaging the attention of those present, was an application made by the G.T.R. for permission to lower their grade on the Lakefield line some five feet on Smith St., and different depths on other streets. It was resolved that the Board recommend that the application be granted provided the railway gives the city permission to lay water mains under their tracks and build, so as to comply in all details with requirements of the city engineer.

Messrs. Sanderson and Ward asked for permission to connect their premises on Dowsie and Brock streets, with the Brock street sewer. It was moved by Ald. Towey, seconded by Ald. Hatten that consent be given to connect with sewer, by way of lane, in the rear, provided the parties pay an amount rented by the city, for 20 years, on the same basis as though a sewer frontage tax was charged, on the frontage, rental is to cease, should a sewer be placed on Dowsie street, and let six to assessed for sewer frontage tax.

A letter from Mr. R. C. Brand was read, in which the writer complained of the bad state of sidewalk in front of his store. It was decided to repair the sidewalk.

A petition, well signed, was read for a granolithic pavement on the south side of Glimour street from Park to St. Joseph's street, granted. Several petitions for granolithic pavements were received, but as they were not properly signed, no action was taken.

—Havelock Standard says: A number of our citizens journeyed to Peterboro on Friday evening of last week, and were initiated into the mysteries of Oddfellowship by the Peterboro degree team.

Canada Libelled By Western Australia

Malicious Misrepresentation Made of Climate and Pests in Order to Divert Emigration From the Dominion

London, Oct. 21.—The general report of the Royal Commission on Immigration for Western Australia, for increasing land settlement just issued by the Colonial Government, contains an outrageous attempt to advertise the superior advantages for colonization in that colony, by misrepresenting Canada. In furtherance of this object, the commission exhibit farm life and its issues in the Canadian North-West and Western Australia, greatly to the former's disadvantage.

The Canadian conditions are obtained by garbling the evidence of Dr. Saunders and Mr. Fletcher in 1902, and that of three witnesses—Risdale, an ex-pioneer farmer of Indian Head, Cuman Grosse, and Mr. Baker, both Americans, with a short experience of the North-West. All Fletcher's evidence on Canada's insect pests and weeds is made to apply to the North-West. Selected statements by Mr. Risdale are used to insist on the danger of frost to the crops, the scarcity of timber fuel, the precarious rainfall, with the opinion that half the time and energy put into the North-West would make a man prosperous in Western Australia.

Similar use is made of the American witnesses' comments on climate, with its "43 degrees of frost" in the winter. It is said to be a common thing to find a man frozen to death in his bed, while lung diseases and typhoid are reported prevalent and catarrh to be universal. Canada's prairie lands are called "the old summer home of the buffalo, but man, unlike the buffalo, cannot migrate before the frost and snow. Canada, therefore, is seriously handicapped by the climate, and seeding and harvest are limited by the long winter."

CAN HANDLE MORE LAND.

In all these points it is argued that Western Australia compares favorably for wheat-growing, and as also the settler there can handle 250 acres arable land against 120 in the North-West, notwithstanding a lower return per acre, the money value of the individual farmer is given as fifty per cent. higher in Western Australia, where the area suitable for wheat exceeds 148,000,000 acres.

The Agent-General of Western Australia, in having his attention drawn by the Canadian Associated Press to the Royal Commission report, declared he was entirely ignorant of what the report contained, had not even seen it, and expressed surprise that a copy of the report could be obtained in London.

DUMPING GROUND FOR UNDESIRABLES

London Magistrate has Queer Opinions Regarding Immigrants

SENDS CRIMINAL TO CANADA

Releases Man From Custody on Condition That He Sails at Once for Dominion

London, October 19.—Canada continues to be the dumping ground for certain English undesirables. The following is a report of one of yesterday's police court cases before the recorder of London:

"Ernest Pask, aged 30, commercial traveller, brought up for sentence, having pleaded guilty to an indictment of obtaining goods on false pretences, the recorder, at the request of the defence, released the prisoner on the understanding that he be conveyed to Liverpool in the custody of an officer, and there sent off to Canada, where the Young Men's Christian Association at Montreal would take him in hand."

This sort of thing could be greatly checked if the Canadian Government adopted the suggestion made some time ago to instruct the High Commissioner to address a polite reminder to the magistrates that Canada has no room for English suspects and criminals.

KID M'COY MARRIES HIS FIFTH WIFE

Present Mrs. Selby is Rich and Pugilist Will Leave the Ring

New York, Oct. 20.—The Herald says: Norman Selby, who during his career as a middleweight pugilist in the prize ring was known as "Kid" McCoy, was married last night at the Algonquin Hotel here by the Rev. Jas. L. Lee, of the Westminster Presbyterian church, to Mrs. Lillian T. Ellis, of Schenectady. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Selby said that he had dropped the name of McCoy forever. "I promised my wife that when we married the sporting life I led would be left behind. I have seen everything. Nothing in the long experience I have had with sporting people to me. With that kind of life I am done. I intend to drop the name of McCoy forever. I want my friends to know that it will offend if they so address me. I am now going to be a business man. It is Mr. Selby's fifth matrimonial venture. He was twice divorced from and three times married to Julia Woodruff. It was during his stay at a farm at Saratoga that Edward C. Ellis and his wife, who was formerly Lillian Earl, an actress, became acquainted with Mr. Selby. Ellis was a man of wealth. He inherited a fortune upon the death of his father, the founder of the Ellis Locomotive works at Schenectady. His wealth was willed to his wife when he died in 1904.

DETECTIVE SEIZED 18 LIVE BEAVERS

But There is a Doubt as to the Place of Capture

Quebec, Oct. 21.—An important seizure of live beavers was made at Levis yesterday afternoon by Detective Patry. The animals were en route to the United States from St. Pamphile, L'Islet county, and were in charge of a man named Alfred Caron. There were eighteen beavers in the lot and they were all fine animals. One of them weighed fully forty pounds. The animals after their seizure were brought to this side of the river and taken to the Court House. There appears to be some doubt as to whether the animals were taken in Canadian or United States territory, however, and it is understood that Caron intends to contest the seizure.

REFORM MAY START AMONG LIFE MEN

Mr. Schiff Thinks Papers Should not Criticize Insurance Flagrantes

New York, Oct. 21.—Mr. Jacob H. Schiff, the well-known financier and executive director of the Equitable Life, in the course of a speech at the dinner of public accountants in this city said, relative to insurance matters:

"The present situation—with the lasting and wholesome effect it will without doubt exercise—has, however, much that must be discouraging to men of self-respect. The very men, directors of great insurance companies, who, in face of a peculiar system and conditions have at least made the endeavor to direct, have come in for particular criticism, not only for not discovering shortcomings of executive officers, but alike for the legitimate conduct of their own affairs. Calm judgment and deliberation are somewhat in danger of disappearing, and it is indeed high time that the conservative public grant rather seek to allay excitement than to stimulate it, as has become the habit. The most valuable asset of a community is the good name and reputation of its citizens, and it is a serious state of affairs when reputations come to be considered solely as to their value for the number of headlines and amount of copy they will furnish to the sensational newspaper."

CANADIAN RAILWAYS NOT AFFECTED

American Railway Legislation Not Detrimental to C.P.R.

Montreal, Oct. 21.—The leading officials of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways here refuse to discuss seriously the new Elkins-Townsend Bill regulating the jurisdiction of the Inter-State Commerce, now under the consideration of the United States Senate. They declare that this measure will not in any considerable degree affect the rights of the great Canadian railways. The third clause of the Act which enacts that the Inter-State Commission shall have jurisdiction over terminal railways, is intended, they state, more as a precautionary measure than as a change in existing regulations. The aim of the bill is uniformity throughout.

TORTURE OF PRISONERS

Removed to Hospital at Warsaw after Being Subjected to Cruelties

Warsaw, October 20.—Two prisoners named Schultze and Engrat, charged with shooting a cotton manufacturer at Lods, have been removed to the Red Cross Hospital, after being subjected to torture by order of Chief of Police Scolkovich. Both prisoners were injured internally their fingers broken and their bodies covered with wounds. Schultz has a broken shoulder and both arms suffered similarly. Torturers placed iron rolls between the fingers of their victims, then squeezed their fingers together with ropes. Later the hands of the prisoners were bound behind their and they were hoisted to the ceiling and allowed to fall to the floor.

—The directors of the East Peterboro Agricultural Society met at the town hall, yesterday afternoon, to receive the financial statement and settle up the accounts for the year.

Indicates Faulty Blood and Worn Out Nerves—Build Up or Total Collapse Will Surely Follow

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was lassitude and lack of vitality is told by Mr. Davis Brown, [illegible] Ont. "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

THE CONTROL OF DISEASE

Beyond war, beyond all forms of robbery, peculation and graft, private, corporate and governmental, the great evil for society to grapple is disease in its various forms.

To destroy disease is a problem that requires little but enlightenment, for the incentive to escape it, and its consequences, is so great that once men are taught the way they are sure to act on it. It is fast coming to be understood that the most effective method is prevention, and able scientific men the world over are laboring to compass this. As to smallpox, it may be said to have been accomplished, and how to do it with yellow fever and malaria is known and will before very long be universally practiced

Much work is being done in all countries to discover means of rendering everyone immune from the leading diseases by inoculation, and the prospect is very hopeful that it will be accomplished Mentchikoff, the head of the Pasteur Institute at Paris, successor to the great founder, is sanguine of result along these lines. He believes that the white corpuscles of the blood contain beneficient bacteria which he calls phagocytes, and which when in condition devour the infurious ones which are [illegible] into the system. These phagocytes if properly re-enforced, he says, will keep a man in good order and full of vigor till he is a hundred. He advises as contributory to this end, and himself uses, sour milk daily. Many will recall that buttermilk has long in the country been thought a most wholesome beverage.

We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that nothing so tends to counteract race improvement as philantropy. Disease is perpetuated by heredity, perhaps more than in any other way, and instead of as in the animal kingdom, leaving the incompetent, the weakly, the contaminated and the mentally unsound to meet the result of the law of the survival of the fittest, we coddle and encourage them and enable them to pass on intolerable burdens to future generations, from which they should be freed. We cannot do as the Spartans did, but we ought to be at least as careful for the welfare of our race as we are to produce sound and perfect cattle and horses.

This is a matter in regard to which society has a right to act and should act; for every year it is being more and more heavily burdened with asylums, hospitals and penitentiaries and the care in various ways of the incompetent, till it is becoming intolerable. A very large proportion of this burden is preventable, and instead of increasing as it is doing every year it should begin to lessen.

That the importance of the subject is universally recognized is apparent from the fact that an International Sanitary Association devoted to the discovery and application of new methods for disease prevention, composed of distinguished physicians, has been formed and its annual convention has lately been in session in Washington. In addition to this there is a special world-wide association to combat tuberculosis, which has lately been sitting in Paris, from which much is expected.

Here is a field where men of ability to whom fortune has given leisure and who do not wish to be mere idlers in the world, may go to work with highest incentive, and the certainty of reward.

NELSON IN CANADA

Lord Nelson, whose victory at Trafalgar will be celebrated today, was once a sojourner in Canada. As the story is told in the Quebec Chronicle: Nelson's ship, the Albermarle, was ordered to Quebec in the summer of 1872. He had the average Englishman's occupation of this country as a sub-Arctic region. "I want much to get off from this —— voyage," he [illegible] Mediterranean [illegible] surgeon, who a year before had sealed him for paralysis of his limbs) has told me that if I was sent to a cold, damp climate, it would make me worse than ever."

The Albermarle reached Quebec on July 1, 1872, but sailed three days later for Boston Bay, returning September 17. One of Nelson's biographers writes:

The fears for his health that he had expressed before sailing from England had happily proved groundless, and a month's stay in port, which now followed, at the most delightful and invigorating of the American seasons, wrought wonders for him. His letters to Locker state that the voyage agreed with him better than he expected; while from the St. Lawrence he wrote to his father: "Health the greatest of blessings, is what I never truly enjoyed until I saw fair Canada. The change it has wrought, I am convinced, is truly wonderful."

Nelson left Quebec on October 20. On October 21, 1805, he fought at Trafalgar, the centenary of which will be celebrated today in all parts of the Empire which his great victory did so much to save from dismemberment.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. DROWNED OFF DOCK

W. J. Rankin's Nautical Career Did Not Last Very Long

Kingston, Oct. 20.—W. J. Rankin, of Deseronto, about nineteen years of age, was drowned last night at the Government dry dock wharf. He had worked for a farmer at Collin's Bay, and when here yesterday shipped aboard the steamer India. Then he went home for his clothes and on his return proceeded to the steamer. One of the crew heard a splash and cry, but could see nothing as it was pitch dark. Convinced that some one had fallen in and drowned, the crew grappled in the vicinity and pulled up the body of the young man.

Fell Dead at Wedding Feast

Quebec, Oct. 20.—An old man named Chevalier, of St. Joachim, a small village on the north shore, east of St. Anne de Beaupre, fell dead while taking part in the festivities connected with his grandson's wedding. The guests were all assembled round the festive board enjoying themselves, according to the custom of the French Canadian habitant, when the old man was requested to sing a song. He complied, and when he concluded fell to the floor dead.

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., Failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair dropped off, finally my throat and [illegible] were affected. Still broke, Hot Springs, &c., failed. I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was no better off. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to call on Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had hundreds of them to cure, and that they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by hundreds. I was afraid to be expert to contend them. I was afraid of advertising—but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible. I commenced the new method treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

WHAT DOES YOUR MONEY NET YOU ANNUALLY?

WHAT WE HAVE IN DEVELOPMENT AND ACREAGE

We have 320 acres of mineral land, located at Big Oak Flat, Tuolumne County, California, on the great "Mother Lode," and mining on the "Mother Lode" is not, speculative, for the ore bodies are known to exist in inexhaustible quantities.

We have 10,000 feet of underground work done, have blocked out more than 250,000 tons of ore ready to break down and mill.

We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill in good working condition, running ten hours every day. We could be paying dividends from the returns of the mill, but we are putting the proceeds back into the development and equipment of the property.

We have the mine equipped with compressed air drills, steam power plant, steam hoist, black smith shops, and all necessary tools.

We have spent in development and equipment more than $300,000.00 on these mines, have taken almost $700,000.00 from the property and put it back in development.

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO

We propose to add immediately 20 stamps to the 20 we have in, then we will pay from $20,000.00 to $50,000.00 per month in dividends and lay aside a sinking fund to double the capacity of the mill, which will be done inside of the next twelve months.

We will then double the dividends and increase the sinking fund to again double the capacity of the mill, then we will pay dividends that will surprise every stockholder.

WHY DO WE WANT TO SELL STOCK?

We have no power, only steam, and that is created by burning Jack Pine wood, which is very poor, costs $7.00 per cord, and is hard to get. We know we have more ore than can be mined in two or three life times, and the Tuolumne Electric Power Co., and the Golden Rod Ditch Co. (with water power) are both in position to furnish us cheap power before Christmas, and we want to start the 50 stamps with the cheap power, and in order to do this we are willing to sell some of our treasury stock at a sacrifice.

This stock is cheap at $1.00 per share, but we are going to offer it for a few days at 50 cents per share; we are going to make this stock bring par ($1.00) per share before January 1st.

We will guarantee there is not a piece of real estate in the City or County of Peterboro that would be safer as an investment at 50 cents on the $1.00 of the assessed valuation than this stock is at 50 cents per share, and we are sure there is none that would be half as profitable as an investment.

You can go to see the mines, send any mining man you like, ask us any questions you want to, we have nothing to hide but court the closest investigation, our business is as legitimate as any in the world, and is far the most profitable.

You may have invested in something some time that you thought was mining stock and lost, that is no reason you should fear to investigate what we offer you; come and see us or write and ask for any information you may desire.

We will be at the White House for a few days, and will be glad to see you and tell you all you want to know about our proposition, whether you invest with us or not.

When we get the cheap power you can't purchase any stock of us at any price, for we will have none for sale. We will then get all the money we want for equipment from the mines in a very short time.

Address us, or call and see us at the White House until further notice, or Thos. Patterson & Co., 161 Simcoe street.

Very truly yours,

To this arrangement Mrs. Ruthven agreed, and, after a pause, said suddenly, as if speaking out of her thoughts.

"Do you remember that evening, six years ago, when we were all in the veranda of my father's bungalow, and my husband brought you in, and said, 'This will be a cousin of yours to-morrow.'"

"Yes, I do—well. What a lucky beggar I thought poor Charlie!"

"And do you remember my father showing my ruby and diamond necklace and ear-rings, and saying it would puzzle any jeweler in London or Paris to show the like?"

"I do, indeed. They were superb."

"He little thought," she said, with an hysterical laugh, "that I should bring them to Christian, law-abiding, well-ordered England, only to be robbed of them. Ah! Mr. Marsden, there is little to choose between the idolatrous East and the truth-telling, spiritually minded West."

"Too true! So I have always thought. But, dear Mrs. Ruthven, if you knew how painful the very mention of those unfortunate jewels is to me, I am sure you would avoid the subject. If you had not put them on with the gracious intention of doing honor to my ball, they would be now safely reposing in your jewel-case."

"Perhaps so, though I am inclined to think that so ingenious and daring a thief would have got at them anywhere."

"He might. Now try and adopt my philosophy, 'let the dead past bury its dead,' and enjoy the living present. I think we shall have a fine day to-morrow, and, for my part, I look forward to our little expedition with the keenest pleasure."

Mrs. Ruthven smiled graciously, and they talked and laughed gayly for the remainder of their drive.

The morrow rose bright and clear, but the projected excursion never came off. A telegram from his lawyer arrived in the forenoon for Marsden, and when he ought to have been entertaining Mrs. Ruthven at a tete-a-tete luncheon, he was steaming away to London.

* * * * *

Marsden's summons was peremptory. He could only send a message of farewell to Mrs. Ruthven, who usually breakfasted in her own room, and assure his sister that he should return the first moment he could. With this glimmer of hope she was forced to be content.

"If he finds anything more interesting or amusing in or near London, we shall see no more of him, for many a day. I know what Clifford is," said Lady Dorrington to her husband. "I begin to suspect he does not intend to marry Mrs. Ruthven, or matters would not drag as they do."

"Then he is a bit of a blackguard, though he is your brother; every one believes he is paying his addresses to her; I do not see how they could think otherwise; and he is bound to give her her option; indeed—"

"Nonsense, Lord Dorrington; my brother is no worse than other men; tried by your standard, there are few who, at one time or another, do not deserve the very coarse appellation you are pleased to confer on Clifford. Still, I wish he had more sense and taste; Mrs. Ruthven is a very charming woman in my opinion."

"And in mine, too; why, it is extraordinary luck to find money and fascination joined together. The man who gets Mrs. Ruthven will be a lucky beggar—a deuced lucky beggar!"

"Why, Dorrington! I believe you are capable of giving me a cup of 'cold poison,' and trying your own luck in that quarter!" cried his wife, laughing. "However, all I care for is, to see her safely married to my brother."

"Yes; it would be a capital thing for him. I am not so sure how it would answer for her. Marsden would never be constant to any woman."

"You judge him severely; at any rate, Mrs. Ruthven is a woman of the world, and accustomed to men who are not saints; she has too much sense to be ferociously jealous."

"Don't be too sure; I fancy she is about as far gone after your brother as a woman can be. I saw that long ago; and I am a tolerably shrewd observer."

"You dear old thing! you are not blinder than your neighbors, certainly; I shall write every day to Clifford, till I make him return."

"Well, you can try."

The evening of the day on which Lord and Lady Dorrington held this conversation, Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora had settled themselves, one to her needle-work, the other to a new book. The day had been wet and stormy, in spite of which they had been obliged to go through a long afternoon of shopping, chiefly commissions for friends at Oldbridge, and both were glad to rest.

Mrs. L'Estrange had quite recovered the fit of depression which had exercised Nora's imagination a week before, and had, indeed, been more quietly than was her wont, since she had had a letter with a foreign stamp, which Nora shrewdly suspected came from Winton. She was a little dreamy that evening, and found it difficult to fix her mind on what she was reading. "I suppose we shall have rain and fogs, now that the fine weather has broken up. I really think I should prefer country to town, in rain and storm," she said, laying down her book, "I feel quite tired out."

"Yes," assented Mrs. L'Estrange, when she had counted some stitches; "but then there are fewer resources than in town. Here one can turn into a picture-gallery, and find summer or autumnal sunshine for a shilling; besides—"

"Mr. Marsden," announced the servant, in his best style.

"I thought you were at Chedworth!" "Oh! I am so glad to see you!" were the exclamations which greeted him.

"Obliged to come up to town on business," was his vague explanation. "Arrived yesterday. Have been torn to pieces by lawyers all day, and am come to lay my mangled remains at your feet." He drew a chair to the cozy fireside as he spoke.

"And do you go back to-morrow?" asked Nora, who was roused and pleased by his sudden appearance.

"To-morrow? Nor to-morrow, nor to-morrow!" cried Marsden. "It is dull at Chedworth, desperately dull. The hunting no great things, the shooting no better; but the house is crammed with bucolic chums of that excellent fellow Dorrington, and, in short, here I am, and here I shall stay."

"Lady Dorrington will be very vexed. I had a letter from her yesterday, saying how much better everything went since you had joined them."

"I am glad she knows my value."

"And how is Mrs. Ruthven?" returned Nora.

"Oh! quite well and blooming. She is fast recovering her misfortunes."

Do You Know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an aspiring friend of every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of The Chicago Record-Herald is a personal source of joyous helpfulness to womankind. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty blemishes do not include artificial methods—"factory" frizzes, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to breathe—in brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

Assemblyman Tighe's letter should be read by every brain worker leading a strenuous life.

Hon. John Tighe, No. 86 Remsen St., Cohoes, N. Y., Member of Assembly from the Fourth district, Albany county, N. Y., writes as follows:

"Peruna has my hearty indorsement as a restorative tonic of superior merit. At times when I have been completely broken down from excess of work, so that my faculties seemed actually at a standstill, Peruna has acted as a healing restorer, starting the machinery of mind and body afresh with new life and energy.

"I recommend it to a man tired in mind and body as a tonic superior to anything I know of and well worthy serious consideration."—J. Tighe.

Excess of work so common in our country causes impaired nerves, leading to catarrh and catarrhal nervousness—a disease that is responsible for half of all nervous troubles.

Peruna cures this trouble because it cures catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

C. G. E. Co. Have Bought Property on Gilbert Street

It was noted some weeks ago in The Times, that the Canadian General Electric Co., had secured options on a considerable tract of property on Albert street, south of, and adjoining the works.

The purchase includes eight lots in all and on them are ten house, four being semi-detached. Some time ago the company secured two lots at the corner of Park and Albert streets, from the Theobald estate, so that they now have ten lots on Albert St. suitable for their proposed addition.

It is said that the property, fronting on Albert street, exclusive of the Theobald estate, will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The owners, who have sold to the company are Walter Spotker, the Bradburn estate, (two parcels of property) Mrs. Rickey, Jas. Carside, Walter Evans and estate of Rev. Mr. White.

BAKER ARRESTED

Man Accused of Stealing Drills and Tools from C. G. E. Co., Here

In yesterday's issue we noted that an employe of the Canadian General Electric Company named Baker, a day or two ago, as a result of suspicion attaching to him for some time, was arrested at the company's gate house, as he was carrying out a package of tools alleged to have been stolen.

Baker, it will be remembered, escaped from [illegible] the gatekeeper locked him in awaiting arrival of the police, by using one of a number of keys in his possession. A warrant was sworn out yesterday morning for his arrest, and word was sent to Port Hope, where the police thought Baker would likely go.

Chief Reasel received word from Port Hope yesterday morning that Baker had been arrested there. P.C. Adams went down on the 11.45 a.m. train, got the man, and brought him back on the 5.30 p.m.

He will appear for trial this morning.

MR. TETLEY SUES

Mr. Tenice Guerin is Defendant in Suit to Recover Property

Mr. W. B. Tetley, through his solicitors, Messrs. Denniston, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, has begun an action against Tenice Guerin, which will be tried at the non-jury sittings here on November 13th. The suit is to set aside the conveyance of certain property at the corner of George and Sherbrooke streets, which was sold by plaintiff to the defendant. The plaintiff alleges that undue influence and fraud were used by Mr. Guerin in connection with the conveyance. Mr. Osias de La Plante is acting for the defendant.

It will be remembered that Messrs Tetley and Guerin were in partnership in the butcher business, and that Mr. Tetley, prior to his removal to St. Joseph's hospital, conveyed the property to his partner.

We understand that in the butcher business Mr. Guerin supplied the experience, whilst his partner put up the larger share of money.

Today's T. A. S. Team

The T.A.S. team to play Charlotte street to-day at Riverside Park after the senior game will be picked from the following: Fred McGrath, Doris, Quinlan, Wallie Parnell, O'Brien, F. Wesley, Giroux, Main, F. Craig, Sullivan, Grady, Derochar, Starts, J. Doris, L. Doris and Mallmoyle.

Do you remember the little things that gave us so much pleasure when we were young? With what zest did we sit down to the table after our play was over and eat the crust and milk our mother put before us. But as we get older it takes more to give us pleasure. Meals and milk no longer tastes good to us, and our digestion may be impaired. The best advice we can give to such a person is to tone up the stomach with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is nature's most valuable and health-giving agent—made without the use of alcohol. It contains roots, herbs and barks, and is the concentration of nature's vitality as found in the fields and woods. This remedy has a history which speaks well for it because it was given to the public by Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., nearly forty years ago, and has since been sold by druggists in ever increasing quantities. Secret medicines, nostrums or cure-alls, enjoy a large sale for a few years, then disappear from the public attention, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved such a reliable blood remedy and tonic that it often enjoys the consolidated sales of several generations in a family, and its unbounded sales year by year result from the recommendations of those who have tried it, prove its lasting merit, so that every bottle bears the stamp of public approval. Every other blood-maker and tonic for the money that we know of contains alcohol, but Dr. Pierce guarantees that no alcohol is contained in his "Medical Discovery."

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 2rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely market value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company Stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to 40 mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immedeia ely at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year,

Huge Electric Suns Are To Be Built

By Goverment Scientists in Washington to Keep Plants Growing at Night--Officials say Vegetables and Flowers are all but Human

Washington, D. C., October 21.—Electricity is to be put to a novel test by the Department of Agriculture. A laboratory is being fitted up in the division of pathology for the purpose of conducting experiments in the growing of plants by the aid of an electrical appliance. The experiments are based on the theory that the growth of vegetable matter, which ceases at sundown, will continue through the night if proper artificial light is supplied to stimulate the natural developing powers of the plants.

"In some respects plants are much the same as the human race," said an official today. "At night they go to sleep, the same as we do, and their growth ceases until the following day. The sun is their source of life, keeping their growing faculties working and being the foundation of their development.

"It is with the idea of supplying an artificial sun that these experiments are being made. If it is found that the growth of plants can be doubled at a nominal expense, and that they can be grown in winter the same as in summer, the agricultural industry will have received an unprecedented stimulus. Scientific research has already done much to bring the farming industry to a higher level, but this is the most ambitious undertaking, perhaps, than ever before."

The laboratory is now being made ready for the experiments, and the work will commence in a few days. Owing to the peculiar nature of the experiments the department is reluctant to give out information regarding them, and it is likely secrecy will be maintained in regard to the progress of the research until it is learned that the undertaking is practical or hopeless from a commercial viewpoint.

It will probably be a year or more before actual results are obtained from the experiments. Scientists attached to the bureau of plant industry, have already learned by investigation that it is possible to grow plants by electricity. It has not been proved, however, that the expense incidental to the employment of this means is cheaper than the means nature has adopted to carry on her work. There is some doubt, too, whether vegetables grown in an artificial manner will be the same quality as those propagated in the regular way.

CZAR'S TROUBLES ARE PERPETUAL

Feud Breaks Out Amongst Russian Royalty

OVER CYRIL'S MARRIAGE

A Place for General Kuropatkin—Cyril Banished

St. Petersburg, October 21. — A feud has broken out between Russia's Grand Dukes and the Czar on account of the Grand Duke Cyril, recently expelled from Russia because of his marriage with the divorced Grand Duchess Victoria of Hesse. The Grand Duke Cyril came to the Peterhof Palace on Sunday incognito. He begged an audience of the Czarina, who entreated the Czar in his behalf. Nicholas, however, refused to alter his decision, and ordered Cyril to leave the country, like a common felon, within twenty-four hours.

The Grand Duke Vladimir, father of the Grand Duke Cyril, immediately resigned as head of the St. Petersburg Military district, and as commander in chief of the Imperial Guard corps, and now there is an open breach between Vladimir and the Czar, and between the Czarina and the Grand Duchess Vladimir. The trouble, it is feared, is liable to bring the court to revolution. The new palace commander, Prince Engalitcheff, has increased his watchfulness. Many pages and courtiers have been dismissed. The people are glad to be rid of the Vladimir family, as it is generally disliked.

General Gripenberg is believed to be slated for the Grand Duke Vladimir's place at the head of the army, while General Kuropatkin becomes Viceroy of the Caucasus where General Vorontsov Dashkoff has been found weak, where the internal conditions indicate increasing dangers.

AT HIT

What She Gained by Trying Again.

A failure at first makes us esteem final success.

A family in Minn. that now enjoys Postum would never have known how good it is if the mother had been discouraged by the failure of her first attempt to prepare it. Her son tells the story:

"We had never used Postum food coffee till last spring (a year ago) when father brought home a package one evening just to try it. We had heard from our neighbors, and in fact everyone who used it, how well they liked it, and that besides taking the place of coffee as a beverage it furnished a most nutritious and healthful article of food. So we were going to give it a trial.

"Well, the next morning mother brewed it about 5 minutes. Just as she had been in the habit of doing with the other coffee, preparing it. I fear, without paying special attention to the directions printed on the package. It looked weak and didn't have a very promising odor, but nevertheless father raised his cup with an air of expectancy. It certainly did give him a great surprise, but I'm afraid it wasn't a very pleasant one, for he put down his cup with a look of disgust, and said Mother, are you sure this isn't your dish water?

"Mother wasn't discouraged, though, and next morning gave it another trial, letting it stand on the stove till boiling began and then letting it boil for fifteen or twenty minutes, and this time we were all as pleased with it that we have used it ever since, and though we have a quantity of the old coffee in the house, I fear it will be applied before we can get it used up.

"Father was a confirmed dyspeptic and a cup of coffee is to him like poison. He never drinks it any more, but drinks Postum regularly. He isn't troubled with dyspepsia any more, and is actually growing fat, and I'm sure Postum is the cause of it. All the children are allowed to drink it and they are perfect pictures of health." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

CHAPTER OF TROUBLES

Montreal Family Have Lot of Misfortunes.

Montreal, October 22.—Antonio Fucio, the little ten-year-old bootblack, who was run over by an electric car of the Windsor and St. Lawrence line, at the crossing of Inspector and St. Lawrence streets, and had his leg crushed, was reported by the officials of the General Hospital as doing as well as could be expected. The limb was crushed so badly that it had to be amputated above the knee. The father of the injured lad was discharged from the hospital a few days ago. One of his eyes had to be removed as the result of an accident. Young Fucio, under the circumstances, was the main support of the family. A little brother, who saw the accident, ran home to give the alarm, but fell in a faint when he reached the door.

At Saturday's police court a well known citizen pleaded guilty to having imbibed not wisely but too well. He was allowed to go with a warning not to do it again.

The young man Barker, accused of stealing $20 worth of twist drills from the C.G.E. Co., was on trial, defended by Mr. McWilliams.

John McGlinn, the first witness is engaged in the Canadian General Electric Company's tool room. Is in charge of the room conjointly with Fred Richie. Has known the prisoner for a short time. Prisoner was employed taking tools to and from the blacksmith's shop to be sharpened, and doing other work in the tool room. Missed tools from time to time since prisoner had worked there, including some taps and drills. Once last week found six files, taps, and drills out of their proper places; they were among the rough files. Left this when he found them. Then kept a watch and found prisoner the day he escaped, with an empty box like the one produced in court. Prisoner took it to north end of the room and laid it down. Witness found it was empty. He soon came back and found 24 twist drills in it. Left it where he found it. Saw prisoner come and get the box and put it in his pocket. The room is about 20 by 45 feet in size. When whistle blew prisoner put his coat on. Prisoner closed the counter door. Tool room is protected by a wire netting. Prisoner went by the gate. Saw Mr. Peters catch the prisoner, when he, witness went on to dinner. Identified the box produced in court, by a private mark he had put on it.

Cross-examined by Mr. McWilliams, said he told foreman in the tool room. Part of the time there were two and sometimes three men working in the tool room. Was out once that morning for a drink of water. Ritchie waits on the counter. Witness remembered the names of five men who enter the tool room. When a tool is hard to find, the man wanting it, is allowed in, but has a man at his shoulder to watch.

Showed Mr. Taylor, foreman, the box when the drills were in it. Counted the drills after Mr. Taylor had gone away.

Mr. Taylor is foreman of the C.G.E. Co., machine shop. McGillan, about 11 o'clock, on Wednesday spoke to him about the box. He saw the tools in the box, but did not count them. There were about half as many as produced in the box in court, and of the same size. It was a box like the one in court. Returned to tool room at two minutes to 12, and found the box of tools gone. Phoned to the gateman to detain prisoner, as he went to dinner. Arrived at the gate before as the gateman had prisoner in charge. Prisoner was taken into gate house, and a demand made on him for the box of drills which Baker handed over. Saw the drills there. There were about the same number as produced in court (55 in number and worth from $15 to $25), went to the office and informed Mr. Dobe he had captured the prisoner.

To Mr. McWilliams, said he spoke to Mr. Dobe, in the office, about the matter, previous to capture of the prisoner.

The drills are only of use in repair or machine shops.

Mr. Wood, who acted for the Crown, here said he would ask for an enlargement as he could not to-day prove the possession of the box from when it entered Peter's hands to those of prisoner. Mr. McWilliams said that whilst not admitting anything, he would not press just then for proof of this link in the chain of evidence.

The prisoner was then committed for trial, preferring to be dealt with by a jury than by the police magistrate.

THE SPECIAL SERVICE

Trafalgar Day Celebrated in St. John's Church.

Last night St. John's church was crowded to the doors. Shortly before the bell ceased pealing its summons to the congregation, ten or twelve of the 57th Regiment non-commissioned officers, looking spic and span, in uniform, armed with jaunty little regulation canes, entered the church, and proceeded to pews next the chancel, which had been specially reserved beneath the old regimental flags.

The first lesson, taken from the Book of Exodus, was specially appropriate to a service commemorating one of England's greatest naval victories, being the account of Pharoah's host being destroyed by the waters of the Red Sea.

Immediately following on the regular patriotic prayer for the King, the rector offered a special prayer of thanksgiving for the glorious victory granted to Britain's arms.

The rector, before commencement of his sermon, expressed his thanks to those present, and members of the congregation for attending the special Trafalgar Day celebration service. The choir rendered a specially practised anthem, Kipling's Recessional, that was perfect in harmony and style.

During the anthem, Mr. Herb, Merchant's fine baritone voice in the solo, swelled and reverberated all through the fine old church, as the words "Lest we Forget" rolled from chancel to doors.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, the rector, gave an impassioned and eloquent sermon, taking his text, Acts X. 6, "What thou oughtest to do." The rector introduced his address, by saying that those present were gathered together that evening, as in many other churches, firstly to worship God, and next to commemorate the victory of Trafalgar, in which the British fleet attained a victory over the combined French and Spanish fleets. The rector gave a graphic word picture of the scene, assisted by his memory of what he had seen, when abroad, a few years ago.

Nelson's victory was more than a mere fight between several nations, but God ruled it as a means of giving Great Britain command of the seas. He then went on to show, that as a result of Trafalgar's victory, when a call is made from any part of the world, Britain soon sends a ship in the interests of civilization, humanity or suppression of the slave trade. It is not so much what has been done by the Almighty as what has been prevented.

He then drew a picture of what we citizens of this great Empire, with our hands united across the seas might do to help one another, both personally and religiously.

He next dwelt on what be considered to be in the best interests of the country. The rector drew attention to the importance of characters and sense of duty, "What thou oughtest to do." It was the character and sense of duty that has preserved British prestige. Whilst no pessimist, the nation is in peril to-day. In the days of Nelson, a sense of duty was nourished, and strict discipline, by the God fearing people was in evidence everywhere. To-day the loosening of restraint, the increased selfishness of people, the growing demand for amusement, and neglect to do one's duty, unless it so suited one, must have an evil effect. All these shortcomings must strike and strike hard at the individual's sense of duty. "You must have a religious foundation for your action." It was not an Englishman, but one of a nation beaten at Trafalgar, that said, after studying the English character, he came to the conclusion that the power and noble character of English men came from the study and inculcation of the church catechism. The rector then went on to explain that the Church catechism, taught not so much dogma of tenets of church or clergy, as of the duty we owe to God and man. He next went on to show how the Ten Commandments referred to observance of our sense of right and duty. The rector spoke at some length on the four acts of duty that should be observed. "Are you a God fearing man or woman?" is a difficult question to ask oneself. The way to find out whether you are doing your duty, and are a God fearing man, is to think what your neighbor's opinion of you would be. Want of space prevents us giving the reverentlemen's most eloquent sermon in full, but it might be said that each item has a better or "more to the point" address been given from St. John's church pulpit.

Yukon Officials Suspended.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Henry Milton Martin, of Vancouver, Federal Crown Land and Timber Agent for the Yukon, with John F. Sugrue and J. Sylvester, assistant inspectors, have been suspended from office, because they are alleged to have been connected with a wood-purchase scandal.

ALICE MUST PAY $60,000 IN DUTY

President Roosevelt's Daughter Has Many Presents.

RULING IS BY HER FATHER

The Famous Daughter of the White House in a Peck of Trouble.

Washington, October 23.—Secretary Shaw and the collector of the port at San Francisco have had a load of trouble for several weeks about which the public has known nothing, and it was lifted today when the secretary was told by President Roosevelt to collect the legal duty on all dutiable articles brought back to this country by Miss Alice Roosevelt.

The daughter of the president has received during her trip to the Philippines, China, Japan and Korea many pretty and some quite valuable presents. One newspaper reported several weeks ago that the actual value would be something like $100,000. She received valuable silks in China and Japan, pearls in the Island of Sulu, and wherever she has gone gifts have been showered on her.

TREATED AS A PRINCESS.

The customs officials have been wondering what they ought to do when Miss Roosevelt arrived in an American port with the riches of the mines and looms of the Orient. Some of them suggested that, as she is the daughter of the president, she ought to be allowed to bring the valuables in duty free, inasmuch as she was treated with all the honors of a princess, and did much to cement friendship between the United States and foreign countries. The belongings of crowned heads, of royalty and of diplomats are thus admitted duty free into the United States.

Secretary Shaw received suggestions until he was almost sick. All that stood out before his official gaze was that the presents had been reported as worth probably $100,000, and if the usual rate of duty was imposed, it would cost Miss Roosevelt, or her father, upward of 40 per cent. or $40,000. Neither Miss Roosevelt nor her father is rich, although the young woman is understood to have a modest fortune in her own right.

ROOSEVELT SAYS COLLECT.

Finally Secretary Shaw took his burden to the president, and told him about it.

"There is only one thing to do," replied the president. "That is to treat my daughter's baggage as you would the baggage of any other private person. She will pay duty on everything that is dutiable."

Secretary Shaw feels better about it. Members of the Taft party to the Philippines say that the value of Miss Roosevelt's presents has been exaggerated, but whatever the value it will be determined by the local appraisers at San Francisco or the port at which she lands.

A NEW NAVY

For Russia is to be Built by Americans, it is Believed.

Sebastopol, October 21.—Ground was broken yesterday near this city for the great shipyards which are to rebuild the Russian navy, and today an army of men are busy excavating for a site.

Much secrecy is maintained as to who are the owners of the yards, but the general opinion is that the works are being built for Charles R. Flint, of New York, as head of a late American syndicate.

The yard is to be thoroughly equipped with up-to-date American ship and engine building machinery. The syndicate, it is said, will do business with the Admiralty on condition that it be assured possession of the new yard for a term of 21 years, and further assured of sufficient naval orders to concern reasonably employed.

HOW BUTTER IS MADE

Peterboro Creamery Will Take in its First Milk Nov. 2nd.

One of our local new industries that especially interests the family man and woman of this city, is one that will supply many tables of our city.

The new creamery, on Aylmer St., is now approaching completion and a visit to this place of manufacture of a good proportion of Peterboro's butter is well worth a visit. A Times' representative yesterday inspected the establishment thoroughly, and was most favorably impressed.

The first thing that strikes the person, visiting this spot, is the absolute cleanliness in evidence everywhere. Every process of manufacture, from receipt of the milk to shipping of the finished product, or return of the skimmed milk, or butter milk to the farmer or other purchaser, is marked by a consummate striving for absolute purity and freedom from infection.

The creamery will open officially on the 1st of November and receive its first milk the next day.

Mr. P. Downham, the proprietor, has already completed arrangements for getting a large supply of milk from the surrounding farmers.

Most of Peterboro county farmers will deliver the unskimmed milk and get back the residue, after the creamery has taken the cream.

The skimmed milk, will be returned to the farmers, from a cement platform at the rear of the creamery, and will be used for feeding hogs and calves.

The platform for this purpose is specially arranged so that any milk spilt in transit from the factory to the farmer's rig will at once run off to the sewer, and not stand about to sour or breed disease.

That the creamery intends to begin skidding at once is proven by a large number of casts, the insides of which are specially parafined, ready for shipment of butter to the English markets. These casks will hold 56 pounds each. The butter for export, unlike that for the domestic markets is not salted, and is pressed into the casks in bulk. All butter for the English or European markets is shipped from Peterboro to destination in cold storage.

When a farmer brings in his cans of milk, it is first emptied into a large can, holding some 30 gallons, and weighed.

The milk is then run into the receiving vat which holds about 300 gallons. Here it is heated. Next it passes to the separator which skims off the cream, which runs into the huge cream vat; the skimmed milk is then pumped into a vat and pasteurized.

The idea of pasteurizing the skimmed milk is to preserve it and enable the farmer to get it home in absolutely sweet condition.

The cream in the large vat, which is so arranged that ice and cold water pipes, without contact with the article, for regulating temperature in hot weather, is then prepared for churning, and will be ready for this process the following day.

It might be mentioned here, that the new industry will sell a large amount of cream for domestic purposes. This cream is all thoroughly pasteurized, thus making it keep longer, sweeter, and destroying any possible form of deleterious bacteria.

The huge churn, resembling a Brobdignagian drum, makes three revolutions every two minutes.

It will take from 25 to 35 minutes to churn each lot of butter, and the machine will turn out from 350 to 450 pounds of butter each churning. The amount of butter to a churning is of course dependant upon the richness of the milk supplied.

Taken altogether, Mr. Downham has a very complete and modern plant, that will do no discredit to this city.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

THE TURF.

Why do not people give more encouragement to football in this city. The game is fast, clean, and with no suspicion of selling being possible, at least not in Peterboro. Saturday's game between the locals and the Toronto "Argos," was only witnessed by some two hundred people. A splendid game was played, the home team winning by a score of 18 to 7.

• • • •

Mr. George Fitzgerald was in Toronto on Friday, and saw his old mare, Maud Keawick. She is now at her owner's stable in Toronto, and Mr. Shepard says that he is not going to do anything with her until next spring. He says that money could not buy her at present. He firmly believes that Maud Keawick can, on an exhibition mile track, equal the record of Dan Patch.

• • • •

Had it not been for the Peterboro Turf Club Maud Keawick would now be attached to the business end of a corporation dump cart or used in peddling bones and rags.

• • • •

CURLING.

At the annual meeting of the Lindsay Curling Club Mr. J. D. Flavelle said it was very necessary the club should have a larger revenue and pointed out that in Toronto players paid $25 and in Peterboro $12 to $15 and almost everywhere fees were much larger than in Lindsay. He proposed that the fees be $9 for skips, $8 for vice-skips, $7 for seconds and $6 for leads.

Mr. G. H. Hopkins moved in amendment that the fees be $8, $7 and $6.

Mr. Harstone thought they would raise more money at an all-round fee of $6.

After the motion had been put, Mr. Hopkins' amendment was carried.

A HIGH OLD TIME

Peterboro Citizens Import Can-Can Dances and are Spied on.

This city may soon be in an upheaval of social gossip. A spicy little scandal, if matters leak out sufficiently to authorize The Times giving full publicity, will give the local gossip mongers good food for conversation.

A few evenings ago an entertainment was held in the residence of a third ward citizen, and some 18 or 20 of the city's business and professional men, including two or three prominent church members, will, if great secrecy is not observed, be trying to prove they were not present.

There will likely be splits in families, and there is sure to be trouble in certain churches, for reputable business men and city leaders are accused of having had a high old time, behind locked doors, at which five fair and alleged girls from Toronto, deported themselves in the can-can and other dances which do not require chiffonata wardrobes.

Two young men, about two o'clock in the morning went around to the back of the hall, where there was a large, willow branches spread outside the second storey window.

Not 1 "boosted" No. 2 up the tree and, looking in the window, No. 2 gave a gasp and slid to the bottom of the tree scrapeless. No. 1 skinned up and soon came down with a grin. The two hustled around and found a ladder, and each fellow climbed and took a good look. They also took mental notes of the townspeople who were there enjoying themselves.

There are whispers to swear that there were in that room several girls dancing without enough clothes on to keep them warm.

The only thing that will prevent this matter becoming public property is that the two "Peeping Toms" each recognized a relative enjoying the fun, as we have too great respect for local citizens to pit this first match to the gunpowder of scandal.

P. C. Stewart Sued For $4,000 Damages

Local Policeman Asked for Public Apology By the Men Fined for Running a Game of Chance at Peterboro Fair.

Our readers will remember that during progress of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, last September, two men named respectively, M. Gagnon and E. E. Harkness, were arrested on the fair grounds by P. C. Stewart, and each fined $60 and heavy costs for carrying on a game of chance. On the second day of the fair, P. C. Stewart saw these two men in a hack, placing bank bills of various denominations in envelopes, and then wrapping the envelopes round packages of medicine. These packages purporting to contain from $1 to $5 each were sold to a credulous public at 50 cents each. Stewart placed the men under arrest, and Gagnon was fined $60 and costs the same afternoon by Magistrate Dumble. Harkness was brought up the next day and received the same dose only with different costs.

It will also be remembered that the case was somewhat complicated by a Provincial detective, ostensibly employed to prevent such games of chance being carried on at the fair grounds, after the arrest had been made by this local officer, interfered and claimed to have made the arrests himself.

The detective was possibly somewhat influenced in claiming credit for these arrests, by the fact, that, had he actually arrested the men, he would have been entitled to the fees allowed Provincial policemen, in such cases of arrest. Also had the Provincial officer arrested the men, the Province and not the City of Peterboro, would have been entitled to the heavy fines imposed.

The Provincial officer, openly stated his intention, after the convictions of Gagnon and Harkness had been made, and the arrests clearly sworn to have been effected by the Peterboro policeman, that he would sue for his fees, to show his contention concerning the arrests as correct. Should he have sued as threatened, and won, the Provincial Treasury would get the fines.

Nothing has been taken, as far as known, by either the Provincial detectives or the Provincial officials to secure either fees or fines. As matters now stand, the Peterboro policeman, made the arrest and Peterboro's treasury has the money.

Now comes another threat of suit, somewhat analogous in part of its bearing. The subjoined letter received by P. C. Stewart sufficiently explains itself. We might say that P. C. Stewart is reticent as to what his action, in connection with this matter, will be. We venture, however, to risk a conjecture, that, before an apology, from the man who was acting for the City of Peterboro, will be read in the public press, or elsewhere, there will be a great demand for powerful magnifying glasses to find it.

The letter reads as follows;

Peterboro, Oct. 7th,

Joseph Stewart, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I am instructed by Messrs. M. J. Gagnon and J. E. Harkness, to issue write against you for slanders uttered by you referring to them on Wednesday the 27th of September, last, at the exhibition grounds, for the sum of $2,000 in each case.

I am informed that you called them "thieves" and "robbers"—and others like terms before a considerable crowd, and you do not need to be told that such remarks cannot be passed over by men carrying on any kind of business in this city or neighborhood. I think you will see on reflection that you had no justification for such names and that in justice to them you should without delay make apology and reparation.

If a satisfactory apology is published next week they will waive most of the claim for exemplary damages, but I must have some settlement with you not later than the 25th instant.

Yours truly,

(Signed) R. F. McWILLIAMS.

TRAFALGAR DAY

Grand National Concert Held Under Auspices of S. O. E.

A crowded audience on Saturday evening, enjoyed every number of the splendid program provided in Bradburn's opera house. The concert, held under auspices of Lansdowne Lodge, S.O.E., was in every respect a fitting climax to this one hundredth anniversary of this glorious victory of Trafalgar. The house and stage were appropriately decorated, and scores of emblematic banners were in evidence everywhere.

Mr. James Bonell, of Lindsay, Supreme Grand Vice-President, S.O.E., delivered the opening address, at the end of which he notified the brethren present, that they were invited to attend Divine service at St. John's church on Sunday evening.

The program proved by the repeated encores to be highly satisfactory, and was as follows;—

Part I.

2. Song—"Sight Seeing in the City," Mr. James Fax.
3. National Song—"The Death of Nelson." Mr. Reehab Tandy.
4. Song—"The Lord is My Light," Miss Helen Davies.
5. Song—"When King Solomon Reigned," Mr. James Fax.
6. Song—"In Old Madrid," Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot.
7. Song—"The Veteran's Song" Mr. Reehab Tandy.

Part II.

1. Canadian National Song — "The Maple Leaf," Mr. Reehab Tandy.
2. Song—"Cing a Rink-Chi," Mr. James Fax.
3. Song—"There's a Land," Mr. Reehab Tandy.
4. Song—"Enchantment," Miss Helen Davies.
5. Duet—"I Live and Love Thee," Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot and Miss Helen Davies.
6. Old English Song—"The Bay of Biscay," Mr. Reehab Tandy.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

The excellent Y.M.C.A. orchestra was present and rendered most charming music.

It would be invidious to particularize as to personal relative success of the different participants, suffice to say that each and every number was greatly enjoyed.

The Song of England are to be congratulated on their patriotic endeavor to create a proper spirit of memory for England's greatness, and for the grand success and appreciation that rewarded their work.

AS GUESTS ARRIVE

Woman Ends Her Life on Eve of Big Reception.

New York, October 21.—Mrs. Carrie Buehler, 45 years old, wife of Julius Buehler, a wealthy merchant of this city, committed suicide today at her home, 17 Stuyvesant place, St. George, S. I. Mrs. Buehler put a bullet through her brain as guests were arriving at her house to attend a reception Mrs. Buehler had planned. The Buehlers have a handsome home at St. George, and the family moves in the best circles on Staten Island. When Mr. Buehler left home this morning his wife was in the best of spirits. She had been planning today's entertainment for some time and the last thing she said after kissing her husband good-bye was not to be late getting home this evening. There was no known motive for the suicide.

IMMENSE COST OF TARGET PRACTICE

Second Cruiser Squadron Spent $35,000 on Ammunition Alone.

MOVEMENTS OF THE SHIPS

They Will Sail for United States Waters at End of October

Halifax, N.S., October 23.—The practice firing by the ships of the second cruiser squadron in the vicinity of Halifax has resulted in an expenditure on ammunition alone, of over $35,000. This is irrespective of damage to targets, which will amount to fully $5,000. The wear on guns is another factor, not considered in this figure, to say nothing of the total loss of a Whitehead torpedo, valued at $2,000.

In the practice the Drake proved to have the best gunners by quite a margin. The Berwick was second. To show the speed with which the immense guns on board these ships can be manipulated, the Drake fired from one side of the ship alone, in the space of ten minutes, over one hundred and thirty-five projectiles. This was done by five minutes' volley firing and five minutes' independent firing from 9.2 and 6 inch guns.

The Cornwall and Berwick will sail early Wednesday morning next for St. John, where the former will fly the Admiral's flag. Rear-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg will return to Halifax by the 30th inst., and the first and third divisions will sail from Halifax, the second division from St. John to Annapolis, joining at a rendezvous south of Cape Sable. A quarterly passage trial will be carried out on the way.

The squadron will arrive at New York, November 9th. On anchoring, the ships will dress the white ensign and American flag at the main, and the white ensign at the fore, in honor of His Majesty's birthday. At noon the ships will fire a Royal salute and illuminate after dark. On November 10, the flagship will proceed alongside of one of the Cunard Company's wharves, to facilitate the arrangements for a ball on board, which will take place on November 14. On November 17, the Empress and officers are invited by Col. Robert Thompson to make an excursion up the Hudson River to West Point.

The squadron will commence coaling from colliers about the 16th or 18th of November, and will sail for Gibraltar as soon as this is completed, on November 17.

Boers are Bunsood.

St. Pierre, October 21.—Unable to acquire clear titles to their farms and harassed by a series of embarrassments, the Boers who settled in colonies of self-exiled Dutchmen from the Transvaal in Chihuahua, Mexico., are scattering, leaving the cities of their colonies in the sister republic, to seek homes where they may in the United States.

Gen. Max Villon, who was promoter of the colonization project, and who advanced funds for bringing them across the water, has lost heavily. He left the colony a few days ago. Geo. Snyman and his family are practically the sole Boers remaining. They assert their intention of remaining in Chihuahua, and calling upon the Mexican Government for protection and support.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton N B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of this nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

PETARBORO, OCTOBER 23 1905

TROUBLE BEGINS

The reply to the opponents of the education clauses in the Autonomy Acts of the Provinces has been that they contemplate simply a perpetuation of what already existed in the North-West, and that had proved so satisfactory to all classes of the community. If, it was stated, the policy of Mr. Haultain had been carried out and the provisions of the B. N. A. Act had been permitted to apply automatically, the people there would still have had the Separate schools "in any event, so that the people are neither worse or better off as a consequence. That is a question, of course, which will have to be decided by reference to the Judicial committee of the Privy Council; but, admitting the statement as correct, the Provinces should have been permitted, as they undoubtedly were entitled constitutionally to do, to deal with their educational matters in their own way. If they were bound, in the circumstances, to give effect to provisions of the B. N. A Act respecting the educational rights of the minority, it is not to be presumed that the Legislatures of the new Provinces would have been less liberal in their treatment of the minority than was the old North-West Assembly; but Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fitzpatrick were afraid to trust the people to do what was right. In that they have shown a surprising lack of political sagacity. The effects are already apparent, and the eyes of the people of the North-West are likely shortly to be rudely opened to the egregious constitutional and tactical blunder that has been perpetrated. Instead of giving the question it quietus, as was intended by Dominion legislation, in fastening a system of Separate schools upon the North-West for ever, they have simply established a chronic grievance, that will eventually only be remedied in one of two ways—by the educational clauses of the constitution of the new Provinces being declared ultra vires, or by an amendment of the B. N. A. Act. The spirit of A free people will not submit to any policy forced upon them when their hands were tied.

But trouble is brewing for the authors of this outrage on political rights almost before the new constitutions have got well under way. Many of our readers either know personally or have heard of Mr. P Burns, the cattle king of Southern Alberta, and extensively interested in the butchering business in British Columbia. Mr. Burns is the owner of large sections of land in the district around Calgary, extending throughout several school sections, and he is still extending his land holdings as opportunity offers. It happens that he belongs, religiously, to the educational minority for whose rights the Dominion Government provided perpetual protection. Mr. Burns, as we all know, is a man who will stand on his rights, and he is already moving in a direction which justifies the predictions that were made as to the practical working out of the educational clauses.

As stated, his holdings extend throughout more than one school section. Acting upon legal advice, he has refused to pay his school taxes in the section in which there is a Public school, and is paying them all over into a fund for the support of the Separate school in the Lacombe district. The result locally is somewhat serious, as being the owner of so much ratable property in the first section referred to, the withdrawal of his school rates practically doubles the cost upon the other ratepayers, and it is now a question whether the school can be kept open, at least until more people come in. As Mr. Burns is holding his land for a rise, and all the other land is taken up, there is little chance of more settlement in the near future. He says he has taken the best legal advice obtainable in the North-West, and there is nothing in the law compelling him to pay over his taxes on the land to the school section in which it is located. An appeal has been made to governmental headquarters by residents for information on, and relief from, the situation thus created. In the meantime, Mr. Burns holds the fort.

This is the first fruits of coercion by the Dominion Government. We cannot assume to express an opinion upon the correctness of his position. He has undoubtedly fortified himself well from a legal standpoint. In a country of large ranches, such as the North-West is, it is easily possible to imagine how such a situation of affairs can become general throughout the new Provinces. It can not only be used to the disadvantage of Protestant sections, but of Catholic sections of the community as well, and we may be almost certain that in view of the initiative taken by Mr. Burns, his example will be followed wherever possible by adherents of both causes.

CANADIAN RAILWAYS NOT AFFECTED

American Railway Legislation Not Detrimental to C.P.R.

Montreal, Oct. 21.—The leading officials of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways here refuse to discuss seriously the new Esch-Townsend Bill regulating the jurisdiction of the Inter-State Commission, now under the consideration of the United States Senate. They declare that this measure will not in any considerable degree affect the rights of the great Canadian railways. The third clause of the Act which enacts that the Inter-State Commission shall have jurisdiction over terminal railways, is intended, they state, more as a precautionary measure than as a change in existing regulations. The aim of the bill is uniformity throughout.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I had to stop and lay up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope, but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than robbers. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were honest and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

WHAT DOES YOUR MONEY NET YOU ANNUALLY?

If it does not bring you 25 per cent. you had better investigate the BIG CASINO GOLD MINING CO. For money invested in the stock of this company will net you not less than 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. annually, the remainder of your life.

WHAT WE HAVE IN DEVELOPMENT AND ACREAGE

We have 270 acres of mineral land, located at Big Oak Flat, Tuolumne County, California, on the great "Mother Lode," and mining on the "Mother Lode" is not speculative, for the ore bodies are known to exist in inexhaustibe quantities.

We have 10,000 feet of underground work done, have blocked out more than 250,000 tons of ore ready to break down and mill.

We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill in good working condition, running ten hours every day. We could be paying dividends from the returns of the mill, but we are putting the proceeds back into the development and equipment of the property.

We have the mine equipped with compressed air drills, steam power plant, steam hoist, black smith shops, and all necessary tools.

We have spent in development and equipment more than $250,000.00 on these mines, have taken almost $100,000.00 from the property and put it back in development.

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO

We propose to add immediately 30 stamps to the 20 we have in, then we will pay from $70,000.00 to $80,000.00 per month in dividends and lay aside a sinking fund to double the capacity of the mill, which will be done inside of the next twelve months.

We will then double the dividends and increase the sinking fund to again double the capacity of the mill, then we will pay dividends that will surprise every stockholder.

WHY DO WE WANT TO SELL STOCK?

We have no power, only steam, and that is created by burning Jack Pine wood, which is very poor, costs $7.00 per cord, and is hard to get. We know we have more ore than can be mined in two or three life times, and the Tuolumne Electric Power Co., and the Golden Rod Ditch Co. (with water power) are both in position to furnish us cheap power before Christmas, and we want to start the 50 stamps with the cheap power, and in order to do this we are willing to sell some of our treasury stock at a sacrifice.

This stock is cheap at $1.00 per share, but we are going to offer it for a few days at 50 cents per share; we are going to make this stock bring par ($1.00) per share before January 1st.

We will guarantee there is not a piece of real estate in the City or County of Peterboro that would be safer as an investment at 50 cents on the $1.00 of the Assessed valuation than this stock is at 50 cents per share, and we are sure there is none that would be half as profitable as an investment.

You can go to see the mines, send any mining man you like, ask us any questions you want to, we have nothing to hide but court the closest investigation, our business is as legitimate as any in the world, and is far the most profitable.

You may have invested in something some time that you thought was mining stock and lost, that is no reason you should fear to investigate what we offer you; come and see us or write and ask for any information you may desire.

We will be at the White House for a few days, and will be glad to see you and tell you all you want to know about our proposition, whether you invest with us or not.

When we get the cheap power you can't purchase any stock of us at any price, for we will have none for sale. We will then get all the money we want for equipment from the mines in a very short time.

Address us, or call and see us at the White House until further notice, or Thos. Patterson & Co., 161 Simcoe street.

Very truly yours,

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

"Captain Shirley was here on Sunday," remarked Mrs. L'Estrange, "and was saying he had never seen her look so ill and depressed since he had known her."

"Shirley? How did that fellow come to call upon you?" asked Marsden. "I don't know why it is, but I can't stand Shirley," he added thoughtfully. "And Winton, where is he?"

"In Florence."

"Florence? He is not the sort of man I should imagine would like Florence."

"I don't think he does," said Nora. "He went there to set some Indian friends so far on their way."

"I did not think he would have been so ready to leave London just now," and he gave an expressive glance to Mrs. L'Estrange which she did not see, but Nora did.

Then he asked for Bea, and talked of the child in terms that delighted the mother.

Nora thought Marsden had never seemed so nice and sympathetic. He was quieter and graver than usual, and she felt the relief his presence brought to the monotony of her thoughts most welcome. At length, with apologies for having kept them up so late, he bid them good-night, and drove straight back to his hotel without even an attempt to find if there was any one at his club to play a game of cards or billards with him. His spirit's lord sat lightly on his throne. Marsden was little given to think, or trouble himself about the future, but with all his airy carelessness the last year had been one of irritating anxiety, now he had contrived to clear himself. He could defy Mrs. Ruthven, her lynx-eyed solicitors, and here watchful led-captain Shirley. He owed her nothing. A little love-making, more or less did not count with so experienced a coquette. He was perfectly free to shake her off if he chose, and he did chose. Good heavens! Compare her with the frank, natural, girlish elegance of Nora L'Estrange. The arch, delicate animation of the one, the studied graces, the veiled yet perceptible passion of the other. And Nora had been unaffectedly glad to see him. How sweet the candid welcome of her eyes, how unconscious her frank, gracious pleasure. Yes, it would be his delightful lot to waken her from the slumber of childhood to the fullness of womanhood—the power of loving! Yet there was a certain strength and individuality about his young kinswoman, that warned him she was no mere waxen doll, to be bent as he chose according to his will. She had ideas of her own—tolerably clear and defined. This would but give piquancy and variety to their intercourse. Heavens! how lovely those eyes of hers would be with the light of love beaming from their hazel depths. Then she would be content to wait, with him, till the Eversleigh estates were free from all incumbrances before they launched into the costly, heavy style of existence suited to his position. And before the fever of anticipation let him sleep. Marsden made more good resolutions than he had ever formed in his life before. Only give him this fair, fresh, delicate darling, and he would be a new man, with hopes and aspirations higher and better than had ever before dawned upon his mind.

* * * * * *

"I have done my best to carry out your directions," wrote Shirley to his suzerain, Mrs. Ruthven, "and have even arrived at the distinction of being admitted to the drawing-room of Miss L'Estrange at afternoon tea-time. This enables me to assure you that Marsden almost lives in what you term the 'shabby lodgings' of his relatives. I have not met him there certainly; but I can trace that he has always been there last night, and is expected this evening. Eversleigh, I find, too, is to be let for a term of years—five, I think. Old Shepherd, of Calcutta—you remember the firm, desperately rich people—is looking for a country-place, and it has been offered to his solicitor. It seems to me that this indicates intentions widely different from anything you anticipated, and points more to a marriage for love, than one for, let us say money and love. I have met Marsden more than once lounging in Pall Mall and Regent street as if he had nothing on earth to do, which certainly does not look like the urgent business he asserted called him to town. However, you, no doubt have information which may throw a totally different light on these ambiguous proceedings. I can only give you the result of my observations. Take it at what it is worth."

This letter was the last pebble on the cairn of hopes and fears, desires, doubts, and silent, stinging anger which had been gradually accumulating over the bright anticipations of a few months ago, a continued state of agitation and disappointment had strained endurance beyond the utmost, and the passionate, self-willed woman gave way under it. A cold, caught during a long drive with Lord Derrington in the east wind, obliged Mrs. Ruthven to keep her room. After a day or two of anxious attendance on the part of the local doctor, high fever set in, and it was evident that Mrs. Ruthven was dangerously ill. A great physician and a couple of trained nurses were summoned from London, all the pomp and circumstances of serious sickness were established in Lady Derrington's pleasant house, and for the time sporting men and dancing women knew it no more.

CHAPTER XI.

It was some little time before the evil tidings reached Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora, as their correspondence with Lady Derrington was not frequent, and she was too much taken up, and too angry with him, to continue her diurnal letters to her brother.

Meanwhile Nora and her step-mother went on the even tenor of their way.

Mrs. L'Estrange had gone to Norwood to luncheon with an old lady, a distant cousin of her mother, who had only remembered her existence after she had made what was considered a good marriage, and had more than once invited her. Mrs. L'Estrange always found it hard to say no, and, somewhat to Nora's indignation, had consented; but went alone, as her step-daughter refused to accompany her.

It was dusk when she returned, for her hostess had indulged herself in endless inquiries and fault-finding respecting their mutual relations. Mrs. L'Estrange was wearied, and longed to see Nora's kind, bright face, to describe the peculiarities of her testy kinswoman while enjoying a cup of fresh, warm tea.

Nora was sitting on a foot-stool by the fire-light when her step-mother came in, and the little tea-table was drawn near the hearth, the tea-pot simmering under its cozy, a plateful of thin bread and butter, temptingly delicate, beside it.

"How late you are, Helen," cried Nora, starting up and coming over to assist in taking off her cloak. "What has kept you so long?" Some-

Halifax, Oct. 21.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine arrived at New Glasgow last evening in his private car from Sydney. One of the occupants of the Minister's private car, who formerly lived in Pictou, furnished an interesting incident in the visit. One of his creditors issued a capias. A cheque was tendered in payment of the claim, but that was refused and cash demanded. Rather than go to jail the check was forthcoming.

MR. ROBINSON OUT

The George Street Methodist Sunday School Has Lost a Valued Officer.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, there has been a fear that Mr. T. W. The officers and teachers of this Sunday school, presided over by Rev. Dr. Crothers, have now finally bowed to the inevitable and accepted Mr. Robinson's resignation.

Mr. Robinson has been identified with the school for over forty years and in retiring he carries with him the best wishes of every member. He has been a conscientious and zealous superintendent. A committee composed of the officers, Mr. A. W. Crossman, Mr. H. C. Stabler, Mr. J. Jeffries and Mrs. Stubbs, was appointed to make arrangements for a new superintendent.

SONS OF ENGLAND

Loyal Progeny of Albion Decorate Their Home.

Perhaps the most elegantly and tastefully decorated building in Peterboro, Trafalgar Day, was that immediately west of the post office. This block contains the headquarters of one of our most patriotic associations, the Sons of England Hall.

On the flag staff floated the navy ensign, a handsome blue silk flag, and an exact imitation of the flag that floated over the Victory, Lord Nelson's flag ship, at the battle of Trafalgar. From the top of the flag staff to each side of the building was a string of smaller flags, and down over the front of the hall a St. Andrew's cross of small flags had been formed. The smaller flags tastefully looped in festoons along the whole front of the building represented the ensigns of England, Scotland and our own broad Dominion.

The tents ensemble was most attractive and drew many complimentary remarks.

Among other buildings floating the grand old flag of Britain, was the headquarters of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, who had a large British ensign floating over the top of their warehouse, while a string of smaller flags was strung from the top of the flag staff to each front corner of the roof.

Mr. R. M. Dutton this George street grocer and fruit merchant, had in one of his windows a splendid picture of Lord Nelson under a small squadron of his vessels, and of the Duke of Wellington under a detachment of his army in action. The two great heroes of the sea and land were surrounded by a golden frame, while on each side were draped navy and army ensigns.

HOW TO HOLD A HUSBAND.

The best known guide to married happiness is to hold the husband as you won the lover—by cheerfulness of disposition, patience and keeping your youthful looks. Of course a great many women are handicapped by those ills to which women are heir. The constantly recurring troubles which afflict her are apt to cause a sour disposition, nervousness and a beclouded mind.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in woman's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., after a long experience in treating such diseases, found that certain roots and herbs made into a liquid extract, would help the majority of cases. This he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of women have testified to its merits, and it is put up in shape to be easily procured and is sold by all medicine dealers. This is a potent tonic for the womanly system. So much faith has Dr. Pierce in its merits that he offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

Mrs. T. Dolan, of Madrid, Perkins Co., Nebr., writes: "I was cured of painful periods by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best in the world."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

BREAKS A LEG

John Meeks Falls From a Ladder at American Cereal Works

A most unfortunate accident occurred Saturday afternoon at the American Cereal Company's Works. John Meeks, who was employed on the construction work now in progress to the south of the great main buildings, had the misfortune to fall from a ladder at the top floor. His leg twisted round the ladder, but he lost his balance and fell. His foot caught in one of the rungs, and the sudden arrest of his momentum snapped the leg bone just above the knee. Mr. Meeks was considerably shaken up and his nervous system upset by the shock.

Bellegham's ambulance was at once telephoned for, and in their usual celerity arrived promptly on the scene.

The injured man was removed to his home on Euclid avenue, and Dr. McNulty, their family physician summoned.

Do You Know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an aspiring friend of every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of The Chicago Record-Herald is a personal source of joyous helpfulness to womankind. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods—"factory" frizzes, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to breathe—in brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

Mr. W. Ince is Dead

Word was received in the city Saturday morning of the death of Mr. William Ince, senior partner in the firm of Perkins, Ince & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, who have a branch at 256 Charlotte street, Peterboro.

Mr. Ince entered the employ of his firm 40 years ago as office boy, from which he rose to full partnership.

The funeral of Mr. Ince will take place today. Mr. John A. Cameron, manager of the local branch, and Mr. David Mulholland, assistant manager will attend the funeral.

Evangelist R. D. Kennedy has just completed a most successful round of meetings, extending over five weeks, at Dr. McDairmid's church in Medoc. That the evangelists intelligent work and fervent appeals to his audience, bore good fruit, is proven by the fact that he was the means of making over 100 conversions during the course of his addresses. Mr. Kennedy, who gave The Times a friendly call last Friday, was on his way to Hanover, Ont., where he will hold a series of meetings in the Methodist church of that village and co-operate with their pastor, Rev. Mr. McLaughlin in trying to awaken the people.

LOCAL OPTION

A Practical Sample of Its Effects on Travellers

On Friday last, a leading farmer, residing near Bobcaygeon, who is largely interested in chicken raising as an extensive scale, started in driver to this city with a wagon load of produce for sale.

As the roads were somewhat heavy, as is to be anticipated this season of year, by the time he arrived at Bridgenorth, he and his team were too tired to travel the remaining distance.

"Where was he to spend the night?" was his natural self interrogation. Thanks to the narrow-minded bigotry of a few people not dependent on hotel for their accommodation, the Bobcaygeon farmer was compelled to lay for his team's protection over night in a livery stable, and being a stranger at Bridgenorth, this farmer, a respected and respectable taxpayer, had to sleep in a foul smelling stable along with his horses. This is one of the beauties of local option!

A human being had to sleep along with the beasts because no one could, or would in a country village, at this season of the year, afford, without a license, to keep open a hotel.

The Bobcaygeon man yesterday vowed that Lindsay would be his next marketing place.

SIN'S CONSEQUENCES

Innocent Indulgence Often Brings Trouble — Simple Means of Escape

The consequences of violating physical law are often as unpleasant as the breaking of a moral rule. The innocent indulgence of over-eating brings consequences that amount to real suffering. Indigestion is not natural; it is not right; it should not be. We offer a means of escape in Mi-o-na tablets that is simple and practical.

These simple tablets are composed of such valuable medicinal agents as bismuth subgallate, which is superior to all other remedies for stomach troubles, cerium oxalate, and tonics and correctives which promote the action of the digestive organs, strengthen the whole digestive tract, and make it possible to eat what you like and when you like.

If you suffer with head aches, indigestion, flatulency, heart burn, dizziness, sleeplessness, back aches, or debility and weakness, begin the use of Mi-o-na at once. Eat one tablet out of a 50 cent box before each meal, and you will regain perfect health and strength.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist, which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Kingston, N. Y.

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value, $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co. New York.

JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.

JOHN LAMBERT,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.

ISAAC L. ELWOOD,
American Steel & Wire Co., Dekalb, Ill.

LOYAL L. SMITH,
New York.

CAPT. WM. FLEMING,
Chicago, Ill.

General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 3rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely market value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company Stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year,

300 Warships Reviewed by the Mikado

Victorious Japs Fleet, in a Great Parade---Britishers Look On.

Tokio, Oct. 24.—The naval review yesterday passed off without the slightest hitch. It was a most impressive sight, not so much on account of the class and number of the ships as a comprehension of fighting craft fresh from the war, and crowned with victories of unprecedented magnitude. Three hundred and eighty warships took part, including:

The former Russian battleships Peresviet (renamed by the Japanese the Sagami), Poltave (Tango), Nicolai I. (Iki), the ironclads General Admiral Apraxine (Okinoshima) and Admiral Senlavin (Mikashima).

Twent auxiliary cruisers, including three captured vessels.

Twenty-eight torpedo boat-destroyers, including the captured Bedovi and Ryushitsini.

Seventy-seven torpedo boats.

Five submarine boats.

The vessels were drawn up in six lines.

MIKADO INSPECTS THEM.

The Emperor on board the armored cruiser Asama, led by the protected cruiser Yaeyama, and escorted by the gunboats Tatsuta, Chihaya, and Manshu, passed along the front of the first line, which was headed by the battleship Shikishima, Admiral Togo's flagship. When the Nicolai I, which was at the end of the line, was reached, the Asama headed due north and then in a westerly direction entering between the second and third lines, and afterwards resumed her original position. During this manoeuvre Admiral Togo was at the Emperor's side.

RECEIVED BRITISHERS.

The Emperor then received in audience on board the Asama Admiral Noel and the captains of the British warships present.

The weather was fair, but it was misty on the water.

CONTRAST 40 YEARS AGO.

Popular enthusiasm was aroused to the highest pitch. Besides the thousands who witnessed the naval pageant, from all sorts of large and small vessels in the bay, all the available points of vantage along the shore were densely covered with eager spectators. The spectacle caused great joy and satisfaction among the Japanese, especially in the breasts of those who recalled that only forty years have elapsed since at that very spot no warships except those of foreign powers had ever floated. It is believed that the review will give a most powerful stimulus to national education.

At the conclusion of the review, at 4.30 p.m., his Majesty returned to Tokio.

THRICE BANQUETED

Former Peterboro Man Banqueted at St. Thomas.

It is a matter of local interest that Mr. W. A. Huckman, formerly of this city, but recently managing director of the St. Thomas Journal, was entertained to a banquet Thursday night at the armoury by the officers of the 25th Regiment, of which he is quartermaster. He was also banqueted by the Young Liberal Club, about seventy-five being present. Saturday night he was entertained by the Golf Club. He leaves this week for Edmonton.

Speaking of the banquet on Friday night the Journal says: W. A. Huchanson, was last night tendered a banquet in Stevenson's banquetting hall by his friends, under the auspices of the Liberal Club which will live long in his memory. It was one of the most cosmopolitan gatherings ever assembled in Stevenson's restaurant, composed, as it was, of representatives from every department of public life. Last night witnessed seated at the tastily arranged and heavily laden tables, gentlemen representative of the very best elements of every source of St. Thomas' energy and achievement. There were present gentlemen who stood high in the medical and legal fraternity, prominent politicians, journalists and scholars, successful business men and railroad representatives, in fact men from all the avenues of activity which lead to our city's greatness. They were there to do honor to one whom they had learned to love and to admire for his honesty, large heartedness and progressive spirit, to one who was ever loyal to friends yet equally fair to his opponents, a fellow citizen, whose limit of friendship extended beyond the lines of religion or politics. It was indeed a pleasing sight to see seated side by side politicians who, in the past, had fought many a hard battle with each other, men who were aggressive party men, Conservatives and Liberals, yet men who were greater than politics, greater because they were not so blinded by partisanship that they could not decklod true merit and friendliness in one who had stood loyally by the principles he believed to be right and which he applied in the best interests of his country and city.

In responding to the many kind things said to him during the evening Mr. Huchinson stated that since coming to St. Thomas he had sought to promote not only the interests of the Journal but of the citizens as well. He would always remember the banquet as one not of Liberals alone, but of friends. He had always tried to promote the best interests of the city. He felt that when he left Peterboro he was leaving one of the best places in the country. He now had the same feelings in leaving St. Thomas. He felt that the tribute was not one to himself alone but was equally intended for the good wife to whom he owed much of his success. Then followed an able address by Attorney Hall, that the pleasant memories of the banquet would live long in his memory.

"A BEASTLY GAME."

School Inspector Brown does not Approve Ball Playing.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says, wiring referring to the Teachers' convention of Victoria County;

"Mr. Brown, Inspector of Peterboro county was next introduced and gave a good address on the half-day system. He said he would have the larger children come to school at eight and disperse at 11. Then the smaller children could come at one and leave at four. The idea was that it gave the grown up ones the afternoon to help the parents, and the little ones would attend when the new war off the grass and when they were least benefit at home. Mr. Brown was in favor of short hours and study work. This system would give the teachers two hours for dinner, and they could have a hot meal instead of frequently a cold lunch. Long hours drove many from school. He was not in favor of much recreation as the pupils had two months during summer to play.

Trustees Dr. Boyd asked if Mr. Brown why he objected to recreation for children, and in reply he said he believed in short hours and sharp work and less balk.

Mr. Ramsay said he has been having his scholars play football and he thought it was good exercise and taught them discipline. Mr. Brown said football and lacrosse were beastly games, as they are played, and should be abolished from the school. And as for discipline, he recommended military drill.

May Have Another Term.

Winnipeg, Man., October 24. — It is probable that Sir Daniel McMillan will receive another term as Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. Mr. Kenneth Mackenzie is said to be second choice if Sir Daniel declines. Sir Daniel's term expired last Sunday.

AN OLD TRAGEDY IS RECALLED

A Cobourg Murder Away Back in the Fifties.

EXECUTION OF DR. KING

Who Murdered His Wife and Paid the Penalty of the Crime on the Scaffold.

Many of our older citizens, who lived in Peterboro during the early 50's, will remember William H. King, who taught school in Brighton, Ont. He afterwards moved to Hamilton, and was engaged as a teacher in the Central school there under Dr. John H. Sangster.

As our older readers will remember, King was fond of reading theological works when a youth, and his parents were hopeful that he might enter the church, and to that end spared no money in giving him a good education. But he fell in love with a farmer's daughter and contracted an early marriage, which turned his thoughts from theology to the practical ways of earning a livelihood. While teaching in Hamilton he began the study of the homeopathic system of medicine, went to Philadelphia and took a college course, and then came back to Canada and settled down at his old home in Brighton to practice his profession.

King was unfortunate in his selection of a wife; she was inferior to him intellectually, and while he was advancing educationally she kept in the old ruts of indifference. One child was born to them, which only lived a short time, and as his wife was about to become a mother a second time he killed her in the most heartless manner. King had become infatuated with a handsome, vivacious and educated young woman, and he felt he must have her as his wife. To clear the way for his marriage to her he administered arsenic in repeatedly small does to his wife. After giving the arsenic for some time he changed his plan and tried chloroform, but in his wife's enfeebled condition from the effects of the arsenic the chloroform proved too much for her and she died under the influence of the first dose. He was arrested and tried and found guilty of murder, and on June 9, 1854, was hanged publicly at Cobourg, over 5,000 persons witnessing the execution. The sheriff who had charge of the execution and the minister who attended King to the gallows had been playmates with him in his boyhood days. King professed sorrow for the crime when they were about to put the rope around his neck, but he attempted to justify the act by aspersing the virtue of his dead wife. One who was present at the execution described him as a fine looking man, with full beard and mustache. He was dressed in black, looked the gentleman, and there was nothing in his appearance or manner that would lead one to suspect him of the crime of murder.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.L. Reed

Magistrate, D.W. Dundas

Yesterday morning's police court session was short and business-like, three cases being rattled off in one, two, three time. Mr. T. Cavanagh, represented, in his absence, by his son, Mr. Jas. Cavanagh, pleaded guilty to depositing a quantity of manure in the creek that flows past his hotel, $3 with $2.50 costs. It might be mentioned here that Mr. Cavanagh is not the only offender in this respect in our city. The bridges crossing our local creeks are furnished with holes through which the liquidised filth from the streets passes into the creeks, contaminating the waters and inviting disease.

Thos. Nelson, who hails from Keene, and who spent the Sabbath in meditation, in cell No. 2, whilst sobering up after Saturday night's conviviality, was allowed to go, but given a peremptory hint that Keene yearned for his presence, whilst Peterboro could still do business in his absence from the city.

Ernest Mungraw, who claims Midland City as his home, paid $3 for riding on the pavements astride his wheel.

MR. EVANS INGRAM DEAD

Old Resident of Otonabee Passed Away on Sunday Afternoon.

One of Otonabee's oldest residents, and a sturdy pioneer of Peterboro county, in the person of Mr. Evans Ingram, passed away at his residence on Sunday. Mr. Ingram had been ill since last August, so his death was not entirely unexpected.

The deceased was one of the foremost men in Otonabee, and one of its oldest residents, having settled on the farm where he died, when the now sturdy young City of Peterboro was only a struggling village. He was born in County Galway, Ireland, and was the only son of the late Daniel Ingram, who died when the son was in his youth.

The late Mr. Ingram was educated in Belfast, and studied in the University of that city for three years for the English Church ministry, but, later on, took up the study of law, instead of taking holy orders. Mr. Ingram moved to this town, with his mother and four daughters, before Peterboro had donned the dignity of townshood. Mr. Ingram emigrated to the Southern States, and lived there for seven years. He then returned to this county and took up land in Otonabee.

Later he married Isabel Keogh, who predeceased him 18 years ago. In 1866 he was elected warden of the county and filled the position with credit to himself and advantage to the county.

The late Mr. Ingram was a staunch Liberal, and on two occasions was a candidate in those interests for East Peterboro. In religion he was a Methodist. Mr. Ingram was the last of the family, his four sisters having predeceased him.

At the time of his death, the deceased had attained the venerable age of 92 years.

IN A GOOD CAUSE

R. T. of T. will Hold a Concert Tonight for "Children's Aid."

[illegible] "advertising," as a newspaper proposition, is the greatest [illegible] free advertising," as a newspaper proposition, is the greatest [illegible] ever invented, and to do so gives Race for money; we would call attention to the most commendable object of a concert to-night.

An unusually good concert is to be given to-night, under auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance, in the Murray street church.

The object in view, that of assisting the Children's Aid Society, is a most commendable one, and in taking the lead in furnishing the "sinews of war" for the prosecution of the work in view by the Society, the members of the R.T. of T. have secured the services of participants in their entertainment, whose names alone are a guarantee of well deserved patronage.

A large number of clever local artists have been secured to assist at the concert, which it is to be hoped, will receive a generous patronage.

The speakers will be Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. R. M. Denniston and Rev. J. C. Davidson. The soloists whose services have been secured are, Miss Helen Davies, Miss Clara Bellegham, Mrs. T. D. MacGregor, Miss Maude Titterson, Miss Laura Sager will recite, Mr. J. Miller, cornet soloist, and Miss Maud Crothers, violin soloist will contribute. Mrs. Mowat, accompanist.

OUT ON BAIL

D. Barker Accused of Stealing Drills From C. G. E. Co. is Free

Our readers will remember that Darrell Barker, who had a preliminary hearing on Saturday, when charged with stealing some $20 worth of twist drills from the Canadian General Electric Company, was committed for trial by jury.

Yesterday afternoon application was made by his solicitor, Mr. R. F. McWilliams, to Judge Walker, for bail, which was granted. The boy's father from Port Hope, and one of the members of the firm for whom Mr. Barker, sr., has worked for 25 years, promptly furnished the necessary sureties.

PETERBORO HORSES

Ald. Leary will Ship 22 Horses to Rat Portage To-day.

Thanks in part to the Peterboro Turf Club, this city and county is now raising a superior grade of horses. Now that the limitless grain fields recently developed in our boundless western country, local farmers are compelled to combine side lines with their farming operations, and the rearing of a good class of horses must and will prove more lucrative than competition with the western farmers in staple cereals. As an instance of this Ald. R. H. Leary will today load 22 horses for Rat Portage. He has secured a purchaser for them in the Keewatin Lumber Co. They are all big heavy horses, sound, and in the best condition, and the aldorman may secure in establishing a market there for Peterboro horses. All of the 22 horses were purchased within a raius of twenty miles of Peterboro, and this bunch is strong evidence of the high quality of horse flesh that the farmers of this district deal in.

Mr. Leary will have to-day to be in Rat Portage when the horses arrive, and will personally conduct the sale. He will then go on to Winnipeg to consult with the Donnely Bros., C.P.R. contractors, who have the contract for the five hundred miles which runs through the Rat Portage district, with whom he expects to arrange for a big business in horses.

This undertaking is the result of the trip Mr. Leary made through the west last summer. If the scheme proves profitable it will mean a good thing to the farmers in the Peterboro district.

Great Loss of Life In Friday's Storm

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

J. Cunningham Tries to Jump Into the Cold Otonabee's Waters.

What looked like a twice attempted case of suicide, occurred yesterday. J. Cunningham, a young man who has been working in the city and around the district all summer, yesterday forenoon, it was currently reported tried to take a fatal plunge into the chilly waters of our local source of wealth, the river Otonabee. This rash act was nipped in the bud by bystanders who saw the attempt and dragged Cunningham away.

Not content with this mode of transit to the great unknown being frustrated, Cunningham, yesterday afternoon, entered the Ogienta barroom about two o'clock. He ordered a drink from the bartender, and shortly afterwards fell forward on his face on the floor and cut a small gash over the right eye. Some men assisted to his assistance and washed the wound, but the man seemed to be in a swoon. He was carried into one of the sitting rooms and laid on a lounge.

Cunningham told those around him that he had taken poison. In this case, as in too many others of similar kind, it was an example of the old French adage "Cherches la femme." as the cause of all mundane troubles. Cunningham made no secret that he had loved and his beloved had not reciprocated. In vain to pass his own words, "His girl had gone back on him," and life hereafter seemed an arid void, a weary wilderness without that cheering oasis of reciprocated love in sight.

A diagnosis of his condition, the alcoholic aroma of his breath, and the alleged, but uncredited taking of poison for a girl's sake, when girls are as plenty in Peterboro, all tended towards simply "rot." As the case stands, Dr. Ingram thought it advisable to get medical assistance, and Doctors Malcolm and Pegram McCuthcheon were called in.

Cunningham told the physicians he had taken poison, but would not say what it was he had taken, nor where he got it. Believing that the man had taken poison the doctors used a stomach pump and did all they could under the circumstances.

Cunningham told one of the doctors he had hurt his hand while working at Ketchewun Lake and had gone to the General Hospital in Toronto to have it dressed. He told the doctor to look in his pocket and get the Toronto doctor's name, but would tell nothing more.

In the book was found a note;

"If I am found dead on the road please let my mother know in Montreal, or my sister, Mrs. B. Holland, 458 Gerrard street east, Toronto."

Cunningham was taken to the police station, so that he will be able this morning to explain his acts of yesterday. To a Times representative, who interviewed him last night, Cunningham said he felt all right but for a bad headache.

This of course, may be caused by reflection over his rash acts, the result of the poison taken, or of visits to various dispensaries of redeye. Cunningham denied the suicide theory, and when confronted by statements alleging attempted suicide, contained in the Peterboro evening papers, simply relied "The papers are foolish."

STRATHCONA CONTRIBUTES

Welsh National War Memorial Benefits by His Generosity.

London, October 24. — Lord Strathcona, who today contributed to the Welsh National War Memorial, now being organized by the Cardiff Western Mail, says Canadians cordially appreciate this recognition of the patriotism of the men of Welsh blood, and of those here and in Canada and the other colonies, who laid down their lives for the Empire in South Africa.

MARSHAL NEY'S SON

Returns From the West to Die in the Hoosier State.

Louisville, Ky., October 24.—Returning to die on Indiana soil, Dr. E. M. C. Neyman, who has been spending the last two years in Oklahoma, is spending a day or two in the city before going on to his home in Matitiville, Washington County, Indiana.

Dr. Neyman is reputed to be the son of Marshal Ney, Napoleon's right bower, and the man to whom he attributes his glory and much of his final undoing. Dr. Neyman says he was born in Paris in 1826 and that his father supposed to have been put to death at Fontainbleau in 1815 did not die, but recovering from bullet wounds made his way to North Carolina.

Curzon Declined Viscountcy.

London, October 24.—It is said that the King, on the advice of Mr. Balfour, offered Lord Curzon a Viscountcy, but that the offer has been declined. Of course Lord Curzon is only an Irish peer, and he is eligible to sit in the House of Commons. He does not desire to go to the House of Lords before he is called there in succession to his father, but with his usual modesty he is very hard to be made Knight of the Garter. To be a Commoner and a Knight of the Garter would nowadays be considered a unique distinction and Lord Curzon cannot be put off with commonplace honors.

Thrilling Story of the Heroism of the Minnedosa's Crew.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The terrific gale which swept across the Great Lakes on Saturday, resulting as Saturday's gales usually do, in greater loss of life and property than was at first reported, and the shores of Lakes Erie, Huron and Superior are strewn with the wreckage of vessels that were destroyed by the awful gale. Many stories of great heroism are told in connection with the work of rescue by hardy life savers and sailors, while as to the sufferings of many survivors of the storm, their experience beggars description.

The battle of the Minnedosa with the elements is described by Captain Alex. Milligan, of the steamer Westmount, and Captain R. A. Davey, of the schooner Melrose, and their story reads like a romance of the deep sea. The Minnedosa and Melrose were in tow of the Westmount, and experienced heavy weather all the way down from Fort William. Five miles off Harbor Beach the storm broke in all its fury. By this time the Minnedosa was leaking in many places and knowing their overloaded craft was doomed, the heroic crew of the Minnedosa, the first consort, cut the tow line connecting with the Melrose, the second consort, to prevent the latter being dragged to the bottom.

While those nine lives were swallowed up, not a cry was heard, Not a warning of peril came from the Minnedosa, and the crews of the steamer and of the other consort did not know when the sinking took place.

Mate John Black, of Kingston, standing on the steel steamer, looked all one moment, and the Minnedosa was plunging from great to trough, creaking and snapping in the gale that was breaking her to pieces.

DISAPPEARED IN A MOMENT.

The mate turned to speak to Capt. Milligan. Again he looked.

"My God, captain, where is the Minnedosa!" he yelled above the storm.

The Minnedosa had disappeared.

The Melrose was still tossing about wildly and after many perilous attempts the Melbourne finally succeeded in throwing a line to the schooner and finally succeeded in towing her into Harbor Beach shelter.

Those who went down with the Minnedosa were; Captain John Phillips, Kingston, Ont.; Mrs. Phillips, captain's wife; Arthur Walker, mate, Nova Scotia; George McDermott, Belleville, Ont.; James Allen, Nova Scotia, 2 passengers, and three sailors, name unknown to the captain of either the Westmount or Melrose, and whose names are believed to be at Kingston.

In all twenty-three lives were lost, and the number of vessels either lost or damaged totals 42.

MURDER CLUE NEAR ST. THOMAS

Detective Greer is Running it Down---Letter Came From There---Money the Motive.

Hamilton, Oct. 24.—The mysterious letter received by Chief of Police Smith last week in connection with the Barton murder, and which contained a clue that the detectives thought might lead to the solution of the mystery came from St. Thomas. The police still refuse to divulge the contents. Provincial Detective Greer, who has been away since Friday, is said to be in St. Thomas or thereabouts investigating, and is expected back in a day or so.

"Would the motive shown in your letter conform with what has since been discovered?" the Chief was asked yesterday.

"No, not directly," was the reply. "The motive in the letter was a money matter."

A woman who is positive she can identify the dead woman is going to the vault this afternoon to see the body. Another letter was received by the chief yesterday, and may possibly lead to something. The police are investigating it. Both the chief and other officers say there is nothing in the story about the dead woman being Mrs. Osmora.

Still Undecided as to Routes.

Ottawa, October 24.—The Trans-continental Railway Commissioners are apparently undecided as to which of the proposed routes through New Brunswick will be selected. Mr. Dunne, chief district engineer, has received instructions from Chief Engineer Lumsden to run preliminary location lines over the central and the river valley routes. The idea is to determine in what respects the surveys made can be improved, in order that the respective merits of each of the routes may be obtained with the greatest accuracy. Surveying parties are already at work running preliminary location lines on the sections that will be common to both routes. These sections are between Chipman and Moncton, and from the Grand Falls to the Quebec boundary.

Empress Eugenie Sells Estate

Paris, October 24.—According to an announcement from Bordeaux the Empress Eugenie has sold to a firm of timber merchants of the north the whole of the estate owned by her at Solferino in the Landes. The estate or domaine was selected by the Emperor Napoleon III. towards 1857 when a valuation was made of property in the Landes. Since then the Solferino estate has largely increased in value, owing to the drainage of the marshes, the construction of roads and the planting of trees. It is now estimated that there are 600,000 trees on the property.

Let Us Have a Heart to Heart Talk

DOES YOUR MONEY NET YOU 25 PER CENT ANNUALLY

If it does not, you had better investigate the BIG CASINO GOLD MINING CO., for money invested in the stock of this company should net you not less than 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. annually, the remainder of your life.

WHAT WE HAVE IN DEVELOPMENT AND ACREAGE

We have 270 acres of mineral land, located at Big Oak Flat, Tuolumne County, California, on the great "Mother Lode," and mining on the "Mother Lode" is not speculative, for the ore bodies are known to exist in inexhaustible quantities.

We have 10,000 feet of underground work done, have blocked out and in sight a very large amount of ore ready to break down and mill.

We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill in good working condition, running ten hours every day. We could be paying dividends from the returns of the mill, but we are putting the proceeds back into the development and equipment of the property.

We have the mine equipped with compressed air drills, steam power plant, steam hoist, black smith shops, and all necessary tools.

We have spent in development and equipment more than $300,000.00 on these mines, have taken almost $100,000.00 from the property and put it back in development.

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO

We propose to add immediately 20 stamps to the 20 we have in, then we will pay from $30,000.00 to $60,000.00 per month in dividends and lay aside a sinking fund to double the capacity of the mill, which will be done inside the next twelve months.

We will then double the dividend and increase the sinking fund to again double the capacity of the mill, then we will pay dividends that will surprise every stockholder.

WHY DO WE WANT TO SELL STOCK?

We have no power, only steam, and that is created by burning Jack Pine wood, which is very poor, costs $7.00 per cord, and is hard to get. We know we have more ore than can be mined in two or three life times, and the Tuolumne Electric Power Co., and the Golden Rod Ditch Co. (with water power), are both in position to furnish us cheap power before Christmas, and we want to have in 50 stamps ready to operate when we get the cheap power, and in order to do this we are willing to sell some of our Treasury Stock at a sacrifice. Considering the development and equipment of the mines, this stock is cheap at par ($1.00) per share now, and we are going to make it bring $1.00 per share before January 1st, but we are going to sacrifice a limited amount of it the next few days at 50 cents per share.

IS THERE ANY CHANCE OF LOSS IN BUYING THIS STOCK?

We assure you that an investment in any industrial stock, in any bank or trust company's stock, or in any piece of real estate in North America, either in the States or in the Dominion, would not have the risk more nearly eliminated than the Big Casino stock, for we own the property, have proven the ore bodies, and your investment is protected by multiplied millions of dollars worth of ore, only waiting to be broken, milled and put into bullion, then distributed in dividends to the fortunate stockholders.

You can go to see the mines, send any mining man you like, ask us any questions you want to, we have nothing to hide but court the closest investigation, our business is as legitimate as any in the world, and is far the most profitable.

You may have invested in something some time that you thought was mining stock and lost, that is no reason you should fear to investigate, read us after you; come and see us or write and ask for any information you may desire.

We will be at the White House for a few days, and will be glad to see you and tell you all you want to know about our proposition, whether you invest with us or not.

When we get the cheap power you can't purchase any stock of us at any price, for we will have none for sale. We will then get all the money we want for equipment from the mines in a very short time.

Where does 90% of our multimillionares get their money? From the mines. What is making thousands of poor people rich every year, and putting thousands more in easy circumstances? It is investing their savings in legitimate mining shares.

According to the report of Director Roberts, of the United States mint, the gold and silver mines of the United States during 1904 produced $15,625.00 per hour, every hour, day and night. Sundays and holidays included, and to this if you will add the copper produced at the same time you will have the enormous sum of $20,000.00 per hour, and if you will add to this the zinc, lead, quicksilver, and other mineral products, you will increase the amount not less than 50 per cent. Would you like to share in these profits? then purchase shares in the Big Casino and you will get your portion.

For further information address or call and see us at the White House until further notice.

Very truly yours,

GEO. L. PORTER,

P. S.—Since arriving here, some of our friends have asked us if we have such a good proposition, why could we not sell it in some of the cities back in the States? We want to say there is not a city in the States that we could not sell every share of this stock in, if properly put before the people, for there are millions of dollars lying waiting for investment in propositions not one-fourth as good as this. The owners of the stock are only waiting to be advised of the opportunity.

We came here solely on the request of Mr. W. H. Robertson, who is a warm personal friend of ours. He asked that his friends might have the opportunity to get in on B. C. stock as they would have something that would not fail to pay them large returns on their money, and you who purchase shares and grow rich will have Mr. Robertson to thank for bringing you the opportunity. Yours,

G. L. PORTER.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's this abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that drives sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. A bearing-down sensation and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

A MILD WINTER COMING?

Following three very hard winters in succession, it is in order to expect a mild one, and many "signs" point that way. The autumn has been as fine as the world could wish, only one or two raw and rainy days intervening between summer conditions in this month.

Two hundred miles south the autumn flowers sensitive to frost are still in full bloom. Weather prophets thereabouts, with reputations for forecasting correctly the character of the approaching winter, have lingering doubts as yet, while one prognosticator predicts "the pleasantest weather of the year from November 1 to November 14."

Old fishermen of the Lake Superior region, noted for the correctness of their diagnoses, are sanguine of "open water" the coming winter. The Grand Marais Herald, of Cook County, Minn., says: "An old-timer predicts that we will have a very short season of closed navigation this winter, and that the boats may not have to stop running along the north shore. Owing to the extreme heat of the past summer, he says, the water in Lake Superior is warmer than it has been in years before, and it cannot freeze over very early, if at all."

As the character of the season is molded in circles, a mild winter is due to this part of the world. If it comes, it will enable householders to "catch up" for the abnormal expenditures on coal in the past three years, and get ready for a possible siege in the winter of 1906, should the anthracite miners and operators not come to an agreement.

KEEPING UP THE NAVY

The British navy is soon to have the largest, costliest and most powerful battleship ever built—the Dreadnaught. She will mount, it is said, more heavy guns than any two battleships afloat, will be able to withstand an attack from a submarine boat, or if she touches a submarine mine will be able to keep afloat till she reaches dock. As illustrating the growth of the British navy in the past ten years it is stated that in 1895 Great Britain had 23 armored ships each of more than 10,000 tons. Today, if there are included the ships being built, she has sixty. The life of a modern battleship is short. In early days there was little change, and progress was slow, but the nation nowadays which would depend upon vessels built fifteen or twenty years ago, would find itself defenceless at sea in case of war. The older vessels of the British navy are being constantly relegated to the junk heap, and the newest and most powerful vessels that modern skill can devise and build are ordered and constitute the bulk of the British fleet. It is in this way the wealth of Britain tells in rivalry with her neighbors at sea. European nations are burdened to death with the cost of their armies, they cannot keep them up and at the same time compete with Britain at sea. If Germany ever fulfills the dream of Emperor William and maintains a fleet to rival Great Britain's and still has the crushing load of her army to keep up, her people will be so ground between the upper and nether millstones that socialism, already the bugbear of the ruling classes, will threaten the empire with a complete revolution.

The total number of municipalities in the Province of Ontario in 247. Local option bylaws, under provincial legislation, have been carried in 69 of these. There are 75 others in which no licenses are issued. There are thus 124 municipalities in which no licenses are issued. The number of licenses in the other municipalities is being steadily reduced. In 1875, the number was 6,195. Last year it was 2,899, and already 199 have been cut off for 1905. It must be borne in mind in this connection that the population of the province has almost doubled since 1875.

AS GUESTS ARRIVE

Woman Ends Her Life on Eve of Big Reception.

New York, October 23.—Mrs. Carrie Buehler, 45 years old, wife of Julius Buehler, a wealthy merchant of this city, committed suicide today at her home, 17 Stuyvesant place, St. George, S. I. Mrs. Buehler put a bullet through her brain as guests were arriving at her house to attend a reception Mrs. Buehler had planned. The Buehlers have a handsome home at St. George, and the family moves in the best circles on Staten Island. When Mr. Buehler left home this morning his wife was in the best of spirits. She had been planning today's entertainment for some time and the last thing she said after kissing her husband good-bye was not to be late getting home this evening. There was no known motive for the suicide.

Chinese Miners Attack the Whites

Johannesburg, Oct. 23.—A gang of thirty Chinese at the Van Ryn mine, where there have already been five disturbances, struck work and attacked the whites underground. A white man pulled the signal cord, and the police galloping up, descended the shaft and saved the whites. The ringleaders were arrested. But this phase of attacks underground renders the situation very disquieting.

Do You Know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an aspiring friend of every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of The Chicago Record-Herald is a personal source of joyous helpfulness to womankind. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods—"factory" frizzes, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to breathe—in brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard-earned dollars. WE WILL CURE YOU OR NO PAY.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class [illegible] TREATMENT baths, but received little benefit. While AFTER TREATMENT at St. Clements I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor passing through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically, sexually. I have written many [illegible] to them, and continue to do so.

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

thing in her tone struck Mrs. L'Estrange; it was not impatience exactly, it was a sort of subdued excitement.

"It was not the charms of my hostess, nor the delights of my visit, I assure you," and she proceeded to describe the bitterness of her enforced tarry with much quiet drollery, while Nora poured out the tea.

"You don't want the lamp yet?" she asked, after laughing at her step-mother's account. "It is so nice to sit by the fire."

"It is," said Mrs. L'Estrange, and there was a pause; then Nora said suddenly:

"Helen, Clifford Marsden called here to-day!"

"Yes. He said something about coming last night."

"But, Helen! He—he—asked me to marry him! I was so amazed!"

"Well, Nora, I am surprised, too, though not so amazed as you are. I have seen that he was fond of you, but I did not think he would marry without money. How did you answer him, dear?"

"I scarcely know, except that I certainly did not say 'yes.'"

"It is curious," said Mrs. L'Estrange, as if to herself, "I never thought Clifford Marsden would tie himself to any woman, unless for a large money bribe. He knows exactly how you are situated, and I think the better of him! He must love you very much!"

"He says he does, I believe he does!" said Nora, sitting down on her footstool again and clasping her hands round her knee in a thoughtful pose. "In fact, I am half frightened at the idea of his caring so much about me, though that is weak and silly. I never thought the squire could be so intensely in earnest about anything. I feel somehow to blame, for, Helen, I am not one bit in love with him. I told him so, and he said he knew it."

"My dear child, you do not know whether you are or not! Clifford Marsden is a man who might teach any woman to love him; and why should he not win you? He shows that he is sincerely, disinterestedly attached to you. I must say I am entirely on his side."

"Are you?" said Nora dreamily. "I suppose so." She sighed.

"It is a marriage that would have given your father the keenest pleasure." Nora was silent. "Did you then reject him?" asked Mrs. L'Estrange.

"He would not accept rejection," said Nora, with a grave smile. "He said I must hear him; that I must marry him; he seemed rather angry and excited, but we parted good friends. I promised to think of all he had said, and speak to you, who would be his friend he was sure. I am astonished he should care for me so much! He has seen such quantities of charming, beautiful people—but he does! Oh! Helen. He is wonderfully fond of me! I could hear it in his voice. I am very ungrateful. I wish he were not. I am afraid even if I were to marry him he would be disappointed to find that I could not love him enough. It is—I mean it must be—so wretched not to receive as much as one gives."

"My dear, you could not fail to love him heartily! You are perfectly heart-whole, and yours is a kindly nature, not likely to harden itself against the tenderness of a true lover."

"No; perhaps not. I wish I did love him. How happy and light-hearted I should be! Now I am uncertain and miserable. I am so impatient, Helen! I can not rest if I am unhappy. I must get light and freedom, or I should beat myself to pieces against my prison bars! You are ever so much braver and nobler."

"You have never come in contact with a real necessity, Nora. You can not conceive how inexorably submission is forced upon one sometimes."

There was a short pause.

"I should be glad, I confess," resumed Mrs. L'Estrange, "to see you well and happily married. You would, I am sure, be always a kind sister to my poor little Bee; as to myself, it is not impossible that I may—" she stopped.

"Certainly not; why should you not?" put in Nora, eagerly. "You are young and fair enough to marry some good, delightful person."

"My dear Nora!" interrupting in her turn. "What can have suggested so absurd an idea? I was about to touch on a very different topic, but I will not now. Tell me, did Mr. Marsden say he would come again?"

"Yes—so. I am not sure what he said. But I think he will most probably."

"Well; we can say no more at present. I will go and change my dress. I trust you will be wise, and not reject such an offer for a whim."

"I only want to do what is right," cried Nora, standing up, and letting her clasped hands fall to the length of her arms. "I do wish I loved Clifford, as he deserves me to love him, but—it is very odd—I don't think I like him as well as I did yesterday. I used to be quite glad to see him—and now I rather dread his coming."

"That is natural enough, Nora. There will be a little awkwardness in meeting him at first. I do not quite understand your indifference to so very attractive a man as Clifford Marsden! Tell me—you know I would not intrude on your confidence; I only ask because you are dear to me as my own sister—have you any preference for some one else to steal your heart?"

"Why! who has ever made love to me?" cried Nora, indignantly, coloring crimson as she spoke, "and am I the sort of girl to bestow my heart or fancy when neither are sought?"

"Pardon me," said Mrs. L'Estrange smiling, "the heart, even in the strongest-minded young ladies, is strangely illogical and unaccountable."

"Well, I really am not very silly. Now I have kept you too long, perhaps your dress is damp, and you know you must not be imprudent."

"I know it, but I have been under cover all day."

She took up her cloak and was [illegible] and proceeded:

"How selfish I am! I quite forgot to tell you I had a few lines from Lady Dorrington, she says Mrs. Ruthven is seriously ill, with fever, nervous fever, and they are quite uneasy about her."

"Indeed! I am sorry, very sorry. I never liked Mrs. Ruthven as well as you do, but I think she looked dreadfully worried of late."

"Did you, do you think she was very much taken with the squire?"

"Oh, I don't imagine she cares seriously for any one, she likes the most distinguished man present," returned Mrs. L'Estrange.

"I should be so very sorry to interfere with her. It must be dreadful to be cut out if you are really fond of any one."

"Do not distress yourself on that score; I fancy Mr. Marsden's flirtation with Mrs. Ruthven was of the very lightest order. Did you answer Lady Dorrington's letter?"

"Yes, at once, and begged her to let us know how the patient was going on."

A NEW NAVY

For Russia is to be Built by Americans, it is Believed.

Sebastopol, October 21.—Ground was broken yesterday near this city for the great shipyards which are to rebuild the Russian navy, and today an army of men are busy excavating for a site. Much secrecy is maintained as to who are the owners of the yards, but the general opinion is that the works are being built for Charles R. Flint, of New York, as head of a late American syndicate.

The yard is to be thoroughly equipped with up-to-date American ship and engine building machinery. The syndicate, it is said, will do business with the Admiralty on condition that it be assured possession of the new yard for a term of 35 years, and further assured of sufficient naval orders to concern reasonably employed.

Boers are Bunsoed.

El Paso, October 21.—Unable to acquire clear titles to their farms and harassed by a series of embarrassments, the Boers who settled in colonies of self-exiled Dutchmen from the Transvaal in Chihuahua, Mexico., are scattering, leaving the sites of their colonies in the sister republic, to seek homes where they may in the United States.

Gen. Ben Viljoen, who was promoter of the colonization project, and who advanced funds for bringing them across the water, has lost heavily. He left the colony a few days ago. Gen. Snyman and his family are practically the sole Boers remaining. They assert their intention of remaining in Chihuahua, and calling upon the Mexican Government for protection and support.

MELLVILLE MILLER'S DEATH

Former Peterboro Hardware Man Dies at Orillia.

The many friends and acquaintances in this city and county, of Mr. Mellville Miller, will regret to learn of his death, Sunday morning at the Toronto General Hospital.

Two weeks ago he underwent an operation, which was in itself successful, but death resulted from shock, combined with other complications. Mr. Miller was born in Dundee, Scotland, in 1840, and came to Canada in 1847 with his father, the late Alexander Miller, who was General Manager of Canada's first railway. He was Orillia's first Mayor in 1876, holding the position for three years. He was also reeve for a number of years.

From Orillia, he moved to Peterboro and entered into partnership with the late Mr. John Bertram, in his flourishing hardware business on George street. Mr. Miller afterwards purchased Mr. Bertram's interest and carried on the business in his own name, until he sold out to Messrs. Fortye & Phelan. He was also known here as a very successful stock operator and made a large sum by his good judgment and steadfast confidence in his own decisions.

From Peterboro he returned to Orillia, and again entered the hardware business. He was also interested with John Thomson in the lumber industry at Longford Mills. He was appointed postmaster in Orillia by the present Government in 1896. He leaves seven sons and four daughters. The body was taken to Orillia for interment.

Mr. Westcott's New Store

Mr. R. Westcott, who is now getting his new store, at 422 George street, in readiness, yesterday had a new plate glass front inserted in place of the one accidentally broken recently. Mr. Westcott has already purchased a very large and up-to-date stock of boots and shoes, suitable to all classes of trade. He expects to open the new store on or about Nov. 1st. From his long experience with Mr. R. McWhinnie, Mr. Westcott is a thoroughly practical boot and shoe man, and will, we predict, get a good share of Peterboro's trade.

Dredge Trent's Season Over.

The dredge Trent has completed its labors at the locks below the city where it has been working for the past month. It has taken out the old dam above the locks and dredged the channel below the locks. It is now awaiting orders from the Public Works department before starting to dredge the channel in the river above the C.P.R. bridge. It is yet possible that the latter work may be done, but no instructions have as yet, reached the Trent's officers.

THOMAS A. EDISON, in his prediction of the future, gives first place to the necessity of fighting the bacteria which give us our diseases. Next to the actual bacteria of disease, the mosquitos and flies are the most dangerous enemies of man. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria, yellow fever, and other fatal troubles. The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid, cholera and other plagues of the human race.

Dr. Pierce, the eminent physician of Buffalo, N. Y., says, "If each person will consider his system as an army of men which he controls as a general, and will see to its proper provisioning and that it has plenty of ammunition in the shape of good red blood, he will be able to overcome the enemy in these germs of disease." Every healthy man has five million red blood corpuscles to every square millimeter of blood. The best tonic for increasing the red blood corpuscles and building up healthy tissue is no doubt Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine has been on the market for over a third of a century and numbers its cures by the thousand.

Many popular patent medicines or tonics are made up largely of alcohol and will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance. What is needed is an alterative extract, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, which assists the digestive organs in getting or taking from the food such elements as are required for the blood, also an alterative that will assist the activity of the liver and cause it to throw off the poisons in the blood. When we have purified and tone we have put the system in a fortified condition so strong that it can repel the germs of disease which we find everywhere—in the street-cars, the shops, the factories, the bedrooms, wherever many people congregate, or where sunlight and good air do not penetrate.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Neglected constipation means headache, heart-burn, sour stomach, foul taste in the mouth, biliousness, pimples, and palpitation of the heart. Constipation is promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One for mild cases, otherwise two.

MINES COMPANY OF AMERICA

Paying Regular Dividends of 1 1-2 per Cent. Monthly, and Extra Large Dividends Since Incorporation.

Total Dividends Paid [34 Months] $1,670,000.

I offer a very limited amount of the above shares, price of which will be furnished on application. I submit the following very interesting data:

This Company was organized in December, 1902, in 2,000,000 shares, par value, $1.00 each, full paid and non-assessable, under the laws of the State of Maine. The Company owns the Crestone-Colorado and Fortuna Mines, situated in the State of Sonora, Mexico.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:—

WM. E. REIS, President,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

H. S. BLACK, Treasurer,
President of the United States Realty & Construction Co. New York.

JOHN J. MITCHELL,
President of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank (deposits seventy-five millions), Chicago, Ill.

JOHN LAMBERT,
American Steel & Wire Co., Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT MURRAY,
New York.

ISAAC L. ELWOOD,
American Steel & Wire Co., Dekalb, Ill

LOYAL L. SMITH,
New York.

CAPT. WM. FLEMING,
Chicago, Ill.

General Manager, JOHN B. FARISH.

In the year 1903, the Company paid dividends of $25,000 each on the twentieth day of each month, from January to September 3rd. On September 3rd an extra dividend of $150,000 was paid, and on September 20th the regular monthly dividend of $30,000 was resumed, or 2 1-2 cents per share, making a total of $470,000 paid in dividends during the year 1903.

Attached report 1904 shows that the Company paid dividends on the twentieth of each month of 1 1-2 cents per share, or $30,000, except the month of January, when the dividend was deferred for the purpose of providing funds for a new Cyanide Plant, which cost about $75,000; but $330,000 was paid the shareholders in dividends for 1904, in addition to which the company paid for its new Cyanide Plant and made an investment of $275,000 in 65,000 shares of Dolores, Limited, (which has a freely market value of over $675,000.00), of which 60,000 shares have just been distributed to the Mines Company's stockholders as EXTRA DIVIDEND.

The Company has no debts, has about $150,000 in the Treasury, and about $125,000 worth of supplies on hand.

The volume of earnings indicated can be maintained for many years, for the Company, in addition to its mines, has a Tailings Pile accumulated from old ownerships of these properties amounting to between two and three million tons of ore, worth from 75c to $2 per ton, now under treatment, OR SUFFICIENT ALONE TO PAY OFF THE ENTIRE CAPITAL.

I subjoin the figures of the 1903 and 1904 earnings, and while I have not the 1905 figures immediately at hand, I would state they show a substantial increased cash on hand beyond the regular dividends and suggesting an EXTRA DIVIDEND next year.

Mr. Larke Addresses The Board of Trade

Peterboro's Leading Manufacturers And Business Men Enjoy Lecture on Canada's Trade With Australia

Some 75 of Peterboro's leading merchants and manufacturers attended a meeting held in the council chamber last night. Among those present were noticed, Messrs. Rushee-Charles, president of the Board of Trade, under whose auspices the meeting was held; E. G. Patterson, Mgr., of the C. G.E. Co., Collier of the Peterboro Cereal Co., D. W. Dumble, R. Fair, W. Davidson of the Dickson Co., John Carnegie, ex-M.P., Wood, the County Crown Attorney; R. G. Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Education; Robt. Innes, R. Fair, W. Salisbury, Mayor Best, L. M. Hayes, Moore, Jas. Stevenson, E. B. Edwards, C. Fessenden, T. Hay, Green, English, Eardley-Wilmot, M. J. Toker, J. M. Brooks and many others.

The chairman, in introducing the business of the evening, said that a couple of letters would be read. Two for Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., saying he would be pleased to get suggestions re tariff changes, were read. Another letter from the secretary of the Montreal Board of Trade, was read, suggesting that delegations from the various Boards of Trade be sent to a meeting to be held in Montreal. A letter from Mr. B. F. Ackerman was read expressing regret at his inability to be present. Another letter from the city clerk, re fire protection, asking the Board to appoint a committee to act with the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, moved, seconded by Mr. R. E. Wood, that Messrs. Bradburn, M.P.P., R. M. Denniston and W. H. Moldrum be a committee to discuss and investigate fire protection, betterment.

Mr. Hughes-Charles then, in a few kindly words, introduced Mr. Larke, the speaker of the evening. He said that whilst the meeting was small in numbers he could assure him, those present were highly representative men of the city.

Mr. Larke reciprocated the pleasure expressed by Mr. Charles, at having met before. In St. John, their Board of Trade did not know quite what to do with him (the speaker). There were nine present and next morning 190 came to express their regret at not being present. (Laughter.)

He referred to a former visit here in connection with Sir. Mackenzie Bowell. He found very peculiar ideas, when he came east, about the Australian trade. People thought this trade only affected the salmon and timber trade of the Pacific coast.

Timber has lately been somewhat dormant. The western trade is very little as compared with the rest of this country. The Australian trade returns are very decisive, as that country includes Canada with English and American exports. The Canadian trade has grown but may greatly increase.

When he arrived in Australia, there was a great drought, which killed off 50 per cent. of the sheep. The Australian statisticians never makes a mistake that will hurt the trade of that country, so Australian returns are unreliable. The home market is the best market, unless the manufacturer knows exactly where he stands. It is Ontario and Quebec that send the goods from Canada to Australia. He gets letters asking at what price Canadian manufacturers sell to the Australians. The manufacturers of cottons have been doing business for ten years, and they are content to get a new dollar for an old one. It is simply a means of keeping the machinery moving at cost price.

The capitalist may not get a cent in profit, but it benefits the employe, the farmer, and the merchant, so that Canada's trade is keenly interested in the export trade. In the Maritime Provinces, the speaker said a man who should have known better, decried the Canadian export trade.

The lower Provinces gypsum is a large trade, particularly in Nova Scotia. The enterprising American mixed up the lower Provinces gypsum and making plaster of Paris, shipped it to Australia at a large profit. Not a pound of cement has been shipped, although Australia takes 50,000 tons annually from Germany and other countries.

Canada's fish was the best of all. codfish and haddock, mackerel and herring are shipped in most terribly inferior packages. He told the British Columbia fishermen they did not know how to make barrels. The United States ships fish put up in tins and appetizing forms.

There are great forests of spruce, which is shipped to the United States at $5 a cord, which the Americans fix up in good style, and ship at $25 a cord. It is more profitable to ship hogs and horses, than the crude corn and cereals which build the former up. It is quality not quantity of a country's exports that count. It is necessary to have all the machinery requisite for shipping a good finished product.

The speaker sent letters to the Government and Boards of Trade about this matter. In one year, Australia imported, during the drought, 13,000,000 of food stuffs, of which Canada only sent $600,000. The United States had the ships to send their food stuffs, but ships were not always available in British Columbia. It is no wonder the Australian said, "These Canadians are too slow." To develope our resources, we want first transportation. The first thing asked by the Australian is, "What will they pay? I have lots more in my warehouse." Every cent paid in freight is a penny less to the Canadian manufacturers. Transportation is the key note of successful success. To cement and report the latter is affected by the one-thirtieth of a cent a pound.

The bulk of our trade was done through Liverpool or London, which included transportation and handling charges there.

It has cost more in New York to carry goods from its dock to the ship then from the dock across the ocean.

If any goods are to be left behind when ship room is scarce, the Canadian, being the little fellow, gets left in comparison with the American shipper. When the Australian used to have a big ware house, business was done in a different way; now he wants the manufacturers to carry the goods till wanted. The Canadian is too slow. The Canadian goods do not arrive when wanted, so this country often loses a sale, and some other country gets it. When the ship has too much room, the ship owner offers the American customer a deal for six months, at a reduced rate, and the Canadian shipper gets left. The Massey-Harris Company is Canada's largest shipper. They do 50 per cent. of Australian's imports in agricultural implements. Yet a little firm in the same business in New York State, not doing one-twentieth of the Massey-Harris Company's business, gets cheaper freight rates, as their man is on the spot to look for snaps. No railway on the continent can do more than the C.P.R. to encourage Australian freight, yet they can't do the business; but the great mass of the trade must go elsewheres. If we get their trade we must meet the world on freight rates. There is no reason that Canada should not have its tramp and regular ships sailing from Montreal in the summer and a lower Province port in the winter. If there is not sufficient trade to fill the ships at all times, we could fill them with paper and cement, which are staple articles. On the return cargoes, ships will get back some how. Wool is now handled twice in London coming from Australia; this might come direct to Canada. It would come ten per cent. cheaper direct. Flax from New Zealand could also be brought direct, and freight saved. Hides are cheap in Sydney, and Canada alone uses $150,000 worth per year. Soap, oils, cocoanut, oil cake are cheap there. Hardwood timber and sugar (here the speaker made a striking reference to the unorthound Peterboro factory) could be shipped cheaply. The railway companies must cooperate with the steamships. Public opinion must be brought to bear on the railways to build up Canada. Let the railways drop their rivalry and cooperate, and goods can be shipped cheap to the seaboard.

It is one thing to make goods and another to sell them. In Chicago, the greatest authority on the subject, a juror at the World's Fair, told him "Canada exhibited the greatest industrial progress of any country in the world." (Applause.)

The best way to get trade is to go after it. Australia is a good place to grow younger in, he himself has grown younger and better looking there. (Applause and great laughter.)

In Dunedin, in a machine shop, he found a man using Canadian brass. The man had seen a picture of the Canadian goods, but never the maker, the business had been done on a photograph. Send his letter to go out yourself. The Australian is no fool; the man who goes there to sell goods must be an expert. A second-class man, 12,000 miles from home, is apt to get "the swelled head." The man sent there to sell goods has to stay there. The Australian has been made very cautious. He had known a timber firm in the United States, who sent out a man who said to an Australian buyer, "I guess the Lord sent me out to sell you goods." Afterwards the Australian said the religious talking man had sold him the rottenest goods they had ever seen. (Laughter.)

He instanced an Australian firm who bought a shipment of boots and shoes, which were so good they would not buy again; thinking the first shipment was a bait. (Laughter.)

Several shippers might combine or rather co-operate in sending a representative.

He knew one firm who only handled neckties, and still he did a good business, but it does not pay to send a man 12,000 miles unless he has a lot to sell. A co-operation representative could handle the goods of a number of manufacturers, using all equally. We want a mercantile co-operation with half a million capital at least, to handle the goods of several factories. One man can sell boots and shoes, but not bungles. We have the brains in Canada and the capital. Common sense will make money in co-operation. Australia has good commission men, but they have not the money to handle a diversity of trades. Canada has not yet tried for the inland trade of Australia.

The traveller only sells the old lines, as he has not the time to seek the wholesalers what the new goods are for or worth.

Canada must have a preferential trade with Australia. The Canadian Government says why don't the Australian Government accept our offers? The reason for this is that there is no party Government in that country, there are three parties in politics there, which are all alike, so no Government can have strength. The speaker next spoke of the ridiculous waste of time by the Australian Government as compared with that of Canada. Another reason is that a Government will do as the people demand, and the Australians do not understand protective policies. The provinces then never had reciprocity of Government between themselves. We must educate the Australians. He talked Pacific cable with the Australians till they got it, and preferential trade can be procured with Australia. He suggested that the Premier accompanied by the Leader of the Opposition should visit Australia together. "Surely Canada could get along for six months without either of these gentlemen" Mr. Larke asked. (Laughter.) He had more letters from the United States than from Canada about reciprocal trade. Within two years there will be more men working in Canada for the Australian markets than in the United States.

Mr. Larke concluded his very interesting and pertinent address by a most encouraging address to Peterboro's manufacturers, saying that Peterboro's industries could secure a large share of Australia's trade.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was seconded in a few well chosen words by Mr. E. J. Tobey.

Col. E. R. Edwards also addressed a few timely and appropriate remarks on the subject.

Let Us Have a Heart to Heart Talk

DOES YOUR MONEY NET YOU 25 PER CENT ANNUALLY

If it does not, you had better investigate the BIG CASINO GOLD MINING CO.; for money invested in the stock of this company should net you not less than 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. annually, the remainder of your life.

WHAT WE HAVE IN DEVELOPMENT AND ACREAGE

We have 270 acres of mineral land, located at Big Oak Flat, Tuolumne County, California, on the great "Mother Lode," and mining on the "Mother Lode" is not speculative, for the ore bodies are known to exist in inexhaustible quantities.

We have 10,000 feet of underground work done, have blocked out and in sight a very large amount of ore ready to break down and mill.

We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill in good working condition, running ten hours every day. We could be paying dividends from the returns of the mill, but we are putting the proceeds back into the development and equipment of the property.

We have the mine equipped with compressed air drills, steam power plant, steam hoist, black smith shops, and all necessary tools.

We have spent in development and equipment more than $200,000.00 on these mines, have taken almost $100,000.00 from the property and put it back in development.

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO

We propose to add immediately 20 stamps to the 20 we have in, then we will pay from $30,000.00 to $50,000.00 per month in dividends and lay aside a sinking fund to double the capacity of the mill, which will be done inside the next twelve months.

We will then double the dividend and increase the sinking fund to again double the capacity of the mill, then we will pay dividends that will surprise every stockholder.

WHY DO WE WANT TO SELL STOCK?

We have no power, only steam, and that is created by burning Jack Pine wood, which is very poor, costs $7.00 per cord, and is hard to get. We know we have more ore than can be mined in two or three life times, and the Tuolumne Electric Power Co., and the Golden Rod Ditch Co. (with water power), are both in position to furnish us cheap power before Christmas, and we want to have in 50 stamps ready to operate when we get the cheap power, and in order to do this we are willing to sell some of our Treasury Stock at a sacrifice. Considering the development and equipment of the mines, this stock is cheap at par ($1.00) per share now, and we are going to make it bring $1.00 per share before January 1st, but we are going to sacrifice a limited amount of it the next few days at 50 cents per share.

IS THERE ANY CHANCE OF LOSS IN BUYING THIS STOCK?

We assure you that an investment in any industrial stock, in any bank or trust company's stock, or in any piece of real estate in North America, either in the States or in the Dominion, would not have the risk more nearly eliminated than the Big Casino stock, for we own the property, have proven the ore bodies, and your investment is protected by multiplied millions of dollars worth of ore, only waiting to be broken, milled and put into bullion, then distributed in dividends to the fortunate stockholders.

You can go to see the mines, send any mining man you like, ask us any questions you want to, we have nothing to hide but court the closest investigation, our business is as legitimate as any in the world, and is far the most profitable.

You may have invested in something some time that you thought was mining stock and lost, that is no reason you should fear to investigate what we offer you; come and see us or write and ask for any information you may desire.

We will be at the White House for a few days, and will be glad to see you and tell you all you want to know about our proposition, whether you invest with us or not.

When we get the cheap power you can't purchase any stock of us at any price, for we will have none for sale. We will then get all the money we want for equipment from the mines in a very short time.

Where does 90% of our multimillionares get their money? From the mines. What is making thousands of poor people rich every year, and putting thousands more in easy circumstances? It is investing their savings in legitimate mining shares.

According to the report of Director Roberts, of the United States mint, the gold and silver mines of the United States during 1901 produced $18,321.80 per hour, every hour, day and night. Sundays and holidays included, and to this if you will add the copper produced at the same time you will have the enormous sum of $30,295.00 per hour, and if you will add to this the zinc, lead, quicksilver, and other mineral products, you will increase the amount not less than 50 per cent. Would you like to share in these profits? then purchase shares in the Big Casino and you will get your portion.

For further information address or call and see us at the White House until further notice.

Very truly yours,

GEO. L. PORTER,

P. S.—Since arriving here, some of our friends have asked us if we have such a good proposition, why could we not sell it in some of the cities back in the States? We want to say there is not a city in the States that we could not sell every share of this stock in, if properly put before the people, for there are millions of dollars lying waiting for investment in propositions not one-fourth so good as this. The owners of the money are only waiting to be advised of the opportunity.

We came here solely on the request of Mr. W. H. Robertson, who is a warm personal friend of ours. He asked that his friends might have the opportunity to get in on B. C. stock so they would have something that would not fail to pay them large returns on their money, and you who purchase shares and grow rich will have Mr. Robertson to thank for bringing you the opportunity. Yours,

G. L. PORTER.

KILLED WIFE IN A DUEL

Fiametad Pair Agreed to Shoot on Sight.

New York, October 24. — Danton H. Hopkins, a die-cutter in Brooklyn, shot and instantly killed his wife in a duel with her in the hallway of her flat in Johnston street, Brooklyn, today. Although married 20 years, the two were living apart, having quarreled over money matters. Today Hopkins called at his wife's flat, knocked for admission and when she opened the door they began to fire at each other with revolvers.

Hopkins was wounded in the hand by a bullet from his wife's weapon and finally shot her in the eye. She died instantly. Hopkins was arrested and charged with murder.

Miss Jennie Bruyn, Hopkin's sister, who witnessed the duel, said that the conduct of the two indicated that they had agreed to shoot each other on sight.

Australia and Preference

London, October 25. — The Times' Sydney correspondent states that Premier Deakin, addressing the New South Wales Chamber of Manufacturers, said that at next general election the Ministry would ask for power to arrange mutual preference with the Mother Country. Meanwhile the Ministry was studying the Canadian overtures and communicating with South Africa.

RUSSIA WAS BADLY WORSTED

In Her Terms of Peace With Japan.

PLAYED HER PART WELL

Prominent Englishman Now in Montreal States Views.

Montreal, October 25.—"A triumph of Japanese diplomacy," remarked Mr. C. W. Atchison, of Kobe, Japan, with reference to the recent peace treaty at Portsmouth.

Mr. Atchison is returning to Japan, where he has resided for some years, after a furlough spent in England, and has remained over in Montreal for several days visiting friends here.

"Just as soon as I see the Japanese doing anything for humanity's sake I begin to think where it is going to profit him.

"People who think the Japanese waived their claims to an indemnity and the whole of Sakhalin on the above grounds, are deceived, I am sure.

"People who imagine that the above was done to capture Western sentiment are also just as much deceived. The Japanese had no notion that they would ever gain that indemnity. I'm convinced. It was a bluff—pure, thought not simple."

Mr. Atchison has a wholesome regard for the Jap as a diplomat. Compared with the average Jap, Machiavelli was a child, and his diplomacy works with much broader and farther reaching weapons than those employed by the Great Italian.

"The Japanese were playing their part upon the stage. Their irresponsible diplomats in London, Rome, Berlin and Paris made the assertion that an indemity would never be waived. Japan would also never rest content with anything less than the whole of Sakhalin.

"The Russians swallowed the bait, according to Mr. Atchison's opinion, and determined to refuse at all costs these inadmissable demands, for Russia did not desire peace.

"Then, to place the opportunities of saving peace, Russia ceded Japan all her minor (?) demands.

"Yes," remarked Mr. Atchison, "Russia yielded Port Arthur and Dalny, gave up all rights in Manchuria worth millions, fishing rights and a free hand in Corea. Japan took the credit, but let the cash go. Of indemnity 'pas un sou.'"

Mr. Atchison believes that the immediate progress of Japan will be rapid. The Japanese, he states, are indomitable workers and most of their business men are not fettered by restraints of "integrity or commercial honor."

"Nice people to deal with, but don't trust them," was his comment.

TRICK ON POSTERITY

Charlotte Street Drain Operations Blocked by Row of Stumps

Yesterday as Mr. Harry Evans had a gang of men working on the Charlotte street pipe drain, in front of the Snowden House, his men literally "struck a snag." In truth they struck several snags, and, thereby hangs a tale involving some forty years. As a Times representative was watching the men, chopping, sawing and using picks on five or six huge old semi-decayed pine stumps, some three feet below the surface, and extending down to perhaps six feet, he enquired how they got there, in such perfect alignment. Mr. William Croft, one of Peterboro's authorities of Peterboro antiquities, happened along, and, as might be expected had the key to the solution in his memory. It seems that some forty years ago, the late Mr. Robt. Harper had the contract for filling in a deep depression in the street. At save time Mr. Harper drew to the spot a few loads of huge pine stumps, taken from a nearby lot. These stumps he simply dumped into the hole and covered them up with earth and gravel off the street. Now the stumps are exactly aligned along where the 18-inch pipes must be buried. At the depth where they lie, it is impossible to lift them out bodily, as extending roots have been covered by the earth. Mr. Evans may have to move some of them by the use of gunpowder.

MONTH AFTER MONTH a cold stirs, and seems to war holes in your throat. Are you aware that even a stubborn and long-neglected cold is cured with Allen's Lung Balsam? Cough and worry no longer.

CIVIL MARRIAGES NOW

Pope Issues New Catechism Making Ceremony Necessary.

Rome, October 25.—A departure from the traditions of the Roman Catholic church is to be found in the new catechism just issued by authority of the pope. While in the past, the church authorities were opposed to the celebration of the civil marriage ceremony by Roman Catholics, claiming it was not necessary, as in most countries the Roman Catholic ceremony was recognized as binding before the civil authorities, the new catechism explicitly inculcates the necessity for Roman Catholics to contracts a civil, as well as a religious marriage. "In order that the contracting parties and their children may enjoy the civic rights of the marriage state."

RUGBY.

A large number of Peterboro people will take in the return game with the Toronto Argos at Toronto on Thanksgiving Day. It should be a great match.

The locals are not only confident of winning the round from the Argos, but think they can beat the combination team in Toronto.

• • • •

The Argos will likely be strengthened for the return game with Peterboro, but the locals should be able to put them away if they play the kind of rugby they did on Saturday.

• • • •

The Toronto Globe says; The Thanksgiving Day rugby attraction will be the game between the Toronto Argos and Peterboro. These teams met last Saturday and Peterboro proved themselves too good for the combination intermediates on the Peterboro grounds. The Argos were handicapped by being unable to take three of their best players with them and were only beaten after two of their half back were injured. With a strong team they should reverse the result. Peterboro will come by with a big crowd. The game will be played at Varsity Athletic field at 3 p.m. sharp.

• • • •

The Mail says;—

Toronto-Argos and Peterboro will meet in a semi-final game at Varsity Athletic Field on Thanksgiving Day at 3 p.m. The Peterboro team are quite a husky lot of players, but the Toronto Argonauts think their speed will more than counterbalance their opponents' weight. With a fine day a record crowd should be on hand, as a first-class game is assured.

The Peterboro-Argo game is the only rugby attraction in Toronto on Thursday and there should be a big crowd in attendance.

HOCKEY.

The following circular was issued last night by President J. Ross Robertson to the hundred clubs of the Ontario Hockey Association;

"Your club, in connection with the clubs, of the Ontario Hockey Association, is about to choose its delegate for the annual meeting on the 11th November next. I feel that I owe it to the association and all its clubs, to announce my withdrawal from the active executive government of the O. H.A. I make this announcement so that there may be no uncertainty as far as I am concerned in regard to the presidency of the O.H.A. My withdrawal is final. Other business duties and absence from Canada in the winter months prevent me from giving the office the time and attention which it requires. Further, I do not desire to block the promotion of younger men, and I, therefore, venture to give due and timely notice of my withdrawal so as to give ample opportunity for another selection for the office of president.

"I shall, of course, preside at the annual meeting, when I hope to have the opportunity of thanking the clubs through their representatives, for the long-continued confidence the Ontario Hockey Association has reposed in me during my successive terms in the presidency and of expressing my hope that in the coming years the O. H.A. will stand as it has always stood at the head of Canadian athletic associations in the support and conduct of clean amateur sport. Yours truly,

"J. Ross Robertson.

"President, O.H.A."

• • • •

The O.H.A. in the retirement of Mr. Robertson loses an official under whose regime there has never been anything but clean hockey. As a result of Mr. Robertson's labor the Ontario Hockey Association stands at the head of Canadian athletic organizations.

BASKETBALL.

Mr. Ross Dobbin will have charge of the team.

YOUNG'S POINT BRIDE

Miss Loretta Godfrey Becomes The Bride of Mr. M. A. Hynes.

Yesterday morning, St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Young's Point, was the scene of a pretty church wedding, when the holy bonds of matrimony united Mr. Maurice A. Hynes, of Lakefield, and Miss Loretta May Godfrey, of Young's Point. The ceremony was performed, and the nuptial mass was sung by Rev. Father Phelan. Miss Nellie Young of Young's Point, performed the duties of bridesmaid, and Mr. William Welsh was best man. Miss Maggie Kearney, organist of the church, presided at the organ and played the wedding march, while Mrs. P. P. Young and Miss Lottie Kearney sang the solos incidental to the wedding mass. The bride and bridesmaid were beautifully attired. The happy couple will reside in Lakefield.

SHOULD BE PUT TO INSTANT DEATH

Victims of Painful Disease or Incurable Maladies

CALLS IT DIVINE JUSTICE

Sensation Created at the American Humane Association Convention

Philadelphia, Penn., October 24. — Pleading that it might practically would be legalized murder to save human beings who are victims of painful incurable diseases, or terrible accidents, from prolonged agony, Miss Anne S. Hall, delegate from Cincinnati, created a tremendous sensation this afternoon at the second day's session of the American Humane Association Convention in New Century drawing room. Miss Hall asked that resolutions be adopted favoring the administration of anaesthetics to bring peaceful death as a relief from lingering torture.

She declared that only intolerance, bigotry and superstition stood in the way of a humane ending of life where death was certain, and its slow approach meant hours of terrible agony to the sufferer.

Coming from the lips of a woman the appeal was all the more startling, and the explosion of a bomb in the convention could not have more profoundly shocked the delegates.

Dr. Stillman, the association's president, and a dozen others jumped to their feet with strong protests, and a heated discussion followed, though Miss Hall's resolutions were ruled out of order by the president.

"I make a plea for a line of mercy which has never been brought before any organization before," said Miss Hall.

"I want the action of the humane society in urging forward the work which I have undertaken—that of providing a merciful relief to hopeless human sufferers. Intolerance, bigotry and superstition cling around and hamper any radical forward movement, but let people have cases of intense suffering which they are unable to relieve brought before their own eyes or into their own families and they may begin to view this matter in a new light.

"Take the case of a railroad accident where the brave engineer or crew scores of passengers may lie within sight, writing in death agony from wounds or from fire, where people have to stand by and helplessly watch their sufferings. It is against the law to take a life, but who shall say it would not be a divine justice to ease such sufferings by death? Mrs. Ballington Booth has given this subject much attention, and has written to the presidents of many railroads begging that anaesthetics be provided on all trains, for use in such emergencies, but one company can provide them, as it would be against the law."

Miss Hall stated that to get the American Medical Association to take the matter up and work for legislation it would be necessary to get the indorsement of two outside societies.

"I want to go further than this," she said, "and would advise the use of anaesthetics in the case of incurable consumption, diabetes, hydrophobia and lockjaw.

"Physicians use them now, but always at a risk, as they are legally committing a murder when they help some agonized sufferer to a quick and peaceful end. I would have all this legalized."

Miss Hall then presented the resolution, which she desired the Humane Association to adopt. Dr. Stillman, president of the society, immediately arose and spoke strongly against the adoption of the resolutions. He ruled them out as being entirely outside of the charter rights of the society, which pertain mainly to the prevention of cruelty to animals and children.

"This is too grave a problem for us to undertake to solve," said Dr. Stillman. "I do not think that the laws of the land will ever grant any individual, whether physical or otherwise, the right to terminate a human life. In a practice of over 30 years I have had to face situations where it would have seemed a mercy to snuff out the spark of life from a paincracked body, but never have I considered myself worthy to decide the time to end a human life."

GAS FROM PASTE

When Used as Food is Bound to Make Trouble.

The average cereal food as frequently prepared, forms a pasty, gas-generating mass in the stomach, which gives the digestive apparatus considerable trouble and frequently puts it out of business. A young man writes from Trenton, N. J., to tell what it did for him:

"I lived in a boarding house for three years before I was married," he says, "and every blessed morning there was supplied me some sort of cereal breakfast food, which I ate simply because I had been trained to eat what was set before me—not because I particularly relished any of it. It used to lie heavy on my stomach and within an hour fill me full of gas, making me very uncomfortable. At last this sort of thing brought on a serious disturbance of my digestive apparatus, with loss of appetite, and in time I had to go under the doctor's care.

"He put me on a diet of milk and toast, which in a week or two lost me 13 pounds in weight. I had a package of Grape-Nuts food in my room, which I had bought on a matter of curiosity, but had never opened. When I finally tired of milk and toast I thought I would try the Grape-Nuts, without any expectation that I would like it, thinking that it was probably similar to all the rest of the prepared foods.

"I liked it with cream from the start, finding it entirely different from anything else that I had ever eaten, and indulged in it freely. In one week (I say it on my honor) I regained nine pounds in weight and the Grape-Nuts gave me the power to digest other kinds of food. It put me on my feet in a few days and now is and always will be a regular food item in our house. My only trouble is to keep my wife from eating too much of it, she likes it so well." HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES

The most cheerful fact known in relation to the warfare waged against pulmonary tuberculosis is found in dissecting rooms. It is the evidence shown by the lungs of thousands of persons dying of other diseases, or by violence, that a multitude of persons suffer from consumption and recover.

This means more to those threatened by the dreaded destroyer than the most confident assurances of physicians that tuberculosis, taken in time and treated with discretion, can be cured, in a large proportion of all cases. It is evident that many persons attacked by tuberculosis must get well without especial care or medical help. Nature wins their fight for life. Often they do not know that they have the disease which slays more adults than other ill to which flesh is heir.

If sufferers from tuberculosis will only keep the evidence of the dissecting room in mind and fortify their confidence in its promise of a good fighting chance by consulting honorable and learned physicians, they will not despair. They can battle against the grim foe which threatens their existence with the courage which rests on solid facts.

It is well worth while. Hope and pluck go far in withstanding disease. They are good servants of life and health.

AN ANALOGY

Mr. Haultain has been accused of not being in accord with the constitution of the North-West Provinces, therefore, not constitutionally qualified to be premier of one of them. The Toronto News pointed out that there was an analogy between the position of Sir Oliver while premier of Ontario and that of Mr. Haultain, in that the former appealed to the Privy Council to obtain a ruling upon certain provisions of the constitution. To this the Toronto Expositor replied that Sir Oliver Mowat frankly and fully accepted the constitution under which he was sworn to defend. He did not appeal against the constitution or any provision of it, which he appealed against was the interpretation placed upon certain clauses of the constitution by the Dominion authorities. He claimed that on account of these false interpretations the rights of the province were being infringed upon. The answer to this is obvious and is made by The News, which states that "The Expositor might have fairly said that the two cases are not precisely alike in all their circumstances. No two cases are. History repeats itself, but not with the mechanical fidelity of two copies of a photograph. The analogy in this case is clear and substantial, and for all practical purposes complete. Oliver Mowat was seeking, as Haultain is seeking, to extend the limits of provincial authority. Sir John Macdonald was resisting, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier was resisting, to extend the limits of the central author-ity. If Haultain is an agitator, and a disturber of the peace, so was Oliver Mowat, yet he was canonized by the Liberals, who are now denouncing Haultain for the same conduct. Oliver Mowat sought to have the constitution interpreted in accordance with his view; Haultain is doing precisely the same thing. Mowat attacked the Dominion license law, but as Haultain attacks the educational clauses of the Autonomy bills."

"Not all rich men are dishonest," says a Toronto educator. Nor are all poor men dishonest. Why not make a broad statement and say that not all men are either honest or dishonest?

Sermon Against Prohibition

Clarenceville, P.Q., Oct. 24.—People were turned away, unable to enter his small church, when Rev. Father Sherrett of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church preached his promised sermon against prohibition. He claimed that the law does no good and that in administering it the people is discriminated against, one being fined $100 for treating a friend on the street, while in the same building where the fine was imposed the city council provided wine to entertain Prince Louis of Battenberg.

Minister Prefontaine's visit, with his promise of a new ice-breaking steamer of 5,000 horse-power for the winter service here, to be ready in November, 1906, has greatly cheered the Island people.

KNIGHT OF THE KEY STEALS A WIFE

Eloping Pair from Albany, N. Y., Located at Brockville

Brockville, Oct. 24.—During the past few days the aid of an Albany, N. Y., detective has brought to a climax a scandal which has engaged much attention and gossip in Albany for the past few months. Three weeks ago a young telegraph operator came here and secured employment in a broker's office, giving his name as Jas. N. Meade. Accompanying him was a fashionably dressed young woman of 24 years. They represented themselves to be man and wife. They secured quarters at a respectable boarding house and nothing more was thought of their affairs until Harry L. Rouse, an employe of the Empire Detective Agency, arrived here last Tuesday. Going straight to police headquarters, he asked for assistance in locating Mrs. Chester T. Hubbell, who had eloped from Albany with Meade. The detective produced a late picture of the woman which was at once recognized.

During the afternoon the couple were seen to purchase tickets for the theater. Upon returning to their rooms they were surprised by the detective confronting them in company with the local police and a lawyer. Neither made any defence of their actions, and enough evidence was secured to warrant the husband of the woman in starting an action for divorce. Hubbell, the husband, is a [illegible] and is reported to be worth $50,000. The woman also left behind in his care a boy three years of age.

A trip around the world in 60 minutes at a mere trifle.

Magnificently finished and exquisitely photo-color views in place of the oldtime and antiquated views of the past. A most pleasant and interesting hour to spend journeying around the globe viewing the places of greatest interest, most beautiful scenery, etc., at a mere trifle of cost through our liberal plan. These views illustrate some of the most noted places in the world—mountain scenery both in America and Europe—waterfalls and other famous natural phenomena, some of the world's most famous buildings, places of historical interest and places famous for beautiful architecture or beautiful natural scenery. This set is of the greatest educational value, presenting, as it does, such realistic likenesses of scenes and places that we all should know about. We want every household in this city to have one of these sets. Imagine yourself taken through the Orient, on a trip to California, through the world's Fair to see the splendid scenes as though you were right there on the spot. By a special process, a combination of lithographing and half-tone work, we are able to offer a collection of colored views from every part of the world in the most beautiful, natural and startling life-like color effects, which must be seen to be appreciated. It is impossible to describe the grandeur and beauty of these views. Come and see them. We want each and every household in this city to have a set of these.

Yellow Stone Park, U. S. A.; The Swiss Alps; On board a Russian Man-of-War; Scene from a Klondyke Camp; The Famous Ferry Depot, San Francisco; Cathedral from the Grand Canal, Rotterdam; Moulin Rouge, Paris; Street Scene, Mexico City; Emperor Wm. II Inspecting a Regiment; Chichamauga Park; Cotton Plantation Scene; On the Pike at the World's Fair, St. Louis; Holiday Street Scene Parade in Havana, Cuba; Scene Showing a Public Well, Pekin, China; Lookout Mountain; Steamboat Scene on the Mississippi; Garden of Gethsemane, Palestine; Scene Showing the Famous Southern Trestle; Hauling Trains Through Mountains in the South; The National Capitol at Washington, D. C.; The Pantheon at Rome; Victory Monument; Leipsic; Luna Island at Niagara Falls; David's Judgment Seat, Jerusalem; Interior View of President Diaz' Palace, Mexico; Ostrich Farm, Egypt; Royal Gardens, Dresden, Germany; (very beautiful), Palm Garden, Frankfort, Germany; Morro Castle, Havana; Plaza, World's Fair, St. Louis; Bird's Eye View of St. Louis Exposition; The Tomb of Gen. Grant, N. Y., Street Scene of Cairo, Egypt; Street Scene in Venice, Italy; Japanese Royal Garden Scene; Zoological Garden at Berlin, Germany; Ice Cave at Niagara Falls, N. Y., etc., etc., besides dozens of comic, sentimental and interesting views of every nature. These pictures are the genuine Oleo Stereoscopic Views, made especially for this purpose and are executed in a most artistic manner, being a combination process of lithographing and half-tone work enabling a magnificent depth of detail and splendid color reproduction true to life. You cannot enjoy an hour more delightfully than by viewing a set of these beautiful and decidedly interesting pictures.

It wasn't so very long ago that hundreds of thousands of people spent many pleasant hours with the stereoscope, but heretofore they were compelled to pay enormous prices for views, think of it, as high as 50c each for colored pictures. We sold thousands upon thousands of stereoscopic views, in colors, at 50c each in those days, but imagine each and every view had to be colored by hand. In the past few months we have had repeated demands for them, and being able to secure the latest and most beautiful colored views to furnish to the public at a ridiculously low price, we entered into the stereoscope plan on quite a large scale, and have taken immediate advantage of the International Art Association, who have spent an enormous amount of money to get out special color plates and have finally completed their end, namely: To place on the market thousands of magnificent stereoscopic views, the most beautiful, interesting and exciting scenes from every land, in the grandest and most exquisite natural colors.

Now we come to our great special offer. Read our plan carefully as it describes the stereoscope and tells how to secure the scope and views at almost no cost to you.

First the stereoscope. The Stereoscope is our world-famous "Aluminum-Crystal Lens" Stereoscope. Genuine aluminum hood, bound with dark rich red velvet. Frame is of fine finished cherry wood with patent folding handle, folding underneath frame, and sliding bar. The lenses are extra fine quality, selected for clearness and brilliancy, 1¾ inches in diameter, ground from best quality glass and carefully adjusted. This Crystal Lens Aluminum "Scope" has won universal praise from lovers of the beautiful, and as a means of entertainment stands second to nothing.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Mrs. L'Estrange was fascinated by the idea of Nora's marriage with Marsden. She had always liked him, and, living out of the world, had never heard the various reports respecting his wild extravagance, his generally reckless life. Even if she had, she would, like a simple good woman, have fully believed in the power of a pure attachment to elevate and reform the most determined rake. Besides, though truly and warmly attached to her stepdaughter, she was keenly alive to the fact that her own precious child was utterly dependent on her half-sister. She never doubted that Nora, if left to herself, would be both just and generous, but if Nora married before attaining her majority, Beatrice would be really dependent on some mere stranger, and men are so strange and hard about money matters. Then a husband's power and influence are so great; the poor lonely widow, though she blushed for herself, earnestly hoped Nora would not marry until she was twenty-one. If Nora married Marsden, she felt sure he would be kind and generous. He was peculiarly sympathetic. It was this that gave him more than half his attraction. He always conveyed the idea that he was really glad to help any one. His detestation of everything unpleasant or painful gave him an air of kindness, that imposed even on himself.

Yes, if Nora would consent, Bea's future was secure, and why should she not? A better, or indeed a happier, marriage could not be found. Why Nora was not already in love with her suitor, Mrs. L'Estrange could not understand, and set it down to one of the inscrutable mysteries of a young undeveloped nature.

Nora, too, was thoughtful, and the evening passed almost in silence; occasionally each spoke a few words, and then fell into a fit of musing. The spell, however, was broken by the entrance of the servant with a note for Mrs. L'Estrange.

"The messenger waits, 'm."

"I will ring in a minute or two," said Mrs. L'Estrange, opening the envelope.

"It is from Mr. Marsden, Nora," she exclaimed. "He wants to see me alone to-morrow morning."

"Indeed!"

"I suppose"—smiling—"he wants to secure my vote and interest."

"They are his already." A pause. "What shall I say, Nora?"

"Whatever you choose."

"Then I shall see him."

She rose, went to the writing-table, and penned a few lines, and sent them to Marsden's messenger.

"I imagine that Mr. Marsden will not be easily turned from his purpose. And I hope, Nora, you will not too thoughtlessly refuse an sincere and disinterested a lover."

"Oh! I know all that can be urged in his favor," said Nora rather impatiently; "and he is very nice—only—I think I should like to be Nora L'Estrange for some time longer. I have seen so little. How could I manage a great establishment like Eversleigh House? I am half afraid of that awful housekeeper. And the squire himself likes everything to be so perfect—so elegant—he might regret his own haste in wanting to marry such a half-fledged creature as I am."

"My dear Nora! this humility is a new development!"

"I know what I am fit for, and I am not humble; but I do not want to attempt what is likely to be too much for me. There, don't let us talk about Clifford any more—at least till you have seen him to-morrow."

"Promise me not to refuse him, without due reflection."

"No. I am too undecided to do that. But it is rather awful to think that, having once said 'yes,' one can not unsay it."

Mrs. L'Estrange need scarcely have recommended Nora to reflect on Marsden's offer. She was haunted by the recollection of his words, his voice, his eyes. It is true that he kept himself well in hand, and kept back many a passionate expression that rushed to his lips. Nevertheless, he had impressed Nora very deeply with the conviction that she was very essential to him. It rather weighed her down with a vague sense of alarm. What was she to do with this tremendous gift of love?—so strong that his voice trembled in spite of his efforts to be steady, when he described it, and his heart throbbed fast and hard when he pressed her hand for a moment against it. Ought she to condemn one who was so tenderly attached to her to suffer the pangs of disappointment and rejection, because she had a morbid fancy for another who did not care for her? And with the thought came a suggestion that sent thrills of pain quivering through her veins. Had the same words and tones and looks been Winten's how differently she would have responded! Perhaps, by cultivating gratitude to Marsden, and giving herself up to his efforts to please and win her, she would soon cease to love him; and then she would make him happy and be happy herself. What a solution of all difficulties that would be! Perhaps it would be the right thing to do. How hard it was to know what was right. Finally, the tears welled up, as she thought with regretful compassion of the strong emotion Marsden had displayed—surely such affection constituted a claim upon any kindly heart! Yet she ardently wished he had not taken such a fancy to her! So, after struggling with contradictory thoughts for half the night, she fell asleep toward morning, with a half-uttered prayer to be directed upon her lips.

Mrs. L'Estrange received Marsden cordially and cheerfully. She did not doubt for a minute that Nora, having recovered her first startled feeling of his unexpected proposal, would marry him willingly, as it was natural she should; and she was anxious he should see how very heartily she was on his side.

"I feel sure I have a friend in you," were almost his first words, after he had shaken hands warmly with her. "We were always allies since your first appearance at Brookdale."

"Yes, Mr. Marsden, you were always welcome to my husband and to me."

"Nora has told you of the start I gave her," interrupted Marsden, who was absorbed in his own projects. "I feel I have been too abrupt. In short, having been pretty far gone about her nearly ever since we met last spring, I fancied she must see it, and to be candid, her blindness suggests that she may be preoccupied by some luckier fellow than myself. Am I right?"

"You ought to ask her, Mr. Marsden."

"And seem a conceited jackanapes by implying that only a previous attachment would have prevented her falling in love with me?"

Mrs. L'Estrange smiled.

"I do not think Nora is disposed to fall in love very readily. Then there was no one for her to fall in love with."

"Some women might fancy Winton."

"I do not think Nora did. Indeed, they never seemed to take much to each other, especially of late."

"Well, Mrs. L'Estrange, you will back me up? I may depend on you?"

"You may. How did you and Nora part?"

(To be continued.)

Gave Life For Dog

Lethbridge, Oct. 24.—C. G. Clark, former accountant in the Bank of Montreal, and J. B. Jett were duck-shooting at a lake on the irrigation company's farm yesterday, and to rescue his retriever Clark prostrated himself on the thin ice formed about the shore, but broke through. His struggles brought his companion Jett, and later John Cotter, both of whom were precipitated into the water. Mr. Cannell and a party of surveyors, who were camped nearby, rushed to the aid of the drowning men, and, after great effort, succeeded with a rope in drawing out Cotter and Jett, who held on to it by their teeth, and who almost succumbed to exposure. Clark, however, had disappeared.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE

Indigestion is Responsible for More Sickness in America Than Any Other Disease.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. Repeated attacks inflame the lining of the stomach and cause the glands to secrete mucous instead of the juice of natural digestion. Consequently the blood is poisoned, nerve force is reduced, the vitality of the entire system is weakened.

There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are being used by thousands with marvellous success.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood, and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases.

Under the vitalizing effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills your system will again rally once more to enjoy the blessings of health. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself. 25c. for box or five boxes for $1; at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Hart at Cereal Co's Works

Mr. P. O'Donnell, we are pleased to say was somewhat improved yesterday after his accident at the Imperial Cereal Company's Works on Monday. It seems that Mr. O'Donnell, an employe of the American Cereal Works, on Monday afternoon sustained a painful wound by falling while engaged at work on a feed-mixing machine. He received a painful scalp wound which necessitated his removal to his home, and his many friends hope that an early recovery may ensue.

Youthful Reprobates.

People residing near the woodsheds of Messrs. Hicks & Co., and Fitzgerald are complaining of the "goings on" nightly of some boys who have erected a shed in that locality. It is alleged that the youngsters nightly indulge in drunken orgies, augmented by the seductive game of "draw." The police should take a hand in this game, and make a "draw," and back up a flush or three. If three of a kind of the force "want in," they would likely capture two pairs. It would not do though to run in a bluff. This is a straight tip.

LILIES OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Lily Langtry, she very wisely said:

"The fact that I believe in the superior force of mind over matter does not blind me to the truth that the foundation of every successful life is good health; that the keystone to physical beauty is perfect physical health.

"A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman.

"To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health.

"Work, Sunshine, Exercise, Water and Soap, Plain, Nourishing Food, Lots of Fresh Air, and a Happy, Contented Spirit—there, as you say, 'honest and true,' is my working rule for youth, youthful spirits and youthful looks."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make-up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., of which over 680,000 copies were sold by the proprietors at $1.50 each. This book may be procured by sending thirty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or fifty cents for cloth-bound copy, and addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails," writes Mrs. Dr. Nielsen, of 4308 Langley Avenue, Chicago, Ills. "It is a certain cure for female troubles, diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with ulceration, internal soreness and a dreadful backache, which unfitted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill had to keep to my bed. In this extremity I used 'Favorite Prescription' for three months and then I was well. Only those who have passed through such a siege of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure. No substitute for "Favorite Prescription" offers so much.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Walden, Peterboro, arrived in town Monday evening. Mr. Walden will remain for a few days before leaving for Winnipeg, where he is going into the real estate business. Mrs. Walden will remain here until Christmas.

—Fred W. Spires, Montreal; J. G. Fitzgerald, Arthur J. Mercer, A. Dansell, F. S. Bolton, A. J. Doherty, J. D. Jones, Toronto; J. H. Hunter, Montreal; Jno. F. Baker, Kingston; R. B. Scripture, Montreal, are guests at the Oriental Hotel.

Do You Know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an aspiring friend of every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of The Chicago Record-Herald is a personal source of joyous helpfulness to womankind. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods—"factory" frizzes, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to breathe—in brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

$600 REWARD.

Chief Ramsel yesterday received from Detective Greer a circular containing a description, and post-mortem photograph of the woman, who was murdered near Hamilton on Oct. 9th. The circular also displays the machine and stick gins worn by the woman at the time of her death. Her description is as follows: Five feet eight inches in height, after being dead about 20 hours. Dark complexion; dark brown hair; large busts with nipple of left breast gone; good front teeth; worn black linsey skirt, with cotton underwear; black stockings, long light fawn waterproof coat, supposed to have worn a red hat. Wore a silver brooch made in Chester, Eng., and small link chain which is shown in cut.

The Ontario Government will pay a reward of $600 for such information as will lead to arrest and conviction of the murderer. The chief will be glad to show the picture to any parties who may, in any way, seem to recognize description of the murdered woman. The circular now hangs in the police station.

A Peculiar Accident.

Yesterday for the first time in many moons, Mr. I. G. Noble, the well-known local expressman was not on duty. The almost unique absence of Mr. Noble from attending to his many customers was a very peculiar one. On Monday afternoon, as Mr. Noble was seated on his express wagon, he was kicked in the foot by his horse. The peculiar part of the injury was that, Mr. Noble, as stated was seated on the high wagon with his feet resting on the dash board. The horse taking fright at something suddenly lashed out with its hind feet high in the air. One of the horse's feet unfortunately happened to come in contact with Mr. Noble's right foot, injuring it severely and causing considerable pain. No bones were broken, but Mr. Noble was compelled to lay off for a day or two.

Bold Bank Robbers At Niagara Falls

Make a Big Haul by Blowing Open Safe, Wrecking Safe---$3,000 in Gold Missing.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Oct. 26.—Tim and take another from a farmer private bank of Harvey Hoag at Berker, Niagara County, was robbed early today by three men, who took the precaution to cut all telephone wires entering the village before beginning their work. The owner of the bank heard the explosion which blew open the safe, and fired several shots at the burglars without effect. The carriage used by the robbers was stolen from a farmer named Pallister. They were so hotly pursued by farmers and others that they were forced to abandon their team

It is not known how much money was stolen, but it was probably large as considerable of the proceeds of the sale of the season's crops had been deposited with Hoag. The safe was blown to pieces and the interior of the bank badly wrecked.

DROPPED $2,000 IN BILLS.

Hoag later found at in front of the bank containing $2,600 in bills. Three thousand dollars in gold are missing.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAM

How to Spend Thanksgiving Day in Various Ways.

As our old friend "Probs" seems disposed to grant us favorable weather for to-day's holiday, the question naturally arises, "What will we do with ourselves?"

For those purposing to honor the day along with the original line of its inception, and give thanks for what most of us really owe such gratitude.

There will be special Thanksgiving services in many of the churches during the day and we trust they will be well attended. There will be service in St. Paul's at 11 a.m., George street at 11 a.m., St. John's at 11 a.m., St. Luke's at 10.30 a.m., All Saints at 11 a.m. and Mark street, at 7.30 p.m.

It will be a big day at the golf links. In the morning the Edmison trophy match will be played off. At one o'clock the man who entertains the ladies at luncheon. Mixed four, scores will be played in the afternoon.

Three of Peterboro's athletic organizations will be out of the city for the holiday. The rugby team will meet Toronto Argos at Varsity Field, Toronto, and a large number of local people are going up for the game. The Arrowa Basketball team will play the Central Y.M.C.A. team, Toronto, to-day, while the Brownies will play Queen's in Kingston.

All arrangements have been completed for the 57th Regiment's Annual matches at the rifle ranges to-day.

The butts will be opened at 8 a.m., sharp and four targets will be used. Rifles will be issued by the Sergeant-Major at the drill hall from 7.30 a.m. to 9.30 a.m., and the sergeants of the respective companies should be at the armories between these hours to assist the sergeant-major.

Lunch will be served on the grounds and a full attendance of the regiment is requested.

There will be three matches — General Tyro and Extra Series—and the prizes in the general match, open to all members of the Regiment, ranges 200, 500 and 600 yards, five shots to each range, include 30 in number, ranging from 50 cents to $4 each.

The Tyro match open to those of the Regiment who have not scored 60 points at a regiment match, at 200 and 400 yards, five shots to each range; the 200 yard score in the general match to count, include 25 prizes from 75 cents to $3 in value.

An extra series is open to tyros only. Range, 400 yards; 5 shots; two scores to count.

In the evening there are various attractions. Court Peterboro, C.O.F. will hold concert in the Forester's Hall. There will be a fowl supper at St. Andrew's under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid and a social evening will be held in the T.A.S. rooms.

Fire Engine Test To-day.

—The Canadian Fire Engine Company of London, has shipped two fire engines to Peterboro, steam and chemical engines and if they arrive in time a test will be made this afternoon.

Both the London and Brantford engines, we understand, will be in competition.

Let Us Have a Heart to Heart Talk

DOES YOUR MONEY NET YOU 25 PER CENT ANNUALLY

If it does not, you had better investigate the BIG CASINO GOLD MINING CO., for money invested in the stock of this company should net you not less than 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. annually, the remainder of your life.

WHAT WE HAVE IN DEVELOPMENT AND ACREAGE

We have 270 acres of mineral land, located at Big Oak Flat, Tuolumne County, California, on the great "Mother Lode," and mining on the "Mother Lode" is not speculative, for the ore bodies are known to exist in inexhaustible quantities.

We have 10,000 feet of underground work done, have blocked out and in sight a very large amount of ore ready to break down and mill.

We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill in good working condition, running ten hours every day. We could be paying dividends from the returns of the mill, but we are putting the proceeds back into the development and equipment of the property.

We have the mine equipped with compressed air drills, steam power plant, steam hoist, black smith shops, and all necessary tools.

We have spent in development and equipment more than $200,000.00 on these mines, have taken almost $100,000.00 from the property and put it back in development.

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO

We propose to add immediately 20 stamps to the 20 we have in, then we will pay from $20,000.00 to $60,000.00 per month in dividends and lay aside a sinking fund to double the capacity of the mill, which will be done inside the next twelve months.

We will then double the dividend and increase the sinking fund to again double the capacity of the mill, then we will pay dividends that will surprise every stockholder.

WHY DO WE WANT TO SELL STOCK?

We have no power, only steam, and that is created by burning Jack Pine wood, which is very poor, costs $7.00 per cord, and is hard to get. We know we have more ore than can be mined in two or three life times, and the Tuolumne Electric Power Co., and the Golden Rod Ditch Co. (with water power), are both in position to furnish us cheap power before Christmas, and we want to have in 50 stamps ready to operate when we get the cheap power, and in order to do this we are willing to sell some of our Treasury Stock at a sacrifice. Considering the development and equipment of the mines, this stock is cheap at par ($1.00) per share now, and we are going to make it bring $1.00 per share before January 1st, but we are going to sacrifice a limited amount of it the next few days at 50 cents per share.

IS THERE ANY CHANCE OF LOSS IN BUYING THIS STOCK?

We assure you that an investment in any industrial stock, in any bank or trust company's stock, or in any piece of real estate in North America, either in the States or in the Dominion, would not have the risk more nearly eliminated than the Big Casino stock, for we own the property, have proven the ore bodies, and your investment is protected by multiplied millions of dollars' worth of ore, only waiting to be broken, milled and put into bullion, then distributed in dividends to the fortunate stockholders.

You can go to see the mines, send any mining man you like, ask us any questions you want to, we have nothing to hide but court the closest investigation, our business is as legitimate as any in the world, and is far the most profitable.

You may have invested in something some time that you thought was mining stock and lost, that is no reason you should fear to investigate what we offer you; come and see us or write and ask for any information you may desire.

We will be at the White House for a few days, and will be glad to see you and tell you all you want to know about our proposition, whether you invest with us or not.

When we get the cheap power you can't purchase any stock of us at any price, for we will have none for sale. We will then get all the money we want for equipment from the mines in a very short time.

Where does 90% of our multimillionares get their money? From the mines. What is making thousands of poor people rich every year, and putting thousands more in easy circumstances? It is investing their savings in legitimate mining shares.

According to the report of Director Roberts, of the United States mint, the gold and silver mines of the United States during 1904 produced $76,871.98 per hour, every hour, day and night. Sundays and holidays included, and to this if you will add the copper produced at the same time you will have the enormous sum of $98,658.00 per hour, and if you will add to this the zinc, lead, quicksilver, and other mineral products, you will increase the amount not less than 50 per cent. Would you like to share in these profits? then purchase shares in the Big Casino and you will get your portion.

For further information address or call and see us at the White House until further notice.

Very truly yours,

GEO. L. PORTER,

P. S.—Since arriving here, some of our friends have asked us if we have such a good proposition, why could we not sell it in some of the cities back in the States? We want to say there is not a city in the States that we could not sell every share of this stock in, if properly put before the people, for there are millions of dollars lying waiting for investment in propositions not one-fourth as good as this. The owners of the money are only waiting to be advised of the opportunity.

We came here solely on the request of Mr. W. H. Robertson, who is a warm personal friend of ours. He asked that his friends might have the opportunity to get in on B. C. stock so they would have something that would not fail to pay them large returns on their money, and you who purchase shares and grow rich will have Mr. Robertson to thank for bringing you the opportunity. Yours,

G. L. PORTER.

THE NEW SCHOOL

Charlotte Street Methodist Sunday School now Completed and Complete

As noted, in a former issue of The Times, extensive alterations have been effected in the Charlotte street Methodish church. Any one familiar with the original building would not recognize the new interior of this vastly improved home of the religious education of the youth of one of Peterboro's leading churches. Rev. Mr. Joliffe, the pastor of this church, has good reason to be proud of the new Sunday school which, as now completed, is one of the most commodious and well arranged in the Dominion.

The contractors on this re-modelling of the building's interior, Messrs. Rutherford Bros., have certainly succeeded in turning out a sample of workmanship throughout that is the possible to beat, by any class of tradesmen in Peterboro or, in fact, the Dominion. The newly finished interior, as one enters, gives the impression, not so much of a Sunday school, as of a commodious church with up-to-date additions.

As one enters from the main hall, which is well lighted, large, and supplied with numerous hooks for scholars to hang their clothes and wraps, to the left is the Sunday school library.

THE LIBRARY.

This large room is entered by a glass door, on the plate glass panel of which, in bold text, is the word "Library." The room is furnished with a large desk for the librarian, and several tables for convenience of the scholars. Round the sides, the taute ensemble of the furniture and fittings being of oak, are modern book shelves, well filled with volumes suited to their purpose. In the library, filling what would otherwise be waste room, under the winding staircase to the huge gallery, is a very neat cupboard for storing such articles as brooms, etc.

To the right of the entrance hall is a large class room, entered through a glass panelled door.

MAIN FLOOR.

The main floor of the school, some 90 by 40 feet, is arranged so that every inch of space in the large area is available for practical use. A winding staircase leads from the west end to the gallery, which is made cosy looking by a thick cocoa matting. On the north side of the building are doors leading to rooms between the Sunday school and church proper.

On the south side is a platform some three feet high, which measures 37 by 12 feet in size, for use of the superintendent, or other purposes. The contractors deserve special mention for the finish of the beautiful alcove added to the south side. Just above this platform has been inserted a most beautifully tinted leaded glass window. This window is 12 by 6 feet in size with a Gothic designed top. In the centre of the leaded window, is a panel, about two feet in diameter, containing a most appropriate design. It shows the Holy Bible opened at the words "Suffer little children," etc., and "Seek the Lord." The window is completed by an inscription across the lower portion of its breadth, which reads: "1874 Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school 1905." The prevailing colors are of a soft kind, admitting light freely, being old gold and pale blue. Great taste was exercised in the choice of this new addition.

THE GALLERY.

The gallery, which overhangs, a large portion of the main floor but still does not interfere with light or sound, is so arranged that every seat of space is available. At the west end are three class rooms, one enclosed and two open. The north side of the gallery is divided into six alcoves, which, almost fully divided from one another, all open on the gallery. On feature of the gallery, specially worthy attention, is that its floor is arranged in two heights, so that a few of chairs immediately beside the three foot railing encircling it, can be used and still not interfere with transit round the gallery.

INFANT CLASS.

The infant classes will be held on the main floor at the West side. This portion of the schools is so arranged by a system of glass folding doors, that it can be entirely isolated from the main body of the school or added to its large area. This portion of the building will be heated by a new furnace put in during the re-construction.

One feature of the re-built school, that caused the contractors considerable trouble, but which was most successfully accomplished, is the ceiling. Messrs. Rutherford Bros. had to raise the old ceiling six feet. The present ceiling presents a most attractive appearance, being handsomely panelled, by raised wooden battens.

A special feature of the infants' portion of the school, is that the floor gradually raises by steps across the building, so that chairs can be made, by simply moving these forward suited to the longer legs of adults. A kitchen, supplied with porcelain sinks and such modern conveniences, has been added to the east side of the school. Even in the cellar, Rutherford Bros. have made extensive alterations. They tunnelled through the entire length of the building, so as to give a walk way from the old cellar at the west end, to that at the east end. This has also been enclosed by heavy cement walls. The color design of the building's interior is grained to resemble light oak, and Mr. Peaslip, the painter, has made a most commendable job. Messrs. Reid and McGregor, who had the lighting contract have also vastly improved the building. They have placed, from the center of the ceiling, a huge brass electrolier, with some eight or ten lights. This electrolier is a very handsome article and cannot but attract much admiration. They are now completing the remaining lighting plant, which will fully illuminate every portion of the edifice. Taken altogether Rutherford Bros. have completed their contract in a most satisfactory manner, one which cannot fail to bring them encomiums from all who attend the church.

A PETERBORO INDUSTRY

Large Orders For The William Hamilton Manufacturing Co.

The Canadian Manufacturer, in its October number, contains the following items regarding a flourishing Peterboro industry:

The William Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Peterboro, Ont., informs us that they are having very good success with the Samson Turbine Water Wheel, manufactured by them, having recently secured orders for about ten of these wheels, to go into plants pretty much all throughout Canada. There is one for the Yukon District, three for Southern British Columbia, some for Eastern Quebec, and three for the Province of Ontario.

The Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. have sent us an illustrated descriptive catalogue of the modern lath mill machinery manufactured by them, which constitutes a very complete list of lath mills and bolters suitable for any saw mill. Special mention is made of their Pacific Coast gang lath bolter, improved Hamilton lath bolter, improved Hamilton lath mill, No. 1 and No 2 gang lath bolter, No. 1 and No. 2 gang lath mill, and lath binder and trimmer.

The Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. inform us in regard to some of their recent contracts for saw mill machinery. They have secured the orders for the complete outfits of the Colonial Lumber Co., the Small & Bucklin Lumber Co., Messrs. John B. Smith & Sons, and the Taylor-Pattison Mill Co. These are four complete plants, and in addition, they have secured large orders from the North Pacific Lumber Co., and the Victoria Lumber & Mfg. Co. They also report that they are having excellent success with their new steam tension band mill. There are two of these included in the contract for John B. Smith & Sons, one for the Colonial Lumber Co., and one for the Small & Bucklin Lumber Company. They have also lately sold several of their 4-inch steam setters, which is rapidly replacing the smaller steam set throughout the country.

TIME TO STOP TALKING

Premier Whitney Will Not Discuss with Anyone Who Disputes His Word.

Toronto, October 26.—Premier Whitney has made the following statement regarding the criticism of the renewal of the Temiskaming loan.

"I have no desire to mass any further statement in the matter at present. But I will say this, that when a Minister of the Crown makes a statement about a matter of whose facts he must be in possession, and is met by the reply that his statements are not true, it is time for the discussion to drop until the assembling of the Legislature. Then all the facts will be laid before the people of the Province, and the public will be interested in seeing how the facts compare with some of the assertions which have been made recently. That is all I have to say."

PRESIDENT MAY ATTACK RAILWAYS

Books May Reveal Scandal Like Insurance Companies Now Being Investigated.

SPEECHLESS ON HIS TRIP

President Has Taken a More Advanced and Aggressive Position Than in Former Years.

Washington, October 26.—President Roosevelt's speeches on the railway rate question since he started on his Southern trip have caused the opponents of his policy the utmost dismay and alarm.

The President has shown himself to have taken a more advanced and aggressive position than he occupied a year ago, and has made it clear that if there is to be a compromise in the legislation to be enacted this winter it can only be such a compromise as may be made possible after the railways have surrendered on the question of rate-making powers for the Interstate Commerce Commission, or whatever rate-making body may be created.

The President's new proposition, announced in his speech at Raleigh, N.C. is that government officers, competent as accountants, shall be empowered to examine the books of railway companies, as bank examiners examine the books of national banks, and that the Interstate Commerce Commission be authorized to prescribe the books every railway company shall keep.

A RADICAL DEPARTURE.

As relating exclusively to railway corporations, this is a radical departure from the recommendations he made to Congress last year, and shows that Mr. Roosevelt has been going forward and not backward in his plans for the regulations of the great transportation companies.

But the proposition is the same in principle as that advocated by him with regard to corporations generally, and approved by Congress in the anti-trust legislation in the Fifth-seventh Congress.

The Bureau of Corporations was then authorized to inquire into the affairs of all corporations, railways included, for the purpose of ascertaining if the laws were being violated

In passing this law the very Senators who are expected to fight against the President's whole railway policy placed themselves upon record as affirming the propriety of a government investigation of the accounts and business methods of all corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

The bill as finally passed was edited and perfected by the late Senator Hanna and by Senators Aldrich, Elkins, Spooner, Hale and the whole coterie of Senators whose opposition to the President is now the sole obstacle in the way of the legislation he intends to ask for.

CONSTERNATION AMONG TRUSTS.

Because this is true, the President's declaration that he will include in his program for railway legislation the recommendatoin that all railway books shall be open to the inspection of the government, and that the secrets of the transportation companies shall be revealed to government officers, has burst like a bombshell among the railway advocates of the House and Senate, and has caused consternation in the whole camp of the railway forces.

For, it follows, that if the railway Senators could vote for a measure authorizing the Bureau of Corporations to investigate the business methods of all corporations, they cannot with consistency oppose a proposition to confer similar powers to investigate and examine the business methods of railways upon an administrative body dealing exclusively with railway questions. The suspicion has become general, based upon well-substantiated charges, that the railways have been guilty of just as gross financial juggling and graft at the expense of their stockholders as the life insurance companies.

This charge has been made by Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and such revelations of railway methods made from time to time have apparently warranted the accusation.

TO LIFT THE LID ENTIRELY.

Mr. Roosevelt's policy, as announced in his Raleigh speech has, therefore, become more far-reaching than even the railways had feared, and resolves itself into a general proposition to take the lid entirely off the railway business of the country and permit the public to see just how it has been swindled and robbed by those in control of railway affairs.

That this will increase the opposition of the railways to such adequate legislation as the President deems in the interests of the public is unquestionable. It is also certain that Elkins, Forsker, Aldrich and all the other representatives of railway interests in Congress will resist with greater stubbornness the President's recommendations.

SALE OF CIGARETTES

St. Catharines Coping With the Evil of Smoking by Minors.

St. Catharines, Ont., October 26. — A committee from the Children's Aid Society, composed of Rev. N. I. Perry, Rev. Dr. Smith and Major J. B. Campbell, waited on the police commissioners to ask that something be done to stop the sale of cigarettes to boys of tender age in this city. They suggested that the law might be amended so as to make any boy under eighteen years of age found with cigarettes or tobacco of any kind in his possession liable to arrest. The commissioners gave their support to the suggestion. The chief of police was instructed to visit every shop where cigarettes were sold, and warn the proprietors to cease selling cigarettes to minors. It is likely that a petition will be sent to the Government to have the law amended.

CANNIBALISM IN SOUTH SEAS

Native Population Breaks Out in Horrible Acts.

Victoria, B.C., October 26.—News of a series of South Sea tragedies, mutinies, murders, escapes and captures, cannibalism, and swift punishment — is brought by the just arrived Canadian-Australasian steamship Miowera, her officers and passengers stating that a wave of disorder is at present sweeping over the native populations of Oceania. Cannibalism again is rampant in the New Hebrides and the French cruiser Muerthe has a number of punitive expeditions on hand, the first of these having resulted in the loss of one man and the serious wounding of another of the cruiser's company through the natives making a fierce night attack. While off the coast of Vella Lavella, the native crew of the cutter Sayo, owned by Norman Wheatley, of Gizo Island, and commanded by W. Finlayson, mutinied in order to return to their home island, killed Finlayson in the most savage manner and threw his body to the sharks. There being no one on board with understanding of the first principles of navigation, the murderers then drifted helplessly with the cutter until her erratic movements attracted the attention of another trading vessel, commanded by Captain Julius Olen, who investigated, and took possession of the cutter and her black crew, they being taken to Gizo. The High Commissioner for the Western Pacific, Sir M. P. Mimthurn, is now on his way there on H.M.S. Torch, to mete out adequate punishment.

At Port Sandwich, in the island of Malekula, two natives of the Maskelyne tribe were brutally murdered by a couple of Lampakanakas and their bodies taken to the tribal village, where they were roasted and eaten. The testers declare that the trunks were not touches, only the arms and legs being consumed.

TRAIN HELD UP

An Indian River Drunk Causes Delay to the 7:40 C.P.R. Local.

Last night insult was added to injury on the C.P.R. local train service. A man presumably from Indian River, as the ticket found in his pocket read "Peterboro to Indian River," created a most unpleasant disturbance in a first-class coach of the C.P.R. local due here at 7.40, but which, owing to holiday trade, was somewhat late.

The man entered the coach in an extreme stage of intoxication. He made himself so obnoxious to the crowded coach of passengers that the conductor was impelled to interfere, and try to quiet the half crazed man. His language would have made even a hardened "Weary Willie" on a turnpike road blush; his conversation was, whilst somewhat thick from the liquor abroad, disgusting beyond description. The train officials were somewhat in a quandary what to do with the man as he was armed with a first-class ticket, as above noted. The man was loaded not only internally, but provided with sundry quart flasks full to the brim. P.C. Stewart, summoned by telephone quickly arrived on the spot and hauled the man out of the coach and when on the platform, the drunken creature collapsed. After being delayed many minutes, the train at once departed, as soon as the knight of the jag was deposited on terra firma.

Noble's express wagon was called into requisition and what resembled a large bag of rags, rather than human being, was driven to the police station. As the man was hauled bodily out of the express wagon, on arrival at the Hotel des sops, two large quart flasks fell to the ground, or rather, the pavement, and both went her-smash. Still one flask full remained in the prisoner's pocket. This, a pipe, a plug of tobacco and his ticket were placed in safe keeping by the chief. On Friday morning, when facing the police magistrate, our hero can sing that old echo, "Oh what a difference in the morning!"

TO REORGANIZE

Peterboro Turf Club Met Yesterday Afternoon.

A meeting of the Peterboro Turf Club was held yesterday afternoon in the Ontario Bank Chambers. Mr. Robt. J. Munroe occupied the chair. Mr. R. S. Jackson, treasurer of the club, was instructed to collect the amounts due, by several members, on their stock. The shortage amounts to about $180. Those who are short part of their stock payment, will have to make good or drop out. Some more stock will probably be sold, when the club will be completely re-organized and placed on a new basis.

It was decided to hold winter races. The races will be held on the dates suggested at a meeting of Canadian horsemen held in the Iroquois Hotel, Toronto, on 21st Oct., and will take place at the Driving Park.

CANADA WILL NOT REPLY

Western Australians Can Hold Their Own Opinions.

Ottawa, October 26.—It is not the intention of the immigration department to reply to the certain statements made about Canada in recent literature issued by Western Australia, particulars of which were given in recent cablegrams. It is felt that the record of the progress of the west in the past few years, as compared with the slow heading made by Australia is in itself a complete and a satisfactory answer to all statements that have been made.

THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE

Roblin Government Willing to Assist in Building.

Winnipeg, Man., October 26. — At a rally of Conservative organizations last night Premier Roblin spoke on the Hudson Bay route, and said his Government would be willing to build the line conjointly with Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Manitoba Government would be prepared to bear the proportionate cost of an expedition for one or two years with the Western provinces, having for its object the collection of reliable data from which an opinion can be formed as to the possibilities of the route for grain shipment.

RUSS STRIKERS WELL ORGANIZED

While the Ministers Intrigue Conflagration is Spreading Throughout Country.

CITIES WILL LACK FOOD

Ship Loads of Ammunition it is Stated Have Arrived Recently From Finland.

St. Petersburg, October 26. — "While revolutionists and intriguing ministers are pursuing their own individual purposes, the conflagration is spreading," said Privy Councillor Prince Obolensky to a press correspondent today.

"Now the teamsters, and the waterworks, postal and telegraph employes are joining the strike of all the railway men, the cities will soon be without food, fuel or water.

"The various parties of the Empire are seeking different ends," he continued. "The Hebrews want their rights, the Poles want independence, the Armenians, the Caucasus, the Liberals a constitution, the workingmen higher wages, and the fanatical revolutionists are after a socialist republic. All of them are acting together. They are perfectly organized, and have plenty of money. Ship loads of ammunition have arrived from Finland. Believing that the revolutionary excesses will scare the people back into zealous support of the Czar, the police are not interfering."

Prince Khilkoff, Minister of Public Works and Railways, said today: "I am completely surprised at last Sunday's turn of events. All was quiet, then suddenly the employes of five railway systems went out on strike. The majority of the men are willing to work, but they are terrorized by the leaders, who have chosen the season when agricultural products are being shipped, causing irreparable loss."

Count Witte, who continues to be disliked by the revolutionists as an abetter of order, seems to have become indispensable to the Czar. It is generally remarked that Count Witte and General Trepoff have been acting in harmony. The latter has experienced the impossibility of co-operating with the Czar, who interferes with everything and changes his mind daily.

HAMILTON MURDER

Doctors Make a Second Examination of Dead Woman--Body Not Yet Identified.

Hamilton, Oct. 26. The murder inquest was resumed last night before Coroner Griffin, but except for the medical testimony nothing that could throw any additional light on the tragedy was revealed.

Stanley Marshall, F. Green and R. Dawson, of Barton, testified to seeing the supposed murderer on the mountain on Monday, October 9, on the stone road going in the direction of the city. Drs. O'Reilly and Carter testified to making a second examination of the dead woman and finding her enciente. She had never been a mother. The inquiry was further adjourned till November 23. All attempts to identify the body of the murdered woman have failed.

IRISH GUARDS BAND IN A TRAIN WRECK

Special Train Derailed and Engine Rolled Down Bank--Trainmen Injured.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 26. — The special train that left here last night taking the Irish Guards band to Quebec was derailed early this morning near Ashburne, Me. The engine turned on its side and rolled down an embankment, while the baggage and commissariat and the front sleeper left the rails. Engineer Ossey and Fireman Barkiger were injured, but not seriously. The bandsmen escaped, and as soon as possible were transferred, leaving again for Quebec, where they will arrive in ample time for to-night's concert.

KAULBACH ARRESTED

Charged With Perjury in a Supreme Court Case.

Halifax, Oct. 26.—A big sensation was caused at Lunenburg last night, when Lieut.-Col. Kaulbach, former Conservative member of the House of Commons, was arrested on a charge of perjury, alleged to have been committed during the trial of Kaulbach v. Zwicker, in the Supreme Court recently, in which Col. Kaulbach was plaintiff. Col. Kaulbach was immediately released on bail, and his preliminary examination will be held before Stipendiary Magistrate Griffiths. Col. Kaulbach represented Lunenburg in the Federal Parliament for over twenty years, being defeated in November last by the present member.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak Is Not Natural—But It's Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

This enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight backing cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THANKSGIVING.

Canada as a whole rejoices this Thanksgiving season in a wealth of material prosperity never before equalled in our history. We have had three years of bountiful harvests coupled with good prices. Neither drought nor flood has interfered with the prodigal kindness of Mother Earth. The abundant fruitage has filled our borders with plenty and the heart of the husbandman with comfort. As agricultural prosperity in a land such as Canada is the basis of all material progress, so Canada's unprecedented series of harvests has been the dynamic force to turn the wheels of industry and reward the toiler everywhere within our coasts. Our manufacturers are adding to their plants, increasing their output, seeking new markets. Our merchants are receiving larger patronage and payment for past purchases. Canada's trade has increased more rapidly within the last ten years than that of any other nation. In per capita trade and per capita wealth we head the nations of the earth. Our workmen are getting better wages, work under fairer conditions than ever before, are free, self-respecting, and independent.

This year has seen added to our Dominion, under settled and regular government two new Commonwealths, each the size of an Old World Empire, richer in extent, in the material wealth of soil, of minerals and of timber than the fabled Land of Gold beyond the Spanish Main. We have this year seen begun a new transcontinental railway which shall open to settlement vast areas of fertile land destined to become the home of the hungry millions of the Old World. The quality of our immigration is far above that which has filled the United States with the scum from the underside of Europe. In floods they come, sturdy yeomen of Britain, frugal and industrious Germans, Norwegians and Swedes, persecuted Russians, and, perhaps best of all, American farmers with both experience and a little money, all seeking wider opportunities, the peaceful enjoyment of the fruits of toil, and the blessings of British freedom.

And, best of all, we have had peace. Canada has been called upon to sacrifice neither the blood of her sons nor the hard won treasure of her toilers in bloody war. Our efforts have tended to build up Canadian industries, increase Canadian commerce, the quiet development of our resources and the manifold arts of peace. Prosperity dwells within our boundaries and peace within our walls.

But Canada has been blessed as much in what has been withheld as in what has been sent. The Dominion has escaped an unique immunity from those afflictions which have plagued our sister nations. We have had no widespread crippling industrial issues, no ruinous financial panics, no devastation by the storm and the wrath of the elements, no horrors from plague and pestilence, no great disasters to human life, no sign or threat of the hellish miseries and desolation of war.

So much for the material. There is, however, another side. Who can doubt that education is increasing and culture advancing? Evidence is multiplying that both a national conscience and a quickened sense of individual responsibility are developing. There are undoubted cases of flagrant and cynical dishonesty, moral, political and commercial. Corporate greed, partisan blindness, and callous desertion of principles still work evil among us. But the heart of the nation is sound, and sensitive to the cry of evil done or contemplated. An undoubted growth has come in independence of thought, in a realizing sense of our country's needs and destinies, in genuine self-respect-ance, in national self-respect. And so Canada progresses, definitely, steadfastly, proudly, conscious at times of the pains of labor, and secure in the freedom, the civil and religious liberty, and the opportunities for development which flourish everywhere, under the aegis of the British flag.

And so all Canada will today give thanks, the day set apart by the Governor-General for the recognition of the blessings we have received from the Giver of All Good.

BRITISH ISLES WASHING AWAY

The Land Area is Gradually Getting Smaller.

London, October 25.—Like the sun, of which it sees much too little, this island of Great Britain gradually is becoming smaller, though from a very different cause.

It is the sea, to which it has owed its immunity from the attacks of armies, that is gradually swallowing it up, bit by bit. Gales and the high tides of the early part of the week have worked no end of havoc along the west coast.

Southwold appears to have suffered the most, where thousands of tons of the cliff were thrown down by the angry seas. The Cliff Hotel and a few houses in the vicinity now stand dangerously near the edge of the cliff, a portion of the hotel being only about a dozen yards off, while the front door of one of the cottages is only a yard away.

The occupants, alarmed, have cleared out, but what is to be done to save the hotel from the next high tides there is no saying at present.

Further south, in front of what is called Gun Hill, the cliff has been carried bodily away. Here there is a little village of fishermen's huts and consternation reigns.

In fact, the same tales come all the way down the coast from Northumberland to Suffolk. At Lowestoft, through previous inroads of the sea, Pakefield stands on the very edge of the cliffs. Here one of the cottages, fortunately vacated at the time, fell to the beach fifty feet below, while others are left up the very edge of the broken cliffs.

The Grand Trunk and Ottawa.

Ottawa, October 25.—The announcement is made here on trustworthy authority that the Grand Trunk Railway Company has practically decided to build at Ottawa a depot and hotel combined. The architectural plans for this structure are now under way, but it is not expected that any definite announcement will be made in the connection before January. It is understood, however, that work upon the new building will in all likelihood be commenced early in the spring.

EVERYBODY READS THE TIMES.

A trip around the world in 60 minutes at a mere trifle.

Magnificently finished and exquisitely photo-color views in place of the oldtime and antiquated views of the past. A most pleasant and interesting tour to spend journeying around the globe viewing the places of greatest interest, most beautiful scenery, etc., at a mere trifle of cost through our liberal plan. These views illustrate some of the most noted places in the world—mountain scenery both in America and Europe—waterfalls and other famous natural phenomena, some of the world's most famous buildings, places of historical interest and places famous for beautiful architecture or beautiful natural scenery. This set is of the greatest educational value, presenting, as it does, such realistic likenesses of scenes and places that we all should know about. We want every household in this city to have one of these sets. Imagine yourself taken through the Orient, on a trip to California, through the world's Fair to see the splendid scenes as though you were right there on the spot. By a special process, a combination of lithographing and half-tone work, we are able to offer a collection of colored views from every part of the world in the most beautiful, natural and startling life-like color effects, which must be seen to be appreciated. It is impossible to describe the grandeur and beauty of these views. Come and see them. We want each and every household in this city to have a set of these.

Yellow Stone Park, U. S. A.; The Swiss Alps; On board a Russian Man-of-War; Scene from a Klondyke Camp; The Famous Ferry Depot, San Francisco; Cathedral from the Grand Canal, Rotterdam; Moulin Rouge, Paris; Street Scene, Mexico City; Emperor Wm. II Inspecting a Regiment; Chickamauga Park; Cotton Plantation Scene; On the Pike at the World's Fair, St. Louis; Holiday Street Scene Parade in Havana, Cuba; Scene Showing a Public Well, Pekin, China; Lookout Mountain; Steamboat Scene on the Mississippi; Garden of Gethsemane, Palestine; Scene Showing the Famous Southern Trestle; Hauling Trains Through Mountains in the South; The National Capitol at Washington, D. C.; The Pantheon at Rome; Victory Monument; Leipsic; Luna Island at Niagara Falls; David's Judgment Seat, Jerusalem; Interior View of President Diaz' Palace, Mexico; Ostrich Farm, Egypt; Royal Gardens, Dresden, Germany; (very beautiful), Palm Garden, Frankfort, Germany; Morro Castle, Havana; Plaza, World's Fair, St. Louis; Bird's Eye View of St. Louis Exposition; The Tomb of Gen. Grant, N. Y., Street Scene of Cairo, Egypt; Street Scene in Venice, Italy; Japanese Royal Garden Scene; Zoological Garden at Berlin, Germany; Ice Cave at Niagara Falls, N. Y., etc., etc., Besides dozens of comic, sentimental and interesting views of every nature. These pictures are the genuine Oleo Stereoscopic Views, made especially for this purpose and are executed in a most artistic manner, being a combination process of lithographing and half-tone work enabling a magnificent depth of detail and splendid color reproduction true to life. You cannot enjoy an hour more delightfully than by viewing a set of these beautiful and decidedly interesting pictures.

It wasn't so very long ago that hundreds of thousands of people spent many pleasant hours with the stereoscope, but heretofore they were compelled to pay enormous prices for views, think of it, as high as 50c each for colored pictures. We sold thousands upon thousands of stereoscopic views, in colors, at 50c each in those days, but imagine each and every view had to be colored by hand. In the past few months we have had repeated demands for them, and being able to secure the latest and most beautiful colored views to furnish to the public at a ridiculously low price, we entered into the stereoscope plan on quite a large scale, and have taken immediate advantage of the International Art Association, who have spent an enormous amount of money to get out special color plates and have finally completed their end, namely: To place on the market thousands of magnificent stereoscopic views, the most beautiful, interesting and exciting scenes from every land, in the grandest and most exquisite natural colors.

Now we come to our great special offer. Read our plan carefully as it describes the stereoscope and tells how to secure the scope and views at almost no cost to you.

First the stereoscope. The Stereoscope is our world-famous "Aluminum Crystal Lens" Stereoscope. Genuine aluminum hood, bound with dark rich red velvet. Frame is of fine finished cherry wood with patent folding handle, folding underneath frame, and sliding bar. The lenses are extra fine quality, selected for clearness and brilliancy, 1¾ inches in diameter, ground from best quality glass and carefully adjusted. This Crystal Lens Aluminum "Scope" has won universal praise from lovers of the beautiful, and as a means of entertainment stands second to nothing.

OFFER No. 1 The Stereoscope and 25 beautiful Colored Views and THE DAILY TIMES for one year, for $4.00

OFFER No. 2 The Stereoscope and 25 beautiful Colored Views and THE WEEKLY TIMES for one year, for $2.50

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of power, through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. The enlarged veins disappeared in six weeks, the stricture tissue was removed in eight weeks and my sexual energy and vitality returned so I was a man in every respect. I recommend you doctors with my whole heart.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

"Oh, she was very anxious to get rid of me; I could see that, but I told her I would not take her first 'No,' nor her second either! Mrs. L'Estrange, I am determined that Nora shall be my wife."

"Not against her will?"

"No, that would be too ungallant," returning to his usual light tone; "but with her will."

"Take my advice; wait a few days before repeating your offer. Let me tell her you will give her time to think, and, meanwhile, that she must let you come as a friend and kinsman."

"Very well. I shall be guided by you, but I can't stand this uncertainty long. Why does she not like me? for she doesn't."

"It is impossible to say; she is not a commonplace girl."

"Thank you for the implied compliment."

"You have caught me up too soon. Will you write what I have suggested, or shall I speak to Nora?"

"I will write," he said, and speedily traced a few lines. "There," he continued, handing the note to Mrs. L'Estrange, "I am very grateful for your help, and believe me, if I become your step-son-in-law, I will care for your interests, and those of my little friend, Bea, as if they were my own."

"You are very good," said Mrs. L'Estrange, softly.

"Now," continued Marsden, "what shall we do? It is an awful time in London; I almost wish I had not come up. There is shooting, or hunting, or something to be done in the country. Have you been to Windsor? It is a tolerably fine day. Let us go down and lunch there, and walk about after? Just settle it with Nora."

"Very well," said Mrs. L'Estrange, and left the room.

She was some little time absent, during which Marsden walked to and fro, picked up and put down books and papers which lay about, and occasionally looked at the clock. He was impatient, but not uneasy; he did not doubt his ultimate success, and was not altogether displeased with Nora's hesitation. It was the sense of difficulty which was her crowning charm.

He had seen many lovelier and more fascinating women; but none had ever charmed and vanquished him as this unworldly, natural young cousin.

What fair round arms she had! What a sweet mouth, half sad, half haughty! Would she ever press it fondly to his? What would he not dare, what villainy would he not commit, to secure her for himself safe away from every one? And would the day ever come when she would be to him as other women, graceful and pleasant enough, but nothing remarkable? Well, not for a long time. There would be a spell of heaven first. Here he threw himself into an arm-chair and took up a book of photographs; it opened at the portrait of Mrs. Ruthven. Was that an evil omen He hated her, yet, when they had met early that year in Paris, before he had seen Nora, he was rather taken with her. Her veiled admiration for himself flattered and amused him. He even thought of appropriating her wealth in exchange for his name. Now! Pah, how he wished she would die and take herself out of his world, where she was not wanted! The telegram that morning was about as bad as it could be; perhaps luck would still be on his side, for he had a vague, uncomfortable impression that Mrs. Ruthven would work him evil.

Here Mrs. L'Estrange returned, and handed a little twisted note, which he eagerly opened, and read: "You are very kind and considerate, I accept your suggestion." This was simply signed "Nora."

"I think you ought to be content," said Mrs. L'Estrange smiling.

"I am—and our expedition today?"

"We will be ready to accompany you in an hour. Nora makes no objection."

The meeting, under such trying circumstances, was less awkward than Nora expected. She could not help admiring Marsden's tact and cool self-possession. If anything, he was more attentive to Mrs. L'Estrange than to herself. The weather was fine, the conversation light and animated. Marsden spoke of Mrs. Ruthven with much good feeling, and the day was far more agreeable than Nora anticipated, nor did Marsden leave them without making some plans for the morrow which could bring them together.

A week passed swift yet slow; for Nora watched the days, with a dim sense that she was committing herself deeper and deeper.

The accounts from Chedworth were worse and better alternatively, and, considering his relations with the sufferer, Marsden felt bound to go down to his sister's for a day, at least, to show proper interest in Mrs. Ruthven.

His short absence was of use, for Nora missed him, and recognised what a charming companion he could be. There was, in short, not one reasonable reason for refusing to be his wife, and, no doubt, as soon as she had pledged herself to him, other hopes and new duties would help her to forget a folly she ought to have surmounted long ago.

A letter from him to Mrs. L'Estrange gave a greatly improved account of Mrs. Ruthven. She had really taken that turn for the better for which her attendants had so eagerly watched. Marsden himself would come up by the night train, and see them next day.

"Now be sure you receive him well, Nora," said her step-mother, smiling, "I think you have tried him enough."

"If you only knew how hard it is to make up my mind on such a [illegible] to be or not to be."

"Still, you can not keep Mr. Marsden waiting it is as tremendous a question to him too! Will you write to Bea while I am out, and give fearless minute and clear directions as to their journey on the 10th? You know if she can make a mistake she will. I promised to be with Madame Kennett at half past eleven, and it is eleven now. If I miss my appointment I do not know when I shall get my dress," and she left the room.

During her brief absence some notes and letters by the second post were brought up; an invitation or two, a hasty letter from Nora's German friend respecting an engagement just offered to her, and another letter with a foreign stamp for Mrs. L'Estrange—Nora felt almost sure it was from Mark Winton.

While she looked, Mrs. L'Estrange returned. Nora took up the letter and handed it to her.

"Ah!" she exclaimed, opening it hastily and glancing through the contents gravely. Then looking through the window she exclaimed: "The cab is waiting; there, dear, you can read it." Leaving the letter in Nora's hand she went quickly downstairs.

"Dear Mrs. L'Estrange," ran the lines, "I am much obliged for yours, but sorry to find Lady Derrington has so serious a case on her hands. I was afraid Mrs. Ruthven would feel the effect of such a shock as she has had; but after two months it is curious she has not thrown it off. I trust she will pull through; she always struck me as a tough little woman, in spite of her fragile airs.

"I have been extremely uncertain as to my own plans. I am tempted to start off with my friends back to India next week. On the whole, my long-expected holiday has been a disappointment. However, after mature reflection, I have decided to return to London; whether I stay out the full time of my leave, or cut it short and start at once, will altogether depend on what I find there. I suppose you understand this? Has Bea joined you yet? Perhaps I may have the pleasure of seeing her at the pantomime. If I do, what a jolly pantomime it will be to me!

"Remember me to Miss L'Estrange and believe me,

"Yours most sincerely,
"MARK WINTON."

RHEUMATISM

Lives in the Blood

Consequently it requires an internal treatment, one that will restore the blood, and thereby relieve the cause of the pain.

After years of experiment Dr. Hamilton succeeded in producing a remedy that quickly cures rheumatism, gout, and all uric acid disorders.

This marvellous cure has been given to the public as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills; in every case they cure quickly.

By toning the kidneys and liver, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure a clean healthy body. The blood is restored to a normal healthy condition, renewed vigor is imparted to overworked organs, and thus the general health is built up, and no room is left for rheumatism to creep in.

A Cripple's Story of Cure

"This is a glad day for me," writes James E. Brown Ellis, from Milford, Ont., "because I can speak of my permanent cure of rheumatism. I have been all through the aching days and sleepless nights, have spent my money on worthless remedies, and consequently in recommending Dr. Hamilton's Pills I feel sure of their merit. No remedy gave such relief or did me so much good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My rheumatism they cured, and ever since my health has been perfect."

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to be had in any drug store, it's foolish to live on in misery and ill-health. You ought to get this medicine today and cure yourself. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Full arrangements were completed for teams to convey the party. GROSS EXAGGERATION

Boys Who Had the Shack Near Hicks' Woodyard Defended.

In Tuesday's issue of our esteemed evening contemporary, and in a vastly modified manner, in yesterday's Times, appeared accounts of the doings of certain boys, who have erected a shanty near the creek, in the vicinity of Messrs. Hicks and Fitzgerald's woodyards.

Yesterday a lady, whose boy it seems, belongs to the party occupying the shack, called at The Times office to express her disapproval of the boys' being so harshly criticised.

The lady states that the boys simply built the shack for innocent amusement, and that as far as "beer" being consumed on the place, such a statement is absolutely without foundation. Our fair visitor explained that the "cans of beer" merely spirited into the shack, as per our esteemed contemporary, was simply a can of fruit.

The Times has no desire to give an undeserved bad name to this or any other party of boys. If the lads simply had their shack for innocent diversion and, as stated by our caller, if no beer was introduced, nor cards played, the boys have been unjustly used. What The Times does maintain, is that parents would put an end to all possibility for such insinuations as published, if they would do their duty and keep their growing boys at home during the hours that such lads should, in common sense, be away, and with a regard to their future lives, be kept in their homes studying lessons for the following day.

In this city, of late, a number of young boys have been haled before the police magistrate, on various charges, ranging from simple truancy to burglary. In almost every case the real truth has been revealed. The actual cause of all such offences, almost without exception, has been traced, beyond a doubt, to careless and almost criminal leniency of such boys' parents. The police magistrate, of late, has told more than one parent, that his or her children's waywardness and incorrigibility has been due, to parents allowing such boys, or even girls, roaming at large during the evening hours. Whilst The Times does not pose as a public censor to parents on management of their offspring, we cannot but say that parents who are so thoughtless, or indifferent to their children's future as to let them roam the streets at night, or even by day, without a certain amount of supervision consistent with the children's proper care, should not complain of such children's acts bring censure upon them.

In the particular case in point, we have no reason to doubt but what, the lady complaining about these boys' treatment by the Peterboro Press, believes her statements to be true, or that they are true. Still, to avoid any chance of such excuse as given, whether justly or unjustly, the parents of these lads would be wise to have the boys "cut out" the shack, and staying in the home, study their lessons, amidst the influence of the home circle, at night.

TOOK IN THE CITY

Mr. J. S. Larke, Viewed the Lift Lock and Other Peterboro Sights.

Mr. J. S. Larke, who last night delivered an address to the Board of Trade was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mr. D. Hughes Charles.

Mr. Larke, accompanied by Mr. Charles, Mr. Robert Fair and Mr. John Crane took a drive about the city, visiting the various points of interest including the lift lock.

Mr. Larke expressed great surprise at the sturdy and steady development everywhere in evidence. He said that Peterboro has a great future ahead of it, and with proper encouragement to manufacturers must advance rapidly to a prominent place among the waterhood of Canadian cities.

BUILDING EXTENSION

Peterboro Canoe Co. Will Add Materially to the Present Premises

Work has commenced upon the extension to the Peterboro Canoe Co. and it is expected that the building will be completed this fall. The steadily increasing business of the company has made the addition necessary, and the new building will afford much more room. It will be 125 feet by 25 feet, and will be three stories high. The top floor will be utilized as a paint room, the second floor will be used as a storage room, and the ground floor for display and storage room. The cost of the extension will be $4,000.

A Successful Concert.

The concert given under auspices of the R.T. of T., in Murray street Baptist church, to help the Children's Aid Society, was a success from the standpoint of the performance, but the attendance was not as large as either the laudable object or the merits of those taking part would warrant. Rev. J. C. Davidson and Mr. Donnistoun gave very interesting addresses. Rev. Mr. Scott, being ably acted as chairman. The musical portion of the program was most excellent, as may be judged when Miss Clara Bellegham, Miss Helen Davies, and Mrs. T. D. McGregor, with others participated.

BREATHE HEALING BALSAMS

Hyomei, the Medicated-Air Catarrh Cure, Endorsed by Physicians

No one should confound Hyomei with the patent medicines that are advertised to cure catarrh. It is as superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. Their composition is secret, but Hyomei gives its formula to all purchasers.

Its base is the famous eucalyptus oil, well known for its antiseptic qualities. This is combined with aromatic and healing gums and balsams, making a pure liquid which, when used in the Hyomei pocket inhaler fills the air you breathe with germ killing disease destroying and healing powers that restore health to every part of the throat, nose and lungs.

Hyomei is endorsed by physicians generally. Many of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia. It is the only natural and rational way of curing catarrh.

Would it be a common sense treatment to try and cure a corn by stomach dosing? Is it not just as foolish to try and cure catarrh of the head and throat by swallowing tablets or liquids? The only natural way to cure this disease and all diseases of the respiratory organs is to breathe Hyomei.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

THE GUARDIAN OF OUR BODY.

The foremost biologist of our day, M. Metschnikoff, has shown the world of science that there are leucocytes in our blood that act as scavengers or policemen. These policemen which are called phagocytes look out for the noxious or poisonous elements in our blood. Various offending elements are picked out of the blood and tissues by these policemen and destroyed. Therefore our lives are protected by these blood-cell-policemen, the phagocytes, and we enjoy immunity from disease so long as our blood contains plenty of phagocytes and red blood corpuscles.

"A new broom sweeps clean"—and in order to put our own house in order we must get rid of all the poisons in the blood with a new broom such as an alterative extract made from roots and herbs—without the use of alcohol, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a specific for making rich red blood—for eradicating the poisons from the blood. In some way the policemen in the blood are increased in number and strength—so that we are put in the best possible shape to resist disease—in case pneumonia, colds, catarrh, and incipient consumption.

"The more study and time is given to the subject the more we find that the blood is the center of life"—says Dr. R. V. Pierce, the noted specialist of Buffalo, "the health and comfort of the average person depends entirely on this blood supply—for the heart must have pure blood or it will not pump and keep the body supplied regularly like the beautiful automatic engine it is. The nerves must be fed on pure blood—or we suffer the pain of neuralgia, which is the cry of the starved nerves for food. Headaches, cold in the head, catarrh—and many other things are due to stagnation of the blood."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a mild laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

COURT OF REVISION

A sitting of the Court of Revision for the City of Peterborough will be held in the CITY COUNCIL CHAMBER, on the evening of

Wednesday, 8th day of November

1905, at 8 o'clock, to hear appeals respecting the Assessment Roll of the said City for the year 1906, of which all persons interested will please take notice.

S. R ARMSTRONG, City Clerk.

MR. R. J. BIRD HOME

An Old Peterboro Boy Renewing Acquaintance with Friends

One of the greatest pleasures for one who has left the good old town of Peterboro for some years is to return, and whilst giving "The glad hand" to old friends, witness the strides Peterboro is making towards justification of his newly conferred cityhood. One of Peterboro's well-known "old boys," in the person of Mr. R. J. Bird, is in the city, after a long absence in his present home, Chicago, where he has resided for 25 years. He is now superintendent of the American Wood Preserving Co., of that city. The object of Mr. Bird's visit is to close a deal with a number of Toronto capitalists to control and manufacture "Antiseptine," a guaranteed wood preserver. Mr. Bird is spending Thanksgiving with his brother, Taunton street, and is renewing old friendships.

Antiseptine is applied to wood into which it penetrates and prevents rot and decay. It is especially good for fences, fence posts, sidewalks, culverts, wooden drains, barns, boats, farm machinery, railway ties, bridges and many other things. There is a big market in Canada for this goods. Mr. Bird said he visited 24 Ontario towns and has sold the preparation in twenty.

The invention is partly his own and he is a heavy stock holder in the company, and he has the greatest faith in the future of "Antiseptine" in Canada.

Enterprising Bobcaygeon

Bobcaygeon is getting quite a move on these days. The village is now advertising in the Lindsay Post that Messrs. Boyd are offering their large milling plant at a low figure. The village has on to get a customer, for only to keep the mill running, it now being shut down, to secure electric power for municipal lighting. They figure that by putting in a new dam 500 horse power could be induced.
